"Post" staff pictures.

"I'M NOT A CRACK SHOT, JUST A GOOD ONE" — SOBRIEN

"I'm not dealing with crackpots, these people are a little different", commented Dr. Jules Sobrien of Omemee, today, when asked by "The Post" if he was toting a gun while on his sick calls. "The answer is 'Yes and No', that is not as a rule, but whenever I feel circumstances call for it", he said.

Dr. Sobrien was asked if he carried a gun during the jam-packed Nomination meeting at Omemee last Friday evening. "No", he replied, "why should I when the police chief and deputy were present to protect me".

Dr. Sobrien disagreed with the suggestion that he was a crack shot — "but I am a very good one", he said.

The doctor said he had received "second-hand" threats to his life from friends who are "also in the confidence of the other side". He confirmed that he had advised Omemee Police Chief James Whetham at the end of November of these second-hand threats of bodily harm.

The doctor said that he was a member of the Omemee Pistol Club and said he would carry a gun when he deemed it necessary. "I have a license to carry a gun", he said, "if you are fit to carry a gun, you are supposed to have discretion. Normally it wouldn't be necessary to carry it except to the pistol range or to go hunting, for instance, but there are extenuating circumstances the law would recognize, I suppose".

Asked whether he had received any first hand threats against him, the doctor commented "Nobody told Kennedy they intended to shoot him".

Feeling high

Tensions ride high in the village of Omemee as Saturday's elections loom close. About 250 persons attended the Nomination meeting last Friday when Insurance agent Cecil Reeds decided to oppose incumbent reeve George Stephenson for reeve. Standing for council are Gordon Babcock, Clair Parks, William Fisher, Leonard Jones and Max Free. One of the most controversial topics in the village is the sale of the school and school board property to Dr. Sobrien, the subsequent burning down of the school described by Fire Chief Charles Evans as arson and the expropriation action taken by council against Dr. Sobrien.

Omemee council in a three-page letter to voters said council had been "frustrated" in its attempts to obtain the land for a town park and said the school board had "sold the property out from under their noses".

Defending the actions of the Omemee Public School Board in selling the property to Jules Sobrien, Harry Sisson, secretary of the board said the board had acted in good faith and had no intention of unreasonable selling council or cheating anyone. "We never did anything underhanded", he declared, "We were under the impression that council wanted the property and we acted in good faith".

Mr. Sisson said the school board had entered into a verbal agreement with the doctor for the purchase of the property and we acted in good faith".

Mr. Sisson said the school board had entered into a verbal agreement with the doctor for the purchase of the property "and we stood by our agreement". Mr. Sisson added, "If you can't take a man's word, what good is his signature?" Mr. Sisson commented on suggestions that the board should have offered the property for sale by tender. He recalled the board sold property recently to the curling club and said nothing was heard about that action. "Of course", he said there may be people in the village who want a curling club, but don't want a doctor".

Man jailed three months on theft charge, probation for accomplice

Allan Scott Whitney, 21, Omemee was convicted in magistrate's court in Lindsay, Wednesday on a charge of theft under $50 and sentenced to three months in jail. On a second charge of operating a motor vehicle without the company of a licensed driver, Magistrate Ian Munro registered a conviction and levied a fine of $50 and costs or one month consecutive in lieu of payment.

Allan Whitney had previously pleaded guilty to the theft charge in Lindsay court and Wednesday pleaded guilty to the second charge. Provincial Constable Dale Coe said the charge of driving without the company of a licensed driver arose out of his investigation of a one car motor vehicle accident on November 2nd. He said that the accused had lost control of his car on a difficult curve. The car had rolled over and burned scorching the paint on a nearby cottage. He said that there were no injuries reported by the three occupants. "Whitney", the constable said, admitted being the driver and produced a temporary operator's permit.

The charge of theft to which the accused had pleaded guilty involved the taking of a camera from the front seat of a truck parked in front of the Pentecostal Church in Coboconk on November 25th. The court was told of attempts by the accused and Gary Bradamore, 16, of Coboconk, to sell the camera. Constable Coe said he found the camera in the glove compartment of a car which the accused and some companions were attempting to push off the hotel parking lot.

Gary Bradamore of Coboconk, jointly charged with Whitney on the theft charge, told the court that he observed Whitney open the door of the truck, and later produce the camera which they attempted to sell. Bradamore was found guilty as an accomplice and placed on a one year probation with sentence suspended. Magistrate Munro fixed the following conditions to apply to the suspended sentence. The accused must be of good behaviour for one year from this date. He must have nothing further to do with certain Coboconk complainants, he must continue to work and support himself, and report once a month or oftener if the probation officer should see fit, to the probation officer in this area. Gary Bradamore was also to give written recognizance to keep the peace over his own signature.

Magistrate Munro did not make it a condition of the probation, but recommended that the youth attempt to improve his education at night school, and renew his association with his church.

Dispute over land to go to court

A conflict regarding the ownership of property on Kent St. has flared up which will result in the town suing a local citizen. At Monday's council meeting, the clerk W. B. Bates said the dispute concerns land adjacent to property owned by Alvin Arnott, a farm equipment dealer. He said the town believes it owns the land but Mr. Arnott insists the land is his. Mr. Bates said, "We are taking the matter to court".

It was learned that the town was served with a notice to the effect that the town was to keep off his property, after the town had recently removed some implements from the land in question.

DANGEROUS CORNER

The police committee was asked to study the matter of the "dangerous corner" west of the Lindsay hospital. Mayor Joseph Holtom said the area should be lit or a flashing light installed.

Chairman of police, Carl Brown, said a flashing light would improve the situation.

TURKEY WINNERS

Winners of turkeys at Henry Houzer's Men's Wear were Mrs. Victor Calvert, 59 Cambridge Street, South on Tuesday and Mrs. Pauline Lormond 41 Peel Street Lindsay on Wednesday.

Two-Year Terms

On Monday, 7th December Lindsay voters will go to the polls to vote for six of the eight persons running for council seats and indicate their wishes on three important matters. These are Sunday movies, a two year term and a renewal of the bus subsidy for the town bus service.

The proposed two year term should be voted against. What the council are asking is that you voluntarily give up some of your voting powers. Over the years citizens have struggled to obtain the franchise and should not be conned into giving away half their voting privileges.

If you vote for the two year term you help diminish the value of democracy and pave the way for requests in future for even longer terms, as in Europe. At present by voting each year you have a tight control on municipal affairs. The arguments for two year terms come mostly from councils themselves, and they produce reasonable sounding arguments for the practice.

Don't be persuaded to vote away half of your voting privileges — get out and vote Monday against a two-year term.

His Honour Judge J. A. McGibbon and Mrs. McGibbon were hosts yesterday afternoon to members of the Victoria County Council, their wives, court officials of the town and county, at an afternoon tea held in the Judge's chambers.

Mrs. Ellis, mother of Judge McGibbon and Mrs. A. M. Fulton poured tea.

Those present included: Judge Sheldon L. Smoke and Mrs. Smoke of Peterboro, Judge D. B. Coleman and Mrs. Coleman of Whitby, members of the Victoria County Council and their wives, members of the local Bar Association, Mayor A. T. Claxton, W. R. Allely and Mrs. Allely, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Deyell and County officials and their wives.

Banquet for girls team

E. W. "Ted" Adams of Lindsay, who has just returned from a holiday in the British Isles, was present at the annual softball banquet held for the members of the Lindsay Supremes ball team by their manager, G. Stephenson and Mrs. Stephenson.

The banquet was held at Kawartha Lodge and following a very delicious supper, Mr. Adams gave the girls a first-hand talk on his experiences in London and his trip back to Canada. He showed the girls his gas mask, passport and other souvenirs of his trip. He pictured for them the awful blackness of the English "blackouts," and mentioned that people showing a lighted cigarette on the street were taking a great chance of being hurt or killed.

On his trip back to Canada, survivors of the torpedoed Athenia were rescued by the ship on which Mr. Adams was a passenger.

Canadian fighter squadron formed.

A Canadian fighter squadron his been formed in the Royal Air Force from Canadian personnel already serving with the RAF, it was announced in Ottawa today.

New South Ward School

J. W. Anderson stated that the new South Ward school would be ready shortly and therefore the matter of a caretaker should be arranged for.

Dr. White reported the work on the new school was progressing favorably. The furnace was now in and apparently worked very well.

New furnishings

Alex Jackson asked about the furnishings necessary for the new school.

There are plenty of furnishings for two rooms. The desks and seats have been gone over and are in good shape. Two rooms only will be used for a while.

Kindergarten needed

Mr. Jackson spoke of the need of a Kindergarten, which could easily be started at the new school. The boys and girls were now getting an education on the streets after they were five years old that they could never get over.

The Kindergarten idea was spoken of very favorably by practically all the Board, but nothing definite was done. The matter was shelved.

Injured.

Wm. Ayers, grocer, was the victim of a painful accident at his home last evening. He was using an axe when it accidently glanced and inflicted a very serious gash on the back of his left hand. The cords were completely severed and the blood flowed copiously. A physician was summoned and it required several stitches to close up the wound.

Partly destroyed

The channel fleet has resumed the shelling of Zebrugge and has partly destroyed the German naval base there.

SOME WALK THEMSELVES TO DEATH

A motorist driving on a dark night at 50 miles an hour on a throughway or at 20 miles an hour on a slippery winter street is suddenly confronted by a pedestrian. Except for the intervention of a miraculous Providence, there can be only one, horrible result. Driving and walking in the dark is downright fearful. Anything that obscures a driver's ability to clearly see where he's going is added peril. Combine carelessness and speed with obscured vision and you have one of the deadliest combinations available.

Night is a pedestrian hazard, too. Even the thinking walkers who wear white and carry lightss stand a better chance of living longer by staying completely out of traffic.

Play it safe.

Don't Take Offence

,Word to bicyclists: when the driver of a motor vehicle sounds his horn at you, he's trying to save your life.

So many cyclists take offence at this, and snarl rude remarks at the drivers who are living momentarily in fear of what the bicycle-rider will do next. A cyclist should be thankkful the motorist was aware of him and thoughtful enough to warn him of the approach of another vehicle heavy enough to crush both bicycle and cyclist.

An erratic cyclist can also cause a serious smash-up when he confuses a driver or forces a car out of line in traffic.

TIMELY TIPS
Macdonald Institute, Guelph

Nutritious Ontario produced tomato juice is a good beginning for tasty homemade soup. Just add half water and half tomato juice to consomme, onion or vegetable soup. You can make a hearty appetizing soup in no time.

At your next meal, serve a vegetable combination which is a little different and a lot better than ever-ordinary. Toss carrot coins and celery slices, cooked until just tender; sprinkle with melted butter flavored with a little thyme or marjoram. Carrot and turnip cubes also make an attractive, tasty dish. Ontario vegetables can be combined in many ways to add variety and interest to your meals.

"Variety meats" is a term applied to the highly nutritious parts of beef, veal, pork and lamb that are classed as organs, not muscles. The use of heart, tongue, liver and other organs is recommended because of their high nutritive value and economical price.

Ontario apples are excellent between-meal snacks. One medium apple has only about 60 calories and supplies one-sixth of an adult's daily intake of vitamin C. The best Ontario eating apples are McIntosh, Delicious, Cortland and Northern Spy.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK
By Roberta Lee
Plaster of Paris

One of the easiest and simplest ways to clean plaster-of-paris ornaments and figurines is to cover them with wet starch, then when this has dried, brush off—and presto, you will probably have brushed off all the dirt, too!

For Safekeeping

Make your own "secret cache" by gluing or thumbtacking a large envelope to the back of a desk or bureau drawer and using this for hiding small valuable, such as cash, rings, keys or documents.

Thread Picker

To simplify removal of basting threads when sewing, tape a small, clean, steel pen-point to your thimble for use as a pick. Choose a rather blunt penpoint to prevent any possible damage to your fabric.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I "weather-proof" the addresses on packages that I am preparing for mailing?

A. When addressing packages in ink for mailing, you can protect them with a candle. The wax coating forms a weatherproof protective surface.

Q. How can I avoid the danger of white enamel paints turning yellow later after its application?

A. A teaspoon of black enamel mixed with a quarter of white enamel will prevent that yellowing.

Q. How can I freshen black felt hats that have become dull-looking or rain-spattered?

A. By holding them over the spout of a steam teakettle, and then buffing with a soft brush or piece of felt to bring up the nap.

Mrs. Ida Reynolds

Minden (PNS) — Sadness was cast over the community on Saturday morning November 14, when it was learned of the sudden passing of Ida Reynolds. She was the second oldest daughter of David and Annie Whistle; born on May 18, 1885 in Anson Township and in October 1910 she married Alexander Reynolds of Minden.

Except for three years spent at the Institution for the deaf in Belleville, she lived her entire life in Minden and Anson Townships.

Left to mourn the loss of a loving, devoted mother are two girls, Mrs. Wallace Walker (Audrey) of Cameron, Mrs. Fred Walker (Anna) and sons Arnold, Leslie and Morgan all of Minden; two sisters also survive, Mrs. James Stevenson (Lizzie) and Jannie Whistle. She was the loving grandmother of thirteen grandchildren and seventeen great grandchildren. She was predeceased by her husband in August 1928 and also two small sons.

The funeral was November 16, 1964, with a short service at the home of Mrs. Fred Walker thence to the United Church, Minden of which she was a member with service conducted by Rev. Staples at 2 p.m.

Interment was at Minden Cemetery with six grandsons acting as pallbearers, Ross, Goldie and Elwood Walker, Laverne and Lyle Reynolds and Beverley Sawyers.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful and many will mourn the loss of a fine mother, worthy neighbour and friend.

Over $300 taken in three Lindsay break-ins

Lindsay Police are busy investigating a rash of break-ins that occurred in Lindsay during the night in which thieves netted well over $300 in cash, and merchandise.

Police said seven radios valued at over $100 were taken from the Goodyear tire store on Lindsay Street South, along with $20 in cash, after entry was gained by removing the glass from the rear door.

Success was not as evident at Baldwin's bulk oil station where only a set of keys were taken and Moore's Farm Equipment where 20 cents was the total take. Lindsay Police said the thieves jimmied the front door of Moore's Farm Equipment office to gain entry.

An attempt to get into a garage housing Steffler's bulk milk carriers on Angeline Street failed, police said.

Police said the theft of a bicycle from beside a house on Angeline Street and a pair of gloves from a car in the vicinity may be connected with the break-ins.

Police said some of the break-ins occurred this morning after about 5 a.m. just after the light snow-fall.

Reeve denies County Council "passes the buck"

Reeve Hilliard J. Murphy denied allegations by the press that Victoria County Council was "passing the buck" in some of their decisions, with special reference to the proposed county health unit. Reeve Murphy told the Bobcaygeon municipal nomination meeting Monday he didn't approve of the accusation. Many decisions made at the council's November session, were made because of a lack of information, Reeve Murphy remarked. He said council had many things to discuss at the session. Items referred to the next session were those that needed further study. This is not exactly passing the buck", he added.

Lawrence Cunningham, nominated to oppose Mr. Murphy charged that the Bobcaygeon council was doing some "buck-passing" itself. He said he had noted several times in the press where council was reported to have tabled decisions until future meetings.

He also alleged there was too much difference of opinion in the present Bobcaygeon council and urged the election of a council "of one feeling." He said then more could be done. He told the meeting that the county road system is the worst example of buck-passing.

Pictures shown at W.I. meeting

Blackstock (PNS) — The regular monthly meeting of St. John's W. A. was held in the Parish Hall on November 19, with Mrs. H. E. Ashmore presiding. The meeting opened with a hymn and the President read the opening prayer and gave the Devotions based on the 95th Psalm. The Treasurer gave a good report of the chicken pie supper which was considered a huge success. Several letters of thanks were read from ladies who had secured quilts from the W.A.

Mrs. McArthur reported 55 calendars ordered. Corporate communion was discussed and will be held next Sunday.

Nomination of officers resulted in all officers accepting their office for another year. Meetings for the winter months will be held in the afternoon with the Christmas meeting in December being held at Mrs. McArthur's home.

The roll call was well answered in spite of bad weather. The President closed the meeting with prayer and a social time was enjoyed with Mrs. C. Smith showing pictures of her trip last summer to Nova Scotia.

NEW LINDSAY ANTENNA SAID 'TOPS' FOR COLOUR

Lindsay Antenna's engineering staff have recently made a breakthrough in the field of TV antenna designing by engineering an allband antenna the Super Starfire 19 that is claimed the best in the industry. The new Lindsay Super Starfire 19 will properly receive colour signals and black and white TV pictures. Several people in the Lindsay area are now watching colour TV from distant American stations and getting excellent reception.

The Super Starfire 19 was born of space-age technology which required better antennas for tracking missiles. This designing has been adapted for TV use by Lindsay Antenna.

The public has benefited from the development of the Super Starfire 19 as it is especially good for fringe areas such as ours.

Mayor Holtom said, "We must push our request very forcefully," "The last one took two years to get approved," he added.

Rev. P. Romeril officiated and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Lorne Thompson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white rayon brocade with illy point sleeves. The skirt was draped to a chapel train and trimmed with a bow. Her three tiered waist length veil was attached to a pearl crown and she carried a cascade of white mums and red roses. The attendants were Miss Doris Griffen, Mrs. Glen Wilson and Miss Jean Wilson. They wore street length dresses of sparkling turquoise peau de soie with elbow length lace jackets. They wore pill box hats and short veils in turquoise and carried cascades of turquoise mums and white mums.

Mr. Glen Wilson twin brother of the groom was best man and the ushers were Mr. Robert Brinkman and Mrs. Leonard Draper.

The reception was held in the Christian Education room. The bride's step mother Mrs. Henry Worrell Jr., received the guests wearing a light blue dress with matching jacket and a corsage of pink mums. To assist the groom's mother chose a royal blue two piece dress with matching hat and a corsage of red roses.

For their wedding trip to the United States and later to Sudbury the bride choose a royal blue two piece dress with black accessories, black hat and red coat, trimmed with black and a corsage of white mums.

On their return the couple will reside at 4109 Bathurst, Apt. 6, Downsview.

Guests attending the wedding were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Worrell Sr., Coldwater, also guests from Bracebridge, Lindsay, Toronto, Oshawa, Seagrave, Uxbridge, Port Perry, Little Britain, Sudbury, Richmond Hill and Blackstock.

Hockey Mothers turn backs on boys?

The Lindsay Auxiliary of the Lindsay Minor Hockey Association may be forced to disband for this season. At an earlier meeting only three executive members of last season and two other mothers appeared and; as no one was available who would assume executive positions for the coming season, minor hockey officials were notified that the Auxiliary had disbanded.

The difficulty is to get possibly ten or twelve mothers who will be willing to assume executive positions and organize the various activities.. With upwards of 600 boys registered for minor hockey activities, at least 300 mothers must be directly connected. In past seasons minor hockey mothers have been very faithful in providing sandwiches etc. to feed visiting teams but only the faithful five would assume responsibility as an executive member.

To-night, at 8:00 p.m. a final decision must be made. If there are not at least a half-dozen mothers who will give just a little extra time and talent toward their son's hockey career by assuming executive positions the Auxiliary will have to fold. A meeting has been called at the Recreation Centre by the Minor Hockey executive with the hope that sufficient interested mothers will attend and keep the ball rolling. Surely out of over three hundred mothers, enough interest will be shown to continue the bake sales and bean feeds that have added so much to the success of the Lindsay Minor Hockey Organization. The faithful few have carried on over the years and facilities are better now than ever before.

GM WILDCAT CONTINUES AT OSHAWA

Oshawa, Ont. (UPI) — A wildcat strike at General Motors huge automobile plant continued today and union officials said they did not expect the men to return to work before the 11 a.m. strike deadline tomorrow.

One hundred workers jumped the gun at 8 o'clock last night and walked off their jobs in the chassis section. Their action forced the company to send about 4,000 assembly men home. A similar strike, to protest the indefinite suspension of six alleged union ringleaders was held Nov. 20.

BUT DOCTOR, I SAID MY TONSILS OUT

The British Broadcasting Company was anxious to get the word out about Beatle Ringo Starr's tonsil operation this morning — and made a slip. News announcer Roy Williams said, in these words, "Ringo Starr has had his tonsils removed." A later broadcast corrected the mistake. It was Ringo's tonsils, not his toenails. The surgery was successful.

McLaughlin Planetarium for Toronto

Toronto (UPI) — Col. R. S. McLaughlin, chairman of General Motors of Canada presented a gift of $1,000,000 for the construction of a planetarium at the Royal Ontario Museum, Claude Bissell, President of the University of Toronto, announced yesterday.

Bissell predicted the building will become a Toronto landmark.

The planetarium will be used by University of Toronto students but will also be open to the public.

Bissell said the planetarium would be about 60 feet in diameter and will be topped by a giant hemispherical dome which will reflect moving pictures of the moon, stars and planets.

"I have long had this project in mind. In fact ever since my late friend, Charles Hayden presented the city of New York with a planetarium that now bears his name. I want everything to be of the highest order and first class in every way", said McLaughlin.

The Toronto planetarium will bear McLaughlin's name.

Two volunteer firemen only, answer alarm

Town Council was suprised Monday that only two volunteer firemen responded to a general alarm at the hospital recently. Even though it was a false alarm, a general alarm requires all firemen and volunteers. A request was made for the number of volunteers to be increased from 12 to 18.

Dr. Peter Gill, fire committee chairman, said the town must obtain the services of additional volunteers now and renegotiate with the old volunteers early in the new year.

Reeve R. I. Moore said it was a terrible thought that there was such a small response to a hospital alarm and added it was fortunate it turned out to be false.

Mayor Joseph Holtom said the question of the town's volunteer firefighters should be studied next year.

National Film Board Records 25 Years of National Growth

Presenting Canada to the World

Out on the sea ice of the high arctic a National Film Board crew set up their camera near a towering iceberg, during shooting of Land of the Long Day.

NATIONAL FILM BOARD PHOTOSTORY

Half a century ago, in 1914, as early movie cameras jerkily cranked away to record the Kaiser inspecting spike-helmeted Prussian troops, government film making got away to a modest start in Canada. Twenty-five years later, in 1939, as that scene became a retake, the National Film Board of Canada was formed. Now celebrating its 25th anniversary the NFB averages a production a day in carrying out its purpose of interpreting Canada to Canadians and people around the globe. In village mud huts where the thump of a diesel generator keeps time for the whirring projector, in palatial, air-conditioned theatres in the capitals of the world, on nation-spanning TV networks, in schools, at scientific meetings — wherever movies are shown, film board productions are an open window for people of many nations to look upon Canada, a mirror in which Canadians can see themselves. Today as Canada takes an increasingly prominent part in world affairs the camera crews of the NFB range wider afield than ever to document the evolving nation. From the high arctic to Greece, the backwaters of Malaysia to downtown Toronto, events of interest in the United States to industrial British Columbia — wherever the impact of international affairs and world trends are felt, the film units of the NFB are found with their cameras. Acclaimed as a unique government organization, envied its freedom of creativity, applauded for its award-winning work, Canada's National Film Board has made its mark not only on Canadians but among the nations of the modern world.

Filming Canada from the air will keep cameraman Jeep Boyko, above, leaning out of helicopters or light planes for 600 flying hours.

Miss Muriel Dawson and Bob Dawson of Toronto, were recent guests with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Dawson.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Taylor Kernohan was taken ill at her home and will be in the local hospital for some weeks.

Miss Sylvia Harrison was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts at a wedding shower at the United Church Hall.

A Baptismal Service was conducted at Grace United Church, Peterborough on Sunday, November 22 for Jeffrey Basil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Cox. Guests enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner at the Basil Cox home following the service. Those present from Minden were Mrs. Vera Cowan, Mrs. Wm. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cox, Allan, Kenneth and Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Holly, Patricia and Alec.

HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood (UPI) — Hollywood's extras, actors who appear in minor television and movie roles, are demanding a raise in pay from the town's producers.

There are more than 3,000 members in the Screen Extra's Guild (SEG), many of them only part-time actors who hold down other jobs.

As a general rule, extra's are faceless actors. They blend with crowds, form the mass for mob scenes, line up along the bar for a saloon setting or walk along the street.

They are rarely required to recite a line. When they do have something to say the salary takes a healthy boost into the jurisdiction of the Screen Actors Guild which demands at least $100 per day for talking actors.

Extra actors are now paid $25.47 per day or $115.02 per week. SEG in its negotiations with the producers is asking for $30 a day for extras, those who stand in for stars, and midgets.

The contract demands don't end there. SEG is a thorough outfit, a labour organization which seeks to cover all the various activities which go under the label of acting.

Some of the demands might seem strange to an outsider, but to the working extra such activities as horseback riding, football and baseball are bread and butter issues.

For instance, if an extra is mounted on a polo pony for a scene, SEG is asking that he be paid $37. If the polo pony moves, the action could conceivably fall into the category of "riding a spirited horse," for which the extra is now asking $51 per day.

Riding bareback is a chore for which extras are asking $54 a day. "Straight riding" is a little cheaper, $37. The lower rate in that category may well be based on comfort. An actor is more comfortable on a horse with a saddle.

For handling oxen, the extras want $51. Handling other livestock comes cheaper, $37.

When you look at a movie featuring a bunch of actors splashing around the swimming pool, think of the costs. Water polo players could cost $54 a day.

A producer who casts extras for a football game will have to pay the players $55 a day under the proposed contract. The biggest stars in college football make less than that.

Basketball and baseball players would also get $55. Bowlers, golfers and tennis players come cheaper, $40.

Extras who are asked to report for work with a pair of ice skates or roller skates shall be paid an extra allowance of not less than $2.00 per day. It's assumed the skates will be used in a scene.

An extra who wears makeup on "any portion of his body other than his face or hands," or who wears a rubber skull cap or wig called to his head shall be entitled to an extra $10.00 daily.

SEG is also asking for paid vacations and residual payments for repeats of television shows on which an extra appears.

The Guild has been negotiating for a new pact with the producers for four months and the end appears in sight. In the meantime, that extra a stride his polo pony is waiting for the game to start.

DON'T GET "MAD"

Fight with the wife this morning? Snap at the kids? Argue with the landlord? Then watch your driving. A motorist with a "mad" on is a menace to himself and to every driver he meets. The tendency is, so often, to take it out on the car, and this can happen without the driver really meaning to do it. But whether it's intentional or not it can bring on a crash costly in damage, injury, pain and wasted time.

"Must give people credit for knowing right or wrong"

Dear Sir,

We have fought two wars to preserve freedom. Personal freedom, religious freedom, freedom of the press, self-determination, and the right to live as we please, within the confines of our laws, were the issues at stake.

We don't deny anyone's rights. We don't deny anyone the right to be Catholic, Protestant, Moslem or Hindu. As a matter of fact, we don't even deny a person's rights to be an Atheist.

The majority of us adhere to some religion. The minority of us belong to no religion. Do the majority of us force our religion on those of us who have no religion. The idea is preposterous. The minority have their rights, and as long as it's not against the law to be an Atheist the majority would n't dream of denying his rights.

If a man wants to be a beatnik, or if a man wants to take his right to have Christmas Dinner in a housebout in the middle of Lake Scugog, nobody denies their right to it. No matter how ridiculous or nonconforming a person may be in his pursuit of happiness, we do not deny his right to live as he pleases. Again as long as he lives within, the law our society has set down.

Further, however, certain laws based upon moral standards, Moral standards change as we all have seen. Certain acts and situations considered immoral a few years ago have now become commonplace and everyday happenings.

Some law is therefore outdated, behind the times, and only time and education will bring these obsolete items up to date. We all have had problems with out-dated laws. Some of them are not even enforced, and if they are enforced, there is a great hue and cry "It's not really wrong everybody does it". You see, it's morally accepted by society and yet based on laws designed by a society who's morality was somewhat different from ours.

There are two such glaring situations right here in Lindsay. One is the lack of a suitable, decent place to have a drink with a meal, and the absence of cocktail lounges. The other situation is one which is a municipal election issue, Sunday movies. Apart from the economic aspects of allowing the sale of liquor on licensed premises and showing movies on Sunday I can not honestly say that these things are morally wrong. I may be a poor judge of morality, but how will Sunday movies undermine the morality of the people of Lindsay? We must give people credit for having enough intelligence to judge the difference between right and wrong. If movie houses are open on Sunday and a person feels it is wrong for them ta patronize a movie house on that day no force on earth could force them to go. On the other hand these same people who are broad-minded enough to allow others to live in a manner in which they disagree, are violently opposed to the relative innocence of spending a Sunday afternoon or even watching a movie.

I am not trying to take a stand either for or against Sunday movies.

The point I have tried to make is this. On what grounds do you or I say that Sunday movies are wrong or right for someone else? This should be a matter for an individual's conscience in the same manner as any decision. Because one person doesn't feel it is right to go to a movie on Sunday, doesn't mean that it isn't right for someone else to go to that movie on Sunday.

We fought two wars to preserve freedom. Many people died. Let's not be hyprocrites, let's have freedom. Especially when the issues are of a petty nature.

One question comes to mind before leaving this subject however. How many of the people opposed to Sunday movies shut off their T.V. sets on Sunday.

Some people have said that Sunday is a day set aside to renew their spiritual energy and to re-organize their lives. Being a pessimist as I am, I envy those people, because I can't believe that Sunday is accorded the same respect by most.

She was a charter member and past matron of Dogwood Chapter No. 69 Order of the Eastern Star and served as grand marshal of the Grand Chapter of British Columbia O.E.S. in 1962-63.

A love and understanding of young people led her to Jobs Daughters, where she acted in various capacities on the Guardian Council and was a past guardian of Bethel No. 13. An ardent church worker she served as president of the Evening Branch of St. Michael's and All Angels Anglican W.A. and a life member of the Altar Guild.

World news today

Montreal (UPI) — Water temperatures plunged today on the St. Lawrence seaway, threatening 75 ocean-going ships with a freeze-up.

The threat, one day after the official closing of the seaway has triggered the annual dash by ocean ships to get free of the system.

"The situation is certainly serious and the cold weather is supposed to continue," said director of seaway operations R. J. Burnside, of Cornwall.

Water temperatures at the seaway's entrance, St. Lambert lock, stood at 34 degrees yesterday. A spokesman reported no ice but with 10 degree air temperatures and winds predicted it could cause difficulty tomorrow.

Tokyo — Communist North Viet Nam charged today that 12 United States warplanes had bombed and strafed four North Vietnamese villages yesterday in "a new act of war."

In a North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry protest broadcast by the (Communist) Viet Nam news agency, it was alleged that the planes caried out a half-hour assault on the villages of Chali, Tang, Sa, and Cobai.

There was no mention of casualties or damages in the purported attack.

The foreign ministry said that assaults mounted by the United States and its "lackeys" — an apparent reference to South Vietnamese forces and right-wing Royal Laotian forces — were "creating an utterly dangerous situation in this area."

Maritimes — Hurricane-force winds slammed the Maritimes today and played havoc with shipping. Open Sunday is democratic claims "another Dutchman"

Dear Editor:

Upon reading your paper I came across your Voice of the People article on Sunday movies from Mr. Klopp. He obviously is a Dutchman belonging to the Lindsay Chrisian Reformed Church as stated. I wonder if there was ever any objection from anybody or anywhere for putting up another and another religious belief. I think this should be free and it apparently is.

What I can't understand how this man can and want to force his opinion onto other people or for that matter anybody regardless of religion or opinion.

As for Holland, all theatres, hotels and cafe's are open there, on Sunday. So is sport of any kind, that is what I call free and Democratic.

Another Dutchman.

Children do not need more excitement — reader claims

Editor,

Lindsay Daily Post,

I have been in Welfare work for years and I know by experience, that children don't either want or need more excitement. What both children and teenagers need is more love and quiet time. Parents should spend Sunday afternoon getting acquainted with their children, talking over their problems. Parents never spent a more pay and profitable hour than a quiet hour with their families.

School and all other activities keep children's nerves at such a tension and parents so busy there isn't time for their children, so parents mark a large "No" on Sunday sports keep the day God gave us for rest and fellowship Holy as unto the Lord for the love of Our Dear Children.

Mrs. M. Hopkins.

COLD WAVE

Dallas (UPI) — Ham radio operator Jim Tolbert last night broadcast a description of the cold wave which dropped temperatures to 16 in parts of Texas.

"Why, that's even colder than down here," replied another broadcaster. It was 22 degrees here today and the men were going out coatless."

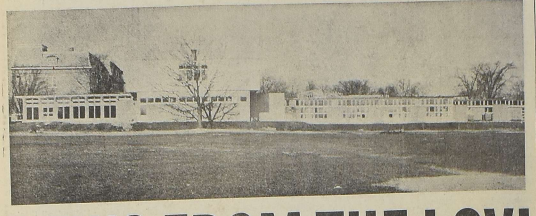

Tolbert was talking to Tom Gray of Chicago, a navy radio operator at Williams Field in Antarctica.

NEWS FROM THE LCVI

by "The Post" Collegiate reporter Richard Bruce

Wayne Hood of LCVI stands beside the W. S. W. "Bill" Breese trophy he was awarded as the most deserving football player. Mr. Hood will keep the silver tray he is holding. —"Post" staff photo.

RENEW FRIENDSHIPS

Friday night was a very important night for many students and former students of LCVI. The annual commencement was held in the main auditorium. Last year's students received their senior matriculation or grade 13 diplomas while last year's grade 12 students received their diplomas for the completion of grade 12. Also several awards were presented to the winning students.

A banquet was slated for Saturday and a dance follow ed. both were very successful.

The main purpose of the dance was to give all the students of LCVI a chance to see and talk to their old friends from last year who have graduated from our school. The dance served its purpose and provided an evening of entertainment for everyone. Thank you, last year's graduates for sponsoring this dance and the best of luck to each of you.

BOY'S BASKETBALL

For the last month the senior boys basketball team has been practicing under the supervision of Mr. Tait. It has been announced that on Friday December 4 they will play an exhibition game with Fenelon Falls High School's team. The regular schedule starts on Friday December 18 when they play a Peterboro team. Good luck in both these games boys, and students — get out and support your team.

MUSICAL EVENING

On Friday December 4, the LCVI choir, under the direction of Mrs. Simms and Mr. Carkner, will present a musical evening. As well as the choir selections there will be solos. The name of the event is "Trial by Jury". There will be two performances, one at 8 p.m. and another at 9:15 p.m. Tickets may be bought now or at the door for 75 cents. They may also be purchased from choir members or at Rawson's Music Centre. Reserve December 4 for a musical evening and bring along your friends.

SCHOOL PAPER

The first edition of the school paper was on sale Monday, November 30. It did not have a name but bore the slogan "The paper that dares to be free but by no means alone." I questioned members of the executive about the selling of the paper. They stated that sales were not good but they said they were partly to blame themselves as they had not advertised it enough.

The paper itself was very good for a first effort. It had diversified topics that were interesting to all.

"BILL" BREESE TROPHY

On Friday evening Wayne Hood was presented with the W. S. W. "Bill" Breese Trophy. This trophy was donated by the all Ontario Football finalists of 1934. It was given to the most deserving player and his academic standing is involved. The team itself voted and the top three candidates were then considered by Mr. Breese, Mr. Brien and the physical education teachers. Wayne's name was placed on the plaque and he will also receive an engraved silver tray that he may keep.

CHRISTMAS DANCE

With the approach of Christmas and the Christmas dance, everyone is wondering just how well preparations are going. John Murphy, general manager of the dance, reports that all the problems are being ironed out.

He said the food committee seems to be making good headway under new administration. The former head resigned her post, due to the fact that she was unable to allot sufficient time to this important phase of "Country Christmas". Now under the administration of Sandra Webdale and Shirley Simons the food committee is moving well. He said he felt their new ideas, including Christmas cake, would add a great deal to the atmosphere of the dance which is being built with the words, "friendly, warm and casual" in mind.

The food committee isn't bringing in all the new ideas. The decorating committee under the direction of Don MacArthur and his volunteers have come up with a few ideas also. While he would not tell me just what the decorating committee was doing, John stated that a unique scheme was being used that would make this dance the best ever.

A word of advice may be sent out to the boys. The available dates are diminishing as quickly as the tickets, and that is fast! This is the first time that tickets have sold well before the dance itself. This is an encouraging sign to the student council.

By not having the Christmas dance formal this year, many people have become confused as to what to wear. It is a special dance, but it not required that the boys buy a corsage for their dates. Also, it does not necessitate the girls buying new or special dresses. The only requirement is that the boys wear suit-coats and the girls wear a good dress or suit similar to what she would wear to church or to other special occasions.

All in all, this dance is shaping up to be one of the highlights in LCVI's history.

PRINCIPAL HOSPITALIZED

Mr. Breese was admitted into the Ross Memorial Hospital on Tuesday to have an operation. On behalf of the students of LCVI, we would like to send a "get well" greeting to Mr. Breese.

Laura Medland

Laura Ethel Medland of Little Britain entered into rest at the Rever Nursing Home, Little Britain on Friday November 6th in her 81st year, after a brief illness.

Laura Medland was born near Markdale, Ontario, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wiggins. She resided in Lindsay prior to moving to Little Britain in 1949. She is survived by one daughter Ruth (Mrs. John H. Singleton) of Toronto, three sisters, Mary (Mrs. J. R. Johnston) of Scarborough, Letitia Mrs. H. E. Gilchrist) of Burlington, and Margaret (Mrs. William Proctor) of Polson, Montana, U.S.A. and three brothers, Walter of Vancouver B.C., Lou of Porcupine Plains, Saskatchewan and Edgar Wiggins of Big River, Saskatchewan. She attended school near Markdale and was an officer in the Salvation Army for a period of twelve years until ill health caused her to resign.

The funeral service was held from the Mackey Funeral Home on Monday, November 9th at 3.30 p.m. and was conducted by Captain C. Bowes. Interment took place at the Little Britain United Church Cemetery.

Pall bearers were James G. Johnston, Henry Skuce, Herb Rahn, William T. Bull, Alfred Maslen and Cecil Carr.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Peacock, formerly of Lindsay have just completed a ten-month specialized course in Bible instruction and organization management at the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead in New York city. Mr. and Mrs. Peacock are shown with Paul Engler (right) of Thailand, inspecting one of the older publications of the school's ten-thousand volume library. They were part of a class of 100 selected ministers of Jehovah's Witnesses who were gathered from 53 lands around the world. Academic studies included a verse-by-verse study of the whole Bible, the history of religion and the relation of world history to the history of the Bible. Students shared in the actual production of the year's output of 19,371,850 Bibles in the Society's printing plant.

Arena Board accept old C of C building

The Recreation Commission informed the town council they would accept the council's offer of the old Chamber of Commerce building but asked if it could be left on its present site until spring.

Russ Taylor, who is a councillor and member of the Recreation commission said "Their intent is good but the building should be moved now." He said the ground will be soft in the spring.

Reeve R. I. Moore remarked, "They're just nervous that the glass will be broken; they'll have to get over that nervousness."

Councillor Taylor suggested the town call for tenders to have the building moved to the George Street Park, the town to absorb the costs.

The matter will be referred to the town engineer, who will make a report before any action is taken..

25th Wedding anniversary

On Wednesday, October 28th, 1964 at 6.30 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hopkins celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary by entertaining about twenty relatives and friends to a dinner party in the Baddow United Church hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins were married in the Fenelon Falls United Church parsonage on October 28, 1939, by the Rev. F. W. Newell. Mrs. Hopkins was the former Phyllis Brandon, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Brandon of Verulam Township. They have a family of two Ann (Mrs. Kenneth Dilbey) of Willowdale and Bryan at home, also one granddaughter Kathryn Ann Dilbey.

At 8 o'clock when the guests were preparing to return to the home of the bride and groom for the remainder of the evening. About forty neighbours arrived at the church to offer their congratulations and best wishes. After an evening of entertainment, Rev. D. Drew, on behalf of the gathering, presented Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins with a platform rocker and an aluminum serving tray. They were also recipients of numerous other gifts for which they both expressed sincere appreciation.

A lunch and the passing of the wedding cake brought a memorable evening to a close.

CARELESS DRIVING CHARGE DISMISSED

Absence of traffic on downtown Kent Street on Saturday evning November 14th, about 7:00 p.m. proved to be the deciding factor that won a dismissal on a careless driving charge laid against Philip James Danilko, 23, of Lindsay by Lindsay Police Sergeant Gordon Eberts in police court Monday.

Sgt. Eberts told the court that he observed the accused gun his car as he made a U-turn on Kent Street skidding and bouncing the car so as to leave tire marks in a 21 foot arch from the centre-line of Kent Street to within 12 feet of the south curb. He said the weather was clear and the pavement dry, and that the accused was alone in the car.

The accused Philip James Danilko, said he did not skid his car as he made a left turn to a parking space on the south side. He said the pavement was wet and tire marks were not visible. He also said he was accompanied by a passenger Larry Chadley, who also claimed the car did not skid.

Magistrate Ian Munro noted that at no time was any excessive speed mentioned, and as there was only one other car moving in that area an eastbound vehicle approximately 300 feet distant, going by the definition using "due care and attention and having reasonabel consideration for the safety of others who might normally be using the street at that time" he would have to dismiss the charge.

$4,340,434,848 to be explicit. This figure represents the cash deposits of well over three million Canadians at the Bank of Montreal at the October 31st year-end. And we're the first to point out that the nation is in debt to these customers . . . because most of our depositors' dollars went straight to work on projects vital to Canada's progress and to the well-being of her individual citizens. They're working dollars, employed to the national advantage. In fact at the Bank's year-end, $2,728,862,030 was on loan to individuals, to companies and to communities across the nation. Another $874,466,266 was invested in high-grade government bonds and public securities which have a ready market, and $268,181,390 in other securities—mainly short-term credits to industry. Yes, we owed a lot to our more than three million customers in 1964.

HOLLYWOOD
(United Press International)

Hollywood (UPI) — John Barrymore Jr., who has been living in Europe for the past five years, is back in Hollywood wearing a full beard and the attitudes of a budding mystic.

He has a bush-like head of grey hair which contrasts somberly with his dark beard. Not much more can be seen of the old Barrymore face.

He speaks as a fellow searching for values that will give him the opportunity to do something other than "live seldomly".

"I survive anywhere", said John during a vodka and tonic luncheon that clashed violently with his restricted vegetarian diet.

"I live seldomly", he said but indicated that he would like to live more often.

Whereas John, now 32-years old, was once involved in such hijinks as making believe he was a waiter in a restaurant and dropping a tray filled with dishes, he now considers himself an almost totally reconstructed human being.

What is the exact image of his reconstruction, the friendly Barrymore does not say. He does not say because he does not know.

"I can't describe me", he said. "I wouldn't even bother to describe me".

Between verbal flights into intellectually misty areas of philosophy John would ponder in silence. Sometimes the silence was quenched with more vodka. Then he would discuss his past and future, the latter seeming to pose the question, "does anybody have a future?"

"The John Barrymore of five years ago?" he asked. "Most of the pieces are dead. I look at myself five years ago and I laugh. I imagine the pieces that are still alive, some other entity will laugh at".

About that time, a little girl came up to his booth at the Brown Derby and asked Barrymore for his autograph. Quite often, an actor's real personality can be seen through his treatment of autograph seekers.

John refused the little girl autograph, he said, "It's authority and I'm not an authority on anything. It's not a self-condemnation, it's a fact. That little girl probably knows more than I do".

Barrymore, who will be on CBS-TV's "Rawhide" Dec. 11 and a later episode of "Gun-smoke", says he is an actor as if he and his father are symbols for a curious public.

"If I'm their symbol to come up to and speak about another symbol, then I'll listen", he said, "why not?"

With that, John went off to continue his search for elusive answers to his equally elusive questions.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE SOLUTION

YOU are invited to color, cut out and frame the Christmas carol pageantry shown above for party-play use, decoration purposes, or for just plain fun. A suggested 3-D shadow box arrangement is pictured at left. As a party-play prop, place box on piano, player, notes, right; and see who can identify the tune. Then all join in the words.

It's Your Move

YEARS ago, checker pieces used to be called stones. In the situation above, White uses certain of his men as stepping stones to achieve a clever victory in five moves. It's White's turn, moving up the board. (Kings move in any direction, of course). How does White play to win?

If you get stuck, turn to long-time champ Millard Hopper's solution below.

Speed It Up?

ALGERNON FIBBS started from home to Grandma's, a distance of 10 miles. Half way there, he noted that he had averaged 30 m.p.h. and realized he must speed up to keep his appointment for dinner. At what rate did Algernon travel the rest of the way to average 60 m.p.h.?

Listen, World!

PHRASES now in common speech testify how widely persons have listened to, and perhaps been influenced by certain men and women. Can you supply what's omitted here in a quotation from the past?

"For —— are the voice of the church; they have tones that touch and search the hearts of young and old."—Longfellow.

A 5-letter word is missing.

A Pip of a Trick

FOR a surprising optical test next time you are playing cards, gaze fixedly at a red diamond or heart pip on a playing card. Transfer your gaze to a wall and the pip will appear fleetingly as green.

Bazaar Candy Counter

YOUNG Jim-my's father gave him a dollar to spend at the Christmas bazaar. Jimmy decided to spend it on the three kinds of candy shown at right.

He spent the entire dollar and bought exactly one hundred pieces.

How many pieces of each did Jimmy buy with his dollar? Figure this out in your head.

Unscramble the Books?

AMONG the many books on Santa's gift list are those listed below. How many of the titles can you unscramble?

Each title contains two words. They are all classics.

1. WYASER MOT .....
2. VIOLER SFWIT .....
3. NRH KUH .....
4. OQU SVADI .....
5. SPROGERS GEMPILS .....

Remember, each title contains two words; scrambled words are not necessarily in correct order.

Top Kick?

A LADDER rests against a wall, with its top projecting. When the foot of the ladder is 18 ft. from the wall, 3 ft. project over the top. When the foot of the ladder is 8 ft. from the wall, 8 ft. project over the top. How high is the wall.

BORN IN France in 1757, he came to America in 1777. He distinguished himself in battle as a major general in the Revolutionary War, following which he returned to his native land. In 1824, he revisited the United States; was given a hero's welcome and a gift from the U. S. government of $200,000. He died in 1834. His wear ——

THERE are a lot of dots and don'ts attached to this coloring exercise. For instance: Don't color the ball that the seal is balancing on its nose. Do start by using a blue crayon in the upper left hi ki corner (where you see the number three indicated) and work across. Do use the following numbers as color indicators in the rest of the scene: 1—Yellow. 2—Red. 3—Blue. 4—Orange. 5—Green. 6—Violet. 7—Black. 8—Brown. 9—Pink. (If pink is not handy, shade number 9 spaces with a light shade of red instead.)

Do knuckle down and follow instructions carefully, friends, for you certainly don't want to upset the VIP who's hidden in this scene. Don't say we didn't warn you.

Cresswell

Mrs. Lola McColl and son, Murray, of Tory Hill, have returned to their home, after spending a week with their relatives in the village, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Switzer.

Mrs. Robert Wood and Mrs. Percy Brown with the ladies of Manilla Women's Institute were guests of the Little Britain Women's Institute for their November meeting.

Mrs. John Sornberger is dividing her time with her children in Toronto, Peterboro and Deauville, Quebec, rather than stay alone in her home here, for the Fall and Winter months.

There has been great activity in the village the past week, as bulldozers, cranes, gravel trucks and a small army of men worked on the Superior Bulk Plant on the property of Mr. Percy Brown. Tanks were dug up and relocated, and one huge 15,000 gallon one installed extra.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York — Take an empty chlorine bleach bottle, the plastic type, add some imagination and you're on the way to making simple and inexpensive yule presents.

The bottle-craft fad first gained popularity when the Clorox Bureau of Bleaching Information put out a kit showing how to make piggy banks out of the empty white bottles.

Den mothers, shut-ins, sportsmen, gardeners, women's club programme directors, amateur interior decorators and homemakers deluged the Bureau with additional ideas — ranging from bait buckets to bird feeders.

In addition to the bottle and imagination, you need a sharp cutting knife or single-edged razor, grease pencil, India ink or one of the new felt-tipped marking pens.

Use the latter when painting designs. Enamel, spray, nail polish, swatches of wallpaper, sequins and felt scraps add decoration.

Here are directions for a few simple holiday gifts fashioned the bottle-craft way.

—Santa decoration. Cut the bottle just below the top of the centre section. Paint on features — eyes, nose, mouth. Make a cap of paper or felt and glue in place. Use cotton for eyebrows, mustache, and beard and to trim the hat. Presto, you're finished.

— Bird feeder. Cut a half-gallon or gallon bottle to desired height. Turn the bottom end up and cut entrance hole. Punch one small hole below entrance and another on opposite side. Run a stick through the holes for perch. Make one-half inch slits one inch apart all around the edge of the open end. Fold alternate tabs inside out; nail the outside tabs to a board. If you want your feeder to stand on poles, attach an old mop handle to the bottom of the board with brackets. Otherwise, just hang it on the limb of a tree.

— Multi-purpose holder for sewing supplies, hair curlers pencils, shell or rock collections. Cut the top off the bottle and decorate the sides with strips of coloured paper, felt or wallpaper. To personalize same, add initials or first name.

Snow shovel. Cut a portion of the handle-side of the larger-sized bottles and leave two inches of the handle attached. Then whittle the end of a stick to fit snugly in this section. Paint the handle.

— Utility bucket or sand pail. Cut a gallon-size bottle ¼-inch above the center section. Punch holes on opposite sides a half-inch below the rim. Insert rope or heavy cord through the holes and knot inside. If you choose, you can make a wire handle by bending a coat hanger and running it through the holes.

— Bait bucket. Make the same as above, but cover the top with saran film, wax paper on canvas — perforated if live bait is used. Or, fashion a lid by stretching any of these materials over a rim made from a half-inch strip cut from the sides of the king size plastic bottle. The ends of the strip should be stapled or glued together in a circle slightly larger than circumference of the bucket top.

— Brick-A-Brac holder. Slice a quart-size or half gallon bottle longitudinally to the base. Cut away one side, leaving the base intact. Line the inside with gold foil and cover the outside with cloth or paint, embellished with narrow gold braid.

Put a one-inch thick disk of styrofoam in the base to hold figurines. These have been found appropriate for religious objects, such as a Madonna. Other uses: a perch for highly-stylized, slender, long-legged does and gazelles — or even a flower arrangement.

United Church holds Christmas Tea and Bazaar

The Christmas theme was prevelent at the Cambridge Street United Church Tea and Bazaar held on Friday.

In the bazaar room there were tables gaily decorated to sell baking, aprons, delicatessen foods, dolls clothes, novelties and Christmas ideas and gifts which turned out a financial success.

In charge of all tea and bazaar arrangements was Mrs. W. McCarty, who is also the U.C.W. president.

The receiving line was comprised of the two ministers wives Mrs. R. McLean, Mrs. K. Purdon, and Mrs. McCarty.

Pouring tea for the afternoon was Mrs. W. Breese, Mrs. E. Rogers, Mrs. H. W. Stone, and Mrs. B. Martin.

Hostesses were Mrs. John Smale, Mrs. Ross Bailey, Mrs. D. J. McLellan and Mrs. Jack Staples.

The kitchen and tea convenors were Mrs. Cliff Laidley, Mrs. Sam Hancock, Mrs. Jack Nesbitt, Mrs. Rex Thomas, Mrs. Bill Cummins, Mrs. Earl Endicott, Mrs. Tom Price, and Miss R. Brokenshire.

The Christmas decorations were convened by Mrs. N. Bradburn.

During the afternoon baby sitting facilities were looked after by some of the women so that the mothers could look around and have their tea. The children were served juice and cookies.

In 1963, Canada had more than 7,500,000 vehicle automobile drivers, 6,250,000 vehicles and 337,000 road accidents. Safe-Driving Week, December 1 to 7, would be the right time to start reducing that accident total, said the Canadian Highway Safety Council.

ON THE MAIN STREET

Among the many citizens who paid their last respects to the late George Hilderbrand were several business men from Lindsay and Peterboro who knew the deceased best as a clothing man. The experience of the late George Hilderbrand goes back to the days of W. E. Kelcher, Leo. Rogers, Harry Brinnell, Jack Grey and others who were closely identified with the haberdasher business on the main street for many years.

The late George Hilderbrand also was well known in Peterboro business circles where he operated for "Fashion" and other big brand name clothing firms, and when he owned his own store it was at the time one of the best furnished and finest outlets in the Electric City.

George Hilderbrand knew the clothing business. His passing is mourned by many associates, as well as by hundreds who patronized him in later years.

The forthcoming vote on Sunday movies came in for reference in Lindsay churches on Sunday. Rev. R. K. McLean of Cambridge Street United Church said Lindsay did not need Sunday movies anymore than a person needs "two holes in the head".

The death of Rev. Dr. Norman Rawson last week removed a gentleman who was known to a number of Lindsay citizens. He will be remembered locally, as well as in many towns and villages in Ontario for the service he rendered during Victory Loan drives when he spoke to many diversified groups. The deceased clergyman was a member of the Hamilton Kiwanis Club for some time and several years ago he addressed the Lindsay Kiwanis club. While in Lindsay he visited with his son-in-law Donald Anderson, a member of the Union Carbide executive staff in Lindsay. He was one of the finest orators in the province and a clergyman of tremendous spiritual drive.

"Vote as you like but vote" is an old injunction but just as important today as it ever was. In Lindsay the voters will be handed four different pieces of paper, one showing the list of councillor candidates in alphabetical order, another for use in deciding Yes or No for Sunday movies, a further to ascertain if the people of Lindsay want to continue subsidizing a town bus service and another to see if taxpayers favour a two year term for all councillors including the Mayor, Reeve and Deputy-Reeve. These are important matters. Town Clerk Bud Bates has his extra large staff ready and they have been assigned to the various polling stations ready to look after the voters from 10 a.m. until the closing of the polls after the supper hour.

Mackey's funeral chapel was filled with mourners and friends Saturday for the funeral service of the late George Parkin. Many people were from Fenelon township, the former home of the deceased gentleman, the municipality he represented when he was honoured with the position of Warden of Victoria County. Rev. R. K. McLean of Cambridge Street United Church included in his remarks the recital of the Beatitudes and he referred to the deep and sincere religious character of the late Mr. Parkin, with special reference to the fine interpretation given in the readings at church meetings.

FETED AT SHOWERS PRIOR TO WEDDING

Mrs. William Bradley, Bowmanville, the former Beth McMullen of Janetville, was entertained at a number of showers and parties prior to her marriage recently.

Mrs. Russell Gilbert opened her home for a shower of bedroom accessories, from Bowmanville friends with Mrs. Louis McFeeters as the co-hostess.

Mrs. Arthur Rowan, Janetville, was hostess for a miscellaneous shower for the members of the United Church Women of Yelverton United Church and for neighbours.

Miss Aileen Van Camp of Blackstock was the hostess for a kitchen shower entertaining school friends of the bride-elect and other friends.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Donald Welsh, Peterborough and Mrs. Howard Kellett of Oshawa at the home of the future bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard McMullen, Janetville, attended by a number of relatives of the bride-elect.

Mrs. Gerald Ross and Miss Joyce Collacott, both of Bowmanville, were co-hostesses for a miscellaneous shower given at the home of the prospective bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bradley, Bowmanville, at which a number of their relatives and friends were present.

Mrs. McMullen entertained afternoon and evening, Saturday, October 17th, 1964 for her daughter at a trousseau tea, at their home Janetville, where the future bride received the guests assisted by her mother and the prospective bridegroom's mother. Those pouring tea in the afternoon were Mrs. Stanley Hacker, Midland, aunt of the bride-elect and Mrs. Vernon Moore, Whitby, aunt of the future bridegroom, in the evening Mrs. Vertil McMullen, Bowmanville, another aunt of the bride-elect and Mrs. William Seymour an aunt of the prospective bridegroom, poured tea. Following the rehearsal, the bridal party were entertained at the home of the future bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard McMullen, Janetville.

New York (UPI) — Mira Nobill teaches men on both sides of the Atlantic to do any darn thing–with a sewing machine.

She shows them how to darn socks, sweaters, trousers, skirts, shirts, scarves, mittens.

"American men are the sew happiest", she said in an interview, rating their enthusiasm for dexterity in the pin and needle business above that of male pupils in France, Greece, England, Holland, Belgium.

"But the males in England are the fastest learners–at darning, putting in zippers, making buttonholes".

Males deft with the needle needn't feel inferior when ranked with the brethren handy with sword. Plenty of famous ones are agile with both. Samples:

–The Duke of Windsor knits.

–Ditto for King Gustav VI Adolf, of Sweden.

–And the late Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, a Yankee-doodle-he-man who was Ambassador to Moscow and head of the C.I.A. (Central Intelligence Agency) told intimates he did needle-point for relaxation.

Miss Nobili, a petite brunette from Spain, is a field instructor for the Necchi Sewing Machine Co., her employer for the last four years and under whose auspices she has travelled through most of Europe.

She said her present assignment in America, of one year's duration, already has had her teaching males to sew in Atlanta, New Orleans, Pensacola, Detroit, Mobile, Boston, Hartford, Providence, New Haven.

Most of the males in her classes try their hands at stitchery in connection with their careers as sewing machine salesmen.

"If they are to demonstrate the machine's finer points", she said, "they must know more than how to turn it on and off".

"Of all the men in my classes, the American ones demonstrate the greatest application. They seem to take their jobs more seriously than do the men in Europe".

The interest in monograms and the yen to sew among high school and college girls is also greater in this country.

Miss Nobili links the latter with the fact that Americans, more than Europeans, learn something about sewing in Home Economics classes.

By education, Miss Nobili is a fashion designer. She attended the Maragone School of Design for two years. Then she studied for two more years at the Davies School in London.

She earned her tuition and other school costs by babysitting and tutoring children of English families.

"I needed the money, but I also wanted the chance to get to know the English people", she said.

The story was repeated in Paris, when she attended the Alliance Francaise in 1959.

Miss Nobili's outlook on men is tempered by her world-wide travels. Samples:

–"Englishmen undoubtedly make the best husbands. They do everything for their wives".

–"Italian men, as men, are supreme".

–"The French are the kind of men to go out on a casual date with, because they know how to enjoy life–but nothing serious."

–"Belgian men are a little on the dull side."

About the species as a whole, Miss Nobili said:

"I hope to change any man I marry. Any good man can be a good husband–if he's pushed."

HOMES LITTERED WITH BOOBY TRAPS

Ottawa (UPI) — Not many people would gulp a handful of headache tablets, wash them down with liquid detergent, and then munch on a bar of soap.

But it's done every day by toddlers who don't know any better and who live in homes with more poisonous booby traps than the battle-fields of the second World War--because the parents don't know any better.

The National Safety League of Canada warns that the wonderful labour-saving and energy-producing drugs and detergents are killing off youngsters and careless adults in growing numbers.

The household and drug products produced by modern science "when properly used" add "immensely to ease, comfort, safety and enjoyment of life", says the League.

"When misused", it adds "they jeopardise health and may have fatal results".

About 400 people--most of them children--die every year from poisoning accidents in the home. There are 100,000 people involved in home poisoning accidents each year--close to half require medical attention--and 20,000 suffer a disabling illness.

The League estimates that 200,000 products for the home are potentially dangerous when not used as directed and intended.

The League says accidents can be prevented by a little common sense. Adults should read the directions on everything they use--from a detergent to a weed killer--and make sure all such things are kept out of reach of children.

A major problem is that people have a habit of leaving these deadly materials in containers the kiddies usually associate with goodies-- such as soft drink bottles, milk cartons, cereal or candy boxes and cake tins. Youngsters can't be expected to know that their favorite cereal had been replaced with death.

Too many people store cleaning and polishing agents, rodent and insect killers, solvents and kerosene beneath kitchen sinks. Any self-respecting toddler can crawl in there and have a wonderful meal--possibly his last.

"Children two to four years are mobile and love to climb", says the League.

By that age they have learned to avoid the booby trap beneath the kitchen sink, but become intrigued by the cabinet above the bathroom sink--full of lethal goodies.

Never call flavoured medicine "candy", because when you're not looking, a child may gulp down all that 'candy' and become just another statistic. And never underestimate the "ability of children to find poisonous products", says the League.

HOLLYWOOD

(United Press International)

Hollywood, (UPI) — George Shearing, the blind Englishman who became one of America's greatest jazz pianists, has gone longhair, playing a series of classical concerts across the country.

It was in 1947 that Shearing came to America. Two years later his unique style of playing had swept the country and made him one of the top recording stars. His recordings of such tunes as "September in the rain," "East of the Sun" and "Roses of Picardy" rank among the best jazz renditions.

Shearing and his quintet toured the country playing in nightclubs crowded with his fans.

Shearing explains his emergence upon America's jazz scene as if it was a rebuttal to the maddening sounds of some musicians who were looking for a new style in the 1940's.

"There'd been this mad bop period," he said. "People were ready for something more placid, palatable. I suppose there was a difference between the originators of bop and their disciples."

Shearing came along with music the listener could both understand and look upon as something new.

For almost 15 years, Shearing and his group toured the country playing an endless stream of engagements, a night here, a week or two there. It was the lonely road known to most successful musicians.

About a year ago, Shearing decided he had enough time on the road. He was living in a home in the Toluca Lake area of North Hollywood. He no longer cared to spend ten months on the road.

So George took a year off from his regular playing schedule and began studying the classics, perfecting his ability at the piano. A few months ago he decided to test his classical skill.

"We've done a number of symphony concerts, usually in the pop series," said Shearing who has performed with symphony orchestras in Rochester N.Y., Cleveland, Oklahoma City, Salt Lake City and Honolulu. He is scheduled to play with the Minneapolis Symphony next year.

"The orchestra plays a few short classical selections and then I play, usually a Mozart Concerto," George said. "In the second half of the concert the Quintet and members of the woodwind and string families play something from our records. Then the Quintet plays some jazz and Afro-Cuban music."

Shearing has had a guide dog for the past two years, a big golden retriever named Lee.

He says the dog gave him "A greater degree of independence than I've ever known in my life. "Last Christmas Lee and I did 80 per cent of my Christmas shopping."

"That wouldn't mean much to most people but to a blind guy who hasn't been out on his own, it's quite a kick to be able to go into a store and buy some thing."

Shearing has a sense of humour which he uses often when discussing his blindness. He laughingly recalls the time a nightclub press agent gave out a story that Shearing was once a blind trapeze artist.

"People came up to me at the piano and asked me how I did it," George recalled. "I told them I used a Braille trapeze."

Cannington celebrates fifty years of hydro service

(A report reprinted from the Ontario Hydro news)

Several residents remember the eventful day 50 years ago when public power came to Cannington. But thoughts were more on the future, as Cannington Hydro - Electric Commission celebrated its golden jubilee.

The two-day celebrations in the village, 15 miles west of Lindsay, were attended by more than half of Cannington's 1,000 citizens.

Events includede a visit from Hydro Showtime, a program put on by Ontario's Hydro's Home Services. Cannington electrical dealers cooperated in a display of the latest electrical appliances.

Guests were received at the celebrations, the first major event held in Cannington's reconstructed Memorial Centre, by Angus Jewell, chairman of Cannington Hydro and Miss Islay Lambert, secretary-treasurer.

The advent of Cannington Hydro is bound up with an important milestone in the early history of Ontario Hydro. Cannington was one of several communities on the eastern ssore of Lake Simcoe which requested s ervice from Hydro and to serve them Wasdell Falls hydro-electric station was constructed 32 miles northwest on the Severn River. The 750-kilowatt station — withdrawn from service in 1955 — was the first built by Hydro.

For some, like George Henderson and Arthur Mix, last month's celebrations were understandably an occasion for fond memories. Mr. Henderson, 89, one of Canada's oldest practising druggists and a member of Cannington Hydro for 30 years up until 1962, vividly recalls the opening of Wasdell Falls, including a riverside picnic at which Sir Adam Beck, Ontario Hydro's first chairman, served guests with tea and toast prepared in appliances powered from current generated at the new station. The memory is shared by Mr. Mix who also continues an active life in Cannington.

He was a member of council from 1916 to 1919 and chairman of the Hydro committee of council during that period, as reeve in 1919, he was a member of the first Hydro commission.

With the opening of Wasdell Falls in 1914, the old steam generator, which since 1893, had supplied Cannington with power, chugged to a halt for the last time. It had been shut down every evening at 11 o'clock. Cannington Hydro came into being with a debenture debt of $12,000. Over the years the system has been expanded and modernized to meet increasing demands. Total value by plant today is approximately $87,000.

Other events from the past were briefly recounted by W. Ross Strike, chairman of Ontario Hydro, at an informal reception. He reminded his audience: "We are only on the threshold of the use of electrical energy".

For school children there were movies, and an essay contest which was won by 12-year-old Joanne Pipher, daughter of a Cannington lineman.

Two of Cannington's Hydro pioneers were honoured through their descendants. Door prizes were drawn by Mr. Henderson's granddaughter Edith Eastman, and eight-year-old Adam Dobson, great-grandson and namesake of the man who owned the old steam generator, and also sold the Wasdell Falls site to Hydro.

Following the vote in favor of public power at Cannington, Hydro affairs were conducted by a committee of council. From records she has studied, Miss Lambert concludes that as Hydro matters occupied more than half the time at council meetings, it was decided in 1919 to elect a separate commission.

Winifred Ostler

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — The many friends of Mrs. Arthur Ostler were shocked and saddened, when they learned that she had passed away suddenly, following surgery in the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay on Thursday, November 5th, 1964. Winnifred May Williams was born in Toronto in 1913, and received her education there. In June, 1934 she was married to Arthur Ostler, who is left to mourn her loss. There are also two sons, Wayne 18 and John 16, who also grieve for their beloved mother. Also surviving are her mother Mr. E. Williams of Toronto and two sisters Violet (Mrs. T. Roberts) of Oliphant, Ontario, and Olive (Mrs. F. Cook) of Waterloo, Ontario.

Mrs. Ostler was a member of Fenelon Falls Fellowship Baptist Church in which she took an active part.

Pallbearers were Messer. Lenny Ostler, Bruce Cook, Fred Muir, Simon Schwartzenbruber, Victor Jackett and Lorne Reipert.

Many floral tributes bore silent testimony to the esteem in which Mrs. Ostler was held.

"Work well when new, but when they deteriorate they open large areas to the danger of plagues"

LAGOONS ATTACKED AS DANGER TO HEALTH

"Municipalities may find that the waste stabilization pool may end up being more expensive than a proper sewage treatment plant. But if they don't keep them from deteriorating they are placing their communities in a precarious health position."

Town councils in Canada are in for some severe disillusionment comments Earl Damude in "The Financial Post" in a comprehensive article on low-cost sewage disposal pools. These cheap sewage disposal cesspools which nearly 200 Western committees are using, including Lindsay may become expensive king-sized headaches.

Dr. James McAnulty, M.D., and other medical authorities charge that open lagoons work well when new, but when they deteriorate they open large areas to the danger of plagues.

"It is time for the medical profession to take a stand and place this absurd and stupid method of waste treatment where it really belongs - in the museum of sanitation history" said Dr. McAnulty.

Sanitary engineers have been hailing the use of large open cesspools (engineers call the lagoon cesspool an "oxidation" or "sewage stabilization pond" or "water stabilization pond") as the answers to the low-cost handling of sewage by smaller towns and cities.

Lagoon systems work like this: raw sewage is simply pumped into a man-made pond or lake (depending on the size of the community), the solids drop to the bottom where they are attacked by worms and snails. The rest of the liquid sewage is attacked by bacteria and sunshine and aerated by the wind.

Dr. McAnulty and other public health authorities (whom he quotes in his article) say this sewage system works well — when the lagoons are new. However health hazards build up as the lagoons deteriorate, they get filled with weeds, dikes break down due to burrowing of rodents and liquid sewage seeps into domestic water supplies.

Health hazards

Dr. McAnulty claims there is a natural sequence in the way the health hazards build up. First aquatic vegetation starts to form in the bottom of the ponds. Next comes the full complement of marshland growth, the cattails, sedges and rushes. This attracts ducks and geese and these are followed by mosquitoes, midges, black flies and spiders. The Waterfowl are hosts for bacteria which they take in with their feeding from the pool's bottom. Breeding mosquitoes draw blood from the water fowl (and with it the infectious bacteria). The end of the cycle from a public health standpoint, occurs when the mosquitoes transfer this infectious bacteria to man.

These sanitary lagoons, may in the opinion of the engineers "purify" the sewage but they actually have little or no effect on killing the viruses (such as infectious hepatitis) which infest the sewage.

Here is a breakdown given by Dr. McAnulty of the relative efficiency of the various sewage treatment systems in the elimination of viruses:

The standard septic tank or the sewage lagoon has no effect on intestinal viruses. Secondary treatment of sewage by trickling it through filters removes only about 40% of the viruses. Second treatment in mechanical plants, using the activated sludge system, removes 90% to 98% of the viruses and certain types of bacteria. Chlorination of treated sewage further reduces the number of viruses.

In the opinion of Dr. J. R. McLintock of the federal department of Agriculture's research institute, sewage lagoons are here to stay, "probably as long as we have rural areas".

How then can the health hazard be reduced? asks the Financial Post. The answer is simple Dr. McAnulty says. Clean out the cesspools, keep the margins free of vegetation so that they will not become a habitat for waterfowl and keep them free of mosquitoes.

Municipalities may find that the waste stabilization pool may end up being more expensive than proper sewage treatment plants. But if they do not keep them from deteriorating they are placing their communities in a precarious health position.

Provincial politicians should check with their public health experts before they embark on more expenditure for this type of sewage disposal.

Jehovah's Witnesses travel around the world by film

Around the world in 120 minutes- That was the programme for Saturday evening's session of the circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at Ajax Community Centre.

415 delegates were treated by coloured film to a whirlwind two-hour tour of the globe. "Unity is the Bible's Theme" explained film narrator, C. E. Statton, "and Jehovah's Witnesses prove it works. Christians from 161 different countries mingle freely through action-packed scenes and eye-catching beauty as the film unfolds." Statton emphasized that "racial inequality and colour bars find no place in Christian assembly."

Saturday's film set the stage for Sunday's feature of the three-day gathering. An attentive audience of 500 listened to visiting minister and traveller C. E. Statton speak on "Our Divided World — Is It Here to Stay." His answer to the question was a thunderous No- "Incompatible political ideologies conflicting religious beliefs, racial discrimination and economic inequalities must all give way to the awesome power of Jehovah God — and it is God's purpose to have a united world."

On this note of optimism, Mr. Statton encouraged assembly delegates and visitors from Whitby, Oshawa, Lindsay, Bowmanville, and Port Perry to continue carrying the banner of everlasting good news for the Word of God." Jehovah's Witnesses report marked increase in all these areas in recent months.

Fenelon Falls Reeve returned by acclamation

T. C. Graham headed the polls yesterday at the election in the village of Fenelon Falls for council members. Reeve W. G. Jackett was returned by acclamation as were the three vacancies on the school board.

The three remaining councillors elected were P. Vandervagt, Rev. James B. Harrison, and H. H. Moore. A vacancy remains on the hydro commission when none of the three candidates nominated decided to qualify.

Miss Marjorie De Mill was returned by acclamation to the school board along with J. K. Sangster and Obediah Hennessey.

Sweep!

The Peel Street rink will be the scene of great activity Wednesday when the Royal Canadian Legion, Sir Sam Hughes Branch will hold its annual bonspiel. Twenty-four rinks are expected to take part.

The second Tri-County Curling Bonspiel is also expected to get under way in all the district rinks Friday night of this week.

"U.C." stands for Union Carbide but also for "Unbelievable Curling". This fact was demonstrated Saturday when fifty or more men and women from Visking enjoyed morning, afternoon and evening games. Curlers of experience played with other employees who before Saturday couldn't distinguish a curling stone from an electric kettle, but they are adept learners and there was truly some "Unbelievable Curling"! It was a fine bonspiel with plenty of friendly competition. The teams played an initial round at 10 a.m., the middle frame at 2 p.m. and the final games at 7 a.m. In between there was time for a lovely dinner served by members of the ladies club and at night the curlers were not a bit too tried to enjoy a dance. Jack Cronin was M.C. and kept matters swinging and curling. The winners: First with three wins: Elmer Kennedy (Skip), Mertyl Kennedy, J. Aitken, C. Vanderbren. Second with three wins: W. George Greenaway, President of the Oakwood Men's Curling Club used an old saying when he was asked for comment regarding the Mariposa Club. "How time does fly —It is thirty years since the Oakwood rink was built and we are still going strong". The Oakwood heavers of granite have everything ready for a good season. Twenty-six rinks are expected. The same as last season. The first Invitation Bonspiel will be held early in January, known as the Master Feeds event. It is reported that the women members of Oakwood are also organized and ready to go under the presidency of Mrs. Stewart McIntyre. All in all Oakwood curlers anticipate a busy and profitable season.

Howard McLean of Peterboro skipped a rink to victory in the first bonspiel of the season held at the Charlotte Street curling rink. The competing rinks were all from the Peterboro club with the exception of one from the Kawartha Club.

A large Westinghouse T.V. has been placed in the upper lounge at the Peel Street rink for the convenience of members.

YOUTHS FINED FOR CREATING DISTURBANCE BY FIGHTING

"I don't like these young people travelling in packs", said Magistrate Ian Munro in Lindsay Police Court Monday when he fined two local youths $20 and costs or 10 days each for creating a disturbance by fighting in a public place. He called the group the youths were involved with "a gang" and said gangs are the cause of a lot of public damage.

The two were alleged to have been in a fight near a Queen Street lunch bar. One of the accuseds, Ronald Joseph Burns 20, of RR6, Lindsay, told the court he was not excited. He said the other accused, David Horslen, 18, of Lindsay, didn't do anything terribly wrong to me and I didn't do anything terribly wrong to him". Burns added he didn't appreciate police intervention.

M. J. Cunningham, who was defending Horslen said, "Surely we're not going to clutter up our courtrooms with minor spats. Not every fight constitutes a disturbance".

Magistrate Munro remarked, "I'm quite satisfied that they were all enjoying themselves. The Magistrate said the owner of the lunch counter was eager to get the gang, which witnesses said numbered from 20 to 30 boys, outside so they would not damage his premises.

When the Burns youth's uncle, Edward Burns, told the court he intervened when Horslen kicked his nephew, who was on the ground, the Crown Attorney, Lorne Jordan, asked why he did not try to break up the fight sooner.

Magistrate Munro said, "Any citizen would think twice before getting mixed up in a melee where he could end up in the hospital for a couple of weeks".

DUTCH ELM DISEASE IS SPREADING

Council learned Monday night that the Dutch Elm disease is spreading rapidly in Lindsay and there is no way to prevent loss of the trees. Percy Hill, chairman of the Park's Board said, "It is certain we're going to lose 90 percent of the trees and we cannot prevent it. The disease can be curtailed temporarily by spraying but we can't spray every tree in town." Mr. Hill, referring to a request for a budget for trimming and removing trees in the wintertime, said the Parks Board could do nothing about the problem at present. He said, "The dead or dying trees have to be removed and this may help to cut down on the spread of the disease, if we get them in time, but we can't say them all." Mr. Hill said unless a budget is set up for this purpose by council, there is nothing that can be done about the disease.

GROUP FINDS INCREASING CLAXONPHONY

New York (UPI) — A political group known as the affiliated Young Democrats which for some obscure reason conducts annual tests to determine the decibel count on car horn blowing in the city has completed this year's survey.

Conclusion: "Automobile drivers today have less patience than ever before and blow the horn at the slightest provocation." It also concluded the reason for the increasing crescendo of claxonphony is nervous tension brought on by traffic jams.

Parks Board "hands tied" for lack of money — Hill

Town Council set aside the Parks Board's request for money to conduct tree cutting and trimming during the winter. The board asked for $1,000 or have council approve carrying out emergency work and pay the bills. Percy Hill, chairman of the Parks Board, said a number of people have asked to have dead trees removed but said the board's hands are tied if there is no budget for this work project. In addition, Mr. Hill said, two of the Park's Board employees would have to be laid off indefinitely. Council has set up a budget for such work in previous years, Mr. Hill commented.

Last year council gave the board $2,000 and two employees from the Board of Works, following the Parks Board's request for $3,500. Mr. Hill said there wasn't much advantage to this because the money had to be used to pay the wages of the two Board of Works men, which didn't greatly help Parks Board employees.

The Parks Board made a request for money in the spring but council deferred it to the fall. Now the request will be referred to the finance committee who will study it and report back to council with its recommendations on December 8.

It was suggested that perhaps this work could fall under the government-sponsored Winter Works Programme, but," Mr. Hill said, "even if this could be done under the winter works programme, it would not help employees of the Parks Board, because men must be hired for the government winter works projects through the National Employment Services. The only way parks men could be hired in this way would be to fire them and then try to re-hire them through the National Employment Services," Mr. Hill said. "This would be unfair to the employees and the board could get other employees in their stead through this method; men who probably have no experience in this line of work, and the board would be losing some good men."

Mr. Hill said he could see no possible way that the "wintertime jobs for parks employees", which should not be confused with the government winter works projects, could work through the government sponsored system.

Mayor Joseph Holtom asked the town clerk to look into the matter of the government winter works programme and find out what the latest regulations are, since he said they change periodically.

Carl Brown said a large winter works programme would pay but as far as parks is concerned, there is very little chance of making a dollar through this scheme.

Mr. Hill said more trees are maturing and dying and the cost of labour is increasing; there must be a substantial budget set aside for this purpose.

Two hundred feet out of control, fined

Travelling some two hundred feet out of control, bouncing across railway tracks, and jumping a seven-foot ravin constituted careless driving according to Magistrate Ian Munroe when he convicted David Calvert and fined him $25 and costs in magistrate's court Monday.

Corporal Ross Bailey, and Constable Elmer Lewis told the court of measuring tire marks following a one car motor vehicle accident on Logie street about 1:30 a.m. on November 7th. The accused said he was thrown toward the passenger side of the car when it pulled to one side as he approached the crossing and he was unable to regain control of the vehicle.

A Town Divided

Omemee is a town divided. The depth of feeling can be gauged by the fact about 250 persons attended the Nomination Meeting on Friday evening, and only suberb charmanship by town clerk Fogue kept the meeting orderly.

The issues and disputes are complex and clouded. Reeve George Stephenson and the present council accuse the Medical Officer of Health Dr. Jules Sobrien of blackening the name of Omemee in newspapers across the country over the school issue. The school board sold the former school to Dr. Sobrien for $500 and the sale was opposed by council who said they wanted the property for a park. Tempers were heated over the issue and two days after the sale the school burnt down in a mysterious fire. Omemee fire chief Charles Evans dropped a bombshell at the meeting when he said the Fire Marshall had indicated arson was involved. The water and pollution problems in the village spotlighted by Dr. Sobrien also formed part of the hassle .

The situation is complex and the bitterness of feeling obviously goes deep, and is going to be difficult to heal. Should the present council headed by Reeve George Stephenson be returned to council, it is to be hoped they will not feel the whole town is behind them and that their stand is vindicated. Whether they get back or bloc or who-ever the new contestants make it, the issue still remains and will have to be dealt with in a level headed manner if the squabbles are to be settled and not fester for years.

On the surface Omemee appears to be a sleepy little town under the surface tension simmers. We hope the council, the school board and the Medical Officer of Health will be able to find a more common ground in disputes in the future.

Tough Traders

by C. J. Harris

A flat refusal is the reported reply of the Japanese government to the request of the Canadian government that worsted fabric exports to this country be limited under voluntary quotas. Japan's shipments to Canada of woollen worsteds, mainly used in men's suitings, have risen from 50 to 100 per cent in each of the past four years and it is forecast that Japan will have taken over about one-fifth of the total Canadian market by the end of the current year. As Finance Minister Gordon commented during the trade talks in Tokyo, the Japanese now ship a larger volume of worsted fabrics to Canada than to all of the European market.

Japan backed its refusal to limit worsted exports with two principal arguments. One was the claim that their exports to Canada mainly compete with imports from Britain and not with domestic production. Secondly, they cited their adverse balance of trade with Canada.

Textile and apparel manufacturers in Canada concede that Britain has been the main loser from the rising volume of worsted imports from Japan, but they state that the low-wage imports are now cutting into domestic production. They fear that, as in the past, the Japanese will force their way into a much larger share of the market so that they will have a big export vote to use as a base period for later negotiations on a quota agreement. In the meantime the marketing glut will cost a substantial number of Canadian jobs, and these will not be recoverable even when a quota is agreed upon.

On the other main argument, it is quite true that the value of Canadian exports to Japan is more than twice the value of Japanese exports to Canada. However, this argument has to be qualified by the factor of kind. Since virtually all imports from Japan are competitive with Canadian finished products, they directly affect employment here. But Japanese purchases here are almost entirely raw materials and food products; they are non-competitive with Japanese products, they are essentials and, in fact, create employment. There is also the point that international trade is balanced in totals, rather than country-by-county, and the Japanese government has recently predicted a substantial trade surplus for the current year — exports of $8.2 billions, imports of $6.5 billion.

Japanese exporters have responded to elicit a good deal of sympathy in Canada concerning their trade position. But they hardly need such sympathy. They're tough traders.

War

It is the province of kings to bring wars about; it is the province of God to end them.—Cardinal Pole.

A man and his mission

Robert Malkin of Vancouver is conducting a one man crusade to bring about stricter control of the drunk driver. This is not a flag-waving cannon-shooting crusade. Mr. Malkin conducts himself with dignity and strength. He is never offensive, always impressive.

In November, 1963, Mr. Malkin's 22-year-old son Kit and a 25-year old chum, both marine biologists lecturing at a California university, were instantly killed. A drunk plowed through a red signal and smashed into their car at an intersection near San Francisco. The drunk's punishment was far from fitted to the crime.

Mr. Malkin left his business in Vancouver, had the wrecked car, unmolested, mounted on a small truck and drove it through California seeking support. He has more than 17,000 signatures of people supporting his aims to strengthen that state's laws controlling drunk drivers.

Now he carries his crusade into Canada to seek strengthening of Canadian law which, he declares, is wrong, and must be corrected. He has had interviews with the Federal Minister of Justic, the Prime Minister of Canada and several other members of parliament. He has been widely and extensively interviewed by newspaper and broadcast reports. He will not spare a minute until he achieves his goal.

Robert Malkin agrees that his crusade to prevent drunk drivers from killing more and more people is a type of memorial to his son whose life was snatched from him before it really got started. —Highway Safety News

Green Light

by C. J. Harris

It is reliably reported, though not yet officially announced, that the federal government is moving rapidly towards implementation of more of the recommendations of the Glassco commission on government organization. Even more significant is the report that the civil service, whose co-operation in the changes was expected to be lukewarm at best, is moving faster than the Cabinet.

Of the 300 recommendations made by the Glassco commission for cutting red tape, improving efficiency and saving the taxpayer money, 68 had been approved by the Cainet up to a year ago. Then the government hired outside management consultants to study the feasibility of applying the commission's suggestions regarding managerial independence to departmental operations. Four particular departments — transpot, agriculture, northern affairs and veterans affairs—were selected as representative of the variations in the size and work of all departments.

The consultants examined operations to discover if authority could be delegated to branch offices, budgeting made less rigid and financial reporting improved, income efficiency measured more effectively. A principal question was whether, if there were less reliance on such central agencies as the Treasury Board and the Civil Service Commission, safeguards against patronage and unauthorized spending could be maintained. Most of the consultants' findings are reported to be in hand and under study by the Cabinet. An additional 40 of the Glassco recommendations are involved, but about half of these have already been put into practice without waiting the formality of Cabinet approval.

It is most encouraging that the civil service is said to have completely lost its fear of a "witch hunt" and that, almost without exception, senior civil servants are enthusiastically co-operating in evaluating the re-organizations recommended by the royal commission. Competent and conscientious government employees, of course, have not been unaware that in the government's operations there is extravagance and inefficiency in the extreme.

There is little doubt that an anticipated opposition to change and reform on the part of the civil service has been a factor in delaying action on the Glassco report. With that worry out of the way the government has a green light to move rapidly on the 200 Glassco recommendations that are untouched to date. And, since Mr. Glasco estimated the potential savings at $400-$450 million a year, the sooner the better.

The courage of Dr. Carlson

Editor's Note:

One of the Stanleyville survivors who arrived in Belgium today was Marcel Debuisson, a Belgian engineer. In the following first person account he tells of the courage shown in the last days of terror by Dr. Paul Carlson, American missionary who was under a rebel death sentence and who was slain by rebel gunfire in Tuesday's massacre.

(By Marcel Debuisson)
(as told to United Press International)

La Louviere, Belgium — I think the one real man I have met in my life was Dr. Paul Carlson, the American missionary-doctor.

I met him only last Friday. Knowing that firing squad was waiting for him, he still went about his professional duties cheerfully and conscientiously.

It is terrible to think he is dead.

I met Carlson last Friday when we all had been taken to the Victoria Hotel in Stanleyville. I don't mind admitting I was sick with fear.

I went to bed with my heart thumping against my ribs, and I was running a high temperature. I asked for a doctor.

A man came to me who spoke French with a heavy American accent. He examined me, cracking jokes as he did so. He said to me, "You're just suffering from a bad case of the jitters. Here are some pills."

Cheerfully, he went away.

The next day the rebels took us out of the hotel and put us in a truck. We were told our destination was Banalia outside Stanleyville.

A friend of mine pointed to a man with us wearing the kind of shorts English Colonial officers wear in Africa. He said: "That is Carlson, the man who is under sentence of death." I recognized him as the doctor who had seen me the day before.

Our truck broke down.

Carlson was the first to jump out and help push the vehicle. But the old truck had had its day and wouldn't run. We were taken back to the hotel.

My wife Monique, also making this short trip, and I talked to Carlson at the hotel. We asked him about the death sentence.

"Yes," he said. "I am supposed to be a white mercenary and I am due to be shot Monday. The execution already has been postponed once, and this has been a bad week."

On Sunday, we saw Carlson again. He had the freedom of the hotel. With his doctor's instruments and medicines he went from bed to bed treating people. But what was most comforting to them were his jokes and incredible calmness.

I have never seen a man behave like that.

I may be the last man to have seen Carlson alive—if he is in fact dead. (Dubuisson as he talked had not yet heard that Carlson's body had been flown to Leopoldville).

When we were taken out of the hotel yesterday morning, shortly after the paratroopers had landed, rebel soldiers opened fire on us with machine guns.

My wife was beside me. We both threw ourselves to the ground and I lay on top of my four-year-old daughter, Caty. She asked, "are they going to kill us?" She raised her head before I could stop her and saw another little girl lying not far away, bleeding.

Just at that time Belgian paratroopers appeared around the corner, and we were rescued.

On the way to the airport someone said, "Carlson has been shot dead." Still another said, "His head was cut off."

I didn't see Carlson's body. And I am glad. That was a man I will remember.

Pearls of Scotland

Pearl-fishing in the cool waters of Scotland's rivers should be undertaken as a hobby rather than a fortune hunt. But pearls can be found there, as A. J. Campbell explained in a recent broadcast of the BBC General Overseas Service Scottish Magazine programme. Object of search is not an oyster, but the Scottish freshwater mussel, and the more bent and wrinkled with age it is, the more likely it is to have accumulated pearly substance around some irritating intrusion. A tin with a glass panel and a cleft stick are the only gear necessary for the pearl-hunter to scan the river bed and lift the mussels. After some years enjoying this spare-time hobby in the Perthshire rivers, said Campbell, a friend of his found enough pearls of good size and colour to have a brooch made for his wife, and pearls from the River Tay could be seen in the jewellers' windows in the city of Perth. Many other Scottish rivers have yielded a pearly harvest in the past; some specimens could be seen decorating the Scottish regalia in the Crown Room at Edinburgh Castle.

TV Under Fire

Ottawa (UPI)—The privately owned Canadian television network and the publicly-owned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation today came under fire from both government and opposition benches in the commons.

The broadsides came during the discussion of the estimates of Secretary of State Maurice Lamontagne.

David Orlikow (NDP-Winnipeg North) accused CTV of being responsible for the lowering of Canadian Television standards. He said it must be because the private network showed third-rate American programmes that forced the CBC to lower its standards to meet the competition.

"The problems of the CBC are connected to the problem of the private network," he said. "There has been a gradual erosion of the ability of the CBC to do the kind of job it has to do and has tried to do. It will remain in difficulty unless the same standards are applied to its competition as are applied to the CBC."

Orlikow said promises made by private television stations when applying to the Board of Broadcast Governors for licenses were the greatest hoax ever perpetrated on the Canadian public.

He said several stations promised Canadian Programmes during prime viewing time, live dramatic programming, ethnic shows and other cultural services, but had not done it.

"The Canadian content of private stations is quiz programmes of the lowest type," he added.

He urged the BBG—"The friends and protectors of private TV"—to crack down on the private stations to allow the CBC to resume and continue its "tremendous job in maintining a Canadian identity.

"This question is basic to the needs of Canada if Canada is to survive as an independent nation," he asserted.

Liberal backbencher Ralph Cowan, a vociferous critic of the CBC, termed the public network an "Anaconda crushing the taxpayers of this country to death."

He said a royal commission or parliamentary committee to investigate "this bloodsucking Behemoth" was long overdue.

"It is absolutely ridiculous the way the CBC flouts the good name of the "Parliament of Canada," he continued, citing the recent controversial interview with American Nazi party leader George Lincoln Rockwell as a case in point.

(Rockwell has been prohibited from entering Canada, but the CBC sent a crew to Washington to interview him and showed it on a nationwide programme.

"Now are they (CBC) planning to bring Harold Chamberlain Banks up to the border to make an ass out of the Department of Justice?" he asked.

He said he was "disgusted" at an instance when the CBC sent English and French camera crews to Palestine, unknown to each other, during the Pope's visit there.

"The English crew decided to shoot silent English film footage and the French crew decided to shoot silent French film footage," he said. "If anybody can tell me what the difference is, I'd like to know."

Safety Week—December 1st - 7th

From December 1st to 7th the Canadian Highway Safety Council promotes a national Safe-Driving Week across the country. Always on the same date each year, the object of the campaign is to bring vividly to attention of drivers and pedestrians that in their vehicles and on the road, the lives of other people rest in their hands. If you are a motorist, the Council's all-Canadian project will help you to become a better driver; if you are a pedestrian, this educational effort will help you to avoid becoming a statistic.

Lindsay Ministerial states its position on Sunday movies

Dear Sir:

Since a Lindsay newspaper has raised the issue of the Lindsay Ministerial Association towards open theatres on Sunday in Lindsay, the Ministerial would like to submit the following as its position on the subject.

Be it clearly understood by all that the Ministerial has not suggested or provoked the referendum respecting the by-law No. 50-64. A monopoly theatre organization has requested our Council to amend existing Lord's Day regulations to permit the local movie house to open for theatre on Sunday after 1:30 p.m. The council has chosen to make the issue one of ballot concern at the coming civic election, just as it was only two years ago.

Since the question is facing our electorate again the ministerial deems it advisable to state its position along with the churchmen who have so done through the media of the press and radio. We feel that there are pertinent factors as we see them for your consideration:

1. For the Christian the first day of the week is a Holy day commemorating the life of our Saviour.

2. Our communit needs to provide the opportunity for rest, renewal, and relaxation from the pertinent pressures.

3. The secret of true family life is the free relaxed relationship in the home, an open theatre would tend to make the cultivation of this family relationship more difficult.

4. Every non-essential commercial activity within the community further endanger's the well being of others, devoid of having one day's relaxation in seven.

The Lindsay Ministerial

Lindsay will benefit from Sunday movies reader claims

Dear Sir:

Reading Mr. Boadway's letter on the subject of Sunday movies, I can't help feeling a conservative attitude towards the very nature of enjoyment. Entertainment has today become as vital to people as their work, eating and sleeping.

The outlook of many on modern life would change, if they would reserve more time for enjoyment and leisure..

This in my opinion should be the prime reason for welcoming into Lindsay any opportunity of entertainment, be it a new restaurant, a new attraction or simply the possibility of having a chance to go to the movies on one day of the week where time is in abundance.

I like to emphasize "possibility", since it is ones own perogative to make use of this entertainment or not.

There are no pressures of sale etc prevalent with movies, you aren't handed any sales bills or disturbed by canvassers.

As far as temptation is concerned, I must state that turning on the T.V. creates far less effort for watching a movie, the setting up and going to the theatre. But lets create opportunities to give our so pressured mind the choice of relaxation we desire on a Sunday.

Secondarily, but not less important, reasons, would be the town's revenue by this added attraction for tourists. Also would evade the number of young people bored to pieces, due to lack of entertainment they like. Dating in a theatre might be preferred, in the eyes of many, to dating in cars. And last but not least there is Sunday, where the otherwise so busy father and mother can take their kids to a Walt Disney show or equal.

In conclusion I wish to claim that Lindsay as 90 other communities, in Ontario will benefit from Sunday movies provided the Sunday morning stays reserved for our Lord and provided also that the theatre management takes special care in providing films on Sundays for family viewing. So lets give it a try. There is no loss for the man who wants to remain home on Sundays.

WHEN DID WRONGS MAKE A RIGHT?

Dear Sir:

Re: Sunday Movies

When did ever two wrongs make a right, or seven or eight wrongs make a right? Because numerous activities are allowed or crept into the Sabbath Day, (many have always been in) this does not in any way make them right.

Now I am not a religious fanatic but I have a firm belief that Almighty God who created such an amazing world as for example one of thousands, a living creature so infinitesimal, one can scarcely see it, to larger and larger up to say elephants and dinosaur, has power and control.

Oh yes, He works slowly but surely. His will is the ultimate end.

The forsaking of the true worship of the True God has disastrous consequences, for we live in a moral world that ultimately will work only in God's way.

This country so blest and with marvelous opportunities seems to be gradually drawing away from God, and possibly in twinkling of an eye come to a great disaster.

Churches stand for right and uprightness and the Laws of life. They must have a vital interest in these matters, or they are not functioning for what they stand for.

I say must take a stand for those things which make a good citizen, or it too misses out in its function and purpose.

"Concerned"

Committee to study Lindsay "health hazard"

The Advisory Committee of the Board of Works will study what the Board of Health termed "a health hazard".

The matter of sanitary sewers in the Beverley-St. David St. area was brought to council's attention in a letter from the Board of Health asking that these sewers be installed by the Board of Works and charged to the property owners.

A petition has been circulated in the area but most of the residents would not sign it, indicating they did not want a sewage system. The Advisory Committee will study the matter and report back to council.

LIGHT WARDENS

New York — President Johnson may have started a trend when he began turning off lights in the White House.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner will issue an executive order today calling for "light wardens" in all public buildings to see that lights, fans, air conditioning units and other electrical appliances are switched off when not needed.

Wagner hopes to save $1 million annually with the dimout.

OMEMEE SCHOOL FIRE NOT AN ACCIDENT — FIRE CHIEF

Omemee Fire Chief Charles Evans told a packed nomination meeting at Omemee on Friday evening that arson was involved in the burning of the village school house earlier this year. "There is no chance of spontaneous combustion being involved", he said.

The fire chief said no electricity was being used at the time the fire started and said unused rooms in the school had had fuses removed. "It was not an electrical fire", he said.

Mr. Evans said the fire marshall's office investigation revealed a piece of lead pipe near a screen that had been forced in at the back of the school. "Other screens in the school were forced out by the heat of the fire", he said, "and investigation showed the piece of pipe was not normally kept where it was found".

The chief said there was no doubt in his mind that sooner or later those responsible would make a slip and "their will be a prosecution then in the matter".

He also criticised the new fire agreement arrived at between the village of Omemee and Emily Township council. The fire hall and equipment belongs to the village debenture-free he said and he said he disagreed with the new agreement. He said there could be occasions when Omemee was without adequate fire protection when the men were fighting a fire in the township.

Legion members hold Zone meet

Omemee (PNS) — Omemee Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion 497 were hosts on Sunday to some 60 visiting Comrades at the second meeting held of Zone F which are the 12 branches comprising this zone. Seven of these branches were represented and gave reports of their progress.

A parade to the Cenotaph headed by the Lindsay Commodore Band preceded the session. Under command of Comrade Cedric Smith, Cobourg some 50 veterans marched. Bugler Don MacArthur of Lindsay sounded the 'Reveille' and 'Last Post'. President Dennis Acreman of Omemee recited the prayers. Cecil McGill of Omemee was Sergeant-at-Arms.

Branches comprising Zone F are: Lindsay, Woodville, Omemee, Haliburton, Cobourg, Cannington, Kinmount, Bobcaygeon, Beaverton, Cardiff, Brechin and Fenelon Falls. The first seven mentioned being represented. They reported progress along many projects such as promotion of sports, building renovations, public speaking sponsorship, mortgages reduced etc. All reported increased sales in the Poppy Day campaign with Lindsay conducting a canvass of practically every household. Those having active Ladies Auxiliaries expressed gratitude for the splendid co-operation of the Ladies.

Councillor Max Free extended a welcome on behalf of the village Reeve Stephenson unable to attend.

Chairman Acreman opened proceedings and handed over the reins of Zone Commander Ian Scott of Lindsay. He welcomed 12 comrades of the district Command present namely Comrades Austin, Osborne, "Dude" Hill, Donald-son, "Paddy" Burke, Flynn, Corp. Simpson Devenish, Smith and Zone Secretary J. Fergus. Comrade Fergus presented a splendid account of the last meeting held at Haliburton.

Resolutions about affirming steadfast loyalty to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, was unanimously passed. Concern over the unfortunate plight of Cardiff branch was expressed. Due to the mine closure, many of the membership had moved away thereby weakening the workage power of the branch. Help is needed in order to carry on and action suggested. Comrade MacArthur of Lindsay cited the value derived from their public speaking project, as well as the development of physical fitness as sports as well as the use of the English language to the youth of Canada today. Lindsay Branch had sponsored two brilliant students in public speaking competitions who had reached finals. A delegate was voted in a province of 6,000,000 people.

Comrade Burke, Peterboro District Commander, complimented Omemee on their five years work as well as rendering a fine address on other matters.

Comrade Hills of Port Hope brought greetings and spoke along legislative laws. Woodville was chosen as the next place of meeting in February.

Omemee Auxiliary served refreshments at the close.

Q. How can I clean copper and brass?

A. Mix a paste of equal parts of table salt and flour, with vinegar as the combining agent. Rut this on the metal let dry, then remove with hot soapy water. If the metal is in particularly bad shape, apply paste more generously, and allow it to remain for several hours before removing it.

Q. What is an easy way to remove burnt spots from the insides of some of my enamel saucepans?

A. Fill the pans with salt water and let this soak for about two hours, then cover the pan tightly, and bring it to a slow boil. The burned particles will almost fall off.

Q. How can I remedy some some laundry which I have inadvertently given an overdose of bluing?

A. Wet the stained portions with alcohol, then launder the whole thing over again.

Leather Stains

Leather stains on materials are among the tough ones. Lubricate thoroughly with white mineral oil or petroleum jelly, then rinse with carbon tetrachloride. If the garment is white and washable, stains may also be treated with soap and ammonia, rubbing the stained area between the hands. Using chlorine bleach on the remaining traces may clear the stain. Unless these methods produce quick results, turn the job over to a dry cleaner as soon as possible.

Varnished Floors

To preserve the polish on a varnished floor sprinkle coarse salt on the floor, allow it to remain for about five minutes, and then sweep off with a soft broom.

The Preserve Closet

Instead of labeling each jar of preserves or glass of jelly, make cardboard tags along the shelves and label each compartment. It will save much time.

Q. Is there anything I can do about old inkstains that have penetrated a wood surface?

A. These usually call for professional treatment, although you can try rottenstone or finely powdered pumice mixed with raw or boiled linseed oil to a thin paste. Rub this in the direction of the grain, wiping off with another cloth moistened with plain linseed oil, and repeating as often as may be necessary.

Q. How can I create an old ivory finish on woodwork and furnitures?

A. Tint light ivory paint with raw sienna and burnt umber. After this apply a glaze coat of raw sienna mixed with burnt umber, and then wipe lightly.

Q. Is there any way I can add luster to my linoleum without waxing it?

A. One easy way is to add a little sour milk to your rinse water when you are washing the floor.

Bradley—McMullen Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. William Bradley
"Astor Studio" Bowmanville

Soft candlelight and standards of white 'mums enhanced Yelverton United Church on Saturday evening, October 24, 1964 at 7 o'clock for the marriage of Jean Elizabeth McMullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McMullen, Janetville, and Mr. William Howard Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bradley of Bowmanville.

Rev. K. J. Crawford, assisted by Mr. Alex Taylor officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Roy Corden of Bowmanville played the wedding music and the soloist was Mrs. Laurence Malcolm of Nestleton who sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony, and "Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of white satin brocade styled with a fitted bodice. Pearl embroidery adorned the portrait neckline and highlighted the tips of the lily-pointed sleeves, and the back of the gown was accented by a chapel train falling from soft pleats at the waistline. A satin brocade wedding-ring headdress trimmed with beaded pearls, held her fingertip veil of silk illusion tulle and she carried a cascade bouquet of deep red roses, white carnations and stephanotis.

Mrs. Donald Redmonds of Peterborough was matron of honour for her sister and the bridesmaids were cousins of the bride Mrs. Donald Welsh of Peterborough, and Miss Aileen Van Camp of Blackstock. Miss Beth Jean Hacker of Midland, another cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They were in identical cranberry coloured velvet, street-length dresses, styled with A-line skirts, rounded necklines and three-quarter length sleeves. They wore matching satin shoes and short white gloves. Their wedding-ring band headpieces were of the same cranberry velvet, and their cascade bouquets were of white carnations.

Donald McGregor of Bowmanville was best man and the ushers were Gerald Ross, brother in-law of the groom, Bowmanville, and Fred Hacker, cousin of the bride of Midland, Ont.

The reception was held in Yelverton Church Hall where the guests were received by the bride's mother who wore a cranberry satin brocade sheath with full-length matching duster, black velour and feathered hat and accessories. She was assisted by the groom's mother who chose a cranberry wool boucle sheath with full-length duster, matching pillbox hat and black accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

As the couple left on their honeymoon motor trip to the Province of Quebec and the Northern United States, the bride was wearing a two-piece, double knit chocolate brown suit topped with a brown mink jacket, gold feathered hat, gold and brown accessories, and a corsage of bronze 'mums. They will reside at 81 Duke St. Bowmanville.

Guests were present at the wedding from Galt, Alliston, Midland, Peterborough, Oshawa, Lindsay, Barrie, Whitby, Pickering and Bowmanville.

BROKEN WATER MAIN WASHES AWAY SAND FILL

A broken water main at the corner of Bond and William Streets Sunday evening was quickly brought under control but not until much of the sand fill under the new pavement had been washed out causing the collapse of a small area of pavement.

Water Board superintendent R. J. Reynolds told "The Post" that fill below the six inch main had settled, and pressure from above caused the main to break open allowing the water pressure to force the fill from under the pavement. He said it was necessary to shut off the four control valves near the intersection to make temporary repairs, and that the broken pipe had since been replaced and new fill packed in.

CENTRAL SENIOR SCHOOL PRESS CLUB

TEAMS RECEIVE AWARDS
by Lea Weoward

Trophies and crests were presented to the soccer and volleyball teams. Clint Parcells, captain of the soccer team, received two trophies and the players on the team were presented with crests. Mrs. Tamlin, girls' physical education teacher, distributed crests to the successful teams. This week the championship games will be played.

FILM ON AFRICA SHOWN
by Lea Woodward

Mr. Cosgrove showed a film, "African Life", which the students seemed to enjoy. This film gave the students an opportunity for a greater understanding about Africa, the dark continent.

Many girls and boys didn't realize that Africa's primitive ways had vanished resulting in a modern Africa. Beautiful buildings, statues, parks and beaches are in Africa today but in some parts of this vast continent there are people who still live as in earlier ages.

In the midst of this film, the students were politely interrupted and informed that they would have to return to their rooms because of a lack of time. The students were a little annoyed but after being informed this same film would be shown again, they became less disgruntled.

MAPLES WIN TROPHY

Monday night a volleyball game between the top Grade 7 team, the Maples, and the top Grade 8 team, the Darts, was played for the championship trophy. Both teams played well but the Grade 7 kept the edge over the Darts, winning by a score of 21 to 16.

Heather Kindness, captain of the Darts, later stated that the Maples put up a good fight and deserved every point they made.

A large crowd turned out to the game of which about half were Grade 7 students. This Grade 7 support could have been a contributing factor to the score.

TEAMS PLAY EXHIBITION GAMES
by Ron Johnson

On Tuesday, November 24, two exhibition hockey games were played at the Lindsay arena. The games were played so Mr. Cosgrove could be certain that all the teams had equal strength.

The first games of the regular season will be played on December 1.

As in NHL games, no body contact will be allowed in face-offs. If this rule is broken, the result will be a minor penalty.

The schedule for the season it is understood, will be drawn up early next week.

PRESS CLUB CONDUCTS POLL
by Barbara Johnston

The school Press Club this week put the question of Sunday movies to the students and these opinions were expressed:

more more ...JN. Sluggish

Nancy Anderson stated, "I don't think you should have Sunday movies because Sunday is a day of rest and worship. You should go to church and Sunday School instead of the show".

Heather Walker remarked, "Sunday movies would at least keep students out of trouble and since everyone's bent on having them, they can't do too much harm. Actually, I think they'd be all right".

Wendy Brooks said she didn't actually agree with having Sunday movies since it (Sunday) was a day of rest, but she said, people curl, ski and play golf and other sports on Sunday; therefore, educational or religious movies would not be too bad.

Jane Morrow replied, "I don't really think there should be a vote, because if the curling ring or golf course can throw open their doors, so can the show. Sunday movies should just be an accepted thing.

LITERARY
by Barbara Johnston

Recently, in Grade 7 history, a study of the founding of Montreal was made. The story of Fort Ville Marie was well known and reviewed in history class. In our textbook, a small note was made of Pilotte's part in Iroquois defeat. It was from this paragraph that the inspiration for the following poem was obtained.

THE SAGA OF VILLA MARIE
by Barbara Johnston

The ice which bound the mighty river had, under the swelling of the water,
Been broken into minute floes and dashed against the rocks;
The silver stream now running free through its violence roared
Into torrents flooding o'er the banks which the river's power locks.

The buds were decorating trees which stood ankle-deep
In the melted seas of snow from the peaks of watchful Royal;
And the voice of the woods was awakening to bird's music.
When an Iroquois tribe ventured onto French soil.

Through the woods they hurried, furtive footsteps on mute soil
To a designated spot, in view of the palisade;
There, the chief checked the speed of his approaching warriors
And bow and gun were readied, and the course of attack laid.

No one counted on the discretion of the famous watchdog who threw the woods its lonely vigil he kept.
His keen scent detected the danger hastening to the fort, with his head raised, his ears alert, into action he leaped.

Like the lonely wails of countless hounds baying at the moon
Did the howl from Pilotte's throat sing in the wind;
And it seemed that, in that instant, the dogs of countless generations
Had joined in the cries of danger, in mutual help for their kind.

On wings of speed the danger note reached the fort.
And Maisonneuve, with thirty men made a bold sally.
To meet the oncoming Iroquois but he was wont for preparation
And when the light skirmish was over, how shockingly was the enemies tally.

Retreat was very hasty, for when affronted by over-whelming odds
The French party proved ill-match for Iroquois cunning, skill and size.
The perilous battle is only another one of the victorious miracles
Wrought by the Iroquois, but here ends your false surmise.

No celebrated victory by the enemy followed,
For the brave governor never wavered an inch
With a pistol in each hand he affronted the eager Iroquois
And calmly but determinedly the French supremacy he began to clinch.

Steadfast in the war-party's path, with pistol raised in readiness
He coolly appraised the eager Iroquois chief who sprang,
Anxious to capture the French commander and then, in a heartbeat,
He lifted his pistol, pulled the trigger, and out rang

The dull click of a misfired bullet, exciting the tense group
And then in sheer desperation a second pistol Masionneuve lifted.
The report echoed through the woods, as the chief fell.
A dark patch on the unmelted snow, on which his blood was sifted.

Now in French-Canadian farmhouses around a glowing fire,
A spellbound audience listens in awe
To the tale of how Maisonneuve narrowly averted danger
At the hands of the usually fatal opponents, the Iroquois.

And how Pilotte, the hero, was celebrated for his warning wail
Which led the victory, of which he holds the key.
And after his death, the spirit-ual howls haunting his home isle
Will guard o'er the immortal Place Ville Marie.

INCREASE IN RMH ADMISSIONS THIS YEAR OVER LAST

The monthly statistical report presented to the Ross Memorial Hospital Board Thursday, by the administrator Eric Feeborn, showed admissions to be down 31 comparing the October and September figures, but comparing the 1964 figures with 1963, there is a year to date increase of 130 admissions.

REASERCH OVER THE CENTURIES UNLOCKS SECRETS OF BLOOD

Unlocking the secrets of blood has taken centuries, and millions of hours of research.

Some experiments in blood transfusion were carried out by the early Egyptians and Syrians, but as the circulation of the blood had not yet been discovered, it is assumed that their work bore very little resemblence to the practice as we know it.

A Greek historian first mentioned "man to man" transfusions, suggesting that a young man could pour his "hot spirited" blood into that of an old man through the joining of the arteries thereby dispelling all of the old man's weaknesses.

In early reference to the so-called transfusions the blood of animals - mostly that of sheep - was used, but as animal and human blood are not compatable most of these transfusions ended fatally.

In 1616 Dr. Wm. Harvey discovered that the blood circulates from the heart through the arteries and veins, yet it was a century and a half later that transfusions of human blood into the veins of patients was practised. The knowledge of the various elements in blood was not known and many patients died as a result. Even as late as the 1880's transfusions were practised only as a last resort for women in childbirth.

In 1901 the discovery was made that the blood of individuals does NOT necessarily match. It was from this discovery by Dr. Karl Landsteiner that the present AB, A, B, and O groups evolved. Today it is known that there are some half million different combinations.)

Even until World War 1, practically all that was known was that one man's blood could save another man's life. All transfusions were emergency operations direct from one person to another, with both persons being present.

During World War II scientists found a way of preserving blood with dextrose so that it could be used up to twenty-one days. They also discovered a method of processing blood into plasma which could be preserved indefinitely and used for emergency treatments.

In 1940 another important factor of blood was discovered namely the RH factor. It is important that the RH positive and negative RH factors of blood of donor and recipient be known before transfusion is performed because the entry of RH positive blood into the circulation of some (not all) RH negative persons will cause the production of anti-bodies which could cause severe reactions. It is most important that the RH factor be known in pregnancy that the infant may be saved from fatal hemolytic jaundice.

What does RH mean many ask. RH is the name of one of the blood group systems. It is an abreviation of "Rhesus" and given to the blood group because the similarity between blood groups in the Rhesus monkey and man, led to its discovery.

It is known that there are at least nine systems of blood groups of which the A, B, O and RH families are the most important and are tested for in all donors and patients receiving transfusions.

The problem of obtaining blood for transfusions in hospitals became acute as the therapeutic use of blood increased. To meet the situation the Canadian Red Cross Society instituted the free blood transfusion service in 1947 by which service blood is collected from voluntary donors and supplied free of charge to the hospitals. At present all hospitals across Canada are so supplied and they in turn supply the blood to all patients who need transfusion of blood or other blood products free of charge.

Previous to the institution of the free blood transfusion service, blood was purchased from students and any who wished to sell their blood. The patient was charged from twenty five to thirty dollars per bottle of blood. If the patient was fotrunate enough to have relatives or friends who would donate blood, no bottles were collected for each bottle given in transfusion.

What becomes of the blood which has not been used at the expiraties of the twenty one days? A good question.

Across Canada there are centrally located laboratories or donors where all blood is assembled from the various blood donor clinics, tested, grouped and processed and sent out to hospitals by plan or by request. No blood is wasted. After twenty one days any unused blood is returned to the central laboratory. Here it is processed into what are called "blood fractions". That is it is refracted into several valuable therapeutic products as — (A) Serum albumin which is invaluable in combating shock due to low circulatory volume and severe burns, etc. It cannot take the place of blood transfusion in cases where the oxygen carrying red cells have been lost through hemorrhage.

(B) Fibronogen which is one of the plasma proteins essential in blood clotting.

(C) Gamma Globulin which is the anti-body containing fraction of plasma proteins. It is used as a protection against measles and jaundice due to the virus infection — so called infectious jaundice.

(D) Fresh frozen plasma, which is the only readily available treatment that will temporarily stop the bleeding episodes of Hemophilia. An inherited disease caused by the lack of one of the factors necessary for blood clotting.

All these blood products are also provided free to needy patients.

To date no substitute has been discovered to take the place of whole blood for transfusion. Constant research is being conducted in search of such a product. Until one is found the Canadian Red Cross Society must depend on the army of Blood Donor Volunteers. No greater gift can be made than the blood, given by a volunteer, which saves a life.

The regular Blood Donor Clinic will be held on December second in Cambridge Street United Church when a large attendance is hoped for to supply the need of our own Ross Memorial Hospital.

REPORTS THAT ELDON ARENA IS UNSAFE ARE FALSE—CLERK

Reports that the Eldon Memorial Arena has been condemned, or is unsafe are false according to Township Clerk Donald Grant.

Mr. Grant, who called at "The Post" on Friday fears the false report may have an adverse effect on arena activity participation during the coming season. He said an architects report had been received by the Township council indicating that the fifteen year old building was in safe condition. The council did recommend certain alterations and repairs, and the council plan on spending up to $2000 in a renovation programme.

The township clerk emphasized that there is not, nor has there been any dangerous condition at the Eldon Memorial Arena, and the Arena board are looking forward to another busy season.

Kavaliers to form "Kadets"

The Kavaliers Drum Corps received the sanction of the band executive to advertise for support and membership for their proposed barracks band. It was learned that the band will carry the plan one step further with the formation of a junior corps which will be age limits. The Pantam Corps corps will consist of children from 9 to 11 and the junior corps will include the 12 to 14 age group.

The corps director, Larry Murphy, told "The Post" facilities are available to have separate rehearsals for the two groups, one night per week.

The Kavaliers organization has requested interested parents to contact the office of M.J. Cunningham by letter or telephone. A meeting of interested parents will be called when enough parents show their interest and from that point music instruction classes will probably begin.

Mr. Murphy pointed out that people contacting the band executive are not placed under any obligation, it is merely to give the band a starting point.

A name has already been proposed for the new band, which is intended as a feeder corps for the Kawartha Kavaliers. The name, Kawartha Kadets, has not been submitted to the band executive for approval as yet.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. David Beecroft

Sunday, November 15th was a very happy occasion for Mr. and Mrs. David Beecroft, who were celebrating their Golden Anniversary with open house to their friends, neighbours and relatives. Beautiful baskets of mums and roses banked the living room, where the bride and groom received assisted by the bridesmaid, Mrs. Chas. Lumney of Saintfield and best man Mr. Alex MacKinnon of Little Britain. Among the 165 guests there came a pleasant surprise in the persons of Rev. Former Lindsay man honoured by State Farm Insurance Co.

A former Lindsay resident, Harold E. McGill, was recently awarded the coveted Charfered Life Underwriter designation at National Conferment Exercises of the American College of Life Underwriters in Cincinnati, Ohio. Harold McGill is presently an agency manager for the State Farm Insurance Companies at Birmingham, Michigan.

Harold McGill was born near Pontypool, and came to Lindsay when ten years of age. He attended school here, graduating from the I.C.I. He worked in the Dominion Arsenals in the purchasing office until he joined the navy in 1944. Returning from the service two years later, he worked for the CNR in Lindsay, Toronto, Niagara Falls and London, Ontario, then moved to Detroit where he was a local agent for State Farm, before moving to Birmingham in 1953 to take up duties as Agency Manager in 1953, in South Oakland County.

Harold McGill's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin R. McGill live at 171, Lindsay St. South, in Lindsay. His wife is the former Gwen Hushin of Lindsay, and they have one daughter Cheryl, aged 13, who was born in Michigan, Harold's brother Orland also graduated from the I.C.I. and was employed at Ford Ltd. of the Ford Motor Company and is now located in Brampton.

Harold McGill was singled out for special mention in the October issue of the State Farm "Reflector" magazine Under the title "Achievement in Action" the regional vice president George W. Kibble writes —

"In 1948, an enterprising young Canadian entered the United States in search of success and events were set in motion that would affect the lives of many people.

"Agency Manager Harold E. McGill became a part-time State Farm agent that same year. He began without financing, without training, without a manager. In fact it took two selling jobs to provide the necessities of life, but Harold had a system for attaining his goal . . . a system based on the firm belief that a man could surely succeed if he was willing to train hard enough at his chosen profession".

"Training became a creed with Harold, a way of life, and he became the only agent in the Michigan Region ever to be a Top 10 producer in all lines in the same year. He is a graduate of the Life Insurance Marketing Institute at Purdue University and earned his C.L.U. designation this September".

He yearns for salty, pungent, tasty kippers

London (UPI) — There are tea-tasters, wine-tasters, beer-tasters and even whiskey-tasters.

Stanley Barwick, a 59-year-old suburban Londoner, is a taster too. He has just finished a 41-year career in tasting, a task he enjoyed "immensely".

Despite the drawbacks, like having to watch what he ate in case it upset the delicate sensitivity of his palate.

For 41-years he couldn't touch some of the English-man's best-loved delicacies . . . onion, cucumber, pickles . . . but most of all-smoked kippers.

It was the kippers he missed most. Kippers are smoked herring, salty, pungent-and tasty. "I just love a pair of kippers", said Barwick wistfully as he thought of all those wasted, kipperless years.

What taskmaster demanded such sacrifice from Barwick, an unassuming man?

The answer: Water, the purer the better.

Barwick was the No. 1 official water taster to the Metropolitan Water Board which supplies 351 million gallons of water a day to its people.

"Well, I mean you've got to taste it seriously, haven't you", said Barwick. "A lot of people depend on you".

Volunteer service programme to be established at RMH

The Ross Memorial Hospital's Board of Governors approved, in principle, the administrator's request for the establishment of a volunteer service in the hospital. The approval was given Thursday night at the RMH Board meeting although the Board would not approve hiring a supervisor for the programme. Dr. W. B. Arnup, said the service would provide a "good extra to present services."

"Volunteers in many hospitals today have become an integral part of several departments and are performing valuable services." Eric Freeborn, Hospital administrator told the Ross Memorial Hospital Board of Governors at the meeting. Mr. Freeborn said he has been looking into the possibility of establishing a volunteer service in the Lindsay hospital. He said the "little things — the extra plus services" volunteers are able to add, not only release busy hospital personnel for other duties requiring professional skill, but make for warmth and friendliness in the hospital.

He said in Admitting, volunteers can assist the Admitting Officers by calling patients for their interviews, escorting them to rooms and delivering mail. In the Dietary Department they can deliver menus to the patients and carry out errands; this errand service could be provided for all the hospital departments. In addition, he said the volunteers could serve as receptionists at information desks, assist with the transportation of wheel-chair and stretcher patients between the various service departments of the hospital, assist in the children's recreation programme and assist generally in many other fields.

"From experience", Mr. Freeborn said, "it has proven that the most successful way in which to develop and control this service is to organize it as just another Department of the hospital under a paid Director of Volunteers who is directly responsible to the hospital administrator." He said provision for this position in any hospital budget is an allowable exnente, as far as the Ontario Hospital Services Commission is concerned, provided a sufficient number of volunteers can be recruited to implement the service.

Mr. Freeborn reported discussing the matter with the members of the Medical Advisory Committee and Nursing Administration who supported the idea.

Mr. Freeborn said he had reason to believe that from local graduates of the Canadian Red Cross Society's course, teenagers from high schools, the auxiliary and other organizations there should be a number of candidates available.

"An interest in such a service has already been acknowledged by several teenagers from St. Joseph's Academy as well as some of the graduates of the Canadian Red Cross Society's course," he added.

$15,000 TAKEN FROM DAIRY

Windsor, Ont., (UPI) — For the second time in three months, thieves have robbed the local branch of a dairy company of $15,000.

Three armed men held up a cashier at Silverwood Dairies Ltd., and got away with nearly $15,000 Saturday night.

In September the firm's safe was cracked by robbers who escaped with an equal amount.

In the latest holdup, three men wearing silk stockings over their heads walked into the office minutes before a Brink's truck was to have picked up the money.

Cashier William Duncan, 20, said one of the robbers pointed a revolver at him and shouted "Stand still or I'll blow your head off."

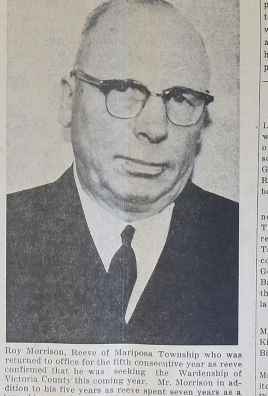

While one of the gunmen kept Duncan at bay, the other two scooped money from the safe.

The stolen get away car was found two hours after the robbery with the motor still running.

Chamber of Commerce comments on Christmas Card mailing

Numerous enquiries have been received at the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce Office concerning packages of Christmas Cards being received by local residents. Concerning these cards the Chamber of Commerce manager, Mr. H. H. McDonald has forwarded to "The Post" the following information obtained by him from the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Toronto.

"The package of Christmas cards just received by you must be considered as unordered merchandise. To assist you in arriving at a decision as whether you may or may not want the cards you should first af all understand that you are under no legal obligation to pay for them nor are you required to return them. You should however bear in mind that you have no right to use them unless they are paid for".

"Secondly you should be aware that this is not a charitable organization. It is a private business owned and operated by the artist members. The paper, printing, envelopes and mailing lists are all purchased from local Toronto firms who, together with their employees benefit financially from this annual mailing, in addition to the artists involved".

"Now, knowing this, you you should also have some knowledge of Rehandart (Canada) Limited, and its parent organization, the Association of Mouth and Foot Artists".

"The Association of Mouth and Foot Artists was formed in Switzerland in 1956 as a means to draw attention to — and provide a livelihood for an international group of painters who, for one reason or another, are deprived of the use of their hands. Some were born crippled, some are victims of polio, some of war and accidents. All wield a paint brush with their mouth or their feet".

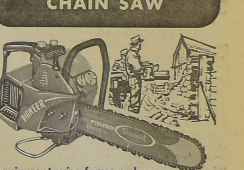

"In the light of the foregoing facts you should base your purchase on the merit of the cards (artistic expression, message, cost, etc.) just as you would any other greeting cards."

OMEMEE COUNCIL UNITED ON VILLAGE SCHOOL — PARK ISSUE

Reeve George Stephenson

Cecil Reeds

Dr. Jules Sobrien

Insurance Agent Cecil Reeds of Omemee will oppose the incumbent reeve George Stephenson in the December 5 municipal election. Present village councillors Clair Parks, William Fisher, Leonard Jones and Max Free will again stand and will be opposed by Gordon Babcock and G. A. Williamson.

Present Reeve George Stephenson told a packed meeting of about 250 persons on Friday evening that "During the past six months the Council of the village has carried on its work under a heavy strain and suffered much unwarranted abuse. This abuse started before the disastrous school fire and originated with our M.O.H. who blackened the name of Omemee and the Council in newspapers across Canada".

Mr. Stephenson said "Council for more than two years has been looking for the backing of the people of the village to take steps to solve the water and pollution problems. At present the Ontario Water Resources Commission are making a study which should prove valuable to the council in assessing the problem. As far as we are concerned", he said, "the installation of water or sewers in whole or in part must have the support of the majority of citizens."

Reeve Stephenson commented on the controversial school property - park issue and said "The mission of a park on the old schoolsite has also been part of the Council's plan for a more attractive village for more than a year. We were frustrated by the decision of the School Board to sell this property out from under us depriving the village of the last piece of property suitable for a park."

"Feeling our responsibility to protect this fine asset for future generations, as well as this one, we endeavoured to purchase this from the buyer. However, Council met with a venomous attack in Chambers and through the press and they then decided it would be necessary to carry out expropriation. Appropriate action was taken and we are still negotiating a final settlement. There are other lots in the village or neighbouring township which would meet with the doctor's elaborate plans but there is only one lot for a village park of the nature required here", said the reeve.

"The issue in Omemee is not a doctor or a park", he said. "The M.O.H. duties will soon be taken over by a county health unit. The town of Lindsay and some of the other town ships are strongly in favour Victoria is one of five counties which has not a health unit which provides many services too numerous to mention here. The doctor would then be out of council's hair and we would be pleased to have him here attending to his business provided that he not try to dominate ours", continued the reeve.

Property

Reeve George Stephenson explained the facts relating to the disposal of the school property which he said had been discussed in June 1963 at a combined meeting of Emily Council and Omemee school board when the reeve asked if the village could retain the old school property for the sum of one dollar.. "Mr. Anderson, the Inspector at the time, agreed that it could be done and no objections were raised by the board. In April 1964 the Reeve asked a board member if the board were going to return the old school property to the village and he replied that council would probably get it for one dollar".

The Reeve said he was informed about the middle of June by telephone that the school and property had been sold to Dr. Sobrian for $500.00 except for a furnace which was being given to the village. The reeve said upon receiving a report of the sale, anticipated receiving a strong reaction to the disposing of the school in this manner and went to Toronto to try and hold up the sale until further investigation. He said the Assistant Superintendent of Elementary Education refused to take any action and two nights later the school burned to the ground.

Opposes Expropriation

Gordon Bocock, candidate for Omemee council said he objected to the methods council have used in the matter, "for instance expropriation against an individual. If they are able to do this against this person, you can do it against any person in this hall who owns property", he said. "A person in Canada is supposed to have certain liberties, and I don't approve of the action taken by council. If our people let them get away with it, you are as much to blame as they are", he said.

Mr. Bocock said the land in dispute was not much more than one acre in size and said it would be totally inadequate for such a development.

"Will Solve Problems"

Paul McGuire, former Emily Township reeve received a big welcome at the Omemee municipal nomination meeting when he rose to address the crowd. Mr. McGuire was on crutches as he is recovering from a serious farm accident sustained earlier this year.

"Let us take all the good things of Omemee along with the bad", he said, "we have one of the finest towns in the province of Ontario, it has been a christian town for over a hundred years — this isn't a Cabbagetown, this isn't a hog town, this is a great town and although we are divided we are big enough to rise again", he said. Mr. McGuire's statement was constantly interrupted by prolonged applause.

For grease stains on cloth book covers, you might try rubbing lightly with some carbon tetrachloride.

CRITICS OF OMEMEE COUNCIL "UNJUST"

In an outspoken speech that was on occasions met with boos and cat calls, G. A. Williamson of Omemee addressed the crowded hall. Mr. Williamson said the Omemee council had been unfairly criticized and claimed they had done as good a job as any other council in the past "and perhaps better than some".

"I do not think they should have been subjected to such criticism", he said. He said the school board had at one time claimed the school property was worth $90,000, "then", he added, "they insured it for $30,000 and sold it for $500. Dr. Sobrien had commented on the lack of education of members of council, what would Sobrien say of a deal like that?" he asked.

Mr. Williamson claimed the school board should be criticized for the manner in which they handled the affair, "Criticism of council is totally unjustified", he maintained.

"Hospitality" spelt with a capital "H" was the keynote of success of the first bonspiel of the season by the Ladies' Curling Club on Thursday at the Pool street rink. The idea of inviting out-of-town clubs to visit the Lindsay ladies is a new one, but eleven visiting rinks were welcomed and the game and hospitality Bonspiel proved intriguing and popular. Examinations the first skirmish in battle of life - Valedictorian

Valedictorian for the graduation exercises at the LCVI, Michael Longworth, told those present at the exercises Friday night he was confident the teachers had been successful in achieving their goal which extends beyond merely teaching the course so the students could pass and get their certificates. "The final examinations are only a brief but successful skirmish in the battle of life. The greatest part of high school life is not the certificates we receive, it is the great step we are taking in life.

He told the capacity crowd the students' greatest effort was the long step toward maturity. "If we have not become more mature through our experiences here, then we have wasted our time. Each class and each experience should have made us grow up a little", he remarked.

"The teachers have tried to teach patience, tolerance, sincerity and generosity". He told the students they must have a clear goal in life and pursue that goal, a quality which he said is lacking in some adults.

He told the students the teachers should be congratulated, "but rarely do the teachers receive any congratulations, only the graduates are given credit for successfully passing the course."

He also paid tribute to the principal, W. S. W. Breese. "Despite the immense size of this school," he said, "Mr. Breese treated the students as individuals; he always had time for each student's problems.

He concluded, "We can't say farewell to this high school; We will always be part of it and it will be part of us."

Teen Town Mayor, Council elected

William Moody was elected Mayor of Teen Town for the 1964-65 season in the groups recent elections. The other Teen Town vacancies were filled as follows: Reeve Barry Robinson, Secretary-Judy Junkin, Treasurer - David Tyrer, Aldermen - Michael Saunders, Mary Ellen Moore, Deborah Stevens, William Beaton and Cheryl Corley.

Teen town Mayor William Moody said one of the objectives of the new council is to promote better dances and activities for Lindsay's teenagers. All the dances will be chaperoned by members of the Lindsay Kinsmen club, who have assisted Teen Town in various ways this year. Teen Town is sponsored by the Kinsmen Club.

This year, live entertainment has replaced the records formerly used. The Lincelaires will provide the music for a dance at the Central School Saturday night and members are looking forward to having "The Last Rights" orchestra and other fine bands during the Christmas season.

Ops Township Council were all returned by acclamation at the nomination meeting held in the Lindsay Town Hall on Saturday afternoon. Returned to office were Reeve Milburn Hutchison, deputy reeve Barney Rogers and councillors Norman Nugent, Maurice Yacoob and Mossom James.

Ten of the fourteen nominated for the Ops School Board will contest the five vacancies. William Schley, Douglas McRobbie, Kenneth Graham and William D. Robin did not qualify leaving Allan Ray, Ben F. Stevens, Kenneth B. Bell, John Callaghan, Stephen Tripp, Clifford Reece, Ross Parks, Clare Walder, Ronald Windrem and Jack J. Graham in the trusteeship election.

The main issue is the centralization of township schools. Some of the nominees opposed the formation of an area school but most either favoured the advent of this system or expressed the view that the consolidation and centralization of township schools will of necessity become a reality in the next few years.

Allan Ray told the assembly that he could not condemn having one school but difficulty in transporting pupils to the school will rise from the winter road conditions.

"We must give serious consideration to a centralized school; it is the ultimate answer", Ben Stevens said. He related that even now there is an overflow of pupils which is being handled by Lindsay schools.

Kenneth Bell suggested using the schools now in existence dividing the grades so that each school will specialize in certain grades. He said "This will eventually led to a central school, in pehaps five years, but at presnt we must utilize the facilitis we now have".

"Education represent the largest piece of the taxdollar we have anything to dowith," Stephen Tripp remarked, and added, "Education is fa more important than County Roads." He said Lindsay is anticipating a need for 40 additions classrooms in the next five years; "I submit", he said, "that a lot of this is due to overflow into Ops." He said a central school should be built n a similar manner to the Leslie Frost school so that additions can be made when necessary without calling in architects to redesign the school toaccommodate the necessary changes. In the view expressed by Ross Parks was that the board was obliged to provide education for children as ecomimically as possible.

"For those who are elected, this problem will be a challenge," Ronald Windrem said. He continued, "I believe the days of the one-room school are numbered." The advantages of a central school far outweigh the disadvantages."

William Joslin, who withdrew from the race said, "The teachers we have are good, but they have to spread their time too thin. We must consider an area school" He told the group that most of the high school graduates receiving special awards were from the town of Lindsay. He said the schools must be equipped to cope with the problems in town. "We must forget we belong to one school section and work for the whole township." He said the education must be the same throughout the whole township and the whole county if rural students are going to complete with urban students when they go to high school.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

EXECUTIVES WIFE COMPLAINS: HUSBAND DOES ALL THE WORK

This is supposed to be a land of opportunity. Yet, the wife of a young executive complains that most men are lazy. That only a relative handful accept and bear the burdens — and therefore come down with ulcers and heart disease. I wonder how many other wives whose ambitious, hard-working husbands "haven't yet made the grade" will agree.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: As the wife of a busy junior executive, I feel I speak with some knowledge of the real, underlying reason for their rush to keep things moving. It is our lazy, male population. Let George do it, is their motto. More often than not, they are falling down on the job, and George (men like my husband) is working in the capacity of two or three men.

All media of the press are telling us to prepare for a relaxed future — plenty of time for play and hobbies. National magazines devote pages and pages of recommended forms of recreation to fill our leisure hours that are sure to come. We have been promised shorter working hours, longer hours of play. Unemployment, automation and larger census figures give all this greater impetus.

Yet, my husband is spending more and more time away from home, seeing to the ever increasing demands of industry. There are about two men who work directly under my husband who assume any kind of responsibility, though there are 12 more who shirk and are lazy. They let my George do the worrying, the deciding, and the sweating.

As a doctor, you can see the folly of this. A small portion of your patients will be coming to you in a state of nervous exhaustion, heart ailments, high blood pressure and ulcers. The rest will bring complaints of dislocated elbows (from too much bending with glass in hand), posterior irritation (from sitting) and melodramatitis posturing to fool people into thinking they are working hard).

OTHERS SHOULD SHOULDER LOAD

Why don't you, Dr. Steincrohn, do our economy and general welfare a service? Try to shake up the snoozing men of our society and tell them to put in a good day's work for a good day's pay? If they all shoulder the load, there'll be less tension and serious illness among our men.

As for me, I'm still hoping my own George will be able to spend some of those promised hours of leisure with us at home sometime before his first ulcer and his second attack of exhaustion. Please commit my thoughts to one of your future columns. As I said, you may do the nation a great service, and I know you'll be doing one for me.

I just happen to be one of a handful of dedicated wives who wants to hang on to her dedicated husband as long as I can. With a little help I optimistically think I'll do it. Respectfully, George's Wife.

Comment: Help will come not so much from me as from the letters of other young executives' wives; and from the wives of those ambitious men who are trying hard to become executives themselves, but haven't yet made it.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: About a month ago I developed what has been diagnosed as floaters in my eyes. About six months previous to this condition I started wearing contact lenses. Would this have any bearing on my condition? Mrs. T.

Comment: As far as I know none. These little, floating "spots in front of the eyes" have been common long before contacts were invented.

Need to educate people to use leisure time — Breese

The regular monthly meeting of St. Mary's Parent-Teachers Association was held on Tuesday evening, the 17th day of November, 1964, at St. Mary's Auditorium. The President, Mr. Leonard Shea, conducted the business of the meeting after which Mr. George Hodgson introduced the guest speaker, Mr. William Breese, Principal of Lindsay Collegiate and Vocational Institute.

Mr. Breese gave a very informative talk on the role of the parent in the education of their children and in particular stressed the need for better reading habits in the home. He outlined the great benefits in taking place in education these days, mentioning the composite schools throughout the country which are relatively new, and the fact that children are staying in school longer now than in former years, because in these times the person with some special skill gets the preference when seeking employment. Mr. Breese also spoke of the need to educate people to use their leisure time, of which we seem to have more than ever before, in a profitable way. He stressed that he did not mean profitable in a monetary sense, but rather in the sense of how leisure time could be utilized to improve one mentally as well as physically.

Mr. Gerard Smit thanked the speaker for his very interesting talk and assured him that everyone privileged to hear it, certainly would get something worthwhile from it. The meeting closed with prayer by Sister Mary Jean, with a social half hour and lunch following.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

PERSONAL ANTIDOTES AGAINST INSOMNIA

Here is a lady who gives us her personal formulae for ways to get to sleep. I think you will agree they are unique.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: A time-tested formula for sleep used on my son is to launch into a dissertation on The Idylls of the King. By the time I have Elaine, the Lily Maid of Astolat ensconced on her barge with suitable trappings, he's sound asleep.

I respond with chin on chest and eyes closed, listening to a shot by shot recap of someone else's golf game (along about the 15th hole).

An overzealous cook can provoke falling eyelids by champing on and on about Turkey Pate, Sweetbreads and cucumber salad, or cheese souffle.

And there's the fisherman with the droning voice who covers every minute detail, from the felt caps on his boots, to what point test, to the kind of hooks and where to procure them-all about his aunt's, brother's, cousin's ability in tying dry flies, etc. Everything except where they are running and what they are taking. You know when he starts talking you might as well go to sleep.

Like many people I like a little golf. I like to cook and eat, and I'm goofy about fishing (my own way) but second hand experiences in these fields have as enervating an effect as "The Donkey's Serenade" or "Bolero". I squirm or run, or go into an escapist's trauma--if you say so--but let's call it sleep.

I know a woman who always slept in a shrunken pull-over sweater. She said that her shoulder got cold. Maybe the garb's the thing, for some. I think one of the best ingredients for a soporific is to concentrate on something dear to one's heart--whatever it may be.--Mrs. M.

THYROID DEFICIENCY

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: After reading one of your columns I was suspicious that my 17-year-old son sad the symptoms of thyroid deficiency. I brought him to our doctor who took basal metabolism tests in addition to a P.B.I. test. Sure enough, he had low thyroid action. Now what troubles me that he has progressed from one grain of thyroid extract a day to three grains daily. Is this an excessive amount?--Mrs. M.

Comment: Better leave the dosage to your son's doctor. It is not unusual to have to increase the dosage. I have had some patients who needed four or five grains daily. It all depends upon how repeat tests of thyroid function show up, and upon examining the patient, how his symptoms are affected. Careful estimations of the heart, pulse rate and other signs are other signs of thyroid overactivity, are important.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Most authorities agree that eight hours sleep is sufficient for most people. To get the full benefit must these hours start before midnight or may they begin around 1 p.m.?--Miss S.

Comment: Call me unduly suspicious, Miss S. But am I right in guessing that you are a teen-ager and that your folks have been after you to get to sleep earlier? If this is true then I say it's better for you to get to bed before midnight. If fully grown, I doubt that it makes much difference when you get to sleep as long as you get the required amount (whether it's eight or ten hours --more or less).

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have a skin fungus on my foot. I have been to three doctors but am not getting any better. It itches until it has me almost crazy. I have used all kinds of fungus creams. Sometimes I mix the lot of them together to see i fthat will help. Please tell me what to do?

Commen: I know you are uncomfortable, but stop mixing! You're using hit-or-miss machine-gun tactics. Better start fresh with a skin specialist.

OLDER PARENTS GET FAIR SHARE OF LOVE

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: After reading the letter from Mrs. X regarding her 19-year-old daughter being unhappy about having older parents, I felt I had to reply.

My parents are "older." My mother was 42 when my twin sister and I were born. My father was 54. My sister and I now have children and I hope we can raise them to love and respect us as we do our own parents.

Mom and Dad are now 67 and 78. They enjoy our children and are adored by them. I know that I can speak for my sister when I say none of us would have changed our parents. We feel we are the luckiest girls in the world. Mrs. E.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Having just read Mrs. X's letter in your column I have these comments to make. My parents were 36 and 46 when I was born. I never felt that their ages were a barrier in my life. They always fitted in with my friends' younger parents. They are the best parents a girl could ever have.

Sounds like Mrs. X's daughter has been mixed up with the wrong kind of "friends and their parents." She ought to be thankful for them and ought to start counting her blessings and thanking God for her presence in His wonderful world. Stop hating and start loving. She should stop feeling sorry for herself. I can never thank God enough for my parents and all that they gave of themselves to me though I was born late in their lives. Mrs. S.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Regarding the letter from Mrs. X about having a baby late in life. My mother was 39 when I was born. She kept a wonderful home and made me know I was loved and wanted.

Today I am 40, and mother of two girls ages 15 and 17. I pray they will have the love and respect for me that I have for my 80-year-old mother, who is still in wonderful health. (Thanks for letting me sound off.) Mrs. T.

Comment: Of the many letters received in respect to Mrs. X's column, with few exceptions readers seem to think that it's not the age of the mother so much as the kind of mother that counts. Therefore, you wives still in your thirties, still can look forward to raising a family without the self-imposed stigma: "perhaps I'm to old."

COULD BE GRANDCHILDREN

Dear Dr. teincrohn: My husband is 55 and I am 45. Our children are 20, 15, 7, 5, 3, and 2. Three boys and three girls. The younger four could be our grandchildren. Those last four have been a joy beyond compare. I don't believe age is a deterrent in raising children. We won't be able to leave them a pile of money, but they will have a pile of love while we are alive. It's great to be needed and useful. Mrs. H

For Mrs. K: The lump on the back of your wrist which your doctor calls a "ganglion" usually consists of an excessive accumulation of fluid in a tendon sheath. It's not serious. Sometimes a good whack with a book will make it disappear. Aspirating the fluid with a needle and injecting a steroid medicine into it is a more scientific way of overcoming it. In some stubborn cases, operative removal is necessary.

Mr. T.: Continued high blood pressure, especially if untreated, is a cause of enlarged heart. Another cause is a heart that is in failure. We have medicines to decrease the heart size by improving the circulation.

RMH Board approve cash payment for Jane paving

The report of the finance committee of the Ross Memorial Hospital Board of Governors Thursday night revealed that the Town of Lindsay have levied a local improvement tax on hospital property to cover the hospital's share in the cost of paving Jane street. The levy amounts to $31.35 per year for fifteen years according to the report. Hospital administrator Eric Freeborn pointed out that the hospital had not paid local improvement taxes before and the Ontario Hospital Services Commission would not approve the charge as an allowable budget expense.

Board chairman Stanley Pitts, noting that it was a local improvement tax, and since it was to late to appeal to the court of revision, suggested that the board had no alternative but to accept the charge. Board Member Paul McGuire pointed out that a cash payment would cost the board about half of the 15 year cost, and R. I. Moore approved a cash settlement. Mayor Joseph Holtom then suggested that the administrator write the town clerk asking that the charge be taken off the rolls. This action was approved by the governors.

Administrator Eric Freeborn informed the board members that the final payment of the Federal grant toward the renovation of the old hospital in the amount of $22,967.00 was on the way. In answer to a question the administrator said this amount covered the balance in full.

The finance committee report also included the information that the hospital is a beneficiary under the will of the late Walter L. S. Schnepf. The hospital's share of this estate will amount to $1,360.17.

A request for authorization of $135 towards the staff Christmas party was granted by the board of governors The party will be held at the Royal Canadian Legion hall on Wednesday December 16th at 7:30 p.m. Tickets for the banquet portion of the evening will be available to all staff and members of the board and their wives.

The financial statement for the month of October showed a net surplus of $6,486 after allowing $3,128 for building depreciation. The surplus is due to the receipt of $8,200 from the Ontario Hospital Services Commission repaying the hospital for nursing salaries which were deleted in 1963, the administrator explained.

Of the accounts receivable to the end of October amounting to $106,769 — $75,287 is due from the Ontario Hospital Services Commission and $15,650 from Physicians Services Incorporated, Workmen's Compensation Board and other agencies, and $15,832 from self pay accounts.

FASHION DRAMA. When we girls buy clothes, our star quality shows. The drama takes place in the fitting room:

Scene I, a Starlet speaks: This dress doesn't do a thing for me. None of them does!

Scene II, a Star speaks: This dress is beautiful. But I really don't do a thing for it!

As the plot thickens, both characters try on, and on, and on. The Starlet, condemning all fashion, leaves without a new thing to wear.

The Star finds several dresses that she can do quite a lot for. Simply by a change of lipstick, a slickened hairdo, a refining bra and a proud stance, she renders her selections ravishing. And it is her kind of approach that separates the fashion pros from the amateurs.

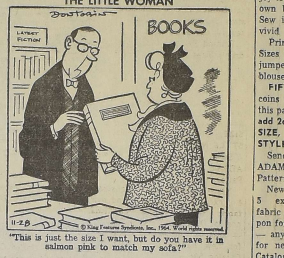

Very seldom is there anything amiss with a garment. Our designers produce great clothes for every type of woman. To find a wide selection of complementary fashions, you only have to come to terms with your proportions, coloring and personality.

The reasons for failure can be none other than a lack of self-knowledge or else the inability to carry off a costume, however becoming. The same make-up hairdo and underpinnings cannot possibly provide flair for every change of costume. An outfit, like a play, requires its own setting. There are two invariables, though — good grooming and good posture.

KEEP HUSBAND HEALTHY BY BOLSTERING HIS EGO

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have been carrying around in my wallet a clipping of a column on tension. Every so often I take it out to re-check myself, or show it to one of my friends. I believe all American women 40 years or over should be members of a "Save Our Husbands Club". We should be making a valiant attempt to reverse the current statistics, until men and women "fade away" at about the same time. It's no fun being a widow, with nothing but memories to keep you warm.

I have always believed it's important to keep bolstering the male ego. It keeps him healthier. Every man likes to feel he is something special in the eyes of his wife. Continue to assure him of his superiority and you'll constantly have a loving, devoted husband. And alive one.—Mrs. L.

Comment: Men, all in favor raise your right hand.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am a firm believer in getting the lowdown. By that I mean, asking direct questions and getting direct answers. Unfortunately, my doctor who is a good one, hasn't the time to sit down and talk interruptedly (phone ringing and waiting room filled) and explain my trouble. As one who is naturally concerned about his coronary condition, where can I find more detailed information?—Mr. B.

Comment: Try your public library. You'll find books by myself and others on coronary disease. If you don't feel like waiting for the volume you want, pick up the phone (or walk into a bookstore) and ask the bookseller for a book on the subject. I promise you he will find in it several practical suggestions that will help you as they have helped thousands of other readers and patients.

NOT AN ASTHMA CURE—YET

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Believe it or not, what I'm going to tell you is true. It's about a little boy who had asthma very badly. When the father got home from work that evening, the little boy was so much worse they were ready to take him to a hospital. The father thought that here was an opportunity to try the "experiment". (He had heard that a Chihuahua can help asthma.)

He went out, bought a puppy, brought it home and it immediately made friends with his son. Crawled in bed with him, right up on his chest, and the boy became better within an hour. He has improved from day to day, and hasn't had an attack since. This may sound fantastic, but I can vouch for the fact it's true.—Mrs. K.

Comments: The Chihuahua story in astham has been making the rounds for months. I have received similar letters. All I can say is that I know of no medical explanation for it. Allergists I have talked with say there is no scientific basis. They come out and say, "A Chihuahua is not an asthma cure".

Yet, many readers will remain convinced that there's something to it. If all else has failed, I'd be the last to say: "Don't get the dog". However, be prepared for disappointment.

RESIGNED

Cambridge, England (UPI) The Rev. Herbert Carson, 42, vicar of St. Paul's Church here for six years, has resigned because of the "mockery" of having to marry and bury persons who were not regular churchgoers.

He said he found it a mockery to marry couples who "may not have darkened the church door for years" and to bury those who had "neglected or even rejected the gospel".

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

ONE'S SMILE MAY MASK A QUIET DESPERATION

What was it Thoreau said? "Most men (or did he say MANY) live lives of quiet desperation." How true. Yet most of us look upon our apparently happy neighbours as the Joneses. We wish we could swap our debits for their apparent assets. The smiling face and apparently happy exterior often cover up inner unhappiness. For example, consider this letter. I reprint only parts of it. You will have to read between the lines).

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I will begin by saying that I am 38 years old but I look 10 years younger. I am considered very pretty, weight about 120, and have a husband and two children, both girls and both well, thank heaven. It would appear that everything is perfect but it isn't. I have a sadness inside of me that I am fighting all the time. As I am a very ambitious actress, I can even fool my own mother and father when I feel the worst. I invariably wear a smile.

This is not an "on and off" thing but very steady. In other words I am always fighting a battle, and the fighting makes one weary.

When I feel worst I ask myself what I can do nice for someone else, but the pain and sadness is still there. I sing all the time but the sadness is still there.

I keep asking myself the cause of all this. Is it because my mother and father were divorced when I was 5 years old? And my mother foolishly told me that my father never loved me? Can be.

FRIGIDITY AN UNKIND WORD

Or, is it sexual? And this is hard to write about, but think important to so many of your women readers with a similar problem. I think that after 16 years of marriage my nervous system is such that it ought to be. My patience is waning thin. I realize this must be a universal problem, and I honestly wish that all women, like myself, could be helped.

I know my husband loves me very much and I keep asking myself, "Why this difficulty?" Signed, "Not Really Frigid".

P.S.: "Frigid" is such an ugly, unkind word. I would like to shoot the person who thought it up! It almost implies "blame," as if it were all the woman's fault; as if she chose to be frigid. Who would choose to be frigid? I know I would not choose it. My unconscious must be doing mean tricks on me!

Thank you so much for listening. I know you can't help from "way out there" (as you often say) but I appreciate the very fact that you've read this letter.

Comment: True, I can't help from way back here. What I am happy about, is that in another part of her letter, this woman who lives in "quiet desperation" writes that she has at last engaged professional help to try to solve her problem.

Too long, I think, has frigidity been relegated to the closet as one of the skeletons we are ashamed to mention. I think women (and men) would be happier if they brought it out into the open and discussed it between themselves and with their physician.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Would you advise cold shots (vaccines) for a man of 75 with chronic bronchitis and emphysema? Mr. S.

Comment: I don't know of any cold vaccines that help much. However, talk over "flu shots" with your doctor. They often help in preventing attacks of influenza.

Forest Ranger School Selects 130 for 1965 Diploma Course

The 1965 class which will begin academic and practical training at the Ontario Forest Ranger School near Dorset in the beautiful Haliburton Highlands on January 4 will consist of 130 young men selected from among 307 applicants from all parts of Ontario as well as Manitoba, Quebec, New Brunswick England, Jamaica and Kenya. Selection was made on a point system as to potential capability in accordance with a formula approved by the Advisory Council to the School. In the 1965 general diploma class five will be sponsored by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests and five by the External Aid Office, Ottawa.

The 1965 general diploma course class faces a technical course in forestry and fish and wildlife which will continue from aJnuary 4th to July 2nd, 1965 with one week of holidays in April between the first and second terms. If successful in completing each term with the necessary marks, the students are then required to go out on a job until the third term commences on October 4th, 1965. This final term is completed on December 17th, 1965, and if all goes well, the student receives a diploma.

The objective of the School is to produce graduates who have the technical knowledge to go out on the job and become skilled technicians who can complement the university-trained men. Students are expected to locate employment themselves both between terms and after graduation preferably in forestry or other allied fields. However, the School provides every possible assistance with the co-operation of the employers concerned. This co-operation has resulted in a 99% employment record.

Jobs filled by undergraduates include: forest technicians, assistant supervisors, scalers, assistant wood foremen, aerial photo technician, park rangers and supervisors, conservation authority technicians, research and biology assistants, land and survey assistants and conservation officers.

After one or more years on the job after graduation, the graduate may be selected to return to the School for post-diploma certificate courses to provide additional training in specialized fields such as timber technician and conservation officer.

The School is operated by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests and is under the direct influence of an Advisory Council which includes distinguished men from Ontario's forest industry, Ontario's Government and University of Toronto.

Additional information on the School, its courses and the various curricula and application forms, are available upon request from the Ranger School, Dorset, Ontario, or any office of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests or guidance counsellors with Ontario's secondary schools.

HAVE HUMANS WEIGHT REGULATING CENTER?

Dr. A.: I'm really sorry for some people who try to lose weight.

Dr. B.: Sorry? Why? As for me, I get madder than the devil when they come back time after time and haven't lost. In fact, some of them gain.

Dr. A.: Well, perhaps I used to lose patience, too, but not any more.

Dr. B.: Why the change of heart?

Dr. A.: Because at last we're seeing scientific evidence that there's much more to losing than just will power. For years I've wondered if the weight problem wasn't more complex than we thought. Not just a matter of stringent diet and pronto-pounds shed.

Dr. B.: You mean the recent articles which indicate there may be a sensitive regulating center deep in the brain which controls weight loss and weight gain?

Dr. A.: Yes. How else can we explain the fact that some people can eat all they want and not gain an ounce, while others gain if they look at food. I recall many patients in the past who swore to me they didn't go off the diet one bit, yet returned to the office with a weight-gain rather than a weight-loss. The way I looked at them, I'm sure they suspected I though they were lying.

Dr. B.: To tell you the truth, I've been more lenient lately, too. There's more to this problem that seems evident on the surface.

SURPLUS WEIGHT

Dr. A.: Just the other day I was watching a football game on the campus. As I sat there I couldn't help notice a huge man who was walking in my direction. He was followed by a woman, probably the wife and kids. But I can't stop eating. It's as if something deep inside was stepping on some kind of accelerator that made me eat fast and often".

You put them on appetite depressors which don't work. Tranquilizers rarely help. Put them on a diet and they say they become too weak to work. People who are only 10 to 20 pounds overweight don't really know what a problem it is to lose until they see these unfortunate patients.

Dr. B.: There have been some recent reports about such patients losing 50 to 100 pounds or more on starvation diets. I think these people are sick enough to require hospital observation and treatment.

Dr. A.: I agree. But let's be patient and understand their problem.

BALANCED BUDGET FOR RECREATION COMMISSION PREDICTED - JOHNSON

Recreation Director Harry Johnson predicted a balanced budget for the fiscal year 1964 at last night's Commission meeting at the Centre. After reviewing receipts for this season to date, the Commission expressed assurance that the years expensives would be met despite expenditures totalling $3500 which had not been budgeted for. "Junior hockey was good to us" observed the director.

The now vacant Chamber of Commerce building beside the town hall came in for some discussion at last night's Recreation Commission meeting. The building had been offered to the town for use by the recreation committee, if interested, with the suggestion it be moved to the George Street park. Commission members, last month favoured leaving the building on its present location for the winter months where it might be used as a meeting place. Director Harry Johnson was of the opinion that a price tag would be attached as well as charges for moving the building. Mayor Joseph Holtom however observed that there had been nothing said about payment and he understood the town would move the building free of charge. The Mayor suggested that the Commission write the town council stating their reason for wanting to leave the building in its present location.

Reports read at the Recreation Commission meeting indicated that the arrangement with Theatre Confections has been a favorable one. According to the report, receipts for November exceed five times the receipts from the machine operation last year.

The Recreation Director also reported that Theatre Confections have agreed to close in a new booth at the south end of the ice area after experiencing freezing difficulties in the present location under the south end of the west side seats. Further in consideration of the downstairs development, Theatre Confections asked the Commission for the main lobby booth to be closed in to the ceiling. At present all merchandise has to be brought out, and put away after even a one hour operation members were told. The Commission agreed with the request.

A request for the installation of a kiln for use by a group interested in ceramics was discussed at some length since it involved a purchase of $300. It was pointed out that instruction is available in ceramics for fifteen people per class. The commission decided to suggest a fifty-fifty split on the deal with the ceramics group supplying half the purchase price of the kiln.

Development of a senior citizen's programme this year year seems to be hampered as the only space available is on the third floor the members were told. This area could be difficult to reach for many senior citizens the director noted. Some programmes are already in operation at various locations in the town on a weekly or monthly basis, but the meeting was told that the Kinsmen Club are considering the senior citizens as one of their projects.

DR. GRENVILLE B. FROST DIES

Dr. Grenville B. Frost, emeritus professor of Chemistry of Queen's and retired head of the department at the University is seen with his brother the Hon. Leslie M. Frost, former Prime Minister of Ontario at the entrance to the Frost Wing of the Queens Chemistry Building, opened in February 1962. The new addition to the Queen's chemistry building is named for Dr. Frost, in recognition of the contributions and-services to the University he made during 37 years as a member of the faculty until his retirement in 1961.

Dr. Grenville Barker Frost, brother of the Honourable Leslie M. Frost, died yesterday at Kingston General Hospital. He is resting at the Robert J. Reid and Sons Funeral Home at the corner of Barrie and Johnson Streets in Kingston for funeral service in Sydenham Street United Church at 1.30 p.m. on Saturday, December 5th. Interment will be at Beechwood Cemetery, Ottawa. Flowers are gratefully declined by the family.

Dr. G. B. Frost, emeritus, professor of Chemistry of Queen's and retired head of the department at the University retired in 1961. He had been a member of the University staff for thirty-seven years. "He was an able and imaginative chemist who would go on working with his senior students into the early hours of the morning", said the principal of Queen's University.

"In his earlier years, he was a distinguished organist and a strong and wise influence in the development of music at the University. He loved good talk, whether of chemistry, theology or the work of the University. He was a much loved teacher and he will be a lively memory among us for many years", continued the principal.

Bizarre Day

It was a bizarre day for the House of Commons yesterday reports the United Press International. Party lines were fractured, strains of Christmas carols drifted through the Commons air and Canada's legislators remained deadlocked on the question of a national flag.

Division bells rang for 20 minutes as the government scraped up supporters for a vote on a motion to adjourn the discussion, and while the M.P.'s waited they sang a French-Canadian drinking ditty "Nights of the Round Table".

When a French-Canadian member Theogene Ricard, the first Quebec Tory M.P. to publicly declare himself in favour of a flag plebiscite spoke he was booed by some Liberal members.

These booing, carol singing, arguing men are paid $18,000 a year by the taxpayers to run this great country. Not only a bizarre day, a bizarre parliament!

Meet the people

A lady called "The Post" this morning to complain about the candidates for municipal elections answering questions put to them over the radio.

The candidates should, she maintained, meet the voters at open public meetings in a place like the Academy Theatre. Here the public would be afforded the opportunity of presenting the questions and then questioning the replies.

We feel too, a sponsored radio programme is not the best place for candidates to answer questions from voters. The local politicians should be on the platform taking part in the thrust and parry of debate and contending with the heckling of the irate voters (an integral part of any self-respecting public meeting).

We sympathize with our caller when she describes the actions of aspirants to municipal office of trying to "tranquilize" the public. We feel that way ourselves at times.

Band grant recommended

The town council passed a recommendation to the council of 1940 that the town make a grant to the Citizen's Band sufficient to pay the salary of the bandmaster. This recommendation was passed after a brief discussion on the fortunes of the band during the past few months.

Orange Hall burns

Considerable damage was done when fire partially destroyed the Orange Hall at the corner of Peel and William Street North last night. Firemen fought the stubborn blaze for two hours before the flames were finally extinguished.

The fire which is believed to have started in the lower west section of the large frame structure was first noticed about 9:30 p.m. and when the firemen arrived the blaze was spreading rapidly to the upper south part of the building. Two streams of water were directed onto the fire but the firfighters were momentarily held up when one of the hoses burst at the nozzle.

The absence of any wind made it easier to bring the fire under control before it spread to the front section of the building.

Jitterbugs rule

Jitterbugs may again rule supreme in the town hall of Lindsay. The motion on the town's books, forbidding public dancing in the auditorium of the town hall, was rescinded at Monday's meeting of council and now the Women's Institute may rent the hall according to their discretion to those wishing to sponsor dances every night but Saturday. The dances will be under police supervision.

Flavelles ship turkeys

Last night was a busy one for the employees of Flavelles Limited at the cold storage plant. Eight cars were loaded with turkeys for the British market and the night shift worked like Trojans in order to get the shipment under way. It will be of interest to the public to learn that the eight cars of turkeys represented an expenditure of $35,000. That Flavelles Limited is a valuable industry to the town is admitted on all sides. Excellent wages have been paid this fall to a large staff of employees, who have been working night and day on shipments of produce for the English market.

As an illustration of the immense amount of business handled by Flavelles' Limited, it might be stated that the firm will have shipped by Christmas time, 150 cars of eggs representing a value of a million-and-a half dollars. Every egg will have been candled before being used for shipment.

Invitation

The public are invited to attend an electrical demonstration of a new Scale Williams' player piano action on exhibition this week and next, every day and evening at the J. M. Greene Music Store, Kent St .

Christmas pudding

No Christmas puddings have arrived as yet at the local post office, but one has already been forwarded from Lindsay to Belfast, Ireland. Owing to the war, it is felt that there will be a great falling off in the number of puddings sent across the herring pond this year.

Allies in Montenegro

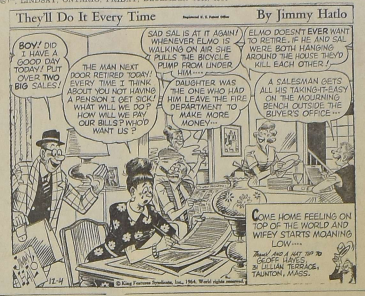

A despatch from Berlin says there are a number of French and English transports landing troops at Antivary, the seaport of Montenegro. The Austrian fleet guarding the coast has been driven off.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

"The Mound"

(UPI)—Just north of the Sea of Galilee, springs bubble up to form the head water of the River Dan which in turn supplies more than half the volume of the Jordan River. The Jordan then dumps into the Sea of Galilee.

It is less than coincidence then that twice in less than three weeks Israeli and Syrian forces have clashed near these springs which are vital to Israel's ambitious plans to bring fresh water to the arid Negev and open up new areas for her expanding population.

Ostensibly the clashes involved a patrol road along a poorly defined stretch of Israeli-Syrian borde. Israel claims the road is wholly within its territory. The Syrians charge it cuts as deep as 50 yards into Syrian territory.

In the first clash, on Nov. 13, four Israeli and seven Syrians were killed.

It was the worst of its kind since 1956. Syrian mortar shells fell on three Israeli villages. Israeli jet fighters hit two Syrian villages.

The Syrians charged that the Israelis deliberately provoked the attack to test the effectiveness of the new United Arab Command, a joint military program adopted by the Arab nations last January, and then used it as a further excuse for "aerial aggression."

The Israeli replied that they would never permit the Syrians to use their advantage of higher ground to shell Israeli villages with impunity.

The second clash came on Dec. 1 in the same area but halted without intervention by the United Nations Truce Organization and apparently without casualties on either side.

Whether by chance or not, the latter action came just one day after the United Nations, with organizational troubles of its own, agreed to postpone further discussion of the Nov. 13 clash.

If it simply were a border clash, the easy solution would be the proposal put forward by Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, UN truce commander, that the disputed area be surveyed by outside experts whose findings would not be open ot partisan challenge.

It is not, however, that simple.

The avowed purpose of the United Arab Command established in January is first the prevention of Israeli's use of Galilee waters and second the extinction of Israel itself.

Syria has been in the forefront in demanding military action against Israel and has attempted to bring pressure on other Arab nations for stronger support of her position.

The Arabs have been threatening to cut off the headwaters of the Jordan and plans already are in the works to divert two of the Jordan's three sources. One of these, the Hasbani, rises in Lebanon and the other, the Banias, in Syria.

The third and most important is the Dan to whose headwaters the Israelis wish to establish clear ownership. Historically, the Israelis are supported by a 1923 agreement which placed them inside Palestine.

One report say that the Syrians have taken experimental borings which tap the source of the Dan's underground springs, drawing off the water in that manner.

At any rate, if another war is to break out between the Israelis and the Arab States, Tel Dan (The Mound) is a likely spot.

HOT IDEA! FOR A CHRISTMAS GIFT

GIVE HIM A WARM CAR TO GET INTO ON CHILLY MORNINGS!

HAPPY CAR . . . HAPPY DRIVER It's almost like giving him a heated garage, when you give him an interior electric car warmer. No more windshield scraping, no more shivery seats . . . just cosy warmth and safe, frost-free windows. No special wiring required. Simply plug it in and, for only a few pennies a night, he'll have a warm, safe-to-drive car waiting for him each morning.

An electric car warmer is not a block heater for the engine, but an inside car warmer for him, the driver. It's a compact fan-type heater, safely-protected against overheating. It's easy to install, or you just put it on the floor. You can buy one at your nearest service station, new car dealer, auto supply store, department store or shopping centre. It's a warm-hearted gift!

TIMELY TIPS

Macdonald Institute, Guelph

Enhance the delicate flavour of Ontario lamb with a few well chosen spices. A hint of tarragon, marjoram or curry develops the flavour without disguising it. Season lamb with a touch of dried mint while cooking and then serve with a fresh mint sauce. Or for a subtle blend of flavour, add a bay leaf, a pinch of thyme and a few sprigs of parsley to lamb stew.

Apple pancakes will make a big hit at a week-end breakfast or as a fresh, warm dessert anytime. Pare and chop finely Ontario Northern Spy, McIntosh or Greening apples. Sprinkle chopped apples over your favourite pancake batter. Scoop out batter with a ladle, making sure that apple pieces are included in every pancake and fry as usual. Serve with maple syrup or warm apple butter.

Fresh mushrooms are a smooth white or brown color, firm and not fully opened. It is recommended that mushrooms should be washed very quickly in cold water. Do not let them stand in water as they become limp and lose their full rich flavour. Fresh, firm caps do not need to be peeled.

For lighter, moister, more tender angel cakes bake them in a 425 degrees F oven recommend home economists at Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

Neckties Cleaning

Neckties and ribbons can be nicely cleaned by placing in a fruit jar half-filled with carbon tetrachloride. Cover the jar, shake for a few minutes, then follow by rinsing in a clean solution, and hang in the air to dry.

Wall Cleanser

To make a good cleaning compound for painted walls, dissolve one ounce of soap flakes in 16 ounces of water, and add about three ounces of turpentine. Stir this mixture rapidly, and apply with a sponge.

Ammonia Stains

Ammonia may bleed dye or cause color changes in materials. Color changes can be corrected by applying white vinegar and water to the affected area.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I keep a partly used can of paint from hardening.

A. Try the same method that jelly and jam makers use for preserving. Pour some melted paraffin or wax over the top of the paint that is left in the can. This will harden into an airtight, protective covering.

Q. How can I exercise greater economy with my shoe polish?

A. To get all the polish that clings to the sides of the tin after the center part of the shoe polish has been used, hold the tin over a low heat. The wax will melt and form a new cake of polish.

Q. How can I clean an oil mop?

A. By using hot water, ammonia, aand a small amount of washing powder.

"BUT, I SAVED YOUR LIFE!"

San Francisco, (UPI) — Dredge operator Jesper C. Strandgaard went to the rescue when a woman walking across the Richardson Bay mud flats toward his rig began to sink in the ooze this week.

He laid planks to where Mrs. Robert Allen, Mill Valley, was stuck hip-deep. As he pulled her free, she handed him a court order which she and neighbours obtained in an attempt to prevent the bay from being filled.

Strandgaard commented "Why I just saved your life!"

Canada's flag red herring?

Saskatoon, Sask. (UPI) — The Saskatoon Farmers Union Convention has taken stock of Canada's flag debate.

The more than 300 delegates at the convention were surprised when Frank Cushon of Oxbow, unfurled a National flag featuring a red herring.

President Roy Atkinson described what happened:

"For a moment the convention was stunned, and then it broke into laughter. Running through this sort of good humour was a note that this is probably the kind of gesture that is required at this particular point in time so that Canada should have a new perspective in terms of its National problems.

"And so he proposed that the flag should be sent to Ottawa with a delegation to meet the speaker of the House. I think what he really was saying was the community is fed up with members of Parliament haggling over a flag", said Atkinson.

World news today

Toronto (UPI) — Allan Lawrence, a young conservative back-bencher said last night that there is a possibility Ontario will set up its own pension plan.

"I know the serious consideration is being given at Queen's Park for the possible provision in a provincial plan of benefits that the federal plan could not provide, Lawrence, MPP for Toronto St. George, told a University of Toronto Progressive conservative Club.

"I know there is a very distinct possibility that Ontario will decide to go its own way in this field," he said.

Lawrence maintained Alackustre Federal government was losing and had advised him what he was going to say.

"We have been considering pension matters for a couple of years. We don't know yet what our pension committee has decided," Robarts said.

New York — Despite tough talk from Russia's communist party boss Leonid Brezhnev, the watchword among Soviet diplomats in New York still seems to be peaceful co-existence. In talks between secretary of State Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko, the Russian has emphsized heavily the need to negotiate further agreements to east east-west tensions.

Gromyko has shown no inclination to rock the boat or inflame the atmosphere in any way.

Congo — The Congolese government is investigating possible links between a former foreign minister and Communist rebels in the Congo.

The man in question — Auguste Mabika — Kalanda — severed as foreign minister in the Adoula government. He has been detained along with two other men.

The three are said to have had in their possession documents linking them to the rebel leadership.

India — Pope Paul carried his peace and charity crusade to the slums of Bombay, India, this morning. He celebrated mass for a congregation of orphans and working class people and then had communion breakfast with the orphans

Viet Nam — South Viet Nam charged this morning that Cambodia sent naval and ground forces across the border between the two countries Monday. The Vietnamese said the Cambodians helped Communist Guerrillas in a battle that produced 12 Vietnamese casualties.

Russia — Official U-S sources say Russia favours avoiding a U-N crisis over the Soviet U-N debt. Soviet foreign minister Gromyko reportedly told Secretary of State Rusk that he favours Russian payments to a voluntary fund to reduce the debt.

Milwaukee — Some fellows will try anything to see a girlfriend. A student at Marquette university in Milwaukee wanted to visit his girlfriend in Ireland this Christmas so he started a collection drive at the University. The collection jars have been circulating throughout the school and the student — Douglas Bielan — is near his goal. The contribution drive spread as far away as Massachusetts and New Jersey.

Maritimes — The chairman of the Maritime trustees Union has resigned his post. Mr. Justice Victor L. Dryer gave no reason for his action, but it is known he is aginst the commission being responsible to parliament when a committee of the trusteeship action opens next week.

Ottawa — Associate Defense Minister Lucien Cardin says Canada has ordered an additional 500 armored personnel carriers for the Canadian Army.

The total cost of the order is estimated at 28-million dollars. The personnel carriers are made in the U.S.

Maritimes — The Maritime provinces are adding up their losses following the vicious early winter storm which struck them earlier this week.

Damage is estimated in the millions without adding damage to several ocean-going vessels caught in the mountainous Seas which accompanied the storms. At least four lives were lost, two on land and two at sea.

Thelma Armstrong elected president hockey auxiliary

Pushing the panic button paid off for the Lindsay Minor Hockey Association Wednesday when minor hockey mothers turned out in sufficient numbers to elect an executive for the coming season.

Lindsay Minor Hockey President Bob Bovie contacted the mothers of players on the Lindsay All Star teams in the hope of preventing the folding of the Women's Auxiliary of the Lindsay Minor Hockey Assoc.

Mrs. Thelma Armstrong was elected president of the Auxiliary for the 1964-1965 season succeeding past president Mrs. Audrey Abercrombie. The new vice-president will be Mrs. Florence James, with Mrs. Dorothy Rennie as secretary, and Mrs. Jean Hillier as treasurer. Directors elected are Mrs. Pat Crawford, Mrs. Glen Heatlie, Mrs. Vickie Kingsborough, Mrs. Helen McFadden, Mrs. Reg Maloney, and Mrs. Audrey Abercrombie.

The main function of the Women's Auxiliary is to cater to players of visiting out-of-town teams and for for the big event, the annual peewee tournament. The Auxiliary is mostly self supporting as the ' players mothers supply sandwiches etc and money is raised by holding bake sales during the season.

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York (UPI) — A magic world of Christmas Trees, trimmed to suit celebrities, features:

Trees with tiny bells and seaside shells, trees with beasts and trees with sweets, trees with birds and trees with fruits, and even a tree adorned with kitchen utensils!

The collection of 21 decorated Yule trees, each representing the personal design taste of a famous personality, fills the Hallmark Gallery in New York and will remain until the end of the month.

The exhibition, planned in collaboration with the Children's Aid Society, shows that celebrity friends of the society — ranging from actress Helen Hayes to Francis Cardinal Spellman — believe in trimming trees the "Take-your-breath-away" way.

Miss Hayes collects Angels from all over to decorate her tree, inspired by her daughter's affection for them as a child.

Her tree is decorated with folk art Angels from Mexico, Poland, Austria, Germany, Italy, Scandinavia and parts of South America. The Scotch pine is lighted with tiny clear bulbs.

Cardinal Spellman's tall fir is covered with tiny bells and brightly painted wood cut-outs of angels, animals and other Christmas symbols.

Actor Maurice Evans suggested a tree with a nautical theme. It contains many varieties of shells and other sea life.

Phyllis McGinley's tree features many kitchen items and utensils, along with hundreds of sixpences and miniature shoes. Her new book "Sixpence In Her Shoe," provided the theme.

Julie Harris suggested a tree lighted with tiny gold lights and covered with cut-out Brownie figures as well as Brownie scenes mounted on blocks and balls . She drew on her childhood remembrances of Christmas for inspiration.

The Lily Pulitzer tree is a table spruce decorated with oranges and lemons, butterflies and bows in purple, yellow and orange from fabric used for the famous "Lily" dress she created. Tiny deep-green lights and orange Tigerlilies complete the tree.

An interest in old icons suggested the theme for the tree by Mrs. Edward Durell Stone, wife of the architect. It is covered with small Madonna Icons tied to the spruce with gold colour ribbon.

Suzy Parker's tree is a spruce laden with candy, nuts, fruits and tallow candles. It recalls Christmas she remembers from her childhood in Florida and is topped with the traditional symbol of hospitality, the Pineapple.

The Norman Vincent Peale tree is trimmed with popcorn and Cranberry strings, paperchains and cut-out angels. Candles are clipped to the branches with antique candleholders.

"Humble Beasts" such as those represented at the stable where Christ was born make up the Dick Van Dyke tree. The animals comprise a good assortment of folk art and animal sculpture from Mexico, Poland, Germany, Scandinavia, Italy, Japan, Switzerland, Belgium, Spain and the United States.

Harvey Schmidt's interest in music suggested a tree surrounded by instruments. An antique music -stand with candles, holds the score for "The fantasticks".

Artist Cecil Beaton's tree is trimmed with oranges, lemons, limes and green nuts.

Pink cabbage roses, pink velvet bows and pink velvet ribbon ball ornaments decorate the Helena Rubinstein tree with pink lights.

Birds of all kinds cover the branches of comedian Jonathan Winters' tree. It is topped by an angel.

More traditional, Roddy McDowall's tree is covered with silver balls of all sizes, silver icicles and white candles.

Carol Burnett favours a small tree for a table. It has blue and green ornaments and blue lights. displayed nearby on the table are antique dolls.

The Paul Newman-Joanne Woodward tree, a large fir, features lots of Christmas cookies — that's all.

Artist Andy Warhol leaves something to the imagination. His tree is a Blue Spruce — unadorned.

Bellwood—Carpenter Rites

Baskets of white and yellow mums decorated the Full Gospel Lighthouse, at Haliburton Ontario, on Saturday, November 14, 1964, at 4:00 p.m. for the marriage of Fern Lorene Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carpenter of Minden to Roger Lloyd Bellwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bellwood of Fenelon Falls, Ontario.

The Rev. Noel McNeil was the officiating clergyman with Gordon Attrell of Toronto as soloist singing "The Wedding Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You" accompanied by Dan Davison of Lochlin, Ontario.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was elegant in a floor length gown of imported Swiss embroidered organza, enhanced with a sabrina neckline and tiny sleeves, accented with illy-pointed gauntlets. The tulle petalled headdress, centred with lilacs and lily of the valley held a silk illusion finger-tip veil. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty miniature gardenias with lily of the valley and fern.

The matron-of-honour was Mrs. Wanda Robinson, sister of the bride, from Minden, and the bridesmaids were Marilyn Rennick, a friend of the bride from Ottawa, and a cousin of the bride, Marilyn Paul from Minden. The attendants were identically gowned in Romance Blue nylon sheer dresses over rayon taffeta, and a bodice of nylon and acetate lace accented with white accessories. The flower girl was Valerie Robinson, a niece of the bride from Minden gowned in a white lace bodice dress, with a yellow nylon skirt and white accessories. A basket of yellow and bronze flowers completed her ensemble.

The best man was Richard Robinson of Minden, and the ushers were Douglas Carpenter of Lochlin and Bev. Attrell of Toronto.

For the reception at Halimar Lodge in Haliburton, the brides mother received in a gold silk brocade jacket dress, with gold and black accessories. Her corsage was a light blue and pink rose. The bridegrooms mother assisted in a beige silk brocade dress with dark accessories, and a dark pink rose corsage.

For their honeymoon to Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the bride wore a brown and beige three piece tweed suit, accessories of beige and pink carnation corsage.

The newlyweds are residing in Fenelon Falls, Ontario.

Guests from out of town were from Ottawa, Chatham, Lindsay, Arthur, St. Thomas, Toronto, Cameron, Lochlin, Fenelon Falls, and Oshawa.

LIKES FRANKENSTEIN

Paterson, N.J. — Mrs. Jane Arnoldi sued for divorce yesterday on grounds her husband thought more of Frankenstein and other monsters than he did of her.

Mrs. Arnoldi said her husband, Charles, read horror stories instead of talking to her and kept models of monsters such as Frankenstein around the house.

The thing that finally drove her out of the house, she said, was her husband's insistence on describing surgical operations in detail at mealtime.

Breaking and entering charges remanded until December 10

Two local men, Donald Coulter and Robert Taylor, were remanded to December 10 on charges of breaking and entering and a third man, Vernon Clayton, was remanded to December 10, charged with being in possession of stolen goods. The three appeared before Magistrate Ian Munro in Lindsay Police Court Thursday. Bail for Clayton and Taylor was set at $500 cash or $2,000 property. Coulter was already on bail. Coulter and Taylor are alleged to have broken into a garage owned by Ray Weldon in Lindsay on November 14. Clayton was charged on November 20 of being in illegal possession of wrenches, an electric drill and a quantity of oil.

Stephen Maloney of Lindsay, was remanded to December 10 on charges of dangerous driving, careless driving, and two charges under the Liquor Control Act.

Fined $100 for having loaded rifle in a car

"If he didn't know it was loaded, he isn't much of a hunter and he is taking a chance with his life", Magistrate Ian Munro told Grenville Coppins of Lindsay who was fined $100 and costs or 30 days for having a loaded 30-06 rifle in an automobile. Coppins claimed he removed the rifle and didn't know it was loaded.

A hand spot-lamp and storage battery was also brought into evidence in connection with the case. Conservation Officer Robert Pyke, of the Department of Lands and Forests said after questioning the accused, he learned Coppins and two companions had been south of Lindsay with jacklighting equipment. He said deer are plentiful in the area but it is closed to hunters.

The accused had been charged on October 31 at 2 a.m. after the car in which he had been riding was stopped for a speeding infraction on Highway 35. Lindsay OPP Constable John Mitchell said he found the accused in the vehicle entangled in the wires running from the battery in the back seat to the light in the front seat of the vehicle. He said the rifle and three rounds of ammunition were also found in the front seat of the car.

A second charge of having a loaded rifle in a vehicle was withdrawn by the Crown.

Drove carelessly fined $25

Magistrate Ian Munro convicted Marton VanDyke of Ashburn, Ontario in Magistrate's Court Thursday on a charge of careless driving as a result of a two-car collision between a car being driven by the accused, and a school bus on County Road No. 2 in Mariposa Township on November 19th.

Provincial Constable Lyle Welton who investigated the accident, said the accused had followed the bus for approximately three miles, stopping when required. He said the bus had stopped to pick up four children, and the accused in a moment of inattention had run into the rear end of the bus. The Constable estimated the damage to the bus at $40 and to the VanDyke vehicle at $300.

Magistrate Munro levied a fine of $25 and costs totalling $15.. The Constable said the accused had a good driving record, and it was snowing slightly at the time of the accident and the road was wet. He said there was no sign of skid marks, and the waiting children had not started to enter the standing bus. The accused pleaded guilty to the charge.

KINSMEN BAND MEMBERS PRAISED FOR PLAYING AT LCVI EXERCISES

Six members of the Lindsay Kinsmen Band received praise following their playing at the graduation exercises held recently at the L.C.V.I. The sextet made up of William Willis, Clark Tumman, Don Reid, MacArthur, Timothy Watson, Ken Johnson and James Mackey, were under the direction of a former Kinsmen Band member, Peter McArthur, who is now teaching in the Lindsay Collegiate. It is reported the band has several other groups that are able to play at such engagements.

Many ex-band members are making good use of the training received from Band Master Frank Banks. One lad is playing in a military band in London, many belong to the newly formed Commadores, while others are playing in orchestras and dance bands.

The engagement chairman reported the band will be travelling to Bancroft on December 5 to attend their Santa Claus parade and to Bobcaygeon on December 12. The band at their regular Monday night practises are already preparing music for their annual band concert to be held late in February in the newly renovated Academy Theatre.

The membership chairman reported that the drive for new members is progressing well and any child, boy or girl, between the age of 9 and 12, who would like to join the band should do so right away so that the group could be trained as a unit. . . .He also pointed out that 35 would be the maximum number of new members and that could be handled at this time.

Toronto ruling affects Lindsay case-remanded

A ruling by Mr. Justice Edson Haines in Toronto Thursday that the careless driving charge laid under the Highway Traffic Act is inoperative because it come into conflict with the Criminal Code charge of dangerous driving, caused Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan to ask for a remand of a careless driving charge against Thomas B. Telford of RR3 Bobcaygeon, when he was arraigned in Lindsay Police Court Thursday.

At the request of the defence the Crown agreed to pay the defence's witness fees because of Thursday's decision which a Toronto lawyer, John Weingust claimed makes it possible to successfully prosecute careless driving charges in Ontario.

Mr. Telford was remanded to December 10.

THIS WEEK HAS SEVEN DAYS FOR OMEMEE AS TV MOVES IN

Thurs. the CBC TV crew from "This Week Has Seven Days" are in Omemee filming the story of the "pistol packing physician" as Dr. Jules Sobrian is being referred as in Omemee. Television cameramen Thurs. filmed Omemee's main street, anu Dr. Sobrian showing them the polluted ditch from which the original controversy stemmed. Films were made of the gun club where the doctor practices, the burnt out school and others involved in the controversy were interviewed. The programme will be broadcast this Sunday on the CBC TV..

This Saturday voters in Omemee are expected to go to the polls in large numbers to cast their votes. Present Reeve George Stephenson is being opposed by Insurance Agent Cecil Reeds, and the incumbent council members are being opposed by supporters of Dr. Sobrian.

The 29-year old West Indian doctor has been the centre of controversy in the village since a year ago, when, as Medical Officer of Health he ordered that all drinking water be boiled and he said he would ask the Ontario Water Resources Commission to investigate the village's water supply.

Presently the town is divided over the issue of the school property which was sold to Dr. Sobrian by the school board and expropriated by the village council for a park.. Dr. Sobrian confirmed yesterday he carried a gun "on occasions" because of what he termed "second-hand threats" against his life.

Answer to "Another Dutchman"

Dear Mr. Editor

It is indeed gratifying to note that one of my former country men is taking an active interest in the affairs of his newly adopted country. Unfortunately, up till now too many of them have shied away from making their beliefs known. At least "Another Dutchman" has thrown his cards on the table.

In this connection I should like to call attention to one interesting view which he holds. It is "Another Dutchman's" expressed opinion, that only an open Sunday is democratic. If he were right, we would have a democracy left at all. For it is exactly the meaning of the word democracy that a choice is offered. One can cast a ballot either against or for. This means that either an "open" or a "closed" Sunday may be democratic, denending upon the outcome of the vote. To identify democracy with only one half of such a choice is to destroy the very institution which "Another Dutchman" wants to keep.

Within a democracy, we have the freedom to express our opinions concerning either side of the choice. Freedom without responsibility, however, can only lead to chos. Therefore we have laws within a democracy, which place restraints upon the sinful tendencies of people. When these restraints are removed, it becomes more difficult for Christians to act in obdience to God. To keep Sunday as a special day, both Christian and non-christians also very democratic.

HOLLYWOOD

(United Press International)

Hollywood (UPI) — Jerry Lewis' 19-year-old son Gary makes his television debut Sunday night on the Ed Sullivan show. A programme on which the comedian scored his first big hit in 1947.

It is a debut filled with sentiment for Lewis who is being honoured at an American Guild of Variety Artists Banquet in New York City that same night.

And to make the evening an even more personal affair, Gary's Godmother, Sophie Tucker, will be on Ed's CBS-TV show.

Jerry couldn't have more sentiment going for him if he did the show in his living room surrounded by his wife Patty and their six children.

But Sunday is Gary's night, an evening which will feature Jerry playing a minor role to the young newcomer and his five-piece band. Gary sings, plays the drum and does comedy. He does a Liberty recording of "This Diamond Ring".

Jerry describes Gary's comedy as "Better Funny" than his own talent was at 19 years of age.

"He has more humility", said Jerry in his office suite at Paramount Studio. "He doesn't have as much awarness and con as I had at that age.

"He's a legit 19-when I was 19 I was 35", he continued, referring to the years he spent as a young entertainer touring the theatre circuit.

Jerry's pride in his son is the natural pride found in any father whose offspring is following a family tradition. Jerry's dad was an entertainer. Gary makes it three generations in a row to choose a show business career. Gary's mother was a singer.

But the comedian is not unaware of the fact that Gary may have to be better than any other youngster making his show business debut.

Gary is Jerry Lewis' son, and he may be judged, compared and even criticized on that basis. The sons of other Hollywood stars have never escaped such comparison.

"He sure won't be a second Jerry", Lewis said. "He's a first Gary. Here's a case where the name won't hurt or hinder. He has a wonderful, eager, giving of himself kind of humour. He's funny and has infinite timing".

Gary, oldest of the six Lewis boys, has been appearing at Disneyland in recent months. The job on Sullivan's show came as a surprise to him.

"He never asked me", said Jerry who negotiated the job personally with Sullivan in a telephone call which didn't last much more than a minute. "And I wouldn't have done it if he didn't have talent".

Jerry admits that the difficult part of the show will be putting Gary, "downstage, forward".

"I'm going to have to stand back and control the ham in me" he said. "That's the way I want it".

Lewis, an electronic hobbyist whose office and home is stocked with tape recorders, played a recorded telephone conversation that he had with Gary, informing him of the Sullivan job.

The boy stammered in disbelief, cheered, finally quipped to his father, "I'll see if I can get you to play with me sometime".

After Gary, there are five other Lewis lads waiting in the wings.

Cannington (PNS) — A very busy and rewarding meeting was held by the All Saints Women's Auxiliary on Tuesday of last week with an excellent attendance. The devotional period by Mrs. A. Samis, the president was taken from the W.A. Book, 'In Thy Name' together with prayers read and minutes of the October meeting read and approved. The roll was called, members were sorry to hear their recording secretary, Mrs. Muriel Bassett would be entering the hospital shortly and all wished her a speedy recovery. Flowering plants and cards had been sent to Mrs. Bassett and Mrs. Gwen Avery who was in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto. Mrs. Grosse had written to express her appreciation of the gift and social afternoon held for her on her departure to reside in Toronto and she would think often of her happy association with All Saints.

The bazaar had been an outstanding success and the members were grateful to Rev. and Mrs. Davidson for their work and contributions also the local merchants for gifts of hams and turkeys. After discussion it was decided to hold a 'Little Bazaar' on December 5th with a bake table and special Childrens Corner. Mrs. Tomlinson read a lengthy Deas Newsletter regarding Indian School Requisitions quoting the sizes, styles and materials for girls and boys clothing also toys and gifts. Large quilts were urgently needed also larger sized clothing for the Arctic bales. Mrs. Brock Blackburn has kindly given a quit top to be made up and this would be attended to after Christmas.

Mrs. Len Wood hoped to start delivering the Little Helper boxes next week and additional money was handed over to Mrs. F. Graper, Social Service Secretary, towards the cost of Christmas gifts for shut-ins. The W.A. were grateful to Mr. and Mrs. F. Graper for fixing the new drape track in the hall which was a definite improvement.

Friday, November 13th was Family Night at St. Paul's Church in Beaverton, for the three churches in the parish. The local ladies supplied the cookies. Final arrangements had been made for catering to the bowlers banquet and Mrs. Samis was asked to purchase additional vegetable bowls for the kitchen. It was decided to start replacing the heavy trestle tables with smaller ones for catering purposes and this was left in the hands of the president. The W.A. calenders and the Anglican were now on hand for orders already placed.

After discussion it was decided All Saints W.A. send in their name for Prayer Partners and notice of a conference regarding this in Toronto was given out. The meeting was brought to a close with a hymn and prayer followed by lunch served by the hostess, Mrs. F. Graper. A wonderful supply of good clothing has been brought for the bale, along with toys for the Toronto missions and the ladies assisted with packing the bale, to be despatched to Endeavour, Saskatchewan.

Legionaires held their annual bonspiel Wednesday and it was the first game in twelve months for a number of players. There are numerous stretched biceps and sore shinbones today. Eight rinks took part in three games the winners being declared on the points system. Lindy Mackey's rink squeezed through with three wins, the last game against Ike Eberts being a squeaker..

The rinks went down the home stretch neck and neck and a tie was settled by each skip playing to the red button. Mackey won by one and a half inches.

It was the second tie game of the bonspiel for Eberts..

Ties were predominent, evidence of the fine contest. Skip Skip Willis and Skip McLeish edged Skip Torrance in a tie finish. It was a good 'spiel and President Tom Madill and the Sir Sam Hughes branch was well pleased. Legionaires are now looking forward with anticipation to the zone bonspiel which will be played in Haliburton.

Doctor will move to Lindsay if Omemee reeve re-elected

"Lindsay is crying for Doctors, we will move to Lindsay" commented Dr. Jules Sobrian and Mrs. Sobrian yesterday to "The Post" if George Stevenson is re-elected as Reeve in Saturday's election. George Stevenson has been the stumbling block, if he is returned we will be forced to leave the village" said Mrs. Sobrian. "We have nothing against the council", she continued, "other than the school property expropriation and council's refusal to co-operate with Dr. Sobrian as medical officer of health".

Dr. Sobrian said he had received no threats from anybody in particular and he felt the extensive publicity had relieved the tension. The Doctor said it was a shame that the people who begrudged his obtaining the school property for $500 do not realize that he is carrying out the duties of medical officer for $75 per annum, not the $1500 received by many health officers. He said he was gerely fighting for a principal. He said his practice had been effected, but stressed that politics on any level should have no control over sanitation or pollution control.

The doctor, if he continues as medical health officer in Omemee, plans to undertake a thorough sampling of the village water supply in the spring when soil conditions are at their worst and will decide from the findings the urgency of remedial action. He said he will endeavour to remove all sources of pollution of the mill pond and Pigeon River that lie in Emily Township.

"Good government" committee formed in Omemee village

A "For good government" committee has been active in the village of Omemee during the days prior to the municipal election on Saturday, December 5th.

The committee f ormed by Mrs. James Evans and Mrs. Arthur Cummings have received the pledged support of about twenty active workers who have gone all-out in their campaign on behalf of certain candidates running for election.

Mrs. Evans said that between 200 and 300 of the over 400 eligible voters have been contacted by telephone or in person. She said that the elderly people have been contacted are strongly in favour of Dr. Sobrian. "They think expropriation is wrong, they are confused and they have been told by former council members that they must vote for four councillors or lose their vote", claimed Mrs. Evans. This she said is obviously quite wrong, adding that old families in the village feel that the name of Omemee has been smudged.

Mrs. Arthur Cummings and Mrs. James Evans have prepared an extensive survey of the election issues which they plan to circulate through the village urging support for Cecil Reeds for reeve, Gordon Bocock for council, Murray Finney for school board member and Robert Goodin and Thomas Pogue for the Hydro board. Mrs. Evans stressed that the committee is backing these candidates because the committee feels they are the best men and the committee supports their platform. Their object is to bring about the defeat of incumbent reeve George Stevenson by a large majority, sugesting elected council members would as a result be aware of the wishes of the people. Mrs. Evans said the support they have received has been overwhelming. "Not one single person has opposed our views", she commented adding that upwards of 20 out-of-town property owners had been contacted and plan on attending the election. Mrs. Cummings pointed out that their candidates have been very actively campaigning. She said the committee did not approve of expropriation and the fact that Dr. Sobrian's property was involved was completely coincidental. The committee has arranged transportation for voters with many cars and at least five to eight drivers available.

The committee members stressed that the Omemee village election taking place Saturday would be conducted at one polling station only, at the Coronation Hall. Emily Township will conduct a polling booth at the Legion Hall for township election the same day.

Merchants hope to pluck the Chicks to-night

Lindsay Merchants will be in a plucking mood when they meet the Uxbridge Chicks at the Kiwanis Arena according to team manager Lloyd Gilliam. He says the boys are smarting over the Chicks upset win at Uxbridge last Monday night.

Coach Gus Bodnar expects to have the full crew out for tonight's game as usual and is expecting the Chicks will be out in full force for the third time this season. "Those Chicks can still give us trouble" predicted the coach, noting that the Chicks star player Doug St. John, who is attending university this year, and plays only on weekends, may be here to-night. Game time to-night is 9:00 p.m.

FOR COUNCIL VOTE

DR. JAMES FAWCETT

His bid for council is endorsed and supported by Lindsay citizens

"Through my association with Jim Fawcett in minor hockey I have found him to be a dedicated and interested citizen. I am confident, if he is elected, you will find the same qualifications.
R. J. Bovie, Durham St. West.

"Jim Fawcett represents the young progressive view; because education is vital to the job; because no suspicion of selfish interest exists and because he has a family to protect . . . makes my support of his candidature unreserved and whole-hearted."
M. J. Cunningham, Kent St. West

"I know Dr. Fawcett to be an industrious, honest and intelligent person and a great citizen of Lindsay. I know he would be a good member of Council."
Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Laidley, Bond St.

"To my mind, Jim Fawcett's most admirable qualification for your vote is his sincerity. He is a public-spirited young man who, if elected, would make a considerable contribution on Council."
F. S. Emerson, Weldon Court

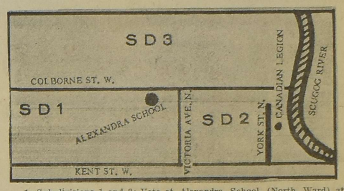

"Dr. Fawcett is a comparatively new young man to Lindsay (3 years) and it has been impossible for him to become personally acquainted with a large number of citizens in that time. I am therefore sure, that had he been able to visit with all voters, you would come to respect and appreciate him as I have. His sincere community spirit, good judgement and intense desire to see Lindsay progress would recommend Jim highly to you for election to a seat on the 1964 council."
A. J. Gleeson, Mill Street

"It is my pleasure to support Dr. Fawcett for Council. He is an honest conscientious hardworking citizen and would serve us well in this Community."
J. A. McQuarrie, Bond St.

CBC shoot over thousand feet film at Omemee

This day had seven hours for the CBC crew covering the scene in the village of Omemee yesterday for the programme "This hour has seven days" to be available to TV viewers Sunday night at 10:00 p.m.

The four man crew arrived in the village around ten a.m. Thursday and were still on location at the supper hour in the evening. Dr. Jules Sobrian was front centre in most of the scenes with locations on the main street, at the gun club, the burned out school property, and the drainage ditch which started the sanitation hassle. Taped interviews to obtain the "man on the street" reactions were taken before the camera in Mac's restaurant and personal interviews with Dr. and Mrs. Sobrian in their second floor apartment.

The crew consisted of CBC interviewer Sam Levine, a producer, a sound technician, and camera man. Using two or three different cameras, some one thousand feet of film was run through to be edited to approximately two hundred feet for the show. Outside scenes will likely be accompanied with a running commentary while indoor locations were used for taped interviews.

Offering was received and dedicated and the annual group reports were given. The C.G.I.T. and Explorers both collected for UNICEF.

Announcements were made that explorers are collecting stamps for the Bible Society and the C.G.I.T. are holding their annual Vesper Service, December 13th, at 7:30 p.m. in the church. Unemployment in Lindsay, and Canada Generally, Comparable to last year

Lindsay Minor Hockey player Stephen Corley holds a hockey stick which he received for having Jello boxtops. In addition, for every 12 boxtops and $1 sent in to the Jello company youngsters receive a hockey sweater. With Steve is Minor Hockey Vice-President Steve Maloney (left) and equipment manager Tom McLean.

Unemployment in Lindsay is comparable to last year, Clare Kirkness, manager of the Lindsay office Unemployment Insurance Commission told "The Post" today. Unplaced applicants totalled 535 (compared to last year's 458). Mr. Kirkness pointed out the office still had claims as a result of the General Motors layoff in Oshawa earlier, when the plant closed down through the strike in the U.S.A. A few other claims through the present strike have been made, mainly from those who had commenced work just before a strike was called.

Mr. Kirkness said the bureau had a few more claims this week, but pointed out this was a general trend at this time as seasonal benefits start, and a lot of these people will be able to qualify for these seasonal benefits, although they might not normally qualify for regular unemployment benefits.

The unemployment situation in Canada remained about the same in November as in the previous month, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Unemployment stood at 258,000 "the same as in October", the Bureau said. It said unemployment had always increased in November.

Total employment in the month was 6,694,000, little changed from October, and the estimated labour force was 6,952,000 also about the same as October.

The Bureau said the stability of the employment situation resulted "in part" from the recall of automobile workers who had been on layoff in October because of a parts shortage.

"In addition there h[a]s some evidence of a continuing improvement in the job situation".

The Bureau pointed out that between September and November of this year, total non-farm employment increased 35,000-in a period where there has been "little or no change" during the last five years.

Employment in November was 198,000 higher than a year earlier and unemployment was 45,000 lower.

Overloaded truck brought $50 fine

Mervin Hicks of Victoria Road did not appear in police court this morning in answer to two charges before Magistrate Ian Munro.

Magistrate Munro convicted the accused on charges of failing to have a rear license plate on his dump truck and failure to produce an ownership card and registered a conviction on a further charge of over-loading.

Mervin Hicks was fined $10 and costs for failing to produce an ownership card and $50 and costs for over-loading to the extent of 18,000 pounds. Provincial Constable Kea gave evidence on the license charge and Inspector Hunter told the court of checking Mervin Hicks' weigh slip on October 28th on highway 503.

Board of Works would like old C of C office

If the recreation Commission doesn't want the old Chamber of Commerce building, the Board of Works could use it, Reeve R. I. Moore told town council last night. He said the Board of Works could possibly move it at this time and use it as an office building.

The Recreation Commission asked council to reconsider moving the building at this time.

Council was told that the ground at George Street Park is not in good condition and the building could be damaged if it were moved now.

Council approve appointments to R.C.A. Authority

The council of the Town of Lindsay approved a Retarded Children's Association Authority at a council meeting last night. Three have been appointed to the Authority at this time. They are: Beth Douglas-Hecker, Ronald Christie and James Pilkington.

The Retarded Children's Association suggested either Russell Taylor or David Logan act on the Authority but both declined. They said they were not sure if it were advisable to have a member of council on the Authority.

A total of six will be appointed to complete the Authority. Three will be appointed for one year and three for a two-year term. The terms will be staggered, leaving an opening for another appointment.

Zellers Lindsay employees share in profit cheques

This year marks the 25th anniversary of Zeller's Limited Profit Sharing Plan and the 4,000 Zeller's employees including those in the Lindsay store and over 100 other stores will receive cheques this week.

This year, as the result of increased profits, the profit sharing cheques distributed to employees stores are higher than last year.

Company officials point out that Zeller's Profit Sharing Plan is a Cash Payment Plan which differs from Deferred Payment Plans which are frequently used as Pension Plans. Zeller's have a separate Employees' Pension Plan.

Company executives and store managers do not participate in the employee's profit sharing plan, but have a special incentive bonus arrangement which enables them to share in profits produced.

Cheques paid range from $50 to $350 for close to 1600 employees who have three years service or more and approximately $55,000 is being distributed to employees with less than three years service.

Only new face on council this coming year will be Dr. James Fawcett, pictured here after hearing the results of the election. This is Dr. Fawcett's first attempt at a council seat.

Cost of Living

Ottawa, (UPI)—It costs Canadians a little more than both luxury items and staples in November as the cost of living edged up 0.2 per cent from the previous month.

The Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday the cost of living index at the beginning of November was 133.9 — compared to 133.6 in October and 134.0 in November 1963.

This meant that Canadians paid slightly more for some food items, for keeping a roof over their heads and for luxury items ranging from movies to liquor and tobacco.

Food was up 0.8 per cent with prices climbing for items ranging from lard, eggs and beef to oranges, potatoes, tomatoes and fresh and cured pork.

The cost of keeping the home running also climbed, but just 0.1 per cent. Rent remained the same, but it cost more to buy a home. It cost more for furniture, sheets and dishes.

The cost of clothing was higher, 0.2, especially for men's and children's wear. Laundry and dry cleaning services were also up.

It cost a little less for women's wear.

Canadians paid a little less for transportation except those living in Regina where taxi fares went up.

Canadians paid a little more for drug prescriptions, men's haircuts and mother's beauty parlor treatment.

They also paid more for movies and camera film—but bicycle prices were down.

The liquor and tobacco index was up 0.2 per cent.

Justice talks on Magna Charta

"Several provisions of the Magna Charta passed over 600 years ago in England still form the very kernel of our freedom," said Mr. Justice Gulland, member of the Supreme Court of Appeal for Ontario, speaking at a meeting of the Canadian Club at the Hotel Benson, Friday night.

The widows' dower rights, inability of the crown to raise taxes without the consent of parliament, thus ensuring control of the exchequer by the people, the establishments of courts in various localities, the trial by jury and the fact that justice must not be sold, refused or delayed, are all vital and fundamental things contained in the Charta which have been won and which are too often taken for granted, His Lordship said.

"The Magna Charta still in use is an example of the treaties which the British people form."

Blind clergyman gives address

Last night was a red letter night in the history of LOL No. 557. Apart from the installation of officers, the Lodge was honoured with a visit from Rev. Mr. Coburn, Past Grand Chaplain of the Order. The reverend gentleman delivered an inspiring and patriotic address which aroused the greatest enthusiasm among the brethren.

Addresses were also given by Bro. Naylor of Keaboro, Bro. Alcorn of LOL No. 32 and Bro. J. Brown, PCM, who also installed the officers.

Citizens petition military council

Lindsay's claim as an ideal centre for mobilization of the recruits for this division for the Third Contingent, received a big boost today when a telegram, signed by the municipal council and representative citizens was forwarded to Ottawa, where the Militai Council is considering the selection of mobilization centres today.

This action was taken as a result of a suggestion thrown out by John Carew, MPP, who, with G. H. Hopkins, K.C., appeared before the town council last night.

John Carew, MPP, in his remarks told of his conversation with the Minister of Militia in reference to the camp. Mr. Carew said he had made an offer of the Agricultural ground and buildings and urged strongly Lindsay's case. The Minister replied that Lindsay was not centrally located, but he would be prepared to have 150 men enlist here and would leave them in Lindsay as long as possible. Regarding a deputation, Mr. Carew said he could not say whether that would be the best move, but would suggest that a telegram, signed by the town's representative citizens, be sent to Ottawa tomorrow urging Lindsay's advantages. A thousand more men stationed here would mean an expenditure of $1000 a day with our businessmen. Mr. Carew said he had done all in his power to press Lindsay's claim.

They'll Do It Every Time

Registered U. S. Patent Office — By Jimmy Hatlo

Viet Nam war may "escalate"

Saigon, South Viet Nam, (UPI) — While United States policy-makers have been talking of "escalating" this country's bitter guerrilla war, the Communist Viet Cong apparently have decided to do it.

Captured Communist documents have revealed that Communist Viet Cong plans for the early months of 1965 call for a jump to yet a higher "phase" "stage" in the war which will make the fighting in South Viet Nam more closely resemble conventional warfare.

Western Intelligence Analysts are still trying to gauge the real significance of the documents, some of which emanated from the Central Committee of the Communist front for the liberation of South Viet Nam, the political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas.

But the military strategy outlined by the Communist leadership for the "Autumn-Winter campaign," which will carry over until April of 1965, clearly indicates that the Viet Cong believe they are ready for the jump from Guerrilla to mobile warfare.

Western Intelligence experts believe that the Viet Cong are following almost Chapter and verse the military strategy laid down during the Indo-China war by cunning North Vietnamese military commander, Vo Nguyen Giap.

Giap said: "According to the law governing a long-term revolution-army war, this usually comprises three stages: defensive, equilibrium of forces, and offensive."

In his guidebook for armed revolution, "Peoples War, Peoples Army," Giap described North Viet Nam's fight against the French as a "guerrilla war gradually developing into regular warfare, passing from guerrilla warfare to mobile warfare combined with partial siege warfare."

Giap defined the two separate strategies as follows:

"Guerrilla warfare . . . is the way of fighting the revolutionary war which relies on . . . avoiding the enemy when he (the Guerrilla) is the weaker, now scattering, now regrouping one's forces, now wearing out, now exterminating the enemy, determined to fight him everywhere, so that everywhere he goes he would be submerged in a sea of armed people, thus undermining his spirit and exhausting his forces.

"Guerrilla warfare gradually developed into mobile warfare—a form of fighting in which principles of regular warfare gradually appear and increasingly develop, but still bear a guerrilla character. Its task was to annihilate more and more enemy forces in order to develop our own, while the task of guerrilla warfare was to wear out and destroy the enemy's preserves," Giap wrote.

Contrary to previous instructions by the Viet Cong fighting units, recently captured documents order commanders not to concentrate their forces for guerrilla warfare. Indeed, they instruct the Viet Cong field commanders to do just the opposite.

"The main force (regular) units are not to operate in small groups, but will operate in large units supporting themselves in carrying out combat operations," according to Western Intelligence analysis of a batch of intercepted documents.

Oven-Fried Chicken with Spicy Cranberry Sauce

Crispy, golden brown chicken, coated with a tangy sauce is sure to make any special occasion a success. Ontario is producing a good supply of top quality poultry throughout the year and consumers benefit with a wide selection of products from which to choose. HOW CAN I ? ? ?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I reshape some of my small artist's brushes?

A. Worn brushes can be reshaped, or special one made to suit certain jobs, if you'll soak the bristles in water-soluble glue, shape to compact mass and let dry. Then rub the bristles over a coarse abrasive paper to form the shape you desire. Remove the glue with hot water.

Q. What treatment do you recommend for tired feet?

A. Two handfuls of ordinary salt in a basin of hot water will give you new feet for old! Epsom salts, bicarbonate of soda, or ordinary brown laundry soap will produce very refreshing foot baths, too.

Q. How can I brighten dull aluminum kitchen pans ?

A. Try boiling some apple parings in them.

Fireplace Ashes

Avoid the usual "uproar" of fiying ashes and dust when cleaning out the fireplace by sprinkling damp tea leaves over the ashes before sweeping up. Incidentally, don't throw those wood ashes away! Mix with your garden soil, they help to sweeten the earth.

Hair On Upholstery

One quick and easy way to remove dog and cat hairs from furniture upholstery or from your clothing for that matter-is to stroke the surface lightly with a damp piece of sandpaper or a damp rubber sponge.

In "Mr. Novak"

The Impeccable Professional

Hollywood (UPI) — I can think of a great many better things to do than to watch NBC-TV's Tuesday night series, "Mr. Novak", which is about a sort of peachy keen high school teacher who is coincidentally handsome.

You could, for instance, read Richard Burton's piece about a childhood Christmas eve in Wales in the current "Glamour" magazine; or Esquire's three-decade-old diary by an acquaintance of F. Scott Fitzgerald describing the writer at loose ends during one summer; or the story in the Dec. 3 Down Beat about the Chicago clergyman who runs a pastorage for night people in the windy city's rush street entertainment area. Or you could hop a plane to Las Vegas and catch the Frank Sinatra-Count Basie nightclub act, than which there is none better in the the whole wide world, and which television should try to acquire in a straight-up swap for 100 vice presidents.

But even a superficially social-minded entry like "Mr. Novak" can have something to recommend it, and in the case of this series the something has been Dean Jagger, who appears as the school principal and who, alas, now has to retire from the program because of illness. NBC/TV-which only recently announced that Jagger has had to withdraw because of ulcers, now says that he will be replaced-presumably early in the new year, so far as views are concerned-by Burgess Meredith.

To watch Jagger is to admire the absolute security of presence that is the mark of the impeccable professional Mae West had it, still has, this fantastic security. Cary Grant has it. All the best-ones have it in varying degrees. An in this age of the amateur, with its punk singers and stars, such a quality stands out like a mountain among-well, all right-molehills. It is somehow unnerving to see the Dean Jaggers on television in roles secondary to those of minor talents. I am reminded of the credits for the new movie called "The Crawling Hand" which lists Peter Breck and Rod Lauren among its stars and includes, well down on the list, Richard Arlen. Arlen was no great shakes, but you get the point.

Jagger's ability was on display again last night in a "Novak" story about a girl who drove herself to a breakdown in her studies for a scholarship she thought she needed to live up to the expectations of her parents. June Harding was quite touching as the girl. But again it was mainly Jagger's worldly, standing and, preferably, a impressive material that held the viewer. Like many of video's phony "social" shows, "Mr. gain. He'll be missed.

Council briefs

Councillor Carl Brown Police Chairman reported a gain of $532.42 over last year in parking meter revenue. The 1963 figure was $1,813.85 compared with $2,353.27 in 1964.

Parking tag revenue this year showed an increase of $424.80 over last year's figure of $247.30.

The fire report presented to Council by Councillor Dr. Peter Gill, chairman of the Fire Committee, reported that out of nine calls during the month of November, only $25 damage resulted. The only damage was to an electric motor. The other calls, in which no damage was sustained, included one chimney fire, one false alarm, one oil furnace, two grass fires and three miscellaneous calls.

Dr. Gill said the total training hours during November were 206 permanent and 46 volunteer for a total of 252 training hours.

He said there were 26 ambulance calls in November and that the department has a positive cash balance of $106.95.

Dr. Gill added that Fire Chief Arnold Watson has five volunteers lined up for the department. The fire department has not advertised for volunteers.

There were 15 less families drawing welfare benefits this month said Welfare Chairman John Eakins. He reported 25 heads of families with 82 dependents and 29 single persons drawing the benefits.

Mr. Eakins said a number of welfare recipients have been sent to the Unemployment Insurance Commission to make application for the government - sponsored retraining and rehabilitation programme.

Areport from the Parks Board showed that the board over-spent its tree trimming and removal budget by $569.30 plus the amount necessary for work in December, which was estimated at $1,000. Since January 1, 1964, the Parks Board has trimmed 262 trees, removed 66 trees as well as a number of broken limbs caused during storms. Working on a budget of $2,000, the board spent $3,228.48 of which $659.18 of the over-expenditure was authorized by council leaving a deficit of $569.30.

Reeve R.I. Moore expressed concern that the report showed how many trees were removed but not how many were planted.

Mayor Joseph Holtom said the board will be requested to enter an item of that nature in next year's budget.

Councillor Leslie Neil, chairman of the Lighting Committee, told council the reason for the delay in the installation of lights on Lindsay Street is that the brackets ordered, have not yet arrived.

Three readings were given to authorize temporary advances from the bank. Third reading was given to a by-law to construct a sanitary sewer, to the Bonnon Bridgeman and issue debentures in the amount of $31,500. Three readings were given to appoint Bruce Mardens as a trustee to the High School Area Board. Third readings were also given to a two-year council term and a 5-year bus franchise.

Clerk W. B. Bates reported that the Centennial Committee had acknowledged receipt of the town's application about six weeks ago and said a field man would be around to discuss it. He said nothing else has been heard about the centennial project.

Councillor Russell Taylor told council he understood the councillor receiving the largest number of votes automatically became Chairman of Finance, which would give Carl Brown the post

Mayor Joseph Holtom told him that was not so; to his knowledge there was no by-law to this effect.

Leslie Neil remarked, jokingly, "perhaps this law was in force when Charlotte Whitton was in power. Both are a thing of the past now."

HOLIDAY OR ALCOHOLIDAY?

The Ontario Department of Transport has a two-pronged campaign under way against the drinking-driving problem of the holiday season. The Department, in advertising and publicity aimed at the general public, the Department has given a reminder of the penalties imposed for driving while ability is impaired and for driving while intoxicated.

The employer who stages or permits an office party has a grave responsibility to see to it that the party does not involve excessive drinking, that at banquets there is a sensible proportion in eating and drinking times, that anyone who does drink too much is driven home by someone else. Hon. Irwin Haskett, Minister of Transport, has asked for "co-operation, moderation and good sense" in businessmen's handling of staff parties.

Reminders of the penalties for drunk and impaired driving have a sobering effect. Safety workers have found that it is difficult for an individual to imagine himself being seriously injured or killed in a traffic accident, and that for this reason some safety literature fails to have a direct, personal impact. However, anyone can imagine himself being stopped for a traffic violation or being caught in a police spot-check. If he is convicted of driving while ability is impaired by alcohol or drugs or while intoxicated, he will face severe penalties, including heavy fines, suspension of licence, and possibly a jail term.

As the Department suggests in its campaign, common sense and self-interest combined with effective work by the police can curb the holiday driving abuses which are so out of harmony with the real meaning of the season.

TOWNSHIP ELECTS SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Results of Ops township school trustee elections are: Clifford Reeds 284; John Callaghan 227; Ross Parks 216; Jack Graham 172; Ben Stevens 144.

Defeated candidates were Allan Ray, Kenneth Bell, Ronald Windrem, Clare Walden and Stephen Tripp.

Sloping walk called "hazard"

Councillor David Logan suggested closing a portion of the new sidewalk on Cambridge Street South. The walk, which John Eakins termed "hazardous", is also part of a ramp at the side of Fee Motors. Councillor Logan said two elderly ladies got stuck on the slinting sidewalk and were afraid to move because they could have slipped off and been injured.

Councillor Logan said if someone did fall the town of Lindsay could be held liable for damages.

Councillor Leslie Neil said the sloping part should be barricaded.

Mayor Joseph Holtom reminded council that authority has already been given to the engineer to study and re-engineer the sidewalk.

LINDSAY MERCHANTS OFFER TICKETS TO CHILDREN AT REDUCED PRICES

The T. Eaton Company and Zellers Limited in Lindsay are co-operating to support Christmas entertainment for children in Lindsay this year by offering tickets for the forthcoming production of "Sinbad and the Thief" at the Academy Theatre by the Museum Children's Theatre at reduced prices.

Tickets for the Christmas show are priced at 75c each, but 400 tickets are now on sale at Eatons and 100 at Zellers at 50c each. These will enable a child to attend one of the two performances of "Sinbad" on Wednesday, December 30th at the Academy Theatre.

The Rotary Club of Lindsay is taking advantage of this unique show to entertain crippled children at a theatre party. The A and P store is celebrating its opening by a contribution to enable the Academy Theatre Foundation to supply tickets to children who might not otherwise be able to attend. A spokesman for the Academy said children ranging in age from 3 years to 12 years have formed most of the Toronto audiences and many adults have also found the programme most enjoyable.

The show has excellent music and fine costumes and the fairy story will fascinate children by his manner of production: It is a Christmas treat for the children at Lindsay's Academy Theatre.

REMANDED FOR MONDAY SENTENCE

David U. Fleming, aged 20, of RR1 Reaboro was remanded until Monday, Dec. 14th for sentence when he pleaded guilty to theft in police court Wednesday. Lindsay Constable William Bowes told the court that the accused had assisted Patrick Lamonte of Lindsay in removing a tire and wheel from a vehicle in the early morning of Dec. 5th, to the Lamonte vehicle. Salvation Army Commissioner To Speak at Lindsay Meeting

Commissioner Edgar Grinsted, the Territorial Commander of the Salvation Army in Canada and Bermuda will speak in Lindsay at a public gathering at the Legion Hall on Sunday December 13th at 7 p.m..

Commissioner Edgar Grinsted, the Territorial Commander of The Salvation Army in Canada and Bermuda is a son of. early day Officers. His youthful ambition was to be an artist, and he was studying art in London when he became a pilot officer in the Royal Naval Air Service, and later Flying Instructor, Royal Air Force, at the time of World War 1.

After demobilization he entered The Salvation Army's Training College and in 1919 became an Officer. For 15 years he had charge of evangelistic centres in various parts of Britain, including Manchester Star Hall, Regent Hall, and Clapton Congress Hall, after which he served as youth work organizer for the Liverpool district, and as a Divisional Commander for the Brighton, South West London and Manchester areas.

In World War 11 he organized Salvation Army relief work in London's public air-raid shelters, and was also associated with the Army's work among members of the forces.

Following a short period as Youth Organizer for England and Wales, he assumed wider responsibilities for supervising Salvation Army youth work throughout the world. As International Youth Secretary he travelled extensively conducting conferences and rallies.

In 1951 he became leader of The Salvation Army in Scotland and Ireland, and three years later was transferred to Sydney to take command of the Army's forces in Eastern Australia. He took up his position as British Commissioner in September, 1957.

Mrs. Grinsted was Captain Louise Kitching at the time of her marriage to the Commissioner in 1921. Daughter of one of William Booth's first Commissioners, she is a sister to General Wilfred Kitching (R).

REABORO JUNIORS PREPARE FOR NEW PLAYING SEASON

Reaboro Junior Hockey Club has been busy recently making preparations for another season. The team, formed a year ago and consisting of players from the Reaboro district, played several exhibition games on Omemee ice last winter and were well supported by the local villagers.

Already this fall several evenings of cards have been held as a means of raising funds for needed equipment. A dance is now planned to be held in Reaboro Hall this Friday evening when a draw for a transistor radio and a Christmas turkey will be held.

Clayton Smith has been appointed manager succeeding Jay Harper who initiated the project last year. Bill Jackson of Mount Horeb will again coach the boys and both the players and spectators are looking forward to another season of fine entertainment.

COLORS of CHRISTMAS

1—Flesh (faces, hands, etc.) 2—Red (includes lips, holly berries, hairbows, trimmings and so on). 3—Bright Blue. 4—Aqua. 5—Yellow. 6—Olive-Green. 7—Orange. 8—Light Yellow-Green. 9—Light Brown. 10—Dark Brown. 11—Gray. 12—Black. 13—Purple or Lavender.

YOU ARE invited to color, cut out and frame the Christmas carol pageantry above for party-play use, for decoration purposes or for just plain fun. Employment of backdrop and figures as a shadow-box tableau is indicated at left. As a sing-along prop, place tableau on piano and play notes at right. See who can identify tune. Then have everyone sing words.

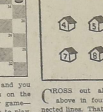

It's Your Move

BET the White side and you can offer any odds on the outcome of this checker game—providing you know how to play. White, moving up the board, to move and win in seven turns is the challenge. Can you meet it?

If you get stuck, turn to long-time champ Millard Hopper's solution below.

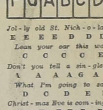

House to House

CROSS out all nine houses above in four straight connected lines. That is to say, draw a straight line, veer off at the end; complete that line, veer off again; and so on. Numbers in houses are for identification purposes in solution below.

Try to Double Up?

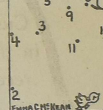

RUNNING out of time for shopping, visiting, etc.? Think how much time you could save if you could do two or more different things simultaneously. As a test of your aptitude in this direction, try drawing a circle with your left hand and a triangle with your right—at the same time, with a pencil held in each, of course.

Spots Before His Eyes

OUR friend the bear, above, is seeing spots before his eyes where a couple of familiar objects used to stand. How quickly can you restore the missing objects by drawing a continuous line from dot 1 to dot 2 to dot 3 and so on? Hint: Draw 1-12 with a green crayon. It's a Christmas scene.

Countdown's Up a Tree

WHAT a beautifully decorated tree," said the visitor. "How many ornaments are on it?"

"Well, I don't know exactly," replied the host. "But, all but 37 are starbursts; all but 37 are snowflakes; all but 37 are angels; all but 37 are Wise Men; all but 37 are reindeer. And there are 36 that aren't Christmas stockings."

"Wow! That many, eh?" said the guest. How many ornaments are on the tree?

Who's it?

HE WAS born in 1779 in South Carolina. He was educated in Connecticut, England, Scotland and Portugal. Almost as varied in his pursuits as Benjamin Franklin, he excelled in medicine, law, math, military engineering, diplomacy and beekeep. While serving as Minister to Mexico in the 1830s his attention was attracted to a colorful plant which now bears his name. He died in 1853. Who?

COLOR-BY-NUMBER FUN POOSER

PUT two feet in a stocking and you're liable to burst its seams. Imagine then, putting four feet in a stocking! Well, that's Color-by-Number Fun Land. To observe today's sockbuster activities, simply add these colors to the scene above (according to number indicators):

1—Yellow. 2—Red. 3—Blue. 4—Orange. 5—Green. 6—Violet. 7—Black. 8—Brown. 9—Pink (flesh). Try to add colors as neatly as possible. That is to say, keep shades from spilling over into nearby segments.

If more than one person wants to take part, distribute colors and apply them in turns.

Afterwards, you may wish to cut up the picture for a jigsaw puzzle.

Santa's Rounds

POORLY marked roads and dead end streets never bother Santa. In the neighborhood at right, for instance, St. Nick makes his way to five different places and returns to his starting point pronto. Santa sticks to given paths—does not take shortcuts — and pays his calls in numerical order (1, 2, 3, etc.) How quickly can you trace St. Nick's route from beginning to end as indicated by arrows?

Remember, wrong paths and turnarounds waste precious time and are to be avoided.

Magic Words

WARN someone that the trick you are about to perform has to do with magic words. Have your victim ask you to sit cling on the floor and tell him that it will now be unable to rise by himself until you say willing that he should. He'll scoff, of course, but when he tries to get up, you simply arise with him. He can't win.

"Good Reason to Approach the New Year with Confidence"

"Trends within the economy may be more varied and increases in output more moderate than in 1964 but, in general, economic conditions should continue to be favourable," said J.P.R. Wadsworth, President, addressing the 98th Annual Meeting of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

We meet today at the close of a year that has been favourable for Canada in many respects. Economic conditions within our country have been generally good with each major region continuing to participate in the general prosperity. Total Gross National Product in 1964 is now expected to exceed $46 billion, an increase over last year of some 6 per cent in volume and approaching 8 per cent valued in current dollars. This is the fourth year of steady growth achieved without marked pressures on labour and materials and within a framework of comparatively steady prices. It is a good record of sustained expansion.

The strong rise in output this year has been achieved primarily through a sharp increase in export sales and a substantial rise in private capital investment.

Exports

On the export side, strong demand from the United States, the United Kingdom and other overseas customers has resulted in high volume sales of Canada's major traditional export items including wheat and flour, newsprint and pulp, lumber, base metals, wood, and various semi-processed non-ferrous mineral products. In addition, there has been a sharp rise in shipments of iron ore and concentrates, and there have been substantial sales of aircraft and parts, semi-fabricated steel, industrial and farm machinery and automotive products. Exports of these products from the secondary manufacturing industries have shown encouraging gains in volume and variety, and the delivery of a substantial portion of the 250 million bushels of wheat sold to the Soviet Union has been a major supplement to the usual flow of exports. The total value of merchandise exports from Canada is estimated at $6.2 billion for the first nine months of 1964, an increase of about 23 per cent compared with the corresponding period last year.

Capital Investment

Capital investment has also been the source of substantial stimulus to the economy. The estimate of total outlays for private and public investment including housing is $10.8 billion for this year. If this progress is accomplished it will mean an increase in outlays over last year of about $1.5 billion, by far the sharpest increase since 1956.

The sharp rise in capital investment in the business sector has resulted from a combination of developments. World demand for the products of our mines and forests has increased and in a number of the basic resource industries to an extent that warrants further expansion of capacity. The development of extensive energy resources is going ahead following the consummation of agreements for the sale of power to the United States.

Industrial Production

The general pattern of industrial activity has reflected the stimuli from exports and capital investment as well as the strength of domestic demand. Industrial production rose sharply during the latter part of last year and has moved gradually higher in a saw-tooth pattern through 1964. The average level of industrial production in the first eight months of this year was 9 per cent higher than in the corresponding period of last year.

Agriculture

The outstanding development in the agricultural sector has been the very high volume of wheat exports in the crop year ending July 31, 1964. Wheat and flour exports amounted to nearly 600 million bushels, almost 80 per cent higher than in the previous year and almost double the average for the preceding ten-year period. The dollar value of wheat exports in the last crop year was more than $1 billion and the major export market for Canadian wheat was the Soviet Union which purchased about 40 per cent of total export shipments.

The wheat crop this year is estimated at some 600 million bushels, 17 per cent below last year's record harvest but still the fourth largest on record.

Consumer Sector

Personal expenditures advanced markedly during the last half of 1963 and the early part of this year. The rate of spending for durable goods was especially strong, paced by record purchases of automobiles. Outlays for recreation and for travel abroad increased quite sharply, following the pattern of previous business expansions. In the second half of 1964 the year consumer expenditures increased only slightly but the year-over-year increase was still almost 7 per cent.

Personal income has followed a similar pattern, rising sharply in the fourth quarter of 1963 and the first quarter of this year.

Government Sector

In the first seven months of the current fiscal year, April to October, the Federal budgetary surplus was $84 million compared with a deficit of $128.6 million in the corresponding period of 1963. In the seven-month period budgetary expenditures were up $75.5 million but revenues were up $655 million, which suggests there is some possibility of balancing the Federal budget in the current fiscal year.

Employment

The advance in economic activity this year has been accompanied by some increase in employment. The total number of people at work in September was estimated at 6,754,000, an increase of 189,000 over a year earlier. Unemployment was estimated at 218,000 in September 1964, some 32,000 under a year earlier.

The employment picture, in terms of the utilization of the labour supply, is the most favourable since 1957 and in some regions there are indications of considerable pressure on the supply of certain types of labour.

Balance of Payments

Canada's balance of payments for the first half of 1964 showed a deficit in the current account of $153 million compared with a deficit of $452 million in the corresponding period last year. Exports and imports were up substantially in volume, each gaining over 20 per cent. Merchandise exports for the six months' period amounted to $3,927 million and imports were valued at $3,767 million; the resulting favourable balance on merchandise trade was $160 million, up $12 million from a year earlier. At the same time, the continuing deficit on non-merchandise transactions increased from $600 million to $678 million, chiefly the result of larger deficits in the travel account and the interest and dividends account. In total, the current account deficit increased by $66 million.

In this connection it is important to note the very sharp increase in the deficit on current account transactions with the United States built up principally as the result of the much larger inflow of merchandise imports although there was also some increase in the deficit on non-merchandise transactions.

Outlook for 1965

It is from a record level of economic activity in the final quarter of this year that we move on into 1965. The levelling out which appeared in some areas of the economy around midyear turned out to be temporary and the strong upward trend in total output was resumed in the fall. The most probable prospect appears to be functioning in good balance, inventory-sales ratios in manufacturing are satisfactory by historical standards, the volume of unfilled orders is substantial and competition is keeping a tight rein on prices. Strength is continuing to flow from many sources.

There are indications that the surge in capital investment will continue through next year although the increase in volume may be somewhat less than this year.

The trend for Canadian exports may not be quite as favourable next year. Assessments of the economic outlook for the United States in 1965 indicate a somewhat slower rate of increase in economic activity than this year. Overseas there has been some slowing down in growth rates in a number of countries which purchase substantial quantities of Canadian products.

Consumer expenditures and government outlays for goods and services, the other two major sectors of final product demand, have provided firm support to the economy through this year. Changes in detailed patterns of expenditure in these areas are to be expected as demands change in response to shifting income flows, population groupings and various special influences. However, there does not appear to be any reason to anticipate marked changes in the general trends of demand in these two sectors.

During the coming year, the economy will continue to be affected by events and changes in policy at home and abroad that are difficult, if not impossible, to foresee. With this important proviso in mind, there is good reason to approach the new year with confidence. Trends within the economy may be more varied and increases in output more moderate than in 1964 but, in general, economic conditions should continue to be favourable.

Saving and Investment in the Canadian Economy

There has recently been a good deal of discussion in Canada about the extent to which Canadians themselves are providing the necessary financing for their economic development.

The largest single source of savings, and hence of investment funds, is from the retained earnings and depreciation allowances of corporations. The most important use of such savings is to finance additional capital investment in Canada as the new construction, new machinery and equipment including mining equipment and drilling costs. The second major source of investment funds is personal savings.

The savings derived from the business and personal sectors of our economy are generally not by themselves adequate to finance the real investment required by the private sector. This, however, is not the whole story. Each year the federal government also draw heavily on the savings of the community, and the net borrowings of the government sector have the effect of reducing the amount of savings available for investment in the private sector of the economy. The extent to which the volume of domestic savings falls short of the achieved level of investment, both private and public, is also the measure of our net import of foreign capital. If the problem is examined in these more fundamental terms, there are two courses of action, each of which could help to reduce the gap between the actual volume of domestic savings and the volume required to meet the demands in Canada for private and public investment. The first approach is to try to encourage a greater flow of domestic savings; in this connection, taxation policies are obviously of great importance. The second is to reduce the net diversion of investment funds to all levels of government, leaving a larger portion of present savings available for productive employment in the private sector.

Canada Pension Plan

The Canada Pension Plan now before Parliament will have an important influence on the flow of savings and the pattern of investment. It is impossible to consider what the impact of the plan will be on the availability of investment funds for use in the private sector of the economy as well as its effect on the over-all rate of growth in Canadian productive capacity. Much will depend on the ways in which the funds are used by the responsible government authorities and on whether the availability of these funds tends to encourage increased government expenditures.

Another aspect of the problem is the way in which savings are mobilized and made available to those requiring them to finance economic activity. As already indicated, business enterprise may use its own savings directly for investment purposes, but its ability to do so frequently depends on the availability of working capital loans from the chartered banks. Insurance companies and pension funds also play a very important role in the process of gathering together savings and making them available in an economical and effective way for a wide range of economic activities. An important factor is that these institutions operate through a market process so that borrowers, whether private or government, have to compete for funds on a price basis, and lenders obtain a return which corresponds to the value placed on their funds in a free market.

Role of Chartered Banks

The chartered banks, of course, have a crucial part to play in the whole operation of the capital markets. As a major depository of the savings of the community they are also a major source of financing for business, personal, and governmental operations. The funds entrusted to the banking system, whether as savings deposits, demand deposits, or other types of liabilities, are in no sense idle funds. They are constantly at work in the form of loans and investments in every branch of economic activity in Canada.

The Chief General Manager has dealt with two of the major restrictions in the present Bank Act which inhibit the employment of Bank funds. The ceiling of 6% on lending rates and the prohibition against taking conventional mortgage security serve only to reduce the availability and increase the cost of credit in certain important areas of financing. The removal of these arbitrary limitations would mean that the funds entrusted to chartered banks could be used even more usefully and more effectively in ways which could provide an added stimulus to the Canadian economy.

William M. Currie, Chief General Manager, reviewed the balance sheet, highlights of which are summarized:

The Bank's 98th Annual Statement reflects a growth in assets of approximately $235,000,000 to a total just one week short of over $5,500,000,000. The pace of the economy was reflected not only by an increase of $184,000,000 in total deposits but also by an increase of $286,000,000 in commercial and other loans.

Deposits with other banks increased by $24,000,000, Government of Canada direct and guaranteed securities were reduced by $78,000,000, and call and short loans to investment dealers and brokers rose by $29,000,000.

The liquid position of the Bank continues to be strong with quick assets at $2,560,000,000, equal to 48.99 per cent of the Bank's total liabilities to the public.

The growth in commercial and other loans of almost 14 per cent was widely spread over the full range of the Bank's lending business.

Bank Premises shows a net increase of $3,600,000 after depreciation. During the year 62 branches were opened and 11 closed, to bring the total number of branches and banking offices to 1,334, of which 1,302 were located in Canada and 32 abroad.

Total deposits, up $188,000,000 to $4,971,000,000, reflect an increase of $123,000,000, or 5.6 per cent in personal savings deposits, and a substantial increase in the total number of savings bank depositors. Other deposits increased by $110,000,000; included are other Canadian deposits on demand and payable after notice and deposits in foreign currencies.

Throughout the Bank there were gratifying increases in the total number of current and personal chequing account customers during the year.

Turning to the statement of undivided profits, the net profit of $21,402,602 represents an improvement of $1,017,543 over last year. Earnings per share were $3.07 as compared with $2.93 in 1963. Total dividends of $15,678,000 were paid at the rate of $2.25 per share, leaving $5,724,602 which, together with the balance of $2,364,265 in undivided profits carried forward from 1963, made up a total of $8,088,867 from which $5,000,000 was transferred to Rest Account. The balance of $3,088,867 was carried forward to the 1965 fiscal year.

Paid-up Capital, Rest Account and undivided profits totalled $277,768,867, and the Bank's shareholders increased by 1,282 to 27,098.

Growth in loans and deposits is perhaps the best evidence of the part played by the Bank in meeting the credit requirements of Canadians in every walk of life. The chartered banking system could finance a much wider range of Canadian needs. Two of the restrictions imposed by the Canadian Bank Act, the six per cent ceiling on loan interest and the prohibition against loans secured by conventional mortgages, prevent the banks from competing with other lending organizations whose rates would be lower if there were free bank competition. Large segments of the public thus are forced to pay higher rates than they would if the banks were permitted to compete in these fields.

During the past two years data processing centres were opened in Montreal and Vancouver and this year a second computer has been added to the Toronto centre. Currently, the bookkeeping of over 200 branches in these three centres is largely done by this electronic equipment and the number of branches within the system is steadily increasing. Cheques processed in the Toronto centre alone have been increasing at a rate of 10 per cent per month and are now running in excess of 100 million individual cheques. Modern electronic data processing eliminates much of the tedious bank work and releases personnel for more challenging and constructive work.

Important as these installations are, Canada's need for wide and diversified financial services extends to the smallest hamlet. In most cases chartered banks, including many of this Bank's 1,300 Canadian branches, provide the only financial services available at such points, bringing to them every facility available in the largest metropolitan centre.

Such services are costly to maintain and reasonable charges for the many services performed are justified. The banking system provides these services at a uniform cost, regardless of location or the volume of business handled at individual branches.

As an example, customers depositing cheques drawn on other banking points receive immediate credit and can use the funds immediately, as though they had been borrowed for the time being, notwithstanding that the negotiating branch bank does not receive advice of the credit at the clearing points until some time later. The organization required to perform the clearing function is a complex and costly one which carries on around the clock.

Opportunities for rapid promotion in a satisfying career in the Bank are offered to ambitious individuals. While planned, on-the-job training is the primary means of equipping personnel with basic knowledge and special skills, there are in addition widespread training facilities designed to assist officers of both sexes to equip themselves for increased responsibilities. A Staff College in Toronto and Career Centres in four major centres across the country provide instruction in a wide range of subjects. Men and women are encouraged to participate in the Fellow's Course in banking, and scholarships awarded annually permit an outstanding few to take a full university education. Officers of the Bank regularly attend executive development programs at Canadian and other universities. In recent years the increasing number of the women have been promoted to senior positions and every encouragement is given them to advance to positions of senior responsibility.

The progress of the Bank during the year could only have been accomplished by men and women confident of their role in our future progress, devoted to the ideals and objectives of the Bank and willing to put forth a full measure of thoughtful effort. To all members of the Bank's staff and to the Bank's General Management and our compliments on a job well done.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York , (UPI) — You reach in your purse for a dime or quarter and what do you get?

Oddmentia, that's what. A collection ranging from hair pins to charge plates. In between there might be a packet of needles, a couple of pins and pennies.

But no dimes. No quarters. This, despite the fact that just yesterday you put a few of same in your purse, counting on being able to fish them out quickly when buying a paper or a pack of gum.

Not having enough change in the purse is common these days. A shortage of coins is upon us and officials are casting anxious glances at the upcoming holiday season. — expected to aggravate the situation.

While the treasury is turning out more coins to fill the coin gap, most experts agree that the solution isn't that simple.

The crisis has now reached such proportions that the U.S. Congress has asked the treasury to submit its views on the subject.

This may well result in the first major change in the composition of coins since 1792.

The shortage of dimes, quarters and half dollars in the U.S. and Canada comes in part from the following:

— Growing population.

— In the U.S. collectors who raked in the 131 million Kennedy half dollars soon after they left the mint.

— Increased use of vending machines, telephones and automatic toll booths on highways and bridges.

— Speculators who hope the price of silver will rise above the face value of the coins.

— And from the psychologically priced $1.99 merchandise that demands change.

While all of these have had their effect, the root of the problem, the experts claim, is the imbalance that exists in the supply and demand for silver which makes up 90 per cent of every dime, quarter and half dollar minted.

In a recent speech, Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, of Utah, pointed out that the free world in 1963 used approximately twice as much silver as it produced.

This world deficit had to be filled from previously mined silver, most of which came last year from silver held by the U.S. treasury.

But in filling the deficit, the treasury has seriously depleted its own stockpile of the metal. Recent estimates indicate the current backlog of 1.2 billion ounces of silver is only sufficient to meet present coinage and industrial demands for three and one-half years.

Because of the seriousness of the situation, the Treasury is expected early next year to recommend either reducing the amount of silver in coins or not using the precious metal at all.

Those advocating total elimination claim that money is money — no matter what it is made of, even if it is made of gum drops.

Opponents challenge this and caution that total elimination would have a number of disruptive effects — all of which would be felt directly by American housewives who are among the Nation's largest users of coins.

Thomas B. Hungerford, Executive Director of the National Automatic Merchandising Association, has testified that changing the silver content could wreck havoc in the automatic vending industry and in all industries using coin-detection devices.

"Present machines would reject such new coins (with less silver) in the same way as slugs," he ald. "Only the old coinage would be accepted.

"This would confuse and irritate millions of consumers who simply wouldn't understand why their good money suddenly is rejected by the machine."

Telephone companies are faced with the same problem. Coin telephones contain mechanisms that reject all coins except the ones they are designed for.

A drastic change in the metalic content of the coin would result in monumental changeover expense.

The American Mining Congress, which has appointed a special committee to study the problem, maintains that keeping the same silver content in the coins will help maintain the public's confidence in the integrity of our money — and cause less trouble.

REPORT FROM OTTAWA

by Russell C. Honey, M.P. — Durham

This Report is a potpourri of items highlighting my duties as your representative in the past ten days.

This week the House of Commons is stumbling through the latest edition of the flag debate. The battle is being carried on by a hard core of Diefenbaker Conservatives who are making a last ditch stand to prevent the report of the Flag Committee coming to a vote. The design now before Parliament was approved by a 10 to 4 vote of the all-party Special Committee which recommended one maple leaf centered on a white background with vertical red bars at each side.

There are about 30 Conservatives who are prepared to follow their leader. Several prominent Conservatives such as Leon Balcer and Gordon Fairweather have indicated they are anxious to have the matter come before Parliament for a vote and they are not in favour of another prolonged filibuster.

I am writing this Report on Friday and in the debate so far this week, up to and including yesterday's debate, the Conservatives have had 23 speakers (14 hours and 17 minutes) the Liberals 3 speakers (1 hour 4 minutes); the N.D.P. 3 speakers (39 minutes); the Creditistes 2 speakers (46 minutes) and Social Credit 1 speaker (12 minutes).

Last summer's debate when the whole matter was first before the House occupied 22 days and in that debate the Conservatives had 117 speakers; Liberals 32; N.D.P. 10; Social Credit 8 and Creditiste 7.

Last week I was a member of the federal delegation at the Federal-Provincial ARDA Conference in Montreal. The Conference approved a new agreement between the Federal government and the Provinces under which the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act will function for the next five years. This Conference represented Mr. Pearson's "co-operative federalism" in its best form as the complicated agreement was worked out in detail and approved by representatives of the Federal government and all ten Provinces.

ARDA is a joint Federal-Provincial programme and is the chief weapon of the governments of Canada in the war against rural poverty.

While attending the ARDA Conference in Montreal I missed the drama of the last few days last week which followed the charges levelled at the government by Conservative Erik Nielsen. As the events of the week unfolded it appeared that the Liberal government stood in danger of defeat. Opposition pressure, which in my opinion was quite valid, forced the government to widen the terms of reference of the judicial inquiry which was set up to look into accusations that two former assistants to Liberal Cabinet Ministers had interfered in an extradition case in Montreal.

No one, including the Conservatives, has accused Justice Minister Favreau of complicity in the affair, but they do allege that he was negligent in the performance of his duties by not bringing the information which he had to the attention of Prime Minister Pearson. The vote to censure Mr. Favreau as the debate ended on Friday afternoon was anti-climatic as only 30 Conservatives voted in support of the motion. Ranged against them in support of Mr. Favreau were 96 Liberals, and 14 members of the N.D.P., Social Credit and Creditiste parties.

If the facts are as alleged by Mr. Nielsen it would seem that the Minister of Justice should have told the Prime Minister. However, it might be as well to follow the advice of Mr. Pearson and withhold judgment until the judical inquiry has been completed. The Prime Minister has said that if there are findings from the inquiry which require action by the federal government, that such action will be taken swiftly and without fear or favour. "Nothing should be hidden and no wrongdoings, if any is found, should go uncorrected", he said. Warning of the danger of blanket charges and accusations by innuendo the Prime Minister has said that while the guilty, if their guilt is established, must be punished by responsible action, "the innocent must not be ruined by ruthless and irresponsible words".

Jr. Farmers hold church service

The Fenelon Falls District Junior Farmers held their annual church service at Providence United Church on Sunday, November 22 at twothirty o'clock.

The president of the association, Hugh Britton, conducted the service. He was assisted by Rev. J. K. Braham, minister of the charge who led the congregation in the prayer of invocation and also in prayers of thanksgiving and intercession. The responsive Psalm was read by Wanda Britton, and the scripture, by Peter Gillis. Misses Donna and Jeanette Lean rendered a pleasing duet. They were accompanied by Miss Linda Jones who was the organist for the service. The choir was composed of Junior Farmer members.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Rev. J. F. Lane of Oakwood, assistant minister of Queen St. United Church. Lindsay. He based his remarks on the phrase, "falling into a place where two seas met, they ran the ship aground". He pointed out to the young people how very often in life they would come to those places where two seas meet. How very often, too, the sea which they encountered, such as moral standards, discipline, liquor, etc. might, unless great care is taken, run their ship of life aground.

The Junior Farmers are grateful to Rev. Lane for his fine address, to Rev. Baham for his assistance, and to Providence for the use of their church.

Miss Sherill Burney of Toronto, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Clayton and Marray of Woodville also with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Burney of Argyle.

UNDER THE PEACE TOWER

Ottawa (UPI) — Off a stairlanding in parliament's west block the needle-point picture of a sorrowful Christ looks out at those who got by-but it's seldom that anyone looks back.

"What is that room anyway?" asked a Commons guard as a reporter looked up the stairway into the tiny room where the picture hangs. "A waiting room?"

The room is the "Quiet Room", set up as a corner for meditation and prayer a couple of years ago when the west block was being renovated at a cost of millions of dollars.

The theory was that members of parliament could step off here for a moment to reflect, to meditate, to pray-but many of the members don't even know it exists.

When told of it, one of them snapped "We're not that senile give it to the senators".

The room isn't any bigger than a cubbyhole, about eight feet long and four wide. There is a red carpet, four chairs, one in each corner and another one in front of a desk beneath the picture of Christ. There are two star-shaped windows.

It is a quiet room in the sense that seldom is anyone in it. But the doors open on a busy landing above the front entrance and hundreds of civil servants, MPs, secretaries and top-rung executives rush by throughout the day with very few glances in.

"It's a great place to sit down and read a book all by yourself", said one MP. Another admitted doing just that "when my secretary is making too much noise with her typewriter".

He also does it when he wants to hide from unwelcome visitors. Told why the room was there, he replied: "You're kidding!"

"I've never been in it", said another. "And I've never seen anyone else in it", he added.

"Maybe I just don't associate with the right people".

Most MPs and all Cabinet Ministers have their offices in the centre block, main building of Parliament, but some have spilled into the West block. All those questioned about the "quiet room" live in the west block. And most of these knew nothing about it.

But the proponents of the "quiet room", an idea borrowed from Washington and the United Nations, feel it is a good idea and would be used if it were a decent size.

The men who run the country, they argue, need a place where they can think of decisions "In the presence of God".

"It's not the right size or shape and the location is wrong", said William Thomas, Conservative member for Middlesex West and co-chairman of the Prayer-Breakfast Group on Parliament Hill.

The Prayer Breakfast is another idea that has spread from Washington. It's an early morning meal at which members of all faths and political parties gather to re-affirm their allegiance to God.

The group is supporting the push for a new quiet room, bigger and more appropriate, in the centre block near the entrance to the Memorial Chamber where the Books of Remembrance listing the names of Canada War Dead are kept.

They want the office suites either to the left or right of the entrance, now occupied by former Labour Minister Michale Starr and Minister Without Portfolio Yvon Dupuis.

But speaker Alan MacNaughton says there just isn't any space left to move either of the two into. "I can't throw people out", he says.

Former Northern Affairs Minister Walter Dinsdale, who time DFC winner and long-time member of the Salvation Army, is in favour of the Memorial Chamber location. He envisages a chapel-like room with an altar and symbols "embracing both Christian and Jewish faiths".

"There would be a volume of Scripture of non-secretarian nature", said Thomas". A place like Parliament should have some kind of religious symbolism", he added.

Thomas says the backers of the new quiet room, from all parties have "filed a claim" for either of the suites near the Memorial Chamber "and it will come.

ON THE MAIN STREET

Miss Charlotte Whitton, the controversial Mayor of Ottawa, who was defeated at the poles Monday, is well known in Lindsay. Her Worship visited Lindsay on three occasions, the first visit being several years ago, previous to her political ventures.

At that time Miss Whitton spoke to a gathering in Cambridge Street United Church, following which she greeted a number of people at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Winter on Bond Street. Later Miss Whitton spoke to the audience in St. Andrew's Sunday School and a year ago was a speaking guest at a function held by the Lindsay Business and Professional Women.

Miss Whitton was once heard to remark that she knew Lindsay well, because one of her most popular teachers of years gone by the the late Miss Corkery, a teacher at the Lindsay Collegiate Institute who was Miss Whitton's teacher in her earlier years.

It is also interesting to note that at one of the Provincial Plowing Matches held in Eastern Ontario some years ago, Mayor Whitton won the event for Mayors only. One of the competitors was Charles Lamb of Lindsay.

"I am a little disappointed that I did not get in, but I am pleased with the support I received" was the remark made by John Carter, one of the youngest candidates for office in the Peterboro election. He is a brother of Bob Carter of Lindsay, and it was John's first attempt in municipal elections. The aspirant may return to seek election next time.

Unlike Lindsay, voters in Peterboro voted distinctly in favor of the two year franchise, Sunday movies and Sunday sports. Might be a case of showing the difference between the thinking of citizens living in a city and those living in a town.

There is much more than readily catches the eye in a single flake of commonly-called "cotton snow," which contributes to the traditional magic of a "White Christmas," according to D. K. A. Gillies, Ontario Hydro's meteorologist. It may contain ten, thirty or even thousands of ice crystals of hexagonal symmetry and no two crystals have ever been found to be just alike. The upper left and lower right insets feature greatly magnified impressions of two of the innumerable form variations of these crystals. The Christmas setting against which they are shown is one that brought many tributes from passers-by who saw the decorations outside one of the Commission's office buildings in Toronto over the last Yuletide season. African bishop visits' cayeon

An African Bishop, the Rt. Rev. Erica Sabiti, of the diocese of Rewenzori, will visit Bobcaygeon Tuesday.. Bishop Sabiti is the first African bishop to visit this area.

The diocese of Rewenzori is in the western area of Uganda, a land-locked state about as large as the United Kingdom, and part of the diocese is in the present trouble-spot of the world, the Congo. Situated in the heart of East Africa, 98 percent of the population, which is about seven million, is African and one percent is Asian. Nearly 60 per cent of the total population is Christian.

The Anglican Church has undertaken, in 1964, to give the African diocese $21,645 of which $300,000 is from the diocese of Toronto. Rev. D. E. Lemon told "The Post" St. Paul's Anglican Church in Lindsay contributed $1,200.

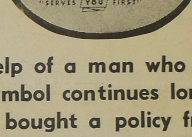

Bishop Sabiti is visiting Christ Church in Bobcaygeon on Tuesday night. St. Paul's Lindsay has arranged a carpool to transport people to Bobcaygeon.

WOMAN'S VIEW

By Gay Pauley

New York (UPI) — The North American Housewife would rather put down new carpeting for Christmas than put on a mink. She'd rather have a dryer than diamonds.

Well, that's what it says here, anyway, in a continuing study of feminine gift preferences done by a firm which claims to be the largest maker of decorative ribbons and papers...

This is the fifth year of the Christmas gift preference study by the company, Chicago Printed String, which this year queried 200 homemakers selected at random from telephone directories in Chicago, Detroit, Atlanta and San Francisco.

Forty per cent of the women were under 35. Seventy-four per cent lived in families with incomes of under $10,000, the rest with incomes of $10,000 per year plus.

The researchers said that a cross-check of this years answers with those of the four preceding years indicated that the margin of accuracy is close to 95 per cent.

Five years ago, the researchers advised husbands to "think mink" when considering what to buy the wife for Christmas. Now, they've found the mooning for mink is on the wane.

The widening eye of feminine acquisitions now is fixed on dining room sets, new living room furniture, carpets, linens and other items of household adornment. The kitchen, the researchers said, has replaced the yen for gems as refrigerators, dryers, dishwashers, toasters, mixers, and even hair dryers make a strong showing this year.

Here's how the percentages broke down: in 1960, 24 per cent of the women queried wanted furs and other items of clothing; this year, the percentage fell to 17 per cent. In 1960, 26 per cent of the women wanted furniture or appliances; this year, it jumped to 46 per cent.

The researchers found that spending on gifts has risen steadily in the five years. In 1959, the average spent by a family was $147. Last year, it was about $165. The forecast for 1964: up three per cent to about $170. The average family will purchase about 30 gifts, and in 40 per cent of the households, anywhere from six to 16 will go to the children.

Only eight per cent of the women said they planned to cut the number of gifts to the children this year.

Some 54 per cent of the women interviewed said they received one large gift for Christmas last year and that 49 per cent of these gifts were appliances, furniture or household accessories.

The researchers reported that gifts of personal apparel are most wanted at two income extremes — among the poor and among the rich. The middle income class has a "vast yen for a nice home and all the conveniences that go with it. Mooning for mink can wait."

Spending on gift wrappings also is up — expected to be 25 per cent more this year than five years ago, with the 1964 average at $4.35 per family.

One of the questions asked the women was: "If you could have anything in the world you wanted this Christmas, what would it be?" Thirty-four per cent of the women in families with incomes under $10,000 wanted a new home, while only four per cent of those in high income brackets wished for one. But 32 per cent of the women in families in the over $10,000 bracket wanted a trip.

Ten per cent asked for good health, five per cent wanted peace, three per cent security.

But one wished for the wedding of a sister, another for "no more babies," still another asked that her mother-in-law "quit nagging."

PLAY IT SAFE

One of the faults in modern motor vehicles is lack of rear vision, especially for safe-backing. No youngster, playing in the street or strolling along the sidewalk, can be depended on to stay away from the rear of a backing car. There's only one way to be sure your vehicle's rear wheels will not crunch life from a tiny body: get out and look, make certain no one, particularly a child, will turn up there. Then back the car cautiously, slowly, ready to slam on the brakes at the least sign of necessity.

Look before you back. Play it safe.

TO THE ELECTORS OF FENELON TOWNSHIP

And more especially to the more than four hundred of you who voted for me last Saturday;

Many who live in Fenelon Township the year round,
Many who live in Lindsay and surrounding district but live in Fenelon Township part of the year,
The few brave sous from Toronto and points south, who live part time in Fenelon Township, who came out to vote in spite of twenty-four hours of Winter storm, including six hours of Freezing rain and sleet and the further fact that only last year very many who did come out were denied the right to vote,

To all of you I tender my sincerest thanks.
Your Loyalty to me and your Faith in me will never be forgotten.

ICE FISHING OPEN IN SOME TOWNSHIPS

Ice fishing is increasing in popularity each year as more summertime fishermen are converted to the wintertime pursuit.

Fishing for lake trout opened November 6, 1963, and may be continued through the ice this winter and until October 5, 1965.

Walleye (Pickerel fishing which opened last May 9, 1964 may be continued until March 31, 1965.

The above applies only to Haliburton County waters except those in Bruton and Clyde Townships, and Peterborough County waters in the Townships of Cavendish, Anstruther, Chandos, Methuen, Harvey (North of Highway 36) and Burleigh (excluding Stony Lake) report the Lindsay district Department of Lands and Forests.

Ice fishermen are limited to 3 trout per day and 6 walleye, and they must not at any time have in their possession more than one day's catch.

Two lines are permitted for ice fishing, provided they are personally attended by the fisherman.

Fish huts must have the name and address of the owner prominently displayed on their exteriors, and all huts must be removed from the ice on or before March 31, 1965.

For those venturing forth on their first expedition this winter the following precautions will add to their enjoyment and safety.

At the outset the department does not recommend driving on the ice unless it is absolutely necessary to reach the fishing area.

If you must however, the first obvious precaution is to be sure the ice is thick enough to carry a motor vehicle. "spudding" at intervals along the intended route will reveal the ice depth currents and springs resist freezing longer than the quieter water causing thin spots which must of course be avoided.

Ice which is completely snow covered is particularly dangerous inasmuch as it might be obscuring thin ice or large cracks.

Alternate patches of ice and snow are extremely hazardous too, under such conditions and in some light open patches of water will sometimes appear as smooth black ice.

Your car doors should always remain open while you are driving on the ice. The few extra seconds available to you in exiting, in the event you do run into trouble, could possibly save your life.

TURKEY WINNER

Winner of a turkey at Henry Houzer's on Monday was Mrs. Lawrence Tremeer of Blackwater.

Park concerts being considered by Kavaliers

The question of concerts in the park in the summer is receiving serious consideration from the Kawartha Kavaliers Drum Corps. The Corps executive told "the Post" the band is considering performing four concerts in the summer of 1965. M. J. Cunningham of the corps executive said the concerts will be designed for the older people of the town and it is anticipated that the music for these concerts will be special arrangements.

The music director and arranger of the band's music, Larry Murphy, said a large number of new arrangements will be necessary for the four concerts which it is anticipated, will be from one-and-a-half to two hours long.

Response good to junior corps of Kavaliers

Response to the Kavaliers Drum Corps' proposed bantam and junior corps is encouraging, M.J. Cunningham, a member of the band executive said Mr. Cunningham said a meeting of the interested parents may be called in about two weeks.

Some of the children who expressed interest in the band were girls. Mr. Cunningham said he does not, at this time, anticipate a mixed band, although girls may be allowed into the corps later. He said, "we are primarily interested in members for a senior male drum corps", but added that girls may be allowed into the junior rank. He referred the girls to a local majorette group, which he said he felt would be more appealing to girls.

Mr. Cunningham added, anyone who is interested in the bantam or junior corps, which includes boys from 9 to 14 years of age, should contact his office on Kent Street.

SUNDAY MOVIES ARE OUT A TWO YEAR TERM IS IN

The cigar Councillor David Logan is offering Mayor Joseph Holtom is not because Mr. Logan was returned to office at Monday evening's election. The cigar was to tell the mayor in the traditional way that the councillor was the proud father of a bouncing new baby.

The six incumbent members of council, Carl Brown, John Eakins, Dr. Peter Gill, David Logan and Russell Taylor were returned to office on Monday evening and Dr. James Fawcett was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the acclamation of former Councillor Les Neil as deputy-reeve.

Sunday movies were rejected by the votes, and the renewal of the bus subsidy and the introduction of a two year term were approved.

Heading the poll this year was Councillor Carl Brown with 2057 votes, followed by Councillor David Logan with 2045 and Councillor John Eakins with 2029. Next came Councillor Russell Taylor with 1948 votes. Councillor Dr. Peter Gill, who has served on council for one term, led newcomer Dr. James Fawcett by three votes with 1597 to 1594. Defeated in their attempts for council seats were 1963 Reeve Lloyd Pound and 1963 councillor Joe Hutton, both of whom had served many years in the past on council.

"Should be laws against mis-practising government"

Dear Sir,

As a Canadian, I cannot stand to have my country insulted and maligned unjustly. Granted, right now we haven't much to make us proud, and the way our leaders are acting and talking it's enough to make us all maniac-depressive, (having alternating attacks of mania and depression). How can you help but be depressed. Our peerless leader L.B. John (—oop! Lester hasn't sold that much yet.) Pearson has said we are all suffering from schizophrenia (psychosis characterized by dissociation from environment and deterioration of personality). Well! I guess if it's a one country we can suffer from what we darn well please.

Now let us analyse why we suffer from schizophrenia. Word Association Test: Say first word that comes into your head.

Doctor; Quebec.
Canada; F.L.Q.
Doctor; Flag.
Canada; Baloney.
Doctor; French.
Canada; Separatism.
Doctor; Prime Minister.
Canada; Sell-Out.
Doctor; Prosperity.
Canada; Taxes.

From this the doctor realizes that his patient is very sick. He realizes that the patient's leader is confusing him with footwork. The patient will not survive unless his leader changes his way of thinking. If the leader continues to insult the patient's intelligence, integrity and common sense, the poor patient will fall apart. Well! nine-tenths apart anyway. One would think if the leader wanted the patient to be happy and work toward a goal and not run in all directions complacently he would set an example. The doctor should point out to the leader that a democratic country of 19 million is pretty well stuck to follow the example set by him and his 264 colleagues. If these 265 overpaid gentlemen don't want the country to have schizophrenia, they should get some expert treatment for their own ailments.

There are laws against mis-practising medicine. Too bad there aren't laws against mis-practising government. Oh well let's look on the bright side. At last the government has given us something distinctive. Anybody know how to draw schizophrenia ? Wonder how it would look on a flag?

KAVALIERS MAY COMPETE IN KITCHENER SHOW

The Kawartha Kavaliers Drum Corps may accept an invitation to participate in a marching and manoeuvering show in Kitchener in February. A spokesman for the Corps executive said the show, sponsored by the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen Drum Corps, who also organize the Canadian National Drum Corps championships, will be of regulation length, about 12 minutes. The Kavaliers will also enter field competitions next summer, of which one may be the national champion-ship competition.

The Kavaliers music director, Larry Murphy, told "The Post" now that the Santa Claus parades are over, the music and drill for next year's show will be issued.

The band finished up the Christmas parades Saturday when they paraded in Perth and Arnprior. The week before the Corps performed before a crowd estimated at over 30,000 in Bowmanville.

Naturalists hear about butterflies

"The Monarch Butterfly", illustrated by slides, was the subject of a brief talk by Club President Charles Brett to the Victoria County Naturalists at Lindsay Collegiate Vocational Institute on Monday, December 7th.

Mr. Brett referred to the butterfly's evolution from egg to the winged state as "27 days of miracles".

He outlined the development from egg, caterpiller (grub state) to Chrysolis with its jade-like apperance studded with gold. The latter eventually splits open, revealing the finished gorgeous rusty-orange Monarch Butterfly with its polka-dot edged wings.

Have Monarch Butterflies been known to return to Canada after migration to the far south? Yes.

Slides were by two nature photographers, Mary Ferguson A.P.S.A. Toronto and Ted Farrington, F.P.S.A. Chicago.

Following Mr. Brett's talk, butterfly specmiens were viewed under a mircroscope, courtesy of Dr. R.M. Parker. Members then spread their social wings over "coffee and cakes".

Charlotte Whitton defeated — end of a tumultuous era!

Ottawa (UPI) — Charlotte Whitton, the diminutive 68-year-old firebrand, yesterday lost the first municipal election of her tumultuous political career when controller Don Reid swept to a convincing victory in the Ottawa civic election mayoralty race.

Miss Whitton, seeking an unprecedented sixth term as mayor, ran a disappointing third in a three-way battle with Reid and radio station owner Frank Ryan, her brother-in-law.

She conceded just two hours after the polls closed, saying "I won't prolong the agony". She later went to Reid's campaign headquarters and, in sharp contrast to two years ago when she got into a bitter argument with a candidate she had defeated, offered almost jovial congratulations to the mayor-elect.

Ryan, who conceded at about the same time as Miss Whitton, also went to Reid's headquarters and congratulated the 38-year-old furniture dealer who was taking his first run at the mayor's chair.

Reid, a 10-year veteran in civic affairs took about 47 per cent of the vote as he jumped into an early lead and continued to increase it as the results began to roll in. He had an official lead of about 10,000 votes when Ryan and Miss Whitton admitted defeat.

"I have given the best I could the best was not good enough", Miss Whitton said. "There's no change of any possible recovery and we should thank God I'm not trailing a worse third".

The defeat signalled the end of an era for Miss Whitton and Ottawa civic affairs. She had won every municipal election she contested since running for Board of Control in 1950.

She became mayor in 1951 when the ruling chief magistrate died in office. She stayed in power until 1956 when she retired.

After unsuccessfully running as a Conservative candidate in the 1958 Federal election, she returned triumphantly to civic affairs with mayoralty victories in 1960 and 1962.

AWAY 46 YEARS

London (UPI) — Lily Bancroft saw her husband yesterday for the first time in 46 years — at the divorce court.

The judge granted Mrs. Bancroft, Grey and 64, a decree on grounds of desertion. She and husband Albert last saw each other when he came home wounded from the western front in 1918.

Britain pushing for nuclear force

London —(UPI)—Britain is pushing a plan for an Atlantic nuclear force which it thinks can cement the shaky western alliance without spreading the deterrent.

The British concept, which is currently being hammered out in detail for presentation to President Johnson by Prime Minister Harold Wilson at their Washington meeting Dec. 7 and 8, has the makings of a compromise between a variety of plans for greater European participation in nuclear policy and strategy decisions.

Britain thinks that both the United States and West Germany can endorse it because it leaves the president's finger on the nuclear trigger and gives the Bonn Government a finger on its safety catch.

At the same time, however, Britain hopes to get something for herself out of the projected deal.

The British Government does not like the American-projected mixed manned nuclear fleet because London considers it militarily unsound, financially costly and politically dangerous because it could block a big power agreement with Russia to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

In drafting its compromise plan Britain has been guided by the desire to save money and use her existing nuclear weapons instead of investing a lot more in the MLF ships, which the British military say would not add to the west's security.

Britain also feels that if she accepted the MLF in its present outline she would have only a subordinate role in the so-called deterrent force; her share in its cost would be some 10 per cent and the influence accordingly small, against west Germany's and America's estimated 40 per cent participation rate.

Thus Britain has evolved a compromise which would require no new British investment or at any rate only a small one and at the same time give her a major role in the projected new multinational force.

The plan at present—still subject to modifications—if for the creation of an Atlantic nuclear force.

It would include the British V-bombers which have already been assigned to NATO.

Britain would also pass on to it the three nuclear Polaris submarines now under construction. Two more are envisaged.

The United States would bing in a few Polaris submarines now serving with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean and Pershing medium range rockets with nuclear capabilities.

Britain might add low-flying supersonic TSR-2 planes with nuclear capabilities if and when available.

Finally, under American pressure and grudgingly, a small contingent of MLF units — some 10 instead of the American proposed 25—might also be included.

There remains the crucial question of political controls. Britain wants a veto as a quid pro quo for foregoing the right to withdraw her planes and submarines in the event of supreme national emergency — which would be tantamount to relinquishing the independent deterrent.

The United States also would retain its veto. It is acknowledged that west Germany and other European partners also should have a veto, either individually or by some form of weighted vote. This issue still remains to be hammered out. It has so far defied satisfactory solution.

Britain apparently feels west Germany, by approving the scheme would become a full partner in the Atlantic force and thus acquire a say in the political and strategic directives and decisions over the deterrent.

The Labor government is firmly opposed to a purely European nuclear deterrent and insists that whatever force emerges eventually must be an "Atlantic" force and on as wide an inter-allied pattern as possible.

France will be invited to put its "Force De Frappe" into the projected pool but there is little hope that president Charles De Gaulle would agree.

British and American English
Must balance holiday image

Present-day visitors from the U.S. want to do more than just revel in the great outdoors, Hon. James Auld, minister of Tourism & Information told the annual convention of Northern Ontario Tourist Outfitters.

He said much of today's tourist business comes from family groups looking for a more balanced holiday. "In many instances," he pointed out, "the woman of the family is willing to go along on a camping and fishing vacation, but she also wants to go to an area where she can find some shopping, perhaps some theatres, and some of the more sophisticated touches of civilization.

The minister explained that the province's new advertising programme is designed to paint a more balanced image of Ontario. It will continue to stress the magnificence of Ontario's outdoor attractions but at the same time that they can be easily reached on good highways serviced by operators offering superior accommodation, food and facilities.

"In short," he said, "we intend to do as much for Shakespeare in Stratford as we do the 'moose' in Moosonee."

Mr. Auld warned, however, that Americans won't return or recommend us to friends unless operators adhere to a constant upgrading of standards.

"By this I don't mean flush toilets in every tent or air-conditioned duck blinds," he added. "But I do feel that every effort must be spent to ensure high standards of cleanliness, food and service, if we are to attract new visitors and benefit from their word-of mouth advertising."

He said that even if operators keep a spotless camp, a slovenly one a few miles away would do much to scare off customers and prevent them from coming back.

Mr. Auld said the importance of improving standards was hammered home this summer. Despite the August drop-off, operators who offered a good grade of accommodation wound up with an excellent season — some the best ever. But the ones to be hurt were the second-rate operators — those who normally pick up the overflow from the better establishments or who cater to the casual visitor dropping in off the highway.

The minister said the one major change in the 1965 tourist promotion will be to furnish the prospective visitor with specific information rather than a grab-bag of literature which would be of no particular interest. "By using a rifle instead of a shotgun, we'll be able to reach the would-be visitor and give him even more reason to want to visit us," he said.

What is the difference between 'grilled' steak and 'broiled' steak? None, really; it all depends where you are. An American would call it 'broiled' steak, an Englishman 'grilled'. This was one of the examples of differences between British and American English given in a discussion between Professor Albert E. Marckwardt of Princeton University and Professor Randolph Quirk of London University in the series 'A Common Language', produced jointly by the BBC's English by Radio Department and the Voice of America, and also broadcast in the BBC General Overseas Service.

Professor Marckwardt and Professor Quirk divided the differences in vocabulary into four classes: the real things, for example, the plants and animals; words for different ways of doing things (such as grilling or broiling); terms referring to different social and political institutions, and names of new inventions.

In the class of real things, Professor Marckwardt pointed out that the flora and fauna of England and the United States were by no means the same, and the early settlers had had to supply names for unfamiliar species of plants and animals and features of the landscape. At times they made up new words such as 'mockingbird', 'rattlesnake' and 'egg plant'. Occasionally they used a familiar name for some thing different. In the United States for example, the name robin is applied to a rather large bird, a type of thrush; whereas in British it is a small redbreasted one. A good many words were borrowed from the American Indian language, for example, 'hickory', a kind of tree, 'squash', a vegetable, and 'moccasin'. The French settlers contributed 'prairie' as well as 'canyon' and 'prairie', and the Spanish 'canyon' and 'bronco' to the American variety of English.

In the third category it was pointed out that differences in the political institutions of the two countries resulted in such different terms as Parliament in Britain, Congress and Senate in America. National sports gave rise to a number of different terms. For example, in England, a cricketing country, the phrase 'batting on a sticky wicket' meant that the person referred to faced a particularly difficult task. In America, the home of baseball, to say that someone was not 'able to get to first base' indicated that he did not even begin to succeed—a 'non-starter in horse-racing language.

Education provides quite a range of differences—not least that well-known puzzler, the English 'public' school, which is an independent, or largely independent, school charging considerable fees, and in the United States would be called a private school. Professor Quirk explained that this anomalous name arose because in fact that many of the public schools were founded centuries ago as charitable foundations, paid for by private endowment, and these were called 'public' in distinction to 'private' run purely for the profit of the owner where pupils had private tuition. By the time Britain's nationwide state education system came into being, the name 'public school' had become firmly identified with the early foundations which had acquired great prestige.

In the category of inventions, the motor car shows a striking range of different names for the same part of the car. The American's 'sedan' is the British 'saloon'; where an American would speak of windshield, gear shift, trunk (or the luggage) top, generator, or fender; the Englishman would speak of windscreen, gear lever, boot, hood, dynamo, wing or mudguard. Both however, would be quite likely to pay for their car by 'instalments', although the Englishman might use the term 'hire purchase'; and equally might 'trade-in' their old car.

Professors Marckwardt and Quirk agreed that they were constantly finding points of same-ness even in areas of what seemed to be the greatest difference, and the more British and American people learned about each other's variety of English the more they found they had in common.

Africa's voice grows at the U.N.

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI)—Africa's voice at the United Nations has grown from four lonely members in 1945 to a powerful group of 35 this year.

The increase—an average of one new African member every nine months — has brought both advantages and headaches to the world organization. Both are likely to grow.

The best-known headache caused by an African member was the Congo crisis, with its $381 million outlay for peace-keeping forces that has put the United Nations in debt to this day.

U.N. spending in other African nations promises to be as heavy in years to come. Officials see this as a headache now but an advantage for the future.

In 1960, Africa got about 2 per cent of the $4.5 million in U.N. technical aid. It will get more than 35 per cent of the $57 million in 1965—nearly $20 million.

In the past five years, the U.N. special fund, a separate source of development aid, has spent $374 million throughout the world—one-third, or $120 million of it in Africa.

The growing African representation at the United Nations is the direct reason for this growth in aid.

"In the past, little was given to Africa," a U.N. aid official said. "Those countries were the responsibilities of the colonial powers, and aid had to be given at their request. Most of the time, the requests weren't there."

The advantages of the aid are clear. Much of it goes to developing the natural resources of the countries in Africa, but a good part is allocated to their human resources.

Technical schools, colleges, and institutes financed with U.N. aid are turning out educated officials to join those trained by the former colonial administrations. The U.N. benefits as well as the home countries benefit, because the trained men enter the services of both.

At the United Nations, the Africans are organized into a group that holds frequent caucuses and tries to act as honest broker between east and west.

A high U.N. official, himself an African, acknowledged that this third force activity "is sometimes frustrating to the big powers, who fail to get the Africans to agree to their point of view."

But he believes that on the whole the African contribution to easing the Cold War has been a major one.

"The Africans who are here has helped stem the tide of East-West tension," he said. "Both the Western and East European powers are conscious of the presence of large numbers of African and Asian countries, a lot of people not directly involved in the Cold War.

"The Africans do everything they can, in behind the scenes talks, to seek compromises and avoid showdowns. They know that an East-West clash would mean not only the end of this organization but probably of their nations."

The most recent example of African conciliation was the Afro-Asian plan to head off the U.N. financial crisis between the United States and Russia. They urged a moratorium on the issue until the end of the Assembly session, and called for plans to be worked out in the meantime to avoid future financial crises.

Africa's own U.N. financial contribution has been small. U.N. costs are apportioned according to per capita income, and most African nations fall under the .04 per cent minimum share of the budget. The United States, by contrast, pay about one-third.

U.N. officials say it will be a long time before this financial contribution rises.

"But we can't draw up balance sheets for aid against contributions," one official said. "We're thinking of potential, and of the future."

Searching Test

"A cat can be comfortable in a penthouse or a palace, but when it comes to people it will be infinitely selective. If a cat likes you, then you can feel flattered. It likes you because, in its judgment, you are a person worthy of its affection. Make no mistake about it, stray cats are not simply looking for somewhere to live; they are looking for someone acceptable to live with."

Eliminate Tragedy

Every municipality in Ontario may soon be required by law to provide adequate fire protection within its boundaries. The measure aimed at eliminating tragedies caused in small municipalities by inadequate or complete lack of protection is urged by the Federation of Ontario Professional Firefighters.

The Federation claims many of the province's 978 municipalities do not provide adequate fire protection and some provide none.

At present there is no legislation requiring a municipality to set up a fire department or maintain protection against fire. The government is giving serious consideration to this problem.

New legislation covering fire protection could be on a similar line to that requiring municipalities to be responsible for policing and the maintenance of law and order.

Fire protection and an adequate ambulance service are two services provided adequately in Lindsay, but not adequately in other parts of the area.

In both the fire and ambulance fields, people's lives are at stake and it behooves our government to ensure adequate protection is available for everyone.

Play It Safe

Which is safer? Blow the horn and hope to scatter the other traffic like frightened hens, or apply the brake and wait for an opening? There are times when sounding a horn can be helpful, such as letting traffic ahead know you are there if you're in what might be a blind spot to the other drivers. Or if a bicycle is wiggling along ahead, or someone seems to be about to open his car's door on the traffic side. At times like that, a short blast on the horn may smooth the way safely. But in an emergency—if the blind-spot driver suddenly moves into your path, or the cyclist wriggles in front of your car, or the door actually opens, no horn in the world will prevent an accident. Brakes, properly and speedily applied, are much more sensible. Make braking a habit. On top of this, be always sure your car's brakes are in top condition.

Play it safe.

A hearty meal for chilly days is a pot roast of lamb with onions, carrots and potatoes.

A HOT MEAL TO COME HOME TO!

With Jack Frost nipping nose and toes, active outdoor members of the family need a hot meal to come home to these days.

A lamb pot roast makes a tasty and different budget meal, easily prepared all in one dish.

Norma Morris, home economist with the New Zealand Lamb Information Centre, advises a shoulder cut, with the bone left in. "It sweetens the meat", says Mrs. Morris. And she suggests buying a large enough cut so that you will have some cooked meat left over for a luncheon or supper dish. Devilled Lamb, to be served on toast.

Pot Roast of Lamb

5 to 6 lb. shoulder of lamb (bone in), 1 can (10 oz.) mixed vegetable juice cocktail, ½ teaspoon sweet basil, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 6 to 8 small potatoes, peeled, 6 to 8 small carrots, scraped, 1 Spanish onion, cut in ½ inch slices, 1 pkg. (15 oz.) frozen lima beans or peas, ½ cup sliced celery, 2½ tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons water.

Place the meat, fat side down, in large heavy stewing pot. Brown well, turn and brown on all sides; add mixed vegetable juice, sweet basil, salt and pepper; cover and simmer for about 2 hours or until meat is tender. Add next five ingredients, and simmer for about 35 minutes longer or until vegetables are tender.

Combine flour and water to make a smooth paste; lift meat and vegetables to a warm platter and keep warm in oven. Slowly stir flour mixture into juice in pot; stir and cook until smoothly thickened; season sauce very hot with meat and vegetables. Makes 6 to 8 servings with leftovers.

Note: This "pot" roast may also be cooked in the oven; cover tightly and cook at 325° F. for same times as above.

Deviled Lamb

2 tablespoon butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons flour, 1¼ cups milk, 1½ cups diced cooked lamb, 2 tablespoons chopped pimento, 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced.

Melt butter in saucepan; add and blend in salt, pepper, mustard and flour; stir in milk; stir and cook over medium heat until smoothly thickened. Add remaining ingredients; heat and serve on toast. Makes 4 servings.

Q. How can I soften the leather in a pair of inexpensive work shoes?

A. Try placing two scrubbed potatoes in each shoe and letting them stand overnight.

Oven-Fried Chicken with Spicy Cranberry Sauce

Crispy, golden brown chicken, coated with a tangy sauce is sure to make any special occasion a success. Ontario is producing a good supply of top quality poultry throughout the year and consumer benefit from a wide selection of products from which to choose. Specialists with the Foods Department at Macdonald Institute, Guelph, recommend using young, tender broilers or fryers for fried chicken. Allow ¾ pound per person.

Oven-Fried Chicken

¾ pound of chicken per person, cut into serving pieces for each pound of chicken, combine in a heavy bag:
¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika, pepper to taste.

Shake chicken, 2 or 3 pieces at a time, in bag to coat evenly with flour. Arrange chicken pieces in a greased shallow pan., dotting generously with fat or cooking oil.

Bake at 475 degrees F. for 15 minutes, turning pieces until they are golden. Reduce heat to 325 degrees F. Cover pan and cook chicken 30 to 50 minutes longer until tender.

Uncover pan for 10 minutes to re-crisp the coating.

Serve at once with Spicy Cranberry Sauce.

Spicy Cranberry Sauce

Q. How can I make a better job of mending a tear in a net curtain?

A. A coat of colorless fingernail polish to a tear in a net curtain, after mending it, makes a perfect finish. Press the frayed ends together until the polish dries. A curtain mended in this fashion should not be stretched after laundering, however. Iron it carefully instead, avoiding the mended parts.

Q. How can I prevent wooden garment hangers from snagging fabrics?

A. By giving them a coat of shellac. Allow to dry well before hanging any clothes on them. The wood won't chip or sliver if protected in this manner.

TIMELY TIPS
by Macdonald Institute Guelph

Top scoops of rich vanilla ice cream with warm mincemeat for an extra special holiday treat.

Onion-cheese bread, fresh from the oven, is a perfect accompaniment for steaming bowls of soup or a hearty stew. Simply slice French bread to within ¼ inch of the bottom crust. Arrange cheese slices and thinly sliced onions between pieces of bread. Cheese spread may be substituted for cheese slices. Place the prepared loaf on a large sheet of aluminum foil and wrap loosely around edges, leaving the top open in order to melt the cheese. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 10 or 15 minutes until loaf is warmed through. Serve immediately.

The next time you serve soup at lunch or supper, all slices of weiners, tiny meatballs of ground beef, or cubes of cooked beef, chicken, or pork, lightly browned in hot fat. A meat filled soup provides protein so essential for growth and good health. It is also a speedy way to use leftovers.

Before adding onion to poultry stuffing, saute it in a little hot fat until the onion is golden brown. Browning develops the flavour and ensures that there will be no raw onion in the stuffing.

Q. How can I clean off smoked up areas on a brick or stone fireplace

A. Cover with a paste made of concentrated ammonia and powdered pumice. Let remain on for about two hours, then scrub it off with hot water and soap, rinse with clear water, and dry.

Q. How can I remove airplane cement from fabrics?

A. This can be removed from all fabrics, except acetate rayon or vinyon, with acetate (fingernail polish remover). In the case of rayon, any acetate (banana oil) is the answer.

Q. How can I prevent my whipping bowl from slipping about on my kitchen counter while I'm whipping something in it?

A. Place the bowl on a folded damp cloth, and this will eliminate slippage.

Fruit Pies

When making fruit pies that are inclined to be juicy, it's sometimes wise to bake the shell for about five minutes before putting in the fruit. This prevents the lower crust from becoming soggy.

Washing Chiffon

Use a pure soap solution when washing chiffon. Rubbing is not required . . . just rinsing up and down in water that is not too hot.

Clarence Veale

On September 29th, 1964, there passed away at his late residence, Agnes Street, in Woodville, a respected and life-long resident of the community in the person of Mr. Clarence Albert Veale, in his 73rd year.

Born August 12th, 1892, on the town-line between Eldon and Thorah Townships, he was the second of four sons of the late Augustine Veale and his wife Lily Oke. The first 27 years of his life were spent at home on the farm where Mr. and Mrs. Milford Veale now reside.

Dr. Frost "much loved teacher"

On the occasion of the death of Dr. G. B. Frost, Thursday in Kingston, Dr. J. A. Corry, Principal of Queen's University said "Mr. Frost was a much-loved teacher and he will be a lively memory among us for many years".

Frost Wing, an addition to the chemistry building at Queen's University which opened in 1962 is a tribute to the contribution and service to the University of Dr. Grenville Barker Frost, former head of the department of chemistry.

Born in Orillia in 1891, Dr. Frost graduated in 1915 from the University of Toronto with an honours BA in Chemistry. He joined the teaching staff of Queen's in 1924. From 1936 to 1961, he was professor of physical chemistry and head of the Department. He retired in 1961.

Dr. Frost was a brother to the Hon. Leslie M. Frost, former Premier of Ontario.

Dr. Frost's colleagues recall him best as a teacher, "and a very inspiring one", in the words of Dr. R. L. McIntosh head of the department.

During Dr. Frost's tenure as head of the chemistry department the first Ph.D. in chemistry was awarded at Queen's. It was also in this period that there was a significant increase in the number of graduates in honours chemistry at Queen's.

An outstanding musician Dr. Frost was organist for some years of Sydenham Street United Church in Kingston. The study of the Bible was a lifelong interest. He has always been a keen student of religion and an enthusiastic and able amateur photographer.

Dr. Frost was a Fellow of the Chemical Institute of Canada and in 1963 received the Chemical Education Award of the C.I.C.

Dr. Frost, termed a "faithful crusader" for his department, played a major part in the design of the chemistry building which bears his name. Its opening came only four months after his retirement, and was a fulfillment of a long-held dream of Dr. Frost's in the provision of facilities for present and future requirements for effective teaching in the chemistry Queen's.

He attended high school in Orillia where his father was a teacher and a former mayor of the town. After his graduation from the University of Toronto he was employed until the end of the First World War as a chemist in high explosives work with the Imperial Ministry of Munitions at Ottawa.

He enrolled in 1921 at the University of California as a post-graduate student in physical chemistry and received his Ph.D. in 1923. His experimental findings in the area of thermodynamics are cited in several standard works on chemistry.

P.E.I. history recalled at W.I. meeting

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — Lucy Maude Montgomery, Prince Edward Island's most famous woman and Anne of Green Gables, her fictional character, beloved by all children, came to life for the ladies of Fenelon Falls Women's Institute at the November meeting when Mrs. M. C. Fisher recalled memories and impressions of Prince Edward Island, her native province.

Prince Edward Island, the cradle of Confederation, marked its Centennial Year, by numerous celebrations, the principal one being the visit of Queen Elizabeth.

Another highlight of the meeting held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Brett was the delightful report of the Area Convention given by the delegate, Mrs. McIlwaine. Her report, mentioned the address of Miss Helen McKercher, Mrs. Aitken, the discussion groups the banquet, as well as other points of interest.

She thanked the Institute for the privilege of attending the convention and Mrs. Thomson thanked her for the report and also Mrs. Fisher for giving such an interesting account in word and pictures of Prince Edward Island.

Refreshments by the social committee concluded a meeting which will long be remembered by all who attended. Recorded music typical of the Island including "Prince Edward Island's Fair Heaven to Me" were heard before Mrs. Thomson thanked the hostess.

PRINCE OF PEACE

Where shepherds kept their watch by night
On the hills of Palestine.
There shone a strange and heavenly light,
There spake a voice devine.

And down the vision's golden stair
A troop of angels came
With voice and music sweet and rare
Their message to proclaim.

Their message of good will to man
Foretold in sacred pages
The sweetest song since time began
The balm of all the ages.

And listening there the shepherds heard
The low and sweet refrain
Of peace on earth, to blessed word
A Christ has come to reign.

And following where the vision led
On that first Christmas morn.
To where inside a lowly shed
The Prince of Peace was born

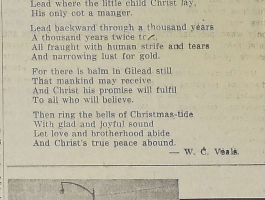

O care tossed race of men today
So oft to peace a stranger
Lead where the little child Christ lay,
His only cot a manger.

Lead backward through a thousand years
A thousand years twice told,
All fraught with human strife and tears
And narrowing lust for gold.

For there is balm in Gilead still
That mankind may receive
And Christ his promise will fulfil
To all who will believe.

Then ring the bells of Christmas-tide
With glad and joyful sound
Let love and brotherhood abide
And Christ's true peace abound.

ON THE MAIN STREET

Word was received in Lindsay on Thursday of the death of Mrs. Bernard March Schenk in Chicago. The deceased will be remembered by many Lindsay citizens as Mr. Schenk was for some time Manager of the Visking Division of Union Carbide in Lindsay. Besides the husband of the late Mrs. Schenk, other survivors include one son and one daughter.

Hundreds of Main Street readers will remember Arthur Webster who for a number of years held the dual position of Chief of Police and Fire Chief in Lindsay. Today he is an Inspector with the Safety Branch of the Toronto Safety Bureau. On Saturday last in a broadcast he spoke on motor and pedestrian accidents at this time of year.

"Preoccupation is a big hazard", said Inspector Webster, "at this time of the year, the Christmas season, people are greatly preoccupied when driving on the highways. This has been proven time and time again. In many cases the minds of the drivers are other places, than on their driving".

"We also have preoccupied pedestrians, those who walk across the street, even when the lights are red. It is always wise for the pedestrian to be sure he or she looks around to see if some drivers are not recognizing the stop and red and green signs. That can happen when drivers are preoccupied and do not see the lights as red or green at the right time. Fifty-two per cent of the accidents happen during night driving, especially when visibility is bad. People should wear a bit of white in their clothing at nights when walking on the road, and always walk into the direction of traffic, not with your back to a motor vehicle."

Continuing Inspector Webster advised all drivers to have windshield wipers inspected — also keep the windshields clean he said.

Stranded motorist thanks club

Omemee (PNS) — Omemee Rod and Custom Car Club, known as the "Drifters" have received a recent letter from a stranded motorist, one of many on file, for help extended free. Donald Goddard is President and Chief James Whetham is Treasurer. A card is handed the motorist bearing the name of the one who assisted him.

Comprising about 28 young men they have their headquarters in the Shell garage, which they rent and do their own repair work. Any member who violates the regulations is suspended and has to be reinstated by a majority vote.

The influence of Chief Whetham among the boys has had a steadying effect and the discipline laid down should reap benefits later in life.

The following letter is one received Wednesday.

Carleton Place,
Nov. 18, 1964

The Drifters,
Omemee Rod and Custom
Car Club.

I will say, I would like to extend my sincere thanks to your club and members for the fine work you are accomplishing in your community and if I may help in any way at any time please feel free to write.

I wish to extend my sincere appreciation to Mr. — for his assistance once again.

Thank you,
Yours truly,

COMMERCIAL ADVERTISING
By Lea Woodward

Commercial advertising was the theme of 8C's assembly on Friday, November 28. The chairman, George Walker, claimed that solutions which were sold at ridiculous prices, did more harm than good. A girls' remedy for vanishing pimples was advertised as "Smearisil." Patsy Edwards played the role, as the victim of this product and appeared on the stage with more pimples than before.

The programme committee produced a clever way of helping to discourage teenagers from smoking. Rick Witham appeared on the stage, moaning "Doctor! Doctor! I think I have cancer, but I've only been smoking for two months".

The doctor, quite startled by this outburst, replied, "let me see the type of cigarette you have been smoking."

Placed in front of the doctor was a three-foot cigarette.

After seeing the gigantic cigarette the doctor exclaimed, "No wonder!"

These were only a few of the skits.

The assembly was completed in half time so the students had to appear on the stage with unrehearsed parts. The chairman told them the show must go on, so every student participated obediently. Congratulations go to 8C.

The assembly ended on a seasonable note with the singing of Christmas carols.

ST. MARY'S DEFEATS CENTRAL
by Carol Ellis

On Monday, November 30, our championship volleyball team travelled to St. Mary's for school league games. Central's team, the Maples, went off to the school confident of themselves but when they arrived, their sureness lessened as they met their husky opponents. Due to Mrs. Tamlin's awareness she was able to help give the team some confidence back but there still could be sensed an uneasiness as the team was not used to playing against "strangers".

The first game started off with St. Mary's team having a strong lead. When it came to Central's turn, Central began earning points and it looked good for them but soon they fell back to let the opposing team race ahead and win the game 15 to 4.

A second game was played similarly, although Central gained more strength and points. At the end of this game Central again lost but by a much closer score 15 to 13.

A third game was played for "the fun of it" and here Central again lost to the skillful St. Mary's team by a score of 15 to 9.

Looking back over the games played in volleyball, everyone must agree that most games were very close and well-played.

All the members of the school volleyball teams would like to thank our referee, Mrs. Tamlin, for the time she has taken to direct the games.

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International)

Hollywood (UPI) — Weep ye not for Jose Jimenez who has been booted off his television series.

The cowardly little astronaut can spend 365 days a year in orbit making personal appearances, guest shots, playing fairs, nightclubs and goat jamborees if he so desires.

His spokesman, friend and creator, Bill Dana, was dry-eyed this week as he surveyed the wreckage of the video show.

"The truth of the matter is that the cancellation of the show was a surprise to me," he offered me four appearances, and the "Hollywood Palace" came up with $100 deal for one show, and Jack Parr wants Jose for a guest shot.

"It's simply a matter of picking up the telephone and filling in 365 days of work if I wanted to.

"Frank Sinatra has even suggested I do a movie with him".

Dana's litany of possible employment proves that Ed Sullivan, at least, is a good winner. It was old stone face's weekly variety show that killed Dana and Jimenez in the ratings.

When NBC-TV dealt Bill the joker it set off a chain reaction. Another network evidently lifted "Branded" and Jimenez either).

"I don't plan to cry a lot. I'm fortunate that neither Jose or myself need worry about re-turning to anonymity. There are too many other things we can do."

Often when a series is cancelled, its stars plunge from sight as if Mr. Neilson and his rating gang had pulled the plug and left a trap door. Some are never heard from again.

Dana's show, which will remain on the air until Jan. 17, has been replaced by a horse opera titled "Bonanza".

"How's that for change of pace programming?" Bill asked. "Two Westerns in a row. Who knows, maybe it will work."

Before the invention of Jose Jimenez on the old, old Steve Allen show, Dana was a talented writer. He still is. He could make a splendid living as a writer-producer.

"I don't have the performer's ego", he said. "Neither does Allen. But this is not a closing out for either of us. We'll go on together because Jose is still a very popular man".

"And so is Bill Dana".

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York (UPI) — Should a high school boss blow the whistle on the accent on varsity sports?

"Yes", urged the majority of U.S. school administrators participating in a poll sponsored by "The Nation's Schools", an American journal for educators.

The administrators calling for a soft-pedal on varsity athletics maintain that such sports get the spotlight too much and too often.

"Play down the importance of high school varsity athletics", the administrators said. "Play up the need for a well-rounded physical education programme for everybody."

The schoolmen were cool toward organized athletic competition among elementary school children-such as Little League Baseball.

Sixty-two per cent of those polled nixed competitive sports for younger children. This represented a shift in opinion from three years ago in a similar poll favored organized sports for elementary school children.

The poll, based on a four per cent proportional sampling of 16,000 school administrators in 50 states, drew comments giving parents the blame for over-emphasis on athletics.

Several schoolmen told how they'd handle things if given the chance. For example:

"Keep parents out of doing the coaching and running the show", an Idaho administrator suggested.

"Either don't let parents see the Little League] games, or establish an educational programme that teaches them how to act", a Texan urged.

—"The tendency for adults to dictate academic policy to fit athletic endeavor can become too great", a Minnesota schoolman said. "This affects employment of factual personnel. Teacher appointments are determined by emotional rather than objective evaluations".

—"Physical fitness for all students should be the major objective rather than competitive sports for the few", a Pennsylvania educator protested.

Among the educators defending organized sports was a Michigan schoolman who contended that "identification is important to high school boys and girls".

"Athletics provides a means of assertion", he said. Until a better replacement comes along, let's compete in the athletic arena".

Schoolmen who favoured Little League Baseball—38 per cent of those surveyed—drew the line on Little League basketball or football.

"They're too strenuous for this age group", a Utah administrator noted.

An Ohio respondent okayed such games "so long as the games aren't played on a do-or-die basis".

One educator, from Colorado, recommended, that schools scrap all athletic programmes.

"They should become part of a community recreation enterprise", he said.

The Northeast Corner

by "the observer"

Many years ago the Toronto Board of Trade sponsored a poetry writing contest giving quite liberal prizes of 1st. $100.00, 2nd $50.00 and 3rd $25.00. This is a report in a clipping a friend of mine sent me a few days ago. I imagine the contest was held many years ago for the paper is turned quite yellow. Evidently these poems were printed by a Lindsay paper during the time when Mr. Sootheran was Mayor of Lindsay. There is no date on the clipping but on the back of it there is a report of council doings and the names of some councillors appearing are Mr. Dunstan, Ald. McWatters, Ald. McCrae, Ald. O'Reilly, Ald. Storer. Evidently at that time the town was lit by gas and the council was making a new contract. The price was to be $15.00 per light and each lamp was to have four-way reflectors. If any one is interested he can find out the year when the contest was held by getting in touch with Mr. Bate in the Town Clerk's office and find out when Mr. Sootheran was Mayor. The Board of Trade does not furnish a title for the poetry other than that it must have an old home sentiment. Perhaps they were having an Old Home Week such as Lindsay held a few years ago. Anyway a very ready response came to them from all quarters of America. Nearly two hundred poems were submitted from every part of North America. The Committee of Judges was composed of Rev. Dr. Clark, Principal Hutton, Prof. Pelham Edgar and Prof. W. S. McLay. As each poem came in it was given a number so that the judges didn't know the name of any of the competitors. They awarded first prize to Duncan Campbell Scott of Ottawa, second prize went to Miss Helen B. Merrill of Picton and third prize went to Miss Marjorie Pickthall of Toronto. This might be an idea for some aggressive firm in Lindsay to sponsor. It would certainly be a good advertising media. The following is the first prize poem entitled

The Home Comers

From the smoke where cities welter,
From the quiet glens of earth,
To the land that gave us shelter,
To the land that gave us birth;
We the wanderers, the dreamers,
That for love of fortune roam,
In the gladness of the morning,
In the light come streaming home.

Men whose fathers, mocked and broken,
For the honor of a name,
Would not wear the conqueror's token,
Could not salt their bread with shame,
Plunged them in the virgin forest,
With their axes in their hands,
For the loyal of the lands.
Built a province as a buwark.

Men whose fathers, sick of dead lands,
Europe and her weary ways,
Saw the fading emerald headlands
Saw the heather quenched in haze
Saw the coast of France or Flanders
Like a glimmer sick and cease,
Won the ample land of maples
The domain of wealth and peace.

Won it by the axe and harrow,
Held it by the axe and sword,
Bred a race with brawn and marrow
From no alien over-lord,
Gained the right to guide and govern;
Then with labor strong and free,
Forged the land a shield of Empire
Silver sea to silver sea.

Fighting made the heart grow fonder,
Labor make the heart grow fain
Still wherever we may wander
We are of the lion strain;
We may trample foreign markets,
We may delve in outland loam
Yet when memory cries and calls us,
All our hearts come leaping home.

Now from smoke where cities welter,
From the quiet glens of earth,
Come we to our land of shelter,
To the land that gave us birth.
Lo, we bring thee our achievement,
Won by strength and patient pain
Thine the strength and thine the patience —
Bring it to thy breast again.

And we bid Ontario quicken
Under snow and under sun,
Where the spruces root and thicken,
Where the waters flash and run,
Bid the towns of glad Ontario
Gather to a diadem
Deep encrusted round Toronto,
As with gems of peerless setting
Holds and holds the gem.

Duncan Campbell Scott.

SHORTENED LIFE SPAN

The vast majority of chronic alcoholics drink themselves to death, taking an average of at least fifteen years from the time they first drive. To exhort a wife to have faith in a patient, to suffer without fighting back, is to condemn her and her family to emotional destruction — and to aid and abet alcoholic suicide." The key to this was in better understanding, the compliments and interdependance of the several fields we live in with problems outside the farming sphere affecting our lives. The need of a complex organization with a staff of trained specialists to solve the chronoid problems faced to-day. He spoke of the need of giving our leaders our confidence and support including adequate financing. Frequently our financial condition when channelled in the right direction would achieve far more than we could possibly accomplish, full time ourselves. Constructive criticism is useful, but only when provided from an intelligent well informed source, he said.

Mr. Daynard stressed self-discipline, accepting our own responsibilities, solution of our problems, remarking that real progress always creates a certain amount of turmoil and that seldom is anything worthwhile accomplished without effort and sacrifice on someones part.

ON THE MAIN STREET

County sheriff Everett Scott is once again "clearing decks" at the county house completing arrangements and many minute details for the General Sittings of the Peace on Monday next. There are two important criminal cases on the docket, one a case of alleged abduction and the other a breaking and entering charge. Sixty-seven citizens of the county have been summoned to attend, a dozen of them to be selected as jury men or women as the case may be.

There will also be a session for the declaring on New Canadians.

Many Victoria County people have heard about the millionaire or billionaire Senator Joe Burns of Calgary, and that years ago he was a resident of Kirkfield where his parents farmed. He was an associate of Senator Mullins, also a native of Kirkfield, and business associate with Sir William McKenzie, another fabulous millionaire from Kirkfield.

The following interesting story concerning Senator Pat Burns has been supplied by Leonard D. Nesbitt, a Lindsay boy who has been a resident of the Canadian West for years, where he was engaged in newspaper business at Brooks and at Basano Alta. L. D. Nesbitt retired a few years ago from the Alberta Wheat Pool, where he was secretary, as well as public relations manager. He learned the rudiments of journalism in Lindsay and with the Daily Express of Woodstock. The story:

Pat Burns is a name widely known throughout Canada but mainly in the Western Provinces. He was born in Oshawa, Ontario, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Burns. The father was a farmer and moved to Kirkfield to follow his occupation when Pat was a small boy. Cattle raising was the main activity on the Burn farm and young Pat got an early, and thorough training in that business which stood him in good stead later in his career.

When he was 22 years of age Pat announced to his family that he was going west to take advantage of the free homesteads that had just opened up had brought into Canada the prairies of the north-west territory and the distant province of British Columbia. The opening of the prairie lands provided an opportunity for daring youth to make a new start in life in an area of great possibilities.

The dream of vigorous young young men was that of a rainbow with a pot of gold at its end. That dream came true for Pat Burns. He became one of the West's greatest 'Cattle Kings' with a fortune of many millions of dollars.

While the parents may have had their doubts of the venture Pat, with his elder brother John, set out for Winnipeg in the spring of 1878. They had to go by way of St. Paul as the C.P.R. transcontinental line was in the early making at the time. Winnipeg was a town of 7,000 people then, now its population exceeds 300,000.

Homesteads were being taken up in the Souris plain and Grand Valley then but the Burns boys though they could get better land farther west.

To obtain the services of a broke land locator cost money so the young men set out on foot for a journey that eventually took them 160 miles. It took them five days to get near what is now the city of Brandon and they continued on to Minnedosa where they located their homesteads. They were short of money and walked back to Winnipeg where they got jobs on the new C.P.R grade at $25 a month.

Pat Burns had little education. In Calgary where he later made his headquarters and his fortune, the word was that he could write his name and that was all, but that wasn't quite true. He learned to write and read but he had a native intuition which stood him in good stead, and he had the gift of salesmanship and the desperate determination to succeed.

With the money earned on the construction job, Burns went back to his homestead and took along a plow and a team of oxen, the beasts that broke thousands of acres of tour prairie sod. His first venture in other cattle was the purchase of a cow which he sold at a profit. Harry Mullins was also in the cattle business at that time and in the same locality. He, too, had come from Kirkfield and bought sheep at one time from Michael Burns, Pat's dad. Mullins was interested in a steer Pat was leading and the two started to dicker over the price. Mullins got it for $20, a dollar less than Burns had demanded at first. The two men later became members of the Canadian Senate. Mullins, years afterwards, sold Burns 5,000 head of cattle with less debate over the price than occurred over the sale of a single steer in olden times.

Burns was daring in his deals, he was the first man to ship a car-load of pigs to Toronto from the west. He bought more oxen and broke land for Clifford Sifton's father just south of Brandon. His livestock business expanded and he got the contract for supplying meat to work crews building the railway from Calgary to Edmonton. The Canadian Northern Railway was then built across the west by McKenzie and Mann. William McKenzie had gained the Kirkfield contemporaneously with Pat Burns and of course Burns meet supplied the railway construction crews on the C.N.R.

Pat Burns built his meat packing plant in Calgary and made his home in the city in 1890. He bought extensive acreages of ranch lands with pastured huge herds of cattle thereon. His interests extended into many other business ventures and soon he was fortunate in his dealings. When he sold out near the top of the cattle market on 3 different occasions he was asked by a newspaper reporter how he managed to do so. "When beef cattle bring ten cents a pound they are a sale", he replied. That was 40 years ago and 10c was worth 25c in buying power today.

In 1919 when beef cattle prices were at a peak, Burns sold 3,000 head of range cows to Rod McLeay of the Bar-U ranch for $100 per head. Cattle prices skidded down from then on for several years and many ranchers went broke. The price of hay went to $80 ton in 1919 and many ranchers would have been better off if they had shot their cattle in the autumn of 1918.

In 1918, the year before the widespread stock market collapse which ushered in the roaring decade of the early 1930's Pat Burns sold his meat packing business for $12 million. Three years later the $100 bonds of the Burns Company which bought the business were down to $25.

Pat Burns was one of the Big Four ranchers who put up $100,000 guarantee to make the 1912 Stampede an outstanding success. The other three were George Lane, A. E. Cross, and Archie McLean. Since then the Calgary Stampede has become the outstanding rodeo on the continent and is known all over the world.

May honours came to Pat Burns and one he prized highly was his appointment to the senate. There he came in close contact with another cow-poke Albertan, Senator Dan Riley, also Senator Mullen and other westerners.

A professor of economics at the University of Alberta was once asked how Pat Burns with so little formal education could make such a success, and well educated people including many university graduates were unable to. The answer was that Burns had a native shrewdness and determination to succeed which persisted from his youth onward. He was tough, and it seems that not many boys of 22 would walk 160 miles over boggy trail in the springtime to file on a prairie quarter section of land.

The case was remanded by Mr. Justice Leo Landerville in November, when he upheld the defendant's objection that the plaintiff had had scrapings taken from the store without permission. The plaintiff has alleged that the floor was oiled.

The plaintiff has since secured a court-order from Judge H.E. Richardson permitting removal of part of the floor for analysis. "The Post" was told. The case has been remanded until the February sittings of the Supreme Court.

POST OFFICE EXPECTS MUCH LARGER CHRISTMAS VOLUME

L. T. Tyrer, postmaster, has urged citizens to mail their Christmas greetings as soon as possible because the mail rush is beginning. He said the post office expects to handle a much larger volume of mail than any year previous. The volume due to increase its staff by 40 employees, "but even with this staff increase", Mr. Tyrer said, "it will be difficult for the post office to handle the volume expected."

Mr. Tyrer added, "Since Christmas falls on a Friday, people shouldn't depend on leaving their mailing until that week, it may be too late".

Mr. Tyrer mentioned that the postage rate for Christmas cards this year is three cents. He said there have not been too many changes sold this year which will probably mean there will be long line-ups at the stamp wickets.

"In the past, the Lindsay post office has had considerable trouble because a large part of the mail was not properly addressed and since Christmas helpers work a large part of the mail, it becomes extremely difficult and almost impossible to handle such items". He urged patrons to correctly address envelopes, being sure of streets and numbers. He said improperly addressed Christmas card mail does not receive directory service it goes to the undeliverable mail office in to Toronto.

Referring to parcels, Mr. Tyrer said shoe boxes should not be used for packing. He said heavier cartons should be used properly tied with strong twine or rope it is much better than the lighter material. "Parcels should be properly packed, addressed and the proper postage affixed", he added.

"When mailing, people should keep first class mail separate from Christmas cards. Cards should be sorted and tied with cord", he said. Cards for designating local and out-of-town mail will be delivered to each house this week Mr. Tyrer urged that they be used.

The mailing deadlines are as follows: December 8 for mail to the USA, December 13 for Canadian points and December 17 for Lindsay mail.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

HIVES OFTEN PROVE BAFFLING AILMENT

It's one thing to have an occasional itch, scratch it, and have it disappear. Even hives which last only for a few hours are bearable. However, when the blotches, and swelling and itching stubbornly resist treatment for months, patients are almost ready to raise the white flag and surrender. Consider this letter:

Dear Dr. Steincrhon: I am desperate. I am writing to see if you can offer me any help. I have hives. Big red blotches that swell up and itch. I have had this urticaria for the past seven months. Have gone to three general practitioners and now to a skin specialist. There's no improvement.

I have had all sorts of tests: blood, urine and stool. I have been on restricted diets, worn nothing but cotton next to my skin, changed all soaps and cosmets, etc. But nothing seems to help. They all come up with the same verdict: nerves!

I wake up each morning with big blotches covering eight to ten square inches in area. I have been on all kinds of drugs. I am now taking a round of cortisone. They are just as bad as ever.

I am a nervous type, but these come on me when I am fast asleep (and not worrying) and when I am out enjoying myself. I can't understand how it could be nerves.

I am 46 years old and in the menopause for two years. I have also been on hormone tablets. Can you offer any help, Dr. Steincrohn? I'm practically ready to give up.–Mrs. H.

MAY JUST GO AWAY

Comment: I would be the last to say surrender. Because somewhere somehow, there are chances you will find the cause. And even if you don't, keep remembering that most cases at last steal silently away into the night as they came. Cause unknown, destination unknown. They just go away and that's that. With or without treatment.

I recall many patients, having suffered for months, and at considerable expense, having taken all kinds of treatment without avail, who lost their hives weeks after they stopped all treatment.

Now please don't misunderstand. I think every patient with chronic hives should submit to every form of modern attack against this ailment. Therefore, I suggest that you follow your present dermatologist's recommendations. But the main thing is this: keep up hope. The chances are much greater that your hives will disappear than remain to plague you indefinitely.

Let me review for you some salient facts about chronic urticaria. You say your doctors tell you that your nerves are the cause. Well, I think you should know that we consider that one of the common factors in causing hives is psychogenic upset associated with resentment and frustration. Emotions do play an important part.

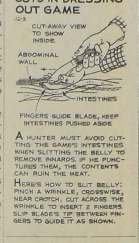

Other factors may be drugs such as penicillin, vaccines, liver extract, vitamins, insulin. Parasites, like worms in the intestinal tract, must be ruled out. Sometimes hives come after a patient has suffered a bacterial infection. Allergy to perfumes, pollens, cold and foods are possible contributing cause. Sometimes sedatives and estrogens help during the menopause. So do antihistamines and corticosteroids.

What is very important is a complete physical and emotional investigation to try to pinpoint the cause. As I say keep punching. Urticaria is a stubborn opponent, but it is not always invincible.

Sweep!

Woodville the metropolis of Eldon Township, one of the oldest and finest municipalities in Victoria County, is also the hub of curling, with two sheets of artifical ice, and thirty men, women, boys and girls on the line-up.

Club President Jack Campbell predicts a very busy season. As is also the affable and very popular reeve of the village, he is naturally a very busy individual. "We do not brag very often", said President Jack, "but we have a real good club. Everybody is on the ball, so to speak, and enthusiasm runs high".

Mrs. Farquhar McEachern is president of the Ladies' Club with over a dozen rinks and anticipates a real energetic time for the women.

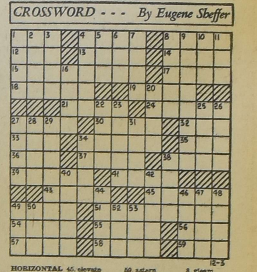

The first invitation event is being called the christmas bonspiel and the Club will play host to 24 rinks of mixed curlers.

Practically all of last years curlers are back with the Woodville Club, but one very familiar gentleman will be missed from the ice, namely Cecil Smith, who will be curling from behind the glass this season.

Do you dust off the bottom of the rock before delivery because of tradition, habit, or just because everybody else does it or do you really intend to thoroughly clean the stone, ensuring true delivery and clean ice

At least one talented Canadian Curler and versatile athlete believes most curlers want clean rocks and therefore he has designed a better cleaner than the broom. J. M. Morris of Hamilton, is inviting curlers to try his Tru Curl, an abrasive cleaning pad worn on the back of the hand which critually scrubs the stone clean. Not only does the stone cleaner do a better job on the rock, but if everybody uses it, it would eliminate loose corn in the hack and save wear and tear on the broom and glove.

ew Women in Menopause uffer From involutional Melancholia

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Your emarks to women who have een experiencing great diffi- ulties while going through heir change of life are full of ope and great optimism.

Now, this letter is written y the husband of a woman who had been going through he change and although hav- ng had good medical care, had committed suicide.

We were married 20 years and were blessed with two beautiful daughters and there was nothing but love and de- votion throughout all our mar- ried lives. My wife never had any mental illness and was in full possession of her faculties.

What would make an at- tractive woman, loved by me and her children, take to sui- cide to escape the difficulties of the change? This step stunned members of two fami- lies into a complete state of shock and all one could ask is, "Why?"

Please, Dr. Steincrohn, your standing as a medical advisor to your readers is important and your remarks and advice on occasion hinted or actually to husbands may prevent this shocking event to occur in their lives.—Mr. W.

Comment: The reason my remarks to women going the change have been "full of hope and optimism" is that the ma- jority of women go through the menopause with no more difficulties than some uncom- fortable hot flushes and, per- haps some irritability and ap- prehension. Taking estrogen pills and tranquilizers as need- ed, is effective in making life more than just bearable for those who complain of discom- forts. Too often, from the teen years on, do women worry unnecessarily about the hor- rors of the change because ex- aggerated stories have in- planted fear.

Deep Depression Symbol

However, it is true that a relatively small number of wo- men suffer from a complica- tion called "involutional mel- ancholia." Deep depression is one of the outstanding symp- toms of this disorder. Once evident, the patient should be kept there under strict surveil- lance. Especially if she has warned that she would attempt suicide.

I recall some cases in which these warning were disregard- ed as silly threats. Later tra- gedies proved that they were not. Some patients might have been saved if the family follow- ed the doctor's advice and ad- mitted them to a hospital for special observation and treat- ment. But refusal was based on the stigma which was sup- posedly attached to admission to a "mental" hospital.

I tell the husband whose wife is depressed, and talking suicide, to engage the imme- diate services of a psychiatrist. If he suggests hospitalization, better take his advice. Under modern treatment with shock therapy, female hormones and special tranquilizer drugs, such patients come out of their de- pression and lose their suicidal urges. Families may be saved from such tragedies as Mr. W. is trying to prevent. But for- tunately, for most women and their families, the change of life is a natural progression of maturity into a quiet harbor of contentment.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

DON'T BE RELUCTANT TO ASK "WHAT'S YOUR FEE, DOCTOR?"

You are hungry. You go into a restaurant for dinner. If you are an average member of the community living within some sort of elastic budget you will pick up the menu, and not make your decision without looking at the price column.

Will it be sirloin? Will it be the fish dinner? You are all for sirloin, but your wife convinces you that mackerel is in season. Besides, it'll make a difference of $5. That's enough for a down payment on a new toaster." You finish your dinner. Comes the check, which is no surprise. You pay it and that's that. There's no hostility engendered.

I wish the same procedure were followed in the relationship between doctor and patient. Too often has a friendly association turned into a bitter, acrimonious dissension. The patient who blesses his doctor for having saved his life, often turns on him after the first of the month. Bills are harder to swallow than pills — if they come as a complete surprise.

The fault is the patient's more than the doctor's. I have talked to many colleagues who have said they'd like to discuss fees with patients. But they do not do so because they are afraid they will be considered mercenary, bringing up the subject of money. They tell me they are thankful when a patient asks, "About how much will this cost?" The patient then knows what he is in for financially. When he gets his bill he does not feel like tearing his doctor apart.

You check on restaurant prices. You look at a price tag on a new suit before buying. You shop for a new car. Well, health is the number one of all commodities. You should come out with it: ask your doctor, "About how much will it cost?"

NO TIME IN EMERGENCY

Of course, during an emergency, there's no time for economic riddles. When a member of the family is down with a sudden coronary attack or needs to be rushed in for an appendectomy, you don't sit down with your doctor and talk price.

However, most relations between patient and physician are not on an emergency basis. You may know months ahead that you are going to have such operations as hernia, gall bladder, hysterectomy. You may know that you are going to have a series of X-ray treatments. You may know that you are going to have a series of X-ray treatments. You may know that you need to have diagnostic X-rays, electrocardiograms and numerous laboratory tests.

It makes good sense, and your doctor will agree, for you to look at the probable costs. Many a young married couple has been happier having engaged a "250-dollar obstetrician" than having been presented a bill for $750 which they did not expect.

There's no shame in asking. You will be happier knowing the approximate costs. When the pill comes you are less likely to develop "post conval-escence shock." Besides, chances are greater that you and your doctor will remain good friends.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have been on a diet for two days. I think I'll have to quit. For the past two nights I've had terrible nightmares in which I find myself starving to death. (Everybody around me gorging and me starving!) Is it worth it? Mr. H.

Comment: It's worth it if you'll persist. The first 10 days are the toughest to get through. As you shed the poundage, the nightmares will vanish. And you'll feel as proud of yourself as if you've built a bridge.

Little Britain

Mrs. Nelson Palmer is at present supplying and relieving on the Little Britain teaching staff owing to the illness of the regular teacher Mrs. Nowakowski.

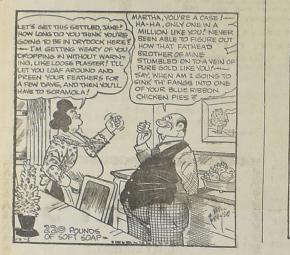

The Sunday School pupils of the Little Britain United Church and also the Fellowship Baptist Church are now making plans and preparations and also practising for their annual Christmas cantatas.

Word was received here on Thursday afternoon of last week with much regret of the sudden passing of Mr. Bert North who was in his 62nd year and which occurred in Lindsay. The late Mr. North was very well and most favourably known in the Little Britain community as he had been a foreman and an employee of Victoria County for several years and the deepest sympathy is extended to his wife and daughter and other relatives at this time. Quite a number from here attended the funeral services of the deceased which was held at the Mackey Funeral Chapel in Lindsay on Saturday afternoon with interment being made at the Little Britain United Church Cemetery.

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN ANGINA AND CORONARY THROMBOSIS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Will you explain the difference between angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis? Can a person have both? Mr. R.

Comment: How do you mean, the difference? In pathology, symptoms, treatment? If I try to feed you too much information in this crowded space, I'm liable to add indigestion of facts) to already existent problems.

If you are interested in a complete discussion of this all-important problem I suggest you get hold of a copy of my recent book, "Common Sense Coronary Care."

Meanwhile, I believe I owe you some immediate, working information. Let's just discuss the symptomatology of each condition.

In coronary thrombosis, usually defined as a sudden, complete obstruction of one of the coronary arteries which supply the heart with nourishment (here is the typical attack) sudden, excruciating chest pain. All over the chest. The patient becomes pale, perspires profusely and almost goes into shock because his blood pressure has plummeted. He is practically pulseless. You don't have to be a physician to realize: here is a very sick man.

GRADUAL CLOSING IN ANGINA

In angina pectoris, usually due to a gradual closing of one or both coronary arteries, the patient notices that he gets a pain across his chest (sometimes down an arm) when he exerts. For example: When he walks up a slight grade against the wind on a blustery day, he has to stop for a few minutes, dissolve a nitroglycerine tablet under his tongue and wait for the pain to disappear. He may have one attack daily, one a week, or as many as a dozen or more daily. As the condition progresses he finds he can't walk more than a block or two on level ground on a pleasant day. Emotion (anger, fear, etc.) may bring on an attack. The patient with steadily increasing angina attacks may actually suffer an attack of coronary thrombosis.

You ask, "Can a person have both?" Yes, it's possible that a patient, previously without symptoms, begins to complain of angina after he has recovered from coronary thrombosis.

As said earlier, I can give you only piecemeal information in answer to your question. Therefore, try the book let I've suggested for more complete tips on coronary management.

For Mrs. I.: I know that leg cramps are far from comfortable. Especially when they come often and are so bad you can't jump out bed fast enough to find the floor. At your age of 24, I doubt that you have one of the serious circulatory problems which sometimes cause this symptom.

Check on your diet. Do you get enough milk cheese? Do your smoke too much? How high are your heels? Do you have varicose veins? Are you overweight? Although we don't know the specific cause of cramps in every individual, these points are important. If you still have leg cramps, better see your doctor.

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

ONE WOMAN'S SOLUTION

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am thinking of having an operation for pendulous breasts. However, it is natural that I be indecisive. What do you think?–Mrs. U.

Comment: I have known patients who were quite happy with the results of such plastic surgery. What better way to give you the patient's viewpoint than the following letter received recently?

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: In this day of overemphasis on the female breast, and the feeling with many women that their cause is lost if they are not "overendowed", it is hard for some to believe that too much in this department can constitute a real problem.

Since adolescence I have struggled with a very large breast. So much so that my shoulders have really suffered with the carrying of the load. As I became older (I am now 75) my breasts became very pendulent. The problem was so vexing that I approached by doctor on the subject of having my breasts removed, even though there was no evidence of diseased tissue. I just wanted to get rid of the load that made me tired with the carrying of it.

The results are beautiful. There was a transplant of the nipples to the normal position and removal of the excess tissue from underneath. I had this surgery a year ago and today there is hardly a trace of a scar, which would be immaterial anyway since all the tissue was removed underneath. The slight scars look like natural wrinkles.

HOSPITALIZATION SHORT

I heartily recommend this procedure to any woman who has such a problem. The hospitalization was short and the pain was no more than I have experienced many times from wearing a bra that was not properly fitted. I was flat on my back for three days and then was up and about. I was back in the office in two weeks.

Not only do I feel and look better but it is so much easier to buy clothes when one's figure is proportioned. And no doctor must be a sculptor, too, for that is exactly what my figure is–well proportioned. (He looks at a gal's hips and lines her up.)

I am so grateful that I could "kiss the surgeon's feet". That is why I wanted to pass this information on to others who might have the problem and might not be aware of the fact it can be corrected. Or for those who hesitate for a few unfounded fears. My only regret is that it was not done years ago.

However, I cannot stress too strongly the importance of securing the services of a skilled doctor. It is easy to see how the results might be disastrous when attempted by one who is not skilled in this work. –Miss S.

Scarlett—Murphy Wedding

Kinmount (PNS) — Kinmount United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, October 17, 1964 when Lorraine Francis Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert Murphy Glace Bay, Nova Scotia, was united in marriage to Duane Ralph Scarlett, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Scarlett of Kinmount.

Rev. Donald Drew of Coboconk officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was attractively decorated with white Gladioli and Shasta mums the pews with lace bows and ribbons.

The soloist Mrs. Boyd Scarlett of Toronto sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and "Bless This House" accompanied by Mrs. G. Boldt at the organ.

Given in marriage by Mr. Oscar Cohen of Tessier Saskatchewan, the bride was elegant in a street length dress of Italian lace enhanced with a scalloped neckline and lily pointed sleeves. She chose a detachable bell like overskirt of peau-de-soie.

Her headdress was Alencon lace centred with an all pearl miniature crown highlighted with a three tiered scalloped silk illusion veil worn delicately over the face. She carried a bridal cascade of red roses.

The bridesmaid Miss Dianne Scarlett, sister of the groom, wore a long sleeved street length dress of blue peau-de-soie accompanied by an overskirt of French lace with matching shoes and a peau de soie pill box hat. She carried a nosegay of Shasta mums.

The best man was Mr. Donald McVicar of Toronto, brother-in-law of the bride. Ushers were Mr. Boyd Scarlett of Toronto and Mr. Gary Byrne of Fenelon Falls.

For receiving in the absence of the bride's mother, her sister, Mrs. Donald McVicar wore a black sheath of Italian knit with white accessories. Her corsage was red Sweetheart roses.

The groom's mother assisted in a red Francesca knit suit with black accessories. Her corsage was white baby mums.

The reception was held at the Cameo Tea Rooms Fenelon Falls. The tables were decorated with pink and white frosted candles and flowers along with a two tier wedding cake.

The bride chose a going away outfit of brown Niccolini wool with shoes and purse to match, gold hat and gloves and a corsage of yellow roses.

For their honeymoon the happy couple went to Glace Bay, Nova Scotia on their return they will reside in Toronto.

Guests were present from Glace Bay, Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan, Toronto, Pickering, Peterborough, Lindsay, Coboconk and Fenelon Falls.

A reception and dance was held for the bride and groom at the Galway hall.

Before marriage the bride was the recipient of two personal showers one at Simpson-Sears Co. and another at Manufacturers Life Ins. Co. along with one at the home of Mrs. Percy Scarlett with Dianne Scarlett and Betty Cohen as hostess, to which the bride and groom thanked one and all.

DRINKER-DRIVERS TNT ON HIGHWAYS

When you climb into your car you are upright. There's no guarantee you won't be carried away from it horizontal. And there's at least one chance in two that alcohol had a dirty hand in it. Either you or the driver who hit you had too much alcohol in the bloodstream.

According to a release sent out by the National Committee for the Prevention of Alcoholism of Washington, D.C., in a recent speech by insurance president William N. Plymat, "Our effective legal limit of alcohol in the blood (.15 per cent) is about three times higher than it should be".

He also supplied an "implied consent" law in which every licensed driver would have to submit to a chemical test to determine the alcohol content in the blood if the officer believed he was driving under the influence of liquor. Mr. Plymat suggested a program of offenses and penalties for the specified amounts of alcohol in the blood:

1. 0.05 pre cent to 0.10 per cent alcohol—Fine: $50 to $250. No jail term. Suspension of driver's license for 30 days.

2. 0.10 per cent to 0.15 per cent alcohol—Fine: $100 to $250 and/or two to 30 days imprisonment; suspension of driver's license for 90 days. (Second time, six months.)

3. 0.15 per cent and over. Fine: $250 to $1,000 or five days to one year or both; suspension of driver's license for 90 days. (Second time, six months.)

4. General section "Drunk driving"—Person convicted under this who refused to submit to test. Fine: $250 to $1,000 and five days to one year. Suspension of license for 90 days if driver did not refuse to take test. (Second time, six months.)

Do you think these proposed laws are too tough? Do you think they interfere with your constitutional rights? Ask a mother who has recently lost an only 18-year-old son in a wreck caused by a drunken driver. Ask a father whose son and two daughters were killed outright by a man's car, who swore he had taken only two beers before getting behind the wheel.

We get wrong ideas. It doesn't have to be the almost "dead drunk" driver who is the menace. It is the so-called "moderate" drinker who may be the man with the scythe. Studies show that around 50 per cent of the fatal accident drivers in the U.S. have been drinking. And half of the drinking drivers have less alcohol than is normally required to convict for drunk driving.

Speaking of the point at which impairment begins, Mr. Plymat alluded to a study conducted in Sweden in 1950 which concluded that "the threshold of impairment of driving ability in expert drivers is an alcohol concentration of .35 to .40 per mil. in the blood". This level is reached by approximately two drinks or two bottles of beer consumed in an hour by a 150-pound man, he said.

You can beg. You can threaten. You can quote statistics. But considering how the dead and wounded continue to mount day after day, it seems hopeless. Nevertheless, a start has to be made.

I'm in favor of the strictest laws to punish the man or woman behind the wheel with too much alcohol coursing his blood stream. Alcohol is an instrument for blood-letting as effective as the knife. For your own sake, and the next fellow's, how about making a resolution? And keeping it?

Mission Circle hears about Angola missionary work

Mrs. H. M. Crown, President, presented the second chapter of the Study Book "In Times of Trouble" at the December meeting of the Elizabeth Ryley Mission Circle held at the home of Mrs. A. Bates, Sussex Street North.

The study dealt with Protestant Missions in Angola, Africa, where the British Baptists started a mission in 1878.

Mrs. F. A. Reeds reported on an address heard by Dr. Walter Johnson, one of the Baptist Missionaries to be evacuated from Angola, after the uprising when over 200,000 refugees fled into the Congo. Mrs. Reeds also reported on a recent visit to Ohiwelen on the Brant Indian Reserve where Rev. and Mrs. Tom Morihawa (nee Nancy Mitchell) are ministering to the Baptist Indians on the reserve.

Mrs. C. Suggitt led in the devotional prior to the Christmas season assisted by Mrs. Boadway, Mrs. Irvine and Mrs. Bates reading Scripture portions from Luke's Gospel. Mrs. Suggitt said we should thank God for the best gift of all. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Suggitt and Mrs. P. C. Reed.

The gift of $26.00 from the Circle to Miss Mary Haddow, a missionary nurse on furlough from Bolivia, South America, was reported by the Treasurers Mrs. Irvine.

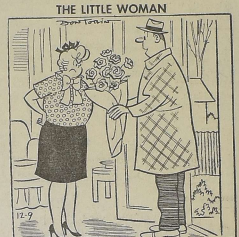

After the meeting a pleasant time was spent.

OAKWOOD MAN KILLED IN 401 ACCIDENT

An Oakwood man, 52-year-old Hugo Kurt Neumeyer, was killed when his car was flattened under a dump truck at 1:30 p.m. Thursday on Highway 401 near Kingston. Kingston OPP said the truck, driven by Cyril McNutt of Kingston, was crossing Highway 401 after coming out of the Joyceville sideroad when Mr. Neumeyer's car crashed into the side of the truck, going underneath it. Police said Mr. Neumeyer's car, which had been westbound on the highway, was totally wrecked. Damage to the undercarriage of the truck, including the driveshaft was estimated at $500.

The truck driver was not injured and there were no other passengers in the Neumeyer vehicle, police said.

Dr. . S. Patterson of Kingston, coroner, said Mr. Neumeyer died of a fractured skull and brain injury. It is understood the body will be brought to this area after a post-mortem has been conducted at Kingston General Hospital.

Police said this is the second fatal accident at this intersection in 12 days. Twelve days ago George Sheppard, former warden of Frontenac County was killed when his feed van was hit by a truck.

Police said several requests have been made to the Ontario Department of Highways to build an overpass to carry the Joyceville Road traffic over Highway 401.

Kingston OPP Constable A. J. Talor investigated the accident.

KLTA DIRECTOR URGES SNOWMOBILE CONTESTS IN AREA

Last year's KLTA snowmobile competition chairman Bill Spenceley of Peterboro, strongly recommended the continuation of the competitions on a major scale again this year. He said the competition was originated by the KLTA and other districts or provinces or even countries would quickly grab it up if it was neglected by the organization.

Director Spenceley stressed that KLTA had already had preliminary experience in the promotion of the programme, and much of the expense experienced last year could be eliminated. He said he hoped to be able to raise the prize money outside of the Association and felt it would be wise to take advantage of any benefits to be derived from last years outstanding success. He said later that it would not necessarily be held at the same location if proceeded with in the new year.

"This is the most positive programme ever proposed in all my years in the Kawartha Lakes Tourist Association", was the comment of KLTA director C. O. Phillips Thursday night following a suggested internal publicity programme outlined by director Doug Vanderburg.

KLTA directors held their December meeting at the home of secretary Harry McDonald and all members said they felt it was the most positive meeting they had ever attended. Projects under consideration following this meeting spell out the most extensive and far reaching publicity for KLTA members every attempted, and as "Tourism is everybody's business" according to members, this outstanding plan stands to benefit merchants, service station operators, entertainment personnel as well as the tourist resort operators, and is designed to benefit the small operator as well as the large establishments.

The programme of advertising suggested by director Doug Vanderburg is designed to benefit membership, internal promotion and public relations, he said. The plan includes a series of four weekly advertisements in local and district newspapers accompanied by direct mail coverage of the trade to the extent of 3,000 copies to be sent out from the Lindsay C of C office each week.

In spelling out the importance of the tourist industry, Doug Vanderburg stated that $1.00 out of every $10.00 in every paycheck in Canada comes from the tourist industry. He said that the competition for the tourist dollar is becoming greater every year and stressed the need of positive advertising.

The only means of support of the KLTA is by membership fees and certain grants, explained KLTA president Don Scott of Lindsay. The aim of the association is to promote and provide information and to advertise the Kawartha Lakes area in a manner to gain the most benefit for the membership as a whole. He said that the Association welcomes inquiries and membership applications from the small operators as well as the large and outlined the many benefits to be gained by becoming a member of the Association. He also noted that operators with indoor accommodation and a planned programme of entertainment were less affected by poor weather conditions as experienced last August, and suggested that operators plan with the provision of these extra accommodations in mind.

The external advertising phase of the Vanderburg plan as suggested by the Cedar Villa proprietor last night involved the purchase of a "Kawartha" heading in five or six newspapers in the key tourist areas in U.S. and Canada under which individual operators could locate their individual advertisements. The months of April, May and June were suggested as likely months for this campaign.

At the conclusion of his presentation director Vanderburg was highly complimented for his well organized ideas.

Petunia the porcupine is still doing fine!

A porcupine, which was delivered by Caesarean section last spring, is alive and healthy and is now playing a teaching role at the Central Senior School.

The story of how three young Lindsay hunters, James Newton, James Baker and Ronald Aldred shot the mother porcupine last spring was reported first in "The Post". After the animal was killed, the Newton boy thought there might be a young porcupine in the womb of the mother that he might stuff and mount. When the abdomen of the female porcupine was opened by Ronald Aldred. James Newton noticed the young animal inside was trying to breath. He took the animal out, "The Post" was told, and performed a form of artificial respiration by stroking the side of the animal.

It was dried in the sun after it began breathing properly and taken to a nearby cabin, where it was fed a solution of milk and corn syrup every two hours.

Since that time, it was loaned to Central Senior School for the winter. It is understood the porcupine, which has been named Petunia, is used for teaching purposes in the science classes.

BOBCAYGEON MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO LESSER CHARGE

George Carnegie, aged 21, of RR2 Bobcaygeon, charged with harbouring a child under fourteen years of age pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of taking a female unmarried person under the age of 16 years, out of the possession of and against the will of the parents, in the December sessions of the peace at Lindsay, Thursday.

The plea of guilty followed several hours procedure before Chief Judge A. R. Wilmot and a jury of ten men and two women, when difficulty was experienced in obtaining answers to questions during cross-examination of a key witness.

As a result of the plea, Judge Wilmot directed the jury to find the accused guilty, and he then remanded the accused in custody until Dec. 21st for presentence report.

"PA KETTLE" DIES

Hollywood, (UPI) — Percy Kilbride, who gained film fame when he teamed with Marjorie Main in the "Ma and Pa Kettle" series., died early today at the age of 76.

Kilbride died in Chase Sanitorium where he was undergoing rehabilitation following brain surgery Nov.. 11 in Good Samaritan Hospital for a head injury sustained last Sept. 21.

The actor and a friend, Ralf Belmont, 52, were struck by a car while crossing a Hollywood street. Belmont, a retired actor, was killed at the time.

Popular teen-set singer is slain

Los Angeles (UP) — Sam Cooke, a popular singer with the teen-age set, was shot and killed today by the manager of a motel when he kicked in the door of her apartment, police reported.

The 29-year-old negro recording star was struck with a bullet in the chest.

The shot was fired, police said, by Mrs. Bertha Lee Franklin, who had been warned previously on the telephone by another motel resident that there was a prowler on the premises.

Cooke was clad only in a sports jacket, according to Det. Sgt. Fred L. Thomas when he knocked down the door of Mrs. Franklin's apartment and wrestled her to the floor.

Officers said they learned later he was searching for a female companion, Elisa Boyer, who was located later.

Sgt. Thomas said Cooke apparently thought Miss Boyer had fled to the manager's apartment.

"Wellcome" Support

A grant of $30,000, from the Wellcome Foundation in London will supply two British scientists working in Canada with the computer and tape system necessary to carry out their work of research into the neuro-physiology of the brain stem.

The scientists are Dr. V. C. Abrahams and Dr. E. P. Longworth, both of whom formerly worked at the National Institute of Medical Research, Mill Hill, London. They went to Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, in 1963 to establish a Neuro-Physiological Research Unit.

The two scientists have worked out plans to associate with other university departments in a programme of research on communication theory, particularly on organization in the brian stem.

The Wellcome Trust was created by the will of Sir Harry Wellcome, who died in 1936. During the past six years it has made grants of more than $12,000 for work in medical and allied sciences.

A Lonely Life

Bartender's life is lonely when Baptists get together — Bob Bonello's life is returning to normal after a most unusual week.

Bonello is a bartender at the Ambassador Hotel on the Boardwalk and though 1,400 conventioneers packed the hotel last week none stopped in for a drink.

"I never though I'd live to see this," Bonello said, his voice echoing through the lounge's dimly-lighted emptiness.

He knew of course, that Baptists preach against liquor, but figured that some would sample his wares before the week-long Southern Convention ended.

CHANGE NAME

The proprietor of Highland Lodge, E. Kaiser, announces that the Geographic Board of Canada has changed the name of Hurricane Lake to Lake Placid. Residents of the Haliburton district claim that the latter is a much more suitable name for the lake which is noted for its peaceful behavior. How it became "Hurricane" Lake is not known to residents who were asked about it.

Attempt burglary

Attempted burglary of two stores occurred at Uxbridge between 5 a.m. and 6 a.m. today but the thieves were disturbed at the establishment and left the other empty handed.

Constable Joseph Murray found three men trying to jimmy the door of a dry goods store. The trio escaped in a large black sedan which they had parked near-by. Constable Murray emptied his revolver after the fleeing marauders and then reported the attempt to Chief William Vesey.

A check-up revealed the Uxbridge Creamery had also been entered through a window. The premises had been ransacked, but no goods removed. It is believed that the burglars were after money. The creamery was the scene of a series of robberies during the past summer.

Good health at 103

The people of Haliburton County, particularly those in Harburn Township and its vicinity are unanimous today in extending birthday greetings to George Roche, Harburn, who is marking his 103rd birthday today. The old man of Haliburton County is enjoying reasonably good health although he is unable this year to attend the annual celebration which greets his birthday. It is feared the excitement might be too much for his advanced years.

Officers to retain rank

That all Canadian officers who go to the front and are thus "seconded" as regards commands in the units to which they formerly belonged will retain their rank and resume it over the heads of any junior officers who may have been promoted in their absence, was made clear in a statement made by General Sam Hughes today.

The matter was brought to the attention of the Minister of Militia at a meeting of the Cavalry Association, which he attended today. As a result, General Hughes is making it clear that officers who go to the front will be given brevet rank so as to retain their seniority over any officers junior to them who may be promoted at home during their absence.

Telegraph operator murdered

The Telegraph Operator at the GTR Station at Whitby was fatally shot last night while at work. The murderer made good his escape. The victim's name was Stone and after the shooting he evidently managed to draw himself across the little station office to the telephone, and notify the Police. When the officers arrived they found Stone lying dead upon the floor while still clutched in his hands was the telephone and receiver.

A 21-year-old man and a 17-year-old youth have been arrested as suspects.

Christmas dinner for soldiers

Every man under arms in Canada will have a Christmas dinner at the Government's expense. This will include the 8,000 odd men now doing outpost, garrison and guard duty throughout the Dominion and the 30,000 troops now mobilized here for service overseas. It has been decided that no one of these shall be deprived of at least some part of the Christmas cheer.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

The Spirit of Christmas

Nowhere in the world is Christmas celebrated with quite the same fervour as it is in the U. K. For, nearly a month before the religious festival arrives, towns and villages throughout the British Isles are a-twinkle with festive lights. From the floating reindeer, spanning Regent Street, and the giant candles along Oxford Street, two of the more famous shopping centres in London, to myriads of coloured lights at storm-tossed Seaford, a resort on the Sussex coast in the south, which has 'turned, the entire centre of the town into a roofed fairyland at nights, the spirit of goodwill is abroad.

But the world's most famous shopping centre, Bond Street in London — and pioneer in street decoration — is not having any special street decoration. Each of the 200 shops, many of them enjoying Royal patronage, has its own individual display; each shop window is a picture of joy and festivity. Says Alderman Mrs. Patricia Hayward of the Bond Street Association, (she is a Conservative member of nearby St. Pancras Council): "We have advised the surrounding streets on decorations, but we feel that Bond Street, as narrow as it is, is not quite suitable for this type of decoration. People come from all over the world to shop in Bond Street and it would not be Bond Street if the narrow pavements were choked with sight-seers.

"As a shopping centre it is unique in that if you go into the Royal Silversmith's and Jewellers you are quite likely to be served by Mr. Eric Asprey who may have returned that minute from Buckingham Palace where he has just shown pieces of priceless jewellery to the Queen, or other members of the Royal household.

"He is just as happy to serve you," added Mrs. Hayward, "and Bond street, which can boast anything from Royal hair stylist down to the Royal chiropodist, is unique in this respect in that it still retains the family business touch."

There is no shop quite like Tapsey's in all the world. Behind its doors there is a unique treasure house in the heart of London's Bond Street. Here you will find craftsmanship still—in this age of automation —expressed in leather, gold and silver, stones and fabrics, from the medieval to the ultra-modern.

Here you will find exquisite jewels of the Italian Renaissance, a sleek Martini miker, an elegantly chased James the Second tankard, or an incredibly clever racing companion in superb pigskin; yes, it is a shop whose tradition through an unbroken line for two and a half centuries has been the collection and making and selling of the most beautiful things.

But Bond Street will hold a Christmas fair for those who work and expend so much of their lives there. Each shopkeeper will throw something into the common pool, from jewellery, or clothing to theatre tickets; from Royal hair do to an airline passage across the world; these gifts from the world's most exclusive shops will be auctioned, and there will be a Christmas Fair for the most senior down to the newest recruit to Bond Street, which will be held in one of the larger shops in the street of good taste.

Also Bond Street will not forget the two wards it has endowed in the Middlesex Hospital, one of the most famous teaching hospitals and medical research centres in the world. There will be 250 individually tied and addressed parcels for patients and nursing staff in those two wards with cheery messages from the most famous shopkeepers in the world.

And the Old Lady of Threadneedle Street, in the City of London, will smile benignly on the festivities, for the Bank of England will increase the issue of banknotes just to ensure there is enough for everyone to have a happy shopping Christmas.

Packing Sandwiches

When packing sandwiches for your child's school lunchbox or for an outing of some kind, you can keep them fresher if you'll wrap them in waxed paper and, before folding over, rub a warm iron along the double edge. The wax melts and the edges will fuse for an airtight seal.

White Spots On Mahogany

To get rid of white spots on your mahogany furniture, spread a thick coating of petroleum jelly over the spots, let stand for about 48 hours, then wipe off the jelly, and spots should have vanished.

Easier Cleaning

Your egg beaters and potato mashers will wash more easily and quickly if you'll place them in cold water as soon as you've finished using them.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. Any suggeestions on the making of good stew?

A. Be sure to brown the meat on all sides in a little fat before adding any liquid. Chopped onions may be added during the browning process, if you like. Add other vegetables just long enough before the meat is tender so that they will not be overdone in the finished product.

Wimbledon Lawn Tennis may be open to world

A British tennis official says animosity and retaliation would be the result of throwing the 1965 Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships open to professionals.

But Judge Carl Aavold told the annual meeting of British Lawn Tennis Association in his presidential address that the time may have come when the rules of the International Lawn Tennis Association should be brought more into line with the present day world-wide practice.

The All-England club which runs Wimbledon will propose that their championship be thrown open to all lawn tennis players in the world.

Merchants battle Redmen for second place to-night

Newmarket Redmen will invade the Kiwanis Arena tonight in search of the Merchants scalps. If however the Merchants don their high speed skates as they did in Aurora, the Redmen will have problems.

Coach Gus Bodnar predicts that the Merchants will be up for this game to-night. In their two previous meetings this season, the Redmen edged the Merchants 6 - 5 at Newmarket on November 5th, while the Merchants won their home game on November 13th. by a 4 - 1 score.

As of last Sunday, one point separated the Merchants in third place and the Redmen in fourth. Since that time the Merchants picked up two points with their 13 - 1 win over Aurora, while the Redskins entertained Stouffville Clippers last night, clipping the Clippers 3 - 2. This win for the Redmen keeps them within one point of the Merchants, and it also keeps Lindsay just one point behind second place Stouffville.

Present standings now show Bobcaygeon in first place with 18 points; Stouffville second with 17; Lindsay third with 16; Newmarket fourth with 15; and Cannington-Sutton fifth with 14 points. Uxbridge goes to Bobcaygeon to-night and Stouffville to Sutton Sunday night.

THREE RINKS FOR SKATING MAINTAINED AT DARLINGTON

Skating on Lake Ontario ice rinks, maintained by the staff at Darlington Park, has proven a popular sport for the past three years. As many as 1000 carloads of skaters have passed through the gates on a cold sunny Sunday.

For this reason the Department of Lands and Forests will again maintain three rinks approximately 100' x 200' each. Toilet facilities, windbreaks, change houses and fuel for a bonfire will also be provided.

Further east at Presqu'ile Park one can enjoy a pleasant drive on well ploughed roads to view the often spectacular ice sculpture which is the result of wave action and below freezing temperatures.

North of Presqu'ile in the vicinity of Campbellford a new park is under development. Ferris Park, as it is named, will this winter feature three ski runs of 480 feet, 560 feet and 670 feet. Throughout these lengths there is a vertical drop of 150 feet which, while admittedly not up to Olympic standards, will certainly provide many an afternoon of thrills and no doubt, some spills.

Continuing north to the vicinity of Peterborough there is Burnham Provincial Park, where in past years amateur and professional ornithologists have followed its nature trails on snowshoes in search of the many winter birds found there.

Further west Emily Park is the winter camping grounds for some of the Lindsay and district Boy Scout groups.

Obviously then Provincial Parks are not restricted to summer time use, many popular outdoor wintertime activities may also be enjoyed within their boundaries.

Canadian National Railways is experimenting with a double-deck livestock car which has three times the capacity of those now in use. It has already been demonstrated to livestock shippers and has now carried its first load in Western Canada. The mammoth carrier will take a total of 80 slaughter cattle or 250 butcher hogs on its two decks which have a length of 55' and headroom of 5'10" on the lower deck and 6'7" on the upper. Internally, the car has transverse gates which serve to separate the class and type of animal in the shipment. As far as is known this is the largest car on the continent for the movement of beef cattle. If the prototype car proves acceptable to livestock shippers and stockyard operators, the number of cars in service will be increased.

The Northeast Corner

by "the observer"

This is the time of year when "elections" with all their fun, are the order of the day. For the casual observer they are a lot of fun. It is very interesting for us to sit back and observe the manner of campaign that different candidates are waging. Some resort to a meeting or two and place their programme before the people and ask for their votes at the polls. Others go to the great trouble and expense of having a letter printed telling all about their good points but none of their shortcomings and soliciting the support of all the voters in the municipality. Others take to the roads and make a thorough canvass from door to door. I think perhaps this may prove to be the type of campaign that yields the best results. Besides the canvaser has the opportunity of meeting the lady of the house who possibly guides the husband on the ne he is going to vote for.

Like everything else voting for your choice has come a long way since before confederation where voting was out in the open. In those days it was the custom for the contenders to provide an ample supply of sandwiches and an ampler supply of drink to wash the sandwiches down. The voters all met at a central location where the poll was established. Walking was the only means of transportation and those farthest away left home before day-light in order to be there in time and to make sure they got their share of the good things that were provided free of charge. Every one that was running for office had their liquor brought in on a lumper and there was a railing around the outside of the lumper to make sure that no keys might slip off going through the pitch holes. From what I have read it was a common thing to see 30 or 40 or 50 men coming down the trail walking two by two. As soon as they arrived before they declared themselves for any candidate they made sure there was plenty of refreshments to go around. If there were no refreshments, well there they politely refrained from voting.

However when a fairly good crowd had assembled the returning officer would call out the group from No. 1 poll and these one by one would climb onto a platform and call out the name of the man of their choice. The clerk would make a mark opposite the name of the man so called. This was a long slow method of voting, but along with all the fights that would develop among the supporters of different parties a the day slipped along very quickly. And besides they were in such good condition that they no longer felt any cold.

There was one Contingent however that was always a little late in arriving but they were such a genial bunch that every one saw that they were amply provided for. These were the Scots from Eldon They all wore long black beards. Their eyes were all over six feet tall and spoke nothing but Gaelic. They were always dressed in their best home spun garments and woollen underwear. Their pants were rolled up to their knees and they invariably wore long leather boots. The story is told that there was one little fellow among them. He was under 5 feet tall and everyone called him "The Rat". He may have been small but he would take on any man in the crowd and generally come out on top. Everone said he could fight as well with his feet as he could with his fists.

When all the votes were cast and no more appeared to be coming then the returning officer declared the poll closed and he and the clerk proceeded to count the tally. This was a long slow process and while the crowd was very patient they spent the time draining the kegs to the last dregs. Then when the result was announced everything broke loose and the whole crowd were mixed in it, both victor and vanquished. In one case a man was killed but the melee was so general that, although they tried to establish the guilty, the court had to give up at last and the guilty man was never prosecuted.

1065 foot tower planned for Expo

It has been confirmed that Expo 67 will be the occasion for Montreal and the city of Paris to join in building a skyscraper tower that will be the tallest building in Canada.

A tower, totalling one-thousand 65 feet above the ground, will be built by the two French centres to mark Expo 67 and the 325th anniversary of the founding of Montreal. The tower measures in metric scale, exactly 325 meters.

The cost has not been fully determined, but it estimated at some 20-million dollars.

Sources indicate actual plans for the giant structure are to be drawn up jointly by French and Canadian architects. An extension of St. Helen's Island, the mid-stream base for Expo 67, has been suggested as a possible site for the tower.

The Paris municipal council approved the plan last night and the Montreal city council is to be asked to take similar action tonight. —UPI

It is now well over one hundred years since all those conditions were the order of the day and we have moved along to more sedate days in our manner of voting. Perhaps leaving out the sandwiches and the drink we do not value our franchise as seriously as we should. How would you like to have to walk ten or twenty miles through snow to be able to cast your ballot and in that way have a say in the government of our country. The old timers were jealous of the small privileges that were theirs and they didnt mind walking a few miles when they had the privilege of exercising their franchise.

BRM to race new models in South Africa Grand Prix

Bourne, England (UPI) — BRM today unveiled its new 1965 model which Chief Engineer and Racing Manager Tony Rudd hopes will take a way the Automobile Manufacturers' prize from the Italian Ferrari factory.

The new car will be raced in the South African Grand Prix at East London later this month. The South African event is the first of 11 races counting towards the 1965 World Championship.

BRM's chief driver, Londoner Graham Hill, has already left for South Africa and will have two new machines at his disposal. Hill was World Champion Driver in 1962, the year BRM won its first championship.

Rudd, 42, said: "Our new engines are producing 210 brake horsepower on the bench.

"That should give a speed up to 175 miles per hour which we hope will do the trick against pretty formidable opposition like Ferrari and Lotus".

The new BRM engine is of 1½ litres displacements, V-8 cylinder design, with four overhead camshafts, fuel injection and transistorised ignition.

Britain's John Surtees won the world drivers' title in a Ferrari at Mexico City last October. Had Surtees failed to finish in the first two, Hill would have won the title.

SWEEP . . .

George Moore of the Lindsay Curling Club is reported to be the most active senior exponent of the game in the Lindsay district. In fact, he may have the distinction in this regard for the province.

George has not kept many of his medals and records but a few days ago he came across a shining gold medal he was presented with by the Bobcaygeon Club in 1907. In that season, George Moore was on the championship rink which won 21 out of 22 games . . . this "young" curler can "show his heels" to all curlers in the district for the greatest number of games curled in any one season. He can still wield a good broom, heave a good rock and still enjoy a good appetite. Orchids to George Moore.

Former Lindsay curlers are always assured of a good welcome back to the club. This was the case when the Viskingspiel was held a few days ago found by Mrs. D. Sinclair, the former Nancy Parker, now living in Sudbury and a former teacher at the Lindsay Collegiate Institute. At the time this young curler played with her father in the Visking 'spiel. Nancy, as she is known to curlers will be a welcome visitor at the annual bonspiel to be held by the Business Girls.

The second tournament of curling champions for the Province will be held in Toronto from January 5th to 8th. The eevnt brings to the front hte best performing rinks in Ontario.

Officeres of the local curling club are reporting for the annual Christmas party to be held on December 18th. This will again be a colourful event when hospitality will reign supreme.

Sunday afternoon curling is proving to be popular with a number of hand selected rinks. It is understood that chairman Jim Brown and committeemen are planning for a friendly event, with a large entry of players later on in December.

Lady curlers are enthusiastically engaged in the annual Bank of Commerce bonspiel. Interest has been heightened because the rinks have been scrambled allowing for a complete change of personnel, a part from the regular listed rinks.

The annual Boxing Day bonspiel at Ross (Claxton's) Stores is scheduled for Saturday, December 26th. There will be a full quota of 25 rinks.

One of the unusual and one of the best bonspiels of the season takes place at the Peel Street rink on Saturday, the annual Holstein Association event for farmers, particularly the black and white beef cattle farmers. Sherman J. Moore the originator of the event, reports that there will be 24 rinks on head an all-day event and rinks will be in attendance from as far away places as Stroud and Cookstown.

Bruce Goard joins safety glasses save eyesight

Bruce Goard, Lindsay, Ontario, has joined the Wise Owl Club of Canada. He won membership in the club and a Wise Owl certificate because he warded off tragedy in an on-the-job accident.

Geo. E. McFadden, Safety Director, Lindsay Plant Dominion Brake Shoe Company Limited, anounced today that Mr. Goard saved his eyes from injury or blindness through conscientious use of safety eye wear. Mr. Goard, a machine operator, was banding brake lining to a steel form, with ¾" banding steel. The band broke and the end sprung up and struck him below the eye, cutting his face, knocking the lens out of the frame of his safety glasses and knocking his glasses off his face. "Had I not been using eye protection," said Bruce Goard, "I would have received serious eye injuries."

The Wise Owl Club of Canada is sponsored by the prevention of Blindness department of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Working closely with the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, Toronto, CNIB took over the administration of the former Wise Owl Club of America from the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, New York. The society inaugurated the Wise Owl movement in 1947. Membership in the Wise Owl Club of Canada is made up exclusively of industrial employees and technical students who, like Mr. Goard, have saved one or both eyes by wearing eye protection. What this has meant in terms of production, purchasing power and family welfare is incalculable. Today the Wise Owl Club of Canada has 1200 members in 523 firms across Canada.

"You are entering manhood and womanhood" Dr. D. L. C. Miller Director of Extension, Scarboro College. University of Toronto told persuour students of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School at a presentation dinner, "and the next few years are among the most important of your lives — most difficult, most interesting and most enioyable. The decisions you make will have a tremendous effect on everything that will hanveen to you from now on. Make a decision to make the best of the few years immediately ahead of you. Remember that from now on the responsibility for your decisions is primarily yours."

"It is imperative to establish and aim for priorities" Dr. Miller continued, "The most important priority, and that which is essential, is to do the best you can in your studies. Arrange your life so that you do not neglect other interests and delights in life, such as music or sports"

"Good citizenship does accompany good education. It will be people like you who will lead our society to take this important step forward. It is not easy to be a good citizen with all the temptations. We ought to be prepared to follow the paths of great religious and wordly leaders such as Socrates who was condemned to death for asking such questions as "What do you read and how do you know".

Dr. Miller spoke at a banquet dinner arranged by the teaching staff of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School to honour students who attained seventy-five per cent or more average, in last June's final examinations.

Following the dinner in the school cafeteria, James Lawson, assisted by Mrs. C. M. Anson, Observer and church calendar were discussed and it was suggested all Sunday school papers be saved and sent to Trinidad. Mrs. Bernard Gates and Mrs. Harold Anderson to be responsible for the Christmas church flowers and decorations. A tribute of appreciation was extended to the evening unit and the next meeting, December 8th is to be a joint meeting of the parent and evening unit.

The collection was received and dedicated.

An executive meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Mark Gordon and a list of officers for 1965 was presented and accepted. The officers were as follows: President: Mrs. Maurice Tompkins; 1st Vice-President: Mrs. Arthur Shier; 2nd Vice President: Mrs. Earl Spence; Recording secretary: Mrs. Linden Sinclair; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Mark Gordon; Treasurer, Mrs. Victor Bailey; Committee: Programme: Mrs. Tamblyn, Mrs. Earl Spence Mrs. Victor Bailey and Mrs. Lila Parson; Flowers for bereaved Mrs. William Flanders and Mrs. Sam Gorrill: Press, Mrs. Arthur Tamblyn and Mrs. E. Shoplifting time is here, Police Chief gives warning

Lindsay Police Chief John Hunter said Thursday that Christmas shoplifting time is here. He said this is the time of the year when some people attempt to pick up Christmas gifts for nothing.

The Police Chief suggested when residents are shopping they should keep their car doors locked and make sure the key is in the ignition switch. He said lady shoppers should not set down their purses on display counters while examining merchandise. The wallet or purse may be suddenly missing, he said.

Chief Hunter said some worthless cheques have been tendered to merchants for goods and the balance in cash. He warned that extra caution should be used in accepting cheques unless proper identification is shown.

Ladies Aid hold Christmas meet

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — The Ladies Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Fenelon Falls, held their December Christmas meeting at the Manse.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. G. Curtis the first vice president presided for the meeting.

Mrs. Curtis opened the meeting by reading a Christmas poem. She then called on the Rev. E. G. MacDonald to conduct the devotional period.

Mr. MacDonald read the Christmas story as recorded in the second chapter of St. Luke's gospel followed with prayer. He chose Christmas carols as the topic of his meditation. He noted first that these carols as we know them in Church today are of comparatively recent composition, written within the last two hundred and fifty years.

With the founding of the New England States and America, new carols came into favour and Carol singing was renewed after many years of denial.

As the origin of a number of chosen carols were mentioned, verses from these carols were sung.

After the regular business was transacted, Christmas readings were given by Mrs. Wm. Cunningham and Miss M. Demill.

A pleasant social time was enjoyed following the closing hymn and prayer.

Police Chief Warns Parents of Ice Dangers

Lindsay Police Chief John Hunter today warned Lindsay parents about the dangers involved when children are playing on the ice on the Scugog River.

Chief Hunter said the police department has received several calls with regard to this matter, "and in some instances, where tracks were observed on the ice, it was a miracle they had not gone through in some locations."

"At best, the ice appears to be treacherous anytime during the winter," remarked Chief Hunter.

This prompted many readers to call, particularly those from the Sunderland area, and we apologize to them for the oversight. "Christmas" theme of Mission Circle

Mrs. Peter Sears gave a paper on "Christmas" at the December meeting of the Scotch Line Mission Circle held at the home of Mrs. Joe Hunter on Wednesday, Dec. 2, with 10 members present. Mrs. Bert Robertson read a poem and several short excerpts from the magazine "Strength" and Mrs. Kimble rendered a solo. The meeting opened with a hymn and the Scripture reading from 100. The offering for cheer and missions and one birthday were taken. It was decided to send cards to the shut-ins and absent members at Christmas. Pillow cases made from sugar bags were brought in for the Youth Camp in Quebec and others given out to be made up. It was decided to send a box of used children's clothing to Quebec in the new year.

The meeting closed with a hymn, prayer and a social time was spent over refreshments.

Town decked with holly the whole year round

Millville, N.J. (UPI) — "Deck the halls with boughs of holly. Fa La La La La La."

Each Christmas time this familiar Christmas Carol rings out across the land. But here in this rural Southern New Jersey community the hills and just about everything else are decked with holly all the year round.

There are holly trees in front of banks, municipal buildings, the hospital, the American Legion Hall and in front yards, back yards and orchards.

For here in Millville is where one of the country's largest holly farms is located. The item has been such big business that millville bills itself as the "Holly City of America".

It all started some 40 years ago when a local businessman walking through the woods one brisk December afternoon came across some wild holly and decided to send some to his friends and customers as a seasonal greetings.

Clarence R. Wolf, President of the New Jersey Silica Sand Co., sent 42 boxes of holly to his customers that year. The following year he was swamped with requests for holly, and as the years rolled by the demand grew larger and larger.

Then, in 1939 Wolf planted 2,900 holly trees in an orchard and began marketing the foliage. Today Wolf's plantation has 14,000 trees in a 55-acre orchard.

Daniel Fenton, General Manager in charge of supervising the sand and the holly orchard, said the company will cut 50,000 pounds of holly for distribution this month throughtout the east.

This year's crop was one of the largest ever, he said, because of a dry summer and modern irrigation on the holly farm.

In addition to serving the holly needs of the eastern U.S. the company will export about 100 boxes to Canada. And some 3,000 boxes will be given away free by company customers and friends.

Holly has turned out to be an economic help to workers in the area.

The sand business drops off in the winter, but the Silica company avoids wholesale layoffs by sending its workers out to trim and harvest the holly crop.

The company has become so expert in the development of holly that this year it is offering 13 varieties of holly, including Millville, Eleanor, Lady Alice, Maurice River, Slim Jane, David, Silica King, Tiny Tim, Red Velvet, Clark and Yellow Berry.

ONE AT A TIME

Traffic accidents happen one at a time. In almost every accident, one person is responsible.

The obvious remedy is: each individual motorist and pedestrian must assume his responsibility to prevent the accident he is likely to cause. This isn't hard because there is only one driver or a walker alive who will admit to being careless, thoughtless, inconsiderate or careless in driving or deliberately or otherwise. It requires an honest personal examination of conscience by everyone who walks or drives, then an admission of responsibility and a strong will to assume it. Try it. It may frighten you, but it may save your life.

Jury fail to reach decision in break and enter case

After over three hours deliberation, the jury could reach no decision in the trial of Franklin William Thomas, 32, of Peterboro, who was arraigned in General Sessions of Victoria County Court, charged with breaking, entering and theft at the residence of Mrs. Marjorie Bowen, who lives near Fowler's Corner on Highway 7. The jury was discharged at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Evidence for the prosecution indicated that Mrs. Bowen had been watching television during a thunderstorm and had fallen asleep, and when she woke up suddenly a man was sitting at the entrance to her living room.

The accused said he did some work for Mrs. Bowen four times. He said the last time he sprayed the house with silicone and after the job was done she told him the cost of the material was too high. He said she stopped payment on the cheque and issued one in a lesser amount.

The accused, who worked part-time as a Peterboro motel told the court the $46 the police picked up off his dresser was part of his wages. He said the search wasn't thorough and said the police seemed to have found what they wanted and missed the $75 in cash that was in the bottom drawer.

When defense counsel M. J. Cunningham asked the accused if he would like to tell the court anything that had not been brought out in questioning the accused replied, "Only that I'm innocent".

Hawksbury OPP Corporal James Healey, who was a constable at the Peterboro Detachment when the incident occurred on April 22 of this year, said he received a message at 3 a.m. to proceed to the residence of Mrs. Bowen. He said after he checked the cellar, he went outside and saw footprints. Evidence revealed that the footprints were similar to those made by the shoes of the accused.

Trevor Grant, 22, of Peterboro said he and the accused were at a hotel until it closed. He said they left about 12:30 and went to get some mix for some liquor they had. They then drove to Norwood and returned to Peterboro. Mr. Grant said he took the accused home and had returned to his residence by 1:45 a.m.

The accused's mother said he came in about 1:15 p.m. wearing a three-quarter length coat and no hat. She said he staggered and went to bed. She said she later heard him go to the bathroom but didn't hear him leave the house. She said the police arrived at the house around 5 a.m. and asked permission to search the accused's room.

Opp Corporal H. Tasker said a screwdriver and a pair of gloves were found under the front seat of Mr. Grant's car Corporal Tasker said $50 in cash was also found in Grant's car.

A new trial is now slated for June 7.

Mayor urges housing probe

Mayor Joseph Holtom has asked for a probe into the housing standards in some areas of town.

At a planning board meeting Wednesday night, Mayor Holtom asked that a committee be set up early in the new year to study areas of potential blight.

The board was informed that no concrete study has as yet been made into the problem.

A model by-law drafted to eliminate buildings that tend to depreciate the property of others received little comment. The by-law would not be introduced in its present form, it was learned because it would be a tough by-law to get through." One board member, after reading the conditions of the document termed it "a Hitlerite by-law"

A complete study of the problem will be made next year.

NEWSPAPER SPURNS OFFSET PROCESS

The Gibsonburg (Ohio) "Derrick", for several years a tabloid size newspaper, printed by the offset process is reverting to full size and letterpress printing, the type of printing used by most newspapers.

William M. Campbell, new owner of the "Derrick" gave several reasons for the switchback.

"Cost is the primary reason, the subscriber will receive more for his dollar with letterpress. The objectionable kerosene odour which characterizes offset printing is absent with letterpress printing. Letterpress also permits a sharper more legible page, one much more comfortably and easily read. Letterpress gives the publisher closer control of the publication and permits more accurate editing."

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York (UPI) — Millions of Santa's helpers are doing their Christmas shopping the lickety-split way.

And it's a sticky business.

Instead of using cash, charge accounts or credit cards, they're taking the trading stamps out of the sugar bowl and sticking same to the books –so many of which are good for items on display at redemption centers.

At present it is estimated that the stamps are collected in 48 million households–or four out of five families.

Dr. Eugene Beem,an economist and vice president of Sperry and Hutchinson Co., one distributor of trading stamps, reports that nearly half of those going through the stamp act regularly will spend the stamps Christmas shopping.

These people use the stamps the way other person use Christmas service clubs. They save up and then spend with abandon in the frenzied ritual known as Christmas shopping.

Toys head the list of gifts acquired the stamp way–and dolls top the list, as might be expected.

After dolls–an estimated 350,000 bought by stamps–come red wagons. Stretched handle to end, the little wagon bought via stamps during the Christmas season would span 15 miles.

No one, not even Dr. Beem, knows why little red wagons are in such demand. Blue and green wagons just don't do so well. Perhaps part of the explanation of the popularity of the "red" wagon comes from colour psychologists.

They maintain that red is the most intensely exciting colour. And a boy getting a wagon for the first time accepts it in an intensely exciting mood–because he intends to have happiest times with same!

Other items in particularly heavy demand at the stamp redemption centers around watches, jewelry, perfumes and toilet goods.

Wallets–with or without a few sample trading stamps or sample of long green–are bought by stamps to the tune of 250,000 per yule season.

Dr. Beem said geographic location has considerable influence on the type of Christmas gift merchandise favored by redemption centre shoppers.

In Florida and Southern California, where leisure time is given over to water recreation and sports, gifts that can be placed in immediate use are in demand.

Fishing gear, for one example, is a favourite.

In the San Francisco area the fastest moving toy for boys is a realistic style gun and holster set a la Wyatt Earp and Marshall Dillon.

In the Mountain States, camping and fishing equipment are popular stamp-saver items.

In Denver, Colo., however, the stamp merchandisers say there's a run on wine glasses and decanters during the holidays.

In practical New England, as one might suspect, gifts for the homemaker and useful electrical appliances take the lead in redemptions.

These include some appliances worked by elbow grease. Samples: an egg-beater, a potato masher.

POLICE WON'T "COVER"

Dallas (UPI) — A Dallas husband learned that the police department won't provide a cover story for a big night on the town.

Police Chief Jesse Curry received a letter bawling him out for keeping the errant husband in jail overnight without access to a phone. An investigation revealed that the husband had lied and told his wife he was in jail on a particular night when he failed to come home.

Political Notebook

Ottawa (UPI) — Is there a steadily widening gap between Parliament and the rank-and-file Canadian voter?

A substantial body of opinion in the Capital holds that there is. The view is the corollary of the current paradox whereby the Pearson Government, which logically should be living precariously on borrowed time, appears on the contrary to be surrounded by considerable security.

Winds of scandal, blown up by incidents ranging from a narcotics case before the courts to furniture purchased by Cabinet Ministers who paid nothing down to firms who ended up in spectacular bankruptcy despite high government connections, have left the Pearson administration apparently unshaken. An almost complete breakdown in the machinery of Parliament, which at times has threatened the routine functioning of government itself, has brought criticism which has stopped short of decisive action. The Thompson Social Credit Group whose leader has just returned from an unprecedented junket to Africa set up by External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, has made it clear that it doesn't propose to see the Pearson administration toppled. The handful of less than a dozen votes that it controls now gives the Thompson Social Credit rump a strategic if not necessarily salutory balance of power.

Ordinarily, the aura of combined scandal and incompetence in which the present Liberal ministry has become involved would be sufficient to topple it from power and force it to the country. The issues, furthermore, are the sort the ordinary voters does not normally condone when he marks his ballot.

In other words, the feeling is growing steadily in the capital both among parliamentary observers and in political circles, that the present highly artifical situation in the House of Commons is resulting in much kinder treatment for the Pearson Government than it would receive at the hands of the voter if it went to the country.

Since a Parliament which is at cross-purposes with the rank-and-file of the nation obviously has ceases to be a representative body, it follows that Democratic principles at least are in a state of suspension. That is the feature of the current situation which is causing the greatest concern to the growing army of observers here in the capital who are, as the popular saying goes, "viewing things with alarm".

The answer of the government to all such interpretations of the present state of affairs is, of course that they are the products of biased minds. The ministry pontificates impressively that a general election would not be in the public interest and that the public does not want one. But if refrains from giving the public an opportunity to express its agreement or otherwise with the proposition that no other regime can improve upon the record which the present administration is adding to daily.

In Federal political circles the reputation of Governments in power as disinterested judges of public opinion is a trifle tarnished at the moment and does not stand too high. The reason is understandable. When Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent called a general election back in 1957 he was convinced that the voters were eager to instruct his government to carry on. Similarly, when Rt. Hon. John Diefenbaker went to the country in 1962 it was to collect the accolade which he was confident the voters had ready for him. Both Prime Ministers proved astray in their judgement. And confidence in politicians who undertake to read the minds of the voters in advance of their actions at the ballot box has been weakened ever since.

(By United Press International

Hollywood, (UPI) — Quinn Martin, one of the best television producers, says the medium suffers because "we're all doing too much on TV."

Martin's Quin Productions Company makes two series, "12 O'Clock High" and "The Fugitive."

"We try to hire the best writers we can find," Martin said recently during lunch. "We find we fail there too because we're all doing too much on TV. And the good writers are writing too much."

When Martin said "We fail there too," he was referring to the strict interpretation of success and failure that he places on his own work.

Television producers rarely will admit publicly to failure. Such failures are usually argued behind the cosed doors of network and sponsor offices.

"By my standards we fail one third of the time," said Martin. "Were' superior one third of the time and good one third of the time."

Martin says his company gets $135,000 to produce each segment of a show. Much of the money is spent bringing actors to Hollywood from such places as Canada and New York each week," he said. "We like to show faces that aren't seen on television every week."

From Canada, he must import English Girls to play roles for London Scenes in in "12 O'Clock High." "Work permit restrictions that exist between England and America are such that he can't bring the girls over from London.

And American actresses, he says, have problems with the English accent.

"We've had to scramble and get girls over here with an accent," Martin said. "We sent a man up to Canada and found 15 of them up there.

"We tried to use an American actress with a fake English accent once. It didn't work.

"You can do it on a stage where you have months of rehearsal. You learn the accent and build the part into it. But in television the most we get is a five day notice. It averages out that the actor gets a script three days before the job."

Martin's success in the highly competitive independent production field has brought him several offers to expand his organization and make more shows.

He has refused most offers, agreeing to do one new show planned for next season. It's "Will Banner," which has Steve Forrest playing a Sheriff, and Lola Albright in the role of a woman running a small town newspaper.

"It's a simple thing," Martin said. "With all the gimmicks on now, I felt the market is so saturated that the public is ready for a straight drama. It's the simple story of an elected official in an Indiana town, and all his problems."

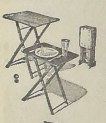

Asked why he didn't expand his operation and produce more shows, Martin answered, "When I sell a show I want to spend a lot of time with it.

"And I also want to be with my family," said Martin, who is married and a father of three children. "I'm tired of playing studio."

GM strike moves into ninth day

Toronto (UPI) — The strike of 23,500 General Motors workers moved into its ninth day today with only settlements on local agreements at the diesel plant in London, Ont., and the master contract to be negotiated.

The company and the United Autoworkers Union arrived at an agreement yesterday on local issues at the main Oshawa plant.

Earlier settlements had been negotiated at the subsidiary McKinnon Industries plants in St. Catherines and Windsor, and the Frigidaire plant in Toronto.

A union spokesman indicated last night that "seniority" is the chief snag preventing settlement of local issues at the London plant.

He said the company and union negotiators had held two or three meetings yesterday to iron out the London situation but he would not hazard a guess when a settlement could be expected.

The spokesman said it appeared talks on the new three-year master plan to replace the one which expired Oct. 31 would have to put off until local agreement is reached at London.

The company has insisted for the beginning that all local issues be ironed out before any talks are held concerning the master plan.

A GM strike in the United States dragged on for weeks after the master plan had been obtained because of unresolved local agreements.

It is belived settlement of the Oshawa dispute will pave the way for a more rapid agreement in other areas of the strike.

The Oshawa plant has the greatest number of strikers — 14,500. St. Catharines has 6,275, Windsor, 1,150, Toronto, 1,000, and London, 650.

In discussions on the master plan the union wants wage increases ranging from 40 cents to $1.40 an hour to bring Canadian wages on a par with American.

It also wants pensions similar to those in the United States — $328 to $400 a month.

The union has rejected a GM proposal of pay hikes of 13 cents an hour spread over three years and also an offer to increase pensions to $202 a month.

Churches must seek members Kiwanis told

Rev. W. T. (Ted) J. Boadway of Cambridge Street Baptist Church was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting of Tuesday and developed an interesting thought in an impressive manner. Taking as his subject "Lindsay in Transition" the clergyman dealt with the growth in Lindsay's population in the past thirty years and the prospects for further explosion in this direction and the outlook for industrial expansion.

Lindsay businessmen, churchmen and service club men should be ready for this transition and accept the same, he said. Business methods are changing and merchants must go out after business. The same idea holds true in religious trends and churches today cannot expect people to go to church as in the past, he said, churches must go out and seek membership. The challenge of transition faces service clubs too said Rev. Boadway, and they, too, must seek new members during this period of transition.

The meeting was in charge of Past President Herb Hardy. The vote of thanks was expressed by Past President Lawson Blakely.

Special entertainment was provided in an excellent manner by Al Kirk and Bill Slade.

BAD LAD

Dayton, Ohio (UPI) — Within minutes after police here released a man from custody last night they were looking for him again. Having served his sentence, the man pulled a fire alarm while walking out of the station, jumped into a waiting taxi and vanished.

Main Street Comments

Now that municipal elections are over for another year it might be well for the Town Council to give some consideration to the clarification of polling divisions. Ever since the system was changed from North, South and East Wards to the present system of subdivision 1, 2, 3, etc., in each ward there has been confusion. The sub-divisions are all right and they are held in proper places, but the average voter never knows just where he or she has to vote. In the future some attention should be made to advise ratepayers not only that they vote in some sub-division, but it should be made known just where that division is located, for example in Alexandra School, the Legion Hall, Victoria, or where the polling booth is located.

Workers at four of the Ontario plants walked out Dec. 3. However, the 14,000 Oshawa workers staged a wildcat strike [illegible] before the others.

Santa Claus parade highlights

Sunderland (PNS) — The annual Santa Claus Parade is over for another year. The success of the parade was due to the co-operation of the many organizations in town entering a float and also to the Horseshoe Restaurant, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Evans and Jean Baker for their entries.

The Fire Truck led the parade followed by a float done by the firemen on "Smokey the Bear" Then a truck from County Cartage. The Lions Club had their 'Gay Nineties' car and several of the members of the Lions Club clowned along the route in costumes handing out sweets to the children. One very beautiful religious float sponsored by the Anglican Church Chancel Guild featured an organ, altar, stained glass windows and choir singing Christmas carols.

The Brock Agricultural Society entered a beautifully decorated 'Merry Christmas' float with girls dressed like Christmas trees. Smiling C.G.I.T. girls were celebrating their 50th anniversary as they sat around a huge cake. The Jean Baker float in white, blue and silver, carried the 'Snow Queen' on her throne and her attendants. The Horseshoe Restaurant featured an Indian float, while Santa's Workshop' was featured by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Evans. Four little Santa's were hard at work at their bench while Mrs. Santa filled the bags. Frosty the snowman was out again waving to everyone but this year he had a friend, a little mouse with huge ears gaily ringing a bell. Then to please the children, there was 'Jack and Jill' at the bottom of the hill with their empty pail. Sponsors of the parade, were Brock Branch 141 Royal Canadian Legion Stan Miller, Brock District High School provided the music and the Commodettes majorettes under the leadership of Joan Bennett did a very fine job.

This year the candies were given out at the Township Hall. About 600 children lined up to receive a bag from Santa.

Lands and Forests await reports from hunting camps

1965 executive of Fenelon UCW are installed

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — Rev. M.C. Fisher installed the 1965 executive of the U.C.W. of Fenelon Falls United Church at their December meeting, which was held in the Lowre Hall. Mr. Fisher commended the U.C.W. for their fine work during the past year. Miss V. MacIntosh also commented on the slate and their fine work during the year. She paid special tribute Mrs. Vesey and her work as social convenor.

Routine business followed when it was decided to hold the January meeting a week later than the regular date, so that it will not conflict with the Week of Prayer service. All units reported on their activities of the past year.

Each unit contributed a number to the programme, which was, as a result quite varied. Unit One took the ladies back in memory as each recalled what they most remembered about Christmas.

Lunch was served in Friendship House by the ladies of Unit Five. During the lunch hour, Mrs. C. Wray was presented with a Birthday Cake, the meeting coming on her birthday. A carol and prayer concluded a very fine meeting.

Social evening held by Women of Moose

The Women of the Moose held their Chapter Night programme on Wednesday, December 9th, with 42 members present. The meeting was opened by Senior Regent, Mrs. Roderick McNichol. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Collegion Mrs. Aylmer Barnsley. Reports were read by, Publicity - Mrs. Austin Barjarow; Sick Committee by Mrs. William Bacon; Officers by Mrs. Roderick McNichol; Social Service by Mrs. Goudie Laurenson; Academy of Friendship by Mrs. Trevor Sterling and Moosehaven by Mrs. Jack Bell.

The enrolment of Mrs. Orville Bell and Mrs. Cornelius Donker took place.

The evenings programme was in charge of Mrs. Goudie Laurenson and her committee. The exchange of Christmas gifts took place. There were some Christmas carols sung.

The lucky prize was won by Mrs. Jim Calvert.

There are an estimated 7,000 to 8,000 camp hunters in the northern half of the Lindsay District. Each year all camp licencees on Crown land and as many private camp owners as can be contacted are asked to report the results of their hunt on a form designed for this purpose. The 1964 list of camps or hunting parties runs to over 550 names and returns will probably not be complete for some time.

Hunters success figures cannot be computed until all returns are in (a reminder was recently mailed to those whose returns have not yet been received) but it is still possible to compare this year's hunt with last year's. Where we have 1963 and 1964 returns from the same camp we can use the differences in the numbers of men hunting and deer killed to reveal marked changes in hunting success from one year to the next.

To date 355 camps from 30 townships report 54 more men and 90 more deer bagged than in 1963. Therefore, we must assume, in these areas at least, hunting has generally improved.

Success is up in nine townships. Anson, Burleigh, Cavendish, Clyde, Digby, Eyre, Galway, Glamorgan and Methuen. Little or no change can be detected in eleven town-ships, Anstruther, Bruton, Cardiff, Dudley, Harburn, Harvey, Hindon, Lutterworth, Monmouth, Sherborne and Snowdon. Six townships show a somewhat poorer hunt. Chandos, Dalton, Dysart, Guilford, Somerville and Stanhope.

Camps that have not already replied are urged to make their returns soon to the department. All camps replying will receive a complete report on the results of the 1964 hunt.

World news today

Madrid — The Spanish cabinet is expected to decide today whether to allow former Argentine dictator Peron to remain in Asylum in Spain.

Diplomatic sources say Spain might give way to pressures from South American governments and advise Peron to seek asylum elsewhere.

Washington — Presentation before a federal grand jury is the next step in the U-S justice department's case against 21 men arrested in connection with the killing of three civil rights workers in Mississippi.

The government suffered a setback at a preliminary hearing yesterday when U-S commissioner Esther Carter ruled out testimony concerning an alleged confession obtained by the F.B.I from one of the suspects.

Vancouver — Vancouver's rejection of a By-law calling for approval of plans between the city and Stafford Smythe for construction of an eight-million dollar coliseum has brought forth a compromise plan by British Columbia Premier W.A.C. Bennett. Bennett suggests the province, city and federal government join to build the coliseum and convention centre.

Quebec — Provincial police are stringently enforcing the law prohibiting the carry of liquor between Ontario and New Brunswick into Quebec.

The law is not normally enforced, but a strike by Quebec liquor board employees has changed the situation.

Saigon, Viet Nam — South Vietnamese government troops mopped up after major battles in which they killed at least 200 communist guerrillas. Six Americans were reported killed and a seventh was listed as missing in the fighting in the north and central portions of South Viet Nam.

Leopoldville, The Congo — Congolese government troops recaptured the town of Paulis, about 210 miles northeast of the former rebel capital of Stanleyville. The recapture coincided with reports in Leopoldville that Congolese rebels had salughtered 10,000 Africans in recent months.

Rome — Eight communist members of the Italian parliament were among the injured in a battle between police and communist led demonstrators protesting the visit of Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe to Rome. Tshombe had an audience with Pope Paul VI earlier in the day. The Pope urged him to end the "Fraticidal struggle" in the Congo.

Oslo, Norway — Dr. Martin Luther King accepted "this award and abiding faith in America" — the Nobel Peace Prize which was awarded him for his non-violent policy in the civil rights struggle. King was visibly moved during the award ceremony in Oslo University where he was presented a diploma, a gold medal and a check for $54,600 which he has pledged to the cause of racial freedom and equality.

Stockholm, Sweden — Dr. Charles Townes of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Konrad Bloch of Harvard were among the scientists presented the 1964 Nobel Prize awards for chemistry, Physics and medicine in Stockholm. Missing from the ceremonies was Jean-Paul Sartre, the French Existentialist Author, who was awarded the Nobel Prize for literature but who rejected the honour "For objective and personal reasons."

United Nations, N.Y. — Mamadou Ba, Foreign Minister of Mali, and Foreign Minister Louis Beovagui of Guinea pressed the attack in the Security council against the U.S. - Belgian rescue operation in the Congo. Condemning the action as aggression Ba said the mission was carried out by the same warlike forces of reaction that led to the assassinations of President Kennedy, Congolese Leader Patrice Lumumba and to the death of U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Dominion Rubber to buy plant site in St. Jean, Que.

St.-Jean, Quebec, Dec. 15 — Dominion Rubber Company Limited has announced its intention to buy a plant site about 100 acres in this city. On it will be constructed a $10,000,000 plant for the manufacture of passenger tires.

In making the announcement, M.F. Anderson, president of Dominion Rubber Company, stated that the tire plant will initially employ more than 200 people, most of them from the St-Jean area, when it goes into operation in early 1966. When in full production it will employ a substantially larger number of people. Construction work is scheduled to begin in 1965.

His Worship the Mayor, L. N. McMillan, stated that the new plant will be a considerable benefit to the industrial life and the people of St-Jean.

According to D. H. Gordan, vice president, manufacturing, of the rubber company, the tire plant will supply tires for passenger automobiles to the new General Motors factory in St-Therese. It will also be in a position to handle the tire needs of other automobile manufacturers in Quebec and the Maritimes, and provide Dominion Royal passenger tires to sales outlets in this area.

The tire plant will take up about 300,000 sq. feet in a building mostly one storey high. Mr. Gordon stated that the remainder of the large plot of land is earmarked for expansion of the tire plant, and a future factory for production of other rubber products.

The Dominion Rubber president stated that the Mayor and city council as well as the industrial commissioner of St-Jean had been most helpful in providing complete information and assistance in the preliminary negotiation stages. "Quebec's industrial position is brilliant", he stated, "and our company intends to share fully in its fast-growing prosperity". Mr. Anderson also stated that his company was looking forward to the day when it becomes a corporate citizen of this fine community.

Dominion Rubber Company Limited is Canada's oldest and largest rubber company. It was founded on the Montreal waterfront in 1854. More than 6,500 work for the company, half of them at Quebec.

At Papineau and Notre Dame Streets is the company's head office, almost on the exact location of the first company plant. Adjoining the head office is an industrial products plant which manufactures such products as conveyor belting, hose, tank linings and many other industrial products.

At St-Jerome, Quebec is the Dominion footwear factory which employs more than 1,500 people and manufacturers a complete line of winter footwear and casual summer footwear.

Ville d'Anjou, Quebec, is the site of the newest company plant which manufacureres reclaimed rubber and solvent adhesives. This plant will go into full operation in mid-winter.

At Kitchener, Ontario are the company's tire plant, general products factory and textile factory. Two new factories for the manufacure of tire cord and high pile textiles are under construction at Lindsay, Ontario.

Dominion Rubber also manufactures herbicide chemicals and plastics at Elmira, Ontario and Clover Bar, Alberta.

Two men, Cyril O'Connor of Lindsay and Felix Roberge of 54 Logie Street, Lindsay, were fined $25 and costs each in Lindsay Police Court today or 15 days for being drunk in the police office yesterday.

Toronto (UPI) — T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party Leader said last night Canada is not getting the leadership it needs in Ottawa.

"The government can't make up its mind where it is going," Douglas told nearly 900 people attending a testimonial dinner for Ontario NDP leader Donald MacDonald.

"Legislation is introduced and withdrawn. The government takes one step forward and two back.

"For one and a half years we have had a government without a leader and a government without a policy," Douglas said.

"I'm not concerned about being the Prime Minister of Canada. This is not the important thing. I know if you work hard enough the man that replaces me will be Prime Minister " the NDP leader told the audience.

"We are the foundation" he said", "upon which other men and women will build."

Douglas criticised Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's insistence on staying with the flag issue.

"No mention of the flag was made in the Speech from the Throne. On June 3, the Prime Minister read a list of 38 items of legislation. The flag was not one of them. Most of those 38 items aren't going to be passed.

"On June 15, the Prime Minister brought up the flag issue. We warned him this would tie up his legislation programme" Douglas said.

"We finally persuaded him to send the flag to a committee and we urged him to leave the flag alone. But he went back to it.

"This parliament will see more legislative items die than any of the past", Douglas predicted.

Douglas said he did not consaid the flag to be unimportant but he said he thought it could have waited because of the more pressing importance of such items as the Canada Pension Plan, the National Labour Code and the establishment of Medicare.

He said real problems arising "out of automation and economic dislocation" have been swept under the rug.

The flag debate is a red herring to hide the government's failure to grasp the read problems", the NDP leader charged.

He suggested many Canadians are fed up with the "Indecision of the Liberals" and the "obstruction of the Conservatives".

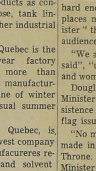

"We have never had as great an opportunity as that which lies before us at the present time", Douglas said in discussing the future of the NDP.

"If we can mobolize our resources we have a chance for a major break-through politically", he said.

"My pledge to you is-give us 70 seats in the next Parliament."

STATION WAGON, TRUCK COLLIDE AT KINMOUNT

A station wagon driven by Jack Thomas Dettman of Kinmount sustained $1,200 damage when it crashed into a truck owned by the Austin Company of Kinmount on the lower Crystal Lake Road at 4 p.m. yesterday.

Fenelon Falls OPP said the driver of the station wagon received a lacerated ear and thumb and his mother, Margaret Dettman, who was a passenger in the car, sustained bumps on her head. Police said Mr. Dettman claimed to have been blinded by the sun when his vehicle crashed into the truck, driven by James Stephen Wilson of Kinmount which was parked on a hill. Police said the truck, loaded with logs, sustained about five dollars damage.

Fenelon Falls OPP Corporal W. H. Gould investigated.

Missing man may be in Toronto

The investigation into the disappearance of Marvin Trowbridge, 42, of 8 Adelaide Street South, has moved to Toronto following a new lead received by Lindsay Police into the missing man's whereabouts. Lindsay police received information that Vincent Cole of RR1 Fraserville, picked up a hitchhiker in Peterboro at 3:45 p.m. on December 14 and gave him a ride to the junction of Highways 115 and 28. Lindsay Police said the description fitted that of Marvin Trowbridge, the object of an air and ground search in the past two days.

Lindsay Police Chief John Hunter said Corporal Ross Bailey of the Lindsay Police Department took a photograph of Mr. Trowbridge to Mr. Cole at Fraserville yesterday and Mr. Cole identified it as the person he picked up.

Police said the man had told Mr. Cole he was going to Toronto.

Lindsay Police Chief John Hunter said the investigation has now moved to the Toronto area.

Christmas in Huronia

Midland, Ontario — It was nearly 350 years ago that Christianity and Christmas first came to the wilderness which is now Ontario, Canada.

The Recollects came here from France in 1615. Then, 14 years later, the Jesuits conoed and portaged their way through forbidding country to Huronia to set up their main mission on the banks of the River Wye just east of present-day Midland.

Painstakingly the priests, their handful of artisans and willing Indians, erected the palisades pole by pole until some 10,000 of them surrounded the encampment which was later to become "Ste. Marie Among the Hurons," farthest westerly outpost of the white man in Canada. It was here the Indians probably saw their first nativity scene and celebrated one of their first Christmases with these missionaries from France.

In 1649 when the Jesuits burned the mission rather than let it fall into the hands of the warring Iroquois, many hundreds of tribesmen apparently from as far away as present-day Florida had come to see and hear the story of the nativity and to partake in the festivities of Christmas.

Today, in the Huronia Museum at Midland, can be seen the Nativity Diorama as created by the National Museum of Canada. It depicts the Indian interpretation of the nativity with the three Indian chieftains of the Ottawa tribe, the Cree, and the Tumicas allegedly from Florida as the Three Wise Men.

The shepherds are wandering hunters of the Naskapi tribe from north of the St. Lawrence River. The "Wise Men" have come bearing gifts of "furs and pelts."

Ste. Marie Among the Hurons, located just a fe whundred yards below the twin spires of the Martyrs' Shrine, is at present being completely reconstructed by the Ontario Government with the University of Western Ontario acting as technical agent. The fort site, which drew upwards of 50,000 pilgrims and tourists from all over the world last summer, is scheduled for completion in time for Canada's Centenial year — 1967.

Work at the site is being carried out by Dr. Wilfrid Jury, honorary curator of the University Museum of Indian Archaeology and Pioneer Life. The doctor has spent more than two decades in archaeological research at Ste. Marie and in varied Ontario holiday-land known as Huronia.

DECEMBER 16, 1939

Will seek election

The Mayor, Deputy-Reeve and three Aldermen who come up for election this year will all run again, it was learned at the statutory meeting of council held on Friday evening. Since Reeve Langdon, Aldermen Daniels, Ferguson, Gordon and McLennan were all elected for two years, it means there is possibility of the same council as 1939 being in office in 1940.

Mayor Claxton spoke briefly at the end of the council meeting thanking the council, the officials and press for co-operation and courtesy during the year.

New member

Dr. H. D. Logan, ex-mayor, was appointed on Friday night to the Lindsay Hydro Commission to complete the term of office of the late John McCrae. Dr. Logan's appointment to the post came after considerable voting by the council which found itself deadlocked in a vote between he and C. V. Sleep.

When the matter was introduced, Alderman Earl Vanstone proposed the name of C. V. Sleep for the post. He expressed regret that it was necessary to appoint a man to occupy Mr. McCrae's place on the commission and paid tribute to the deceased as a good citizen and valued member of the Commission.

Shot

John Endicott, well-known Reaboro-district farmer, was shot and instantly killed between nine and ten o'clock this morning on the "power-line road" five miles northeast of Reaboro. Dr. G. C. Collison, Lindsay, declared at noon today there would be no inquest, the decision having been made that the death was accidental.

Toy Sale

That judicious advertising brings success was demonstrated Tuesday morning and also this morning in the great rush for Christmas specials at R. L. Morgan and Weir's store. These enterprising merchants put on a special sale of dolls and other toys, and the results were most gratifying. R. L. Morgan offered a window full of excellent dolls and other toys at two for 25 cents and they disappeared before the rush of eager buyers Tuesday morning like snow before a chinook wind. The window was again filled with real, genuine bargains for the morning, and these too were rapidly gobbled up.

At Weir's store on Tuesday morning there was also a stampede for the 15 cent specials on sale and the clerks had a busy time of it for some minutes.

Firemen receive money

It was moved by Messrs. Warren and Smale that the report of the Fire Department be received and that the members are entitled to $25 and payment be made.

Wants tax returned

His Lordship Judge Harding has made a demand upon the town of Lindsay for the return of his income tax. This tax, it will be remembered was paid under protest.

Deputy Reeve Sam Smale pointed out that some seven decisions had been given on the point as to whether Judges should be assessed for income tax and the courts had decided both for and against the contention. The judge's request will be considered at a special meeting.

You, Your Child and School

(UPI)—A teacher should have the proper equipment, books, and class size to support her efforts. Such items help to improve the quality and effectiveness of instruction.

As an example of the value of equipment in the instructional programme, consider a class studying New York City or San Francisco or Vancouver. How might a variety of equipment be used? A teacher could locate the cities on a globe. A discussion of their locations might help students to understand why these cities have grown to their present size and importance. They are on large protected bays with easy access to the oceans. Large ships can safely dock and discharge their goods and passengers. The location of these cities gives a general indication of weather conditions. Maps can then be used to study the more detailed layout of the cities and surrounding areas.

Books are useful to gather information about the governments, industries, history, peoples, recreational facilities, and schools. This research information can be made more meaningful by using various movies, slides and film strips. Records and tape recordings might also be introduced.

Hundreds of words describing the New York City skyline will have real meaning when a student sees a movie showing the Empire State Building and Rockerfeller Center. Obviously, both approaches are necessary.

The entire study begins to take on real meaning when a variety of books and equipment are involved.

In other areas of the school programme equipment and supplies are also important. The health department should have devices for sight and vision screening. Physical education teachers need a variety of gym and sports equipment. Music teachers need instruments, phonographs, and records. Art teachers need clay, paint, kilns and sinks.

Another important area to consider is class size. Overcrowded classrooms interfere with good education. Teachers cannot meet the individual needs of students when classes are too large. Most educators seem to feel that a class size of twenty five is most appropriate. Naturally, this may vary depending upon the area and type of instruction. Choral music requires larger groups while remedial reading generally requires individual instruction.

Class size has a major influence on the budget. In order to reduce five classes with thirty students each to twenty-five students each, it would be necessary to form six classes. This means an additional teacher, another classroom, more furniture, and added supplies.

How important are the expenditures for equipment and class size in relation to the total budget? It should be considered wasteful to employ qualified teachers at good salaries without giving them the equipment and class size with which to carry on an effective instructional program.

Quality costs money. It is never expensive when considered in relation to the importance of education in our society. Recent studies show that it is much less costly to prepare students for productive lives than to provide unemployment and welfare payments.

CHRISTMAS OR JERUSALEM CHERRY

The Christmas or Jerusalem cherry is a decorative berried plant for the Christmas season. Most strains have red berries; some have yellow berries. The plants should be placed in good light in a cool temperature sav horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The plants should be given adequate water to prevent wilting; otherwise the leaves may drop off.

After Christmas when the berries drop off they may be saved and dried. The seed may then be sown in February or March. When the first true leaves appear prick out the seedlings about 2 inches apart in flats. Later, when the seedlings are large enough, they should be transplanted to 3 inch pots. During the early stages, keep the plants cool (55 to 60 degrees).

In spring after the danger of frost is over, transplant the young plants to the garden for summer growth, but they must be brought inside before frost.

HOUSEHOLD HINTBOOK

Nuts are blanched by immersing in boiling water for two minutes, then in cold water. Drain and remove the skins; then spread them in pans and put in a warm oven to dry for a few hours. The crispness of the nuts will depend upon their dryness.

Scratched Furniture

One preparation good for removing scratches from furniture is made from equal parts of the best salad oil and vinegar. Keep this in a bottle, shaking well before using, and rubbing the mixture into the wood until the scratches are gone.

Clean the soiled leaves of house plants by applying equal parts of milk and warm water. Use a sponge, rub gently to avoid breaking those tender leaves.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

Q. How can I add longer life to my furs?

A. Fur will last lots longer and look much better, too, if the closet in which you keep it is humidified. Place inside your closet a bowl of water into which you've put a sponge, and keep renewing the water as it evaporates.

Q. What is a good way to prevent chapping of the hands when I have an outdoor chore to perform where I can't wear gloves.

A. Rub castor oil well into your hands before you begin your outdoor chore, and again after you've finished.

Q. How can I get longer life from my pastry brush?

A. Brush will last longer if you wash and dry it carefully after each using. Hang it up to dry where the air circulates before putting it away.

Main Street Comments

A former Lindsay boy called at the Court House Tuesday to confer with James Hall, EMO Co-ordinator for the counties of Victoria and Haliburton. He was "Wally" Betts of Toronto from the head office of the Emergency Measures Organization, a son of a former Grand Trunk railway engineer who lived on Bond Street. "Wally" renewed acquaintances with friends when attending the Kiwanis luncheon. He is one of three brothers, "Stew" of Toronto and Stan of Vancouver. Inspector Betts said the EMO is now well organized in the province and he also spoke highly of the work being done by the Victoria and Haliburton officer James Hall.

Visitors at the official opening of the new A and P supermarket at the corner of William and Glenelg Streets, especially senior citizens recalled a few historical facts. The old red brick dwelling which stood at the corner and was laid low by the contractor was at one time the Registry Office for Victoria County. The demolition squad discovered the walls were several bricks thick. One of the first registrars was a gentleman by the name of Dunsford. In later years when the registry office was built on Francis Street it was operated by C.D. Barr who took over the post after disposing of his interests in the "Canadian Post", where he was the editor for many years.

Another old and historic residence in Lindsay is located at the north-east corner of Russell and Mills Streets. In the early days of Lindsay the first bank of Upper Canada was located in this large brick house. The walls are reported to be over a foot and a half thick.

The first Atlantic and Pacific store in Lindsay was located on Kent Street where the Woolworth variety store is now situated. One of the original managers in the store was Walter Mathesin who retired a few years ago after thirty years service.

Several years ago the Kiwanis Club supported a Junior Farmer's Potato Club and in recent years the 4H Grain Club, open for boys and girls. Members of the Grain Club plant and cultivate, harvest and exhibit the results of their labours at the Lindsay Central Exhibition... Christmas Day busiest of season for Bell Telephone operators

Lindsay Bell Telephone officials predict a total of 2200 long distance telephone calls will be made through the local exchange on Christmas Day. Mrs. Olive Foster, chief operator, says that this total will be an increase of 100 calls over the figure for last Christmas Day, and predicts that the same increase will apply for New Year's Day 1965.

The increase is part of a growing trend to making calls over greater distances. At one time a long distance call was scarcely contemplated other than for emergencies or for big business transactions. Recent improvements in telephone facilities and transmissions and—perhaps more important—the actual experience of speaking to friends and relatives hundreds, or even thousands of miles away, have made long distance calling a more familiar activity.

Station to station calls, according to Mrs. Foster, are your best bet on Christmas Day, and in both station to station, and person to person calling, knowing the telephone number you have to reach is of great assistance. "In calling by number" she says, "the time required to contact information in the city or town you are calling is eliminated, and unnecessary delays are avoided".

For this reason, Mr. C. B. Symonds local Bell manager, suggests that people intending to make calls try to ascertain the number to be called in advance. Distant numbers, in many cases, can be obtained by simply calling information at that point, or if this is not possible, dial 'operator' and ask for "Information" at the distant point. There is no charge for these calls.

Christmas Day is not quite the problem it used to be, as Bell have a system of alternate circuits which has greatly expanded the capacity of telephone lines. Christmas Day is however, traditionally and will no doubt continue to be, the busiest day of the season.

R. J. MARK GIVEN WARM WELCOME BY WATER BOARD

Members of the Lindsay Water Board, meeting in the committee room of the town hall extended the welcome hand to their new member R. J. (Bob) Mark yesterday afternoon. Mr. Mark was appointed to the board by the town council following the resignation of Lloyd Found as a member of the board, and the newly appointed member's term will carry through until Dec. 31st, 1966. A letter from the former member Lloyd Found was read at the meeting expressing his pleasure in serving on the water board since his appointment to replace the late Mr. Collins last April.

Equipment and water inspection reports were received at the meeting, with water tests showing grade "A" and all equipment reported in good condition.

Water board members expressed pleasure with the cooperation of their customers in the matter of pollution control charges which have been co-ordinated with their water bill. A survey of the programme revealed that the projected revenue will meet estimated demands.

Water board superintendent Robert Reynolds explained in detail the process of sampling and treating of the town water supply and outlined the accurate control achieved by this process. He also reported on the progress of the water main and sewer installation being carried out by Tripp Construction to service the new Dominion Rubber Co. plant. He said that already approximately 1,000 feet of pipe had been laid and the eight to ten inches of frost so far encountered had not caused any major difficulty.

Juror didn't show up — summonsed

Toronto, (UPI) — A woman whose non-appearance as a juror for an inquest meant a fifth juror had to be grabbed from the street today must explain why she didn't show up.

Edith Naulls, a Christmas season helper at the post office has been summonsed to appear before coroner Dr. Ralph T. Jonas.

Earlier, she said, she didn't appear for an inquest last week into the industrial accident death of Attila Illes because she received only a phone call last week and not a letter.

Flag factious issue from start comments writers in British press

London (UPI) — There were comments in the British press today on the vote in the House of Commons in Ottawa for the new Canadian flag.

The Daily Telegraph, in a leading editorial, said: "one of the advantages that distinguished a constitutional monarchy from other systems of loyalty are focused on a symbol which is not an abstraction but a living person who can typify the human values that lie within and beyond the mechanism of politics.

"In Canada, as was shown on the Queen's recent visit, this system of symbolism is in danger of breaking down. As Queen of Canada she embodies its national unity; and therefore separatist Quebec, though without malice towards her person, gave her an icy reception.

"As head of the commonwealth, she stands for the unity of that larger brotherhood, which from the days of MacKenzie King has been somewhat distrusted as containing a threat to Canada's untrammelled independence.

"So MacKenzie King's disciple, the present prime minister, Mr. Lester Pearson, setting out to flaunt Canada's nationhood before the commonwealth and the world, chose to proclaim it not through the crown but through the adoption of a new flag. The result has been 32 days of bitter debate—

"It was a factious issue from the first."

The Edinburgh Scotsman commented: "On the thirty-third day of the debate and after more than 250 speeches, Mr. Lester Pearson's new Canadian flag has at last reached half-mast.

"Summing up in this contentious debate, Mr. Pearson hoped that 'Canada can go forward as a strong and united country with this flag as its emblem.' Perhaps; but the flag will not do as much uniting as he hoped when he first suggested the change earlier this year —

The French - speaking people of Quebec may originally have been impressed, a bit, by Mr. Pearson's gesture; but the prolonged and somewhat hysterical protest from certain English-speaking groups, taken up by Mr. Diefenbaker, has had a divisive effect.

ment and we'll turn Parliament upside down. Give us 170 seats and we'll turn Canada right side up", Douglas said.

MacDonald said "The people of Canada are listening to us where before they wouldn't listen to us".

The Ontario NDP leader predicted the "Finest Hour" of the NDP is coming.

Former Lindsay man dies in city

Albert "Bud" English, 47, formerly of Lindsay and who now works in Toronto is reported to have died in an accident in Toronto today. Mr. English, brother of Mrs. J. H. Miner of Lindsay, was employed at the Canadian Arsenal in Lindsay.

Metropolitan Toronto Police told "The Post" an autopsy was held late this afternoon but the cause of death was not known at press time. No other details are available at present.

Carry coals to Newcastle yet!

A 27 man rugby football squad of university players will leave Canada to-night to spend the Christmas holiday season on an exhibition tour of Britain.

The intercollegiate team includes six players from Queen's and one from the University of British Columbia, but is primarily from the University of Toronto. The Varsity squad which makes up the bulk of these touring footballers has won 31 out of 44 games tied another six in the past four years.

The Canadian squad, 22 native born Canadians, will meet England's Sidcup RFC on December 19, then go to Wales to play Llanelly Wanderers on the 23rd, and a combined team of Tonyrefail and Gilach Goch RFC on Christmas day. The last day of the year they will play the Edinburgh Wanderers II on their home ground. Two days later they meet a RFC alumni team from Glasgow's Jordanhill. The Canadians are scheduled to fly back January 7th.

Town council guests of Kiwanis Club

Mayor Joseph Holtom and members of the 1965 town council were guests of the Kiwanis Club at Tuesday's meeting and Town Clerk and Treasurer Bud Bates acted as Chairman and speaker for the meeting.

His talk on municipal organization and operation was complete with interesting facts and a few figures, as he traced the origin of local government back to the days of Upper and Lower Canada.

At the close of the talk President Harry Johnson expressed the thanks of the gathering.

The club will hold its annual Christmas party on Tuesday next.

will you get these benefits if you buy insurance directly from some companies?

An independent agent represents several insurance companies; therefore he's able to do the following:

1. He selects the right policies for you —from a wide variety of possibilities.
2. He gives you impartial advice. Can a company salesman be impartial?
3. He helps you with claim details when you have a loss. You don't deal with the insurance company adjuster alone.
4. He represents companies noted for their fast, fair payment of claims.
5. He gives continuous, personal service.
6. He represents only strong, reliable companies.
7. He is alert to new developments.
8. He knows local conditions.
9. He is professionally trained.
10. He is available day and night.
11. He has over 15,000 associates throughout North America who will give you help at any time.

As independent insurance agents we'll be happy to put these 11 reasons to work for you—to tailor car, home, or business insurance to your specific needs. Call us any time.

World news today

Paris — The United States attempted to muster support for a new round of talks on its proposed multi-nation nuclear force. Secretary of State Dean Rusk attending a NATO council ministers meeting, issued an open invitation to the NATO allies to join in the proposed nuclear meeting. The move met immediate French resistance.

Paris — An official assess-ment showed that the NATO alliance, enhanced by the American nuclear umbrella, can field five times more trained troops, with the most modern weapons, than it could in 1951. Despite political strains the stresses within the alliance, NATO military men reportedly feel the allies are in good military shape.

Rome — Italy's Christian Democrats, led by Premier Al-do Moro, named 56-year-old neapolitan lawyer Giovanni Leone as the party's official candidate for the presidency. The Social Democrat party backed its leader, Foreign Minister Giuseppe Saragat. The outcome of the parliam-tary balloting could hinge on the Communist vote.

United Nations — Nigeria brought a spirit with its African neighbours into the open by defending the U.S.-Belgian mercy airlift to rescue white hostages held by Congolese rebels. Jaja Wachuku, For-eign Minister of Nigeria, told the Security Council the res-cue mission was justified. The Nigerian stance broke a solid front of black African charges of western intervention in the Congo.

Khartoum, Sudan — Reli-able sources said between 250 and 500 persons were killed, some by beheading, during two days of Sudanese riots. The government had reported only 40 deaths. The rioting occurred Dec. 6 and 7.

Moscow — The Soviet Union formally ordered the expul-sion of five Western military attaches, including three Americans and a Briton. The Kremlin said they were caught "red-handed" while spying in Siberia in September. The at-taches were recalled by their countries.

Jerusalem, Israel — Prime Minister Levi Eshkol, who re-signed with his cabinet, is ex-pected to move soon to form a new government. Parliamen-tary sources said President Zolman S. Shazar almost cer-tainly will ask Eshkol to form a new government. Eshkol was reported to have resigned in a maneuver to strengthen his position with his Mapai party.

Edmonton, Alta. — The city of Edmonton has approved purchase of 10 Japanese made buses and 25 British-built buses.

The Japanese buses will be supplied by Nissan Motor Corps. at a cost of $28,350 each and the British vehicles, a Daimler-Duple product at $27,903 each.

The city's transit superin-tendent said "we have not been satisfied with the ability of domestic or North Ameri-can manufacturers to com-pete either as to price or qual-ity".

Toronto — A Canadian flag manufacturer has reported re-ceiving an increasing number of calls from last-ditch Red En-sign supporters who apparent-ly wanted to ensure they would still have some copies of the old flag after the red Maple Leaf flag becomes offi-cial.

Ken Spink of Dominion Re-galia said: "We've been get-ting calls all day. Both from people wanting the new flag and a surprising number from those wanting the Red En-sign".

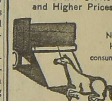

He said his firm would not go into mass production of flags until the official specifi-cations for the new flag are released.

"However, we are turning out a few for some customers, like radio stations, who want the new flag nog". In this the new flag now". In this case, his firm will use draw-

Two other firms, the Cana-diana textile print works and Scythes and Company said they would hold off making flags until they get official de-tails.

LAST CALL FOR CHRISTMAS!

What a surprise for any Lindsay family to find a gift-wrapped telephone sitting pertly under the Christmas tree! Whether a useful extension telephone, or a pleasing colour phone to replace an existing black one, this idea is hard to beat for both surprise-value AND practicality! If you've been stymied for something really different for your family or special friends in the Lindsay area, there's still time to give us a call at 324-3501. We'll gift-wrap and deliver the phone of your choice, and arrange to return and connect it after the surprise. Telephones don't grow on Christ-mas trees, but believe me they look mighty good under them!

ALWAYS THERE TO CALL ON

Errand boy . . . secretary . . . watchdog . . . or just a friend — how many roles will your telephone play during the weeks ahead? It's ready day or night to be anything you want it to be. As an errand boy, your telephone can help simplify your shopping, deliver your messages. As a secretary, it helps you arrange appointments, get things started, get things done. As watchdog that never sleeps, it adds a feeling of protection around the household because it's al-ways there to call on — in little emergencies or big ones. And, of course, your telephone is also a friend you can always count on when you're just plain lonesome or need moral support: it lets you visit relatives or friends . . . anywhere! . . . in hickety-split time. Whatever uses you want to put your telephone to—errand boy, secretary, watchdog or friend, you can count on it always being there to call on.

Merry Christmas!

If Santa had to do the shopping, what store do you think he'd choose? Chances are it would be Dominion! Here's why: aside from the genuine Friendly Courtesy of Dominion people, he would be impressed with Canada's greatest variety of his favourite Christmas foods. Merchants shoot down Clippers 7-3 revenge game here Friday at nine

Lindsay Merchants moved within one point of the front running Stouffville Clippers when they thumped the Clipper 7 - 3 in a long drawn-out game at Stouffville last night.

Although ten of the fifteen minor penalties went to Lindsay, two misconducts handed out by referee Blair Graham, both went to the Stouffville goalie which held up the game on two occasions.

The Clippers led 1 - 0 at the end of the first period after Pat Brown scored with the Merchants two men short at 7:38 and only solid goal-tending by Randy Reid kept the Merchants in the game for the rest of the period.

The equalizer goal by Pat McCabe at 5:40 of the second period was the start of the finish for Stouffville goalie Chuck Doyle. The shot, a screened roller from the Stouffville blueline rolled through the goalie's feet, hit the back of the net and rolled back out, striking the goalie's skates at which point the net minder grabbed the puck on the line. Not knowing that the puck had already been in and out the Stouffville crown screamed no-goal. Less than a minute later as the referee retrieved the puck in the Stouffville end, goalie Doyle must have made an unkind remark to the referee and Chuck was chucked out of the game. The referee tagged him with two misconducts which drew the automatic match penalty and expulsion. He later explained that he gave Doyle ten minutes for yapping, and the second ten for slamming the goal-post with his stick, in other words, a display of temper. The rule book in this regard stipulates that the alternate goalie as listed on the players roster cannot go in for a goal-keeper who has been tossed out of the game, so after a fifteen minute delay forward Don Penny took up his position between the pipes. Two minor penalties to Lindsay helped protect the impromptu goalie until one of his own players slid into him and Penny claimed injury and in this manner their alternate goalie Bob Wagg donned the pads about midway in the second period. The teams returned to the dressing rooms and the ice flooded at this point then returned to complete the second period, change ends and play the third period without further delay.

Garry Heffernan glanced a corner shot in off the goalie's stick at 12:56 to put the Merchants ahead but Rod Kelson tied the score on a three way move with Brown and Hood. Lindsay goals by Jackson, Taylor and Scheffe and a second goal by Pat Brown gave the Merchants a 5 - 3 lead at the end of two periods.

George Babcock all but decapitated the sub-goalie with a screaming drive from the blue line at 10:22 of the third period, and the final goal by Ron Pillsworth on a clean break-away at 14:39 settled the issue, but the Stouffville fans were still screaming as they left the Arena.

Lindsay Merchants had to come up with a good effort to win last night's game. In the first place, Christmas exams rightfully took precedence for two of the Merchants which threw the forward lines off balance and gave George Babcock triple time serving on his forward line and taking double shifts on defence. Randy Reid robbed the Stouffville attackers time and again as their persistant fore-checking gave them many shots at point blank range.

The Stouffville goalie situation pointing up the wisdom of the Merchants alternating system for their goalies. When the Clippers did get their sub-goalie in action, it was his first appearance this season and added unnecessary pressure.

Scoring Summary

1st Period

1. Stouffville, Brown from Kelson and McLean, 7:38. Penalties: Morasse (interference) 7:27; R. McCabe (face-off interference) 7:30; Brown (slashing 13:31; Jackson (bench penalty) 16:08; Reesor (high sticking) 16:33; R. McCabe (slashing) 18:13.

2nd Period

2. Lindsay, P. McCabe from Yearwood, 5:40; 3. Lindsay, Heffernan from Taylor, 12:56; 4. Stouffville, Kelson from Brown and Hood 13:52; 5. Lindsay, Jackson from Yearwood, 15:32; 6. Lindsay, Taylor from Graham and Purdy 18:05; 7. Lindsay, Scheffe unassisted, 18:59; 8. Stouffville, Brown from Kelson and Hood, 19:24. Penalties: Scheffe (face-off interference) 7:48; Reid (freezing the puck) 9:56; P. McCabe (hooking) 16:42; Benson (hooking) 17:15.

3rd Period

9. Lindsay, Babcock unassisted 10:22; 10. Lindsay, Pillsworth from R. McCabe and Babcock 14:39. Penalties: Aida (roughing) 3:55; Jackson (high sticking) 3:55; P. McCabe (elbowing) 12:06; Kelson (hooking) 12:32; R. McCabe (interference) 15:48.

Stouffville Clippers return to the Kiwanis Arena Friday night and they will be out for revenge. The removal of their star goalie last night burned up the Clippers and did little to help their game. The Merchants however should be back at full strength for Friday night's tilt and it should be a dandy. The Clippers are a fast skating team and excellent fore-checkers which was very effective in breaking up Lindsay attacks in the Lindsay end of the ice. Game time Friday night is nine p.m. and some tickets will be available at the Arena.

Youth dies after trench collapses

A 19-year-old Cobourg youth, Eugene Hope died after he was buried in an 8-foot deep trench which collapsed while he was installing a water-main in Oshawa yesterday, at 11:20 a.m. Oshawa Police said several workers dug him out and rushed him to the Oshawa hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival. "GOOD WILL TOWARD MEN"

The Salvation Army makes Christmas 365 days a year a reality . . .

Christmas 365 days a year would pose quite a problem for most people. The children would probably be in favour of it but for the adults it would mean a lot of work and a lot of giving, something that is difficult for many even at the festive season. Perhaps though, if one were to look deep into Christmas, setting aside the general concept of Santa Claus and over-commercialization which seems to be the first thought to enter one's mind regarding the Christmas tide, the possibility of a year-round Christmas could be seen.

Christmas, which is a Christian festival, is a commemoration of the birth of Christ. The tradition of giving gifts at first glance appears to follow the gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh the wise-men were said to have given the Christ child. These were expensive gifts given by rich men; men who didn't have to use their charge-accounts to bestow presents of this nature upon someone they thought was deserving of them. Yet these gifts, as expensive as they were, were insignificant compared to God's gift of love, made visible in the form of the Virgin's child. So we have the chief gift, one that is not expensive, but priceless, simple and more meaningful than the biggest and best toy you could buy for a child. You could buy a beautiful gift for a child., on the 36-months-to-pay-plan, and if it were given without love it would be meaningless.

If love is fundamental to giving then why could Christmas, or at least the spirit of Christmas, not be carried on for the rest of the year? In some cases it is, one of the greatest examples being the work of the Salvation Army. A religious body, it is known best for its social body. The members of this great body have learned the meaning of self-sacrifice and giving each day of their lives for the betterment of humanity. Following their theological doctrine, Salvationists go forth into the world teaching their faith by practising it. At any disaster, large or small, the Salvation Army is there rendering assistance to those in need.

The social work of the Army can be divided into main categories: men's social and women's social as well as those things which take in both men and women together.

Under the heading of men's social the Salvation Army provides correctional services for those who get into trouble with the law, an example of which is the House of Concord in Toronto. The Army speaks in police court for first offenders, seeks jobs for those who have just been released from prison and assists in effecting reconciliation for men who have been in prison. It also conducts Bible classes in prison and interviews and counsels prisoners. The Salvation Army engages in teaching trades to youths who were school drop-outs and are in trouble with the law. The Army is busy feeding and lodging homeless men, providing clothing and rehabilitating them. Harbour-light centres are set up for the rehabilitation of alcoholics and Eventide Homes are available for aged men.

In women's social work the Salvation Army has receiving home which take young female offenders releaased from the courts, homes for unwed mothers where the mothers are cared for and adoptions arranged, and Grace Hospitals which are operated in the major cities of the world. The Army also operates Sunset Lodges for aged women.

The Salvation Army has an anti-suicide bureau. In every city, telephone numbers are listed in key places where would-be suicides can contact Salvation Army Officers and can be counselled over the telephone and visits arranged. Another well-known service is the Salvation Army's Missing Persons Bureau through which families are re-united and lost loved-ones found. The Army has contacts in every country in the world.

In most communities across Canada there is a Salvation Army Officer stationed who provides physical and spiritual assistance on the local level. His activity includes the arranging for and conducting of street corner meetings, League of Mercy work which entrails visitations to homes, hospitals and homes for the aged. The Corps Officer is also responsible for counselling, family welfare and arranging for admissions to any of the men's and women's social institutions and arranging for under privileged children to be sent to fresh-air camps in the summer.

Christmas relief is an annual project of the Salvation Army. Captin C. G. Bowes of the Lindsay Corps said most of the local cases are out of town. The local Corps also arranges Christmas concerts for the County Home and the Girl's Training School where it also distributes treats.

When people give in this manner every day, surely they are keeping the spirit and tradition of Christmas 365 days a year.

50th Wedding Anniversary

Omemee (PNS) — Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. James Magee who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with an "At home" at Christ Church Hall on Saturday, December 15th.

Married at Mount Pleasant Methodist Church by the late Rev. Butler in 1914 they have been continuous residents of the village since marriage. They were attended by Mrs. Pearl (Guthrie) Howden of Cavan Township and Percy Handley of Toronto, who were unable to attend through illness.

Mr. Magee was the son of the late George Magee and Jane Henderson and was born just west of Omemee on the boundary.

Mrs. Magee the former Maude Handley was born in Peterboro, daughter of the late Wm. Handley and Harriet Wright and resided at Mount Pleasant.

Both enjoy very good health and take an active interest in the work of Christ Church and Mrs. Magee in the Women's Institute.

For many years Mr. Magee and his two brothers operated a stone masonry business, a trade which he still enjoys when called upon.

For some 48 years he was mail carrier for the post office to the CNR depot retiring in 1958.

At the family dinner some 25 attended but during the reception many folks from local and elsewhere conveyed their best regards.

Greetings were received from Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, Premier John Robarts, Charles Lamb, M.P., Glenn Hodgson, M.P.P. and many others.

They have four daughters and three sons, Mrs. Ross Risebrough (Rhea) of Milliken, Ont.; Mrs. Cecil Reeds (May) of Omemee; Mrs. Edgar James (Iva) of Belleville; Miss Jane Magee of Omemee; John and Ross Magee both of Omemee and Neil predeceased. Also eleven granchildren and one great grandchild.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New Cork (UPI) — No one has come up yet with the suggestion that the weeping willows be given handkerchiefs for Christmas.

Or that shrinking violets be presented with a gift certificate for a "sanforizing" treatment.

But it's pure accident that ads for same haven't cropped up in catalogues and newspapers. There are ads for everything else in the realm of the ridiculous, nutty and far-out — all in the name of pleasing those who have everything or who are in need of a laugh.

Sample: Diapers for parakeets.

Feathered friends aside, you can give the gift of the courting call of the wild. It's a horn. You blow it one of threeways: a little, for attention; plaintively, for forgiveness; tenderly, for affection.

That's what the ad says. And this thing billed as the "modern mating call," comes in two powers. For $1.95 you get the regular one. For $1 more you get the noisier version said to be for "shy mates."

For the lazy of the land, there's a battery-operated back scratcher. Cou don't have to push up and down or side to side. The batteries do all the work. This gift costs around $3.

For the scientifically-minded, there are cuff links with thermometers, — one centigrade; the other, Fahrenheit.

Medically-oriented persons, meanwhile, shouldn't be surprised if they find a blood-pressure taking instrument in their Christmas stockings. Same's available.

Some of the odd gifts are more practical than peculiar. Everyone, for example, can use a flashlight with pen attached — for making notes when awakening in the middle of the night without disturbing one's spouse.

And for $18.95, there's the telephone monitor that makes it possible to hear two-way conversations over the phone without picking up the receiver. And for just two cents less than a dollar, my friends, you can have a thing that's no bigger than a lipstick but packs a punch.

You press a button and it shoots out a liquid stream that's guaranteed to "rout muggers, prowlers, attackers."

All the technological genius that created such a thing has yet, however, to come up with a device guaranteed to rout the junk mail from the mail-box or the nuisance phone calls.

Those of practical bent, meanwhile, also would approve of a "no slip ice carpet." You put it on the ice and you won't slip. Contrary to the wording of the ad, the carpet isn't made of ice.

For green thumbs, there's a grow your own mushroom kit.

And for dolls — live ones — who have dolls who do everything, there's the super doll. This one crawls — on command.

"No wires or remote control," the ad says.

Maria Carew

Omemee (PNS) — Mrs. Maria Carew, 95, passed away at Civic Hospital on Friday, December 4, 1964, after several weeks illness.

Born in North Monaghan, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McGregor, she went when a child, with her parents to reside near Bobcaygeon and attended the little red school.

Wife of the late George R. Carew who passed away December 31, 1943, Mrs. Carew had resided with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bannon for some years.

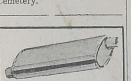

She was a familiar person on the street and until health failed was often down town with Mrs. Bannon. She was a member of Bethel United Church and the U.C.W.

She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Geo. Bannon (Sarah), Mrs. Lockhart Wright (Lalia), John Carew, all of Omemee, and Calvert Carew of Peterboro and Myrtle and Mrs. Perry Lowes (Margaret) predeceased; also one sister, Mrs. Norman Robertson (Gertrude) of Lindsay and 32 grandchildren.

The late Mrs. Carew rested at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Bannon, Sturgess St. Omemee, until Monday afternoon when service was conducted by Rev. K. J. Crawford of Trinity United Church who paid tribute to the active and kindly life of the deceased. The many floral tributes as well as the presence of many friends testified to the esteem in which she was held.

Pallbeareres were Charles Mills, Wilfred Jackson, Cecil Casey, Lockhart Wright, Ernest McGregor and Melville Lathangue.

Interment was in Emily Cemetery.

Answer in Ten Seconds

HOW many nickels, dimes and quarters make $2.80, if there are equal numbers of all three?

Answer: Seven of each. 7 x 5¢ = 35¢; 7 x 10¢ = 70¢; 7 x 25¢ = $1.75; 35¢ + 70¢ + $1.75 = $2.80.

50 Points Wins a Prize

STEP right up, folks, and win a prize," says Santa Claus. The idea of the game is that you are to toss as many rings as are necessary to score exactly 50 points. That is to say, if you can do it in two tosses, fine. Three tosses, fine. Just so long as the sum of your rings equals 50. How quickly can you discover the step-word method you will find it can be done in only four steps.

SEEK and ye shall find," is a Biblical encouragement. It is a good slogan for Christmas shoppers.

If you seek to transform SEEK into FIND by the step-word method you will find it can be done in only four steps.

In the step-word puzzle, you change one letter at a time. For example: IN EW, ON EW, hot, HAT.

Now try this:

It's Your Move Square It Up?

ROY and Robert are selling Christmas cards to make some extra spending money.

This morning, they set out with 20 boxes of cards each. Roy sold his at two boxes for $1, and Robert sold his at the rate of three boxes for $1. Together they received $25.

This afternoon, Roy went out alone with 60 boxes and sold all of them at five boxes for $2. Roy collected $24. How come?

Answer: Robert sold his cards at the rate of 3 for $1, or 40 cents each. Roy sold his at the rate of 5 for $2, or 40 cents each. Together they received $25 for 40 cards each.

IF ST. NICK invites you to a game of checkers and arranges a checker setting such as the one above, play it eagerly. Let him take the White side and invite him to move first. He can win in just four moves (or could you under the circumstances, but who wants a piece of coal in his stocking?) How's it done?

Answer: White moves Black Pawn from KB6 to KB8 and becomes a Queen. Black must move King to KB1 and White moves Queen to KB7 checkmating Black King.

Boy - Girl Exercise

FIFTY boys and girls contributed $14.50 toward a holiday party. Each boy gave 30 cents; each girl 25 cents.

Were there enough girls to go around?

Answer: Yes, there were forty boys.

What Are the Angels Trying to Spell?

THE four angels at right are trying to form a one-word Yuletide greeting, but they find themselves slightly confused in their spelling:

"I have an idea I ought to change places with R," contends N, at the far right. "Why don't you switch with me?" demands O.

"Look, fellows," says L, the brightest of the four, "why don't we all just stand in front of a mirror?"

Can you figure out the word the four angels are trying to spell?

Answer: The word they're trying to spell is "LION."

Big Mix-Up in Fruit Salad

MRS. COOK prepared her husband's favorite dessert, fruit salad, by mixing six different fruits into a gigantic mixture. Half of the pieces of fruit she cut up were oranges, one-fourth bananas, apples and pears; one-seventh, peaches, and the other three were melons. How many pieces of fruit did she cut up altogether?

Answer: 21. 6/7 = 18/21 (oranges); 4/7 = 12/21 (apples and pears); 3/7 = 9/21 (peaches and melons). 18 + 12 + 9 = 39/21. 42/21 - 39/21 = 3/21 (other fruits). 18 + 1 = 21 pieces of fruit.

Under Wraps!

PRODUCE a sheet of Christmas wrapping paper and ask a friend how many times he thinks he can fold it in two without tearing it. If he says he can fold it more than seven times, bet him that he can't. For no matter how big a sheet of paper you start with, it is almost impossible for the average person to fold it in half more than seven times without undue stress. Folding it more than six times is difficult. Try it.

Festive mistletoe can be deadly

Belmar, N.J. (UPI) — Mistletoe and Poinsettias, both symbols of the holiday season, are also deadly poisons.

"They are beautiful and have a pleasant smell but the mistletoe berry and poinsettia leaf contain enough poison to kill you," warns Belmar Pharmacist, Sidney Kaufer.

He said there have been cases where children died from eating a single leaf of the poinsettia the traditional Christmas plant.

Kauffer and Howard Roland of the Monmouth County Red Cross Chapter, have been speaking to school and civic groups for the past five years on the dangers of poisonous plants.

UNDER THE PEACE TOWER

Ottawa (UPI — What would you do if you had one million dollars?

It would be fun but how much would a million dollars be worth if everyone else had this much too?

Gene Rheaume, the Conservative member of parliament for the chilly Northwest Territories, came back from the north recently with a hot solution to "All Canada's Problems".

It was presented to him by one of his Northern constituents who has had time in the land of the long day to think these things out.

"The solution", he told Rheaume as he leaned on a bar, bracing against the chill of the great outdoors, "Is to sell Canada to the United States".

Canada would be sold for $19,000,000,000-more or less-and each of this country's some 19,000,000 people would be given a million dollars.

"We take our money", the Northern financier said, "and tell the Americans to come over and run the country".

Under this setup all Canadians would be millionaires or multi-millionaires depending on the number of children they have.

A family of six would be worth $6 million and a mother and father with 12 children would be worth $14 million.

The only problem is that money, like everything else, loses its value when there is too much of it.

The economy would go haywire.

Canada would become one giant gold rush, with prices pushed skywards.

Imagine paying $500 for a pound of butter, $2,000 for a suit or $1,000 for a bicycle.

Think of what it would do to the social structure and the birthrate.

Large families would be the richest and probably at the top of the social ladder. A family with only one child would be worth only a measley $3 million, and, with the rising prices, would be paupers.

Any widow with 10 children would be courted by thousands of bachelors who would be starving on tiny fast dwindling $1 million bank accounts.

Even with a million dollars you can't buy too many $2,000 suits or $500 pounds of butter. In fact a million dollars eventually would be worth only a few thousand, if that.

The possibilities are endless. imagine handing a millionaire paper boy a 10-cent tip. He would sneer at you.

Government and business would come to a standstill. Secretaries, office boys and executors would quit. What millionaire has to work?

The doorman would tell you to open the door, the cab driver would tell you to walk. There would be no bus drivers, elevator operators or shoe shine boys.

Yacht salesmen, pickpockets and rogues would pour into Canada from around the world to get in on the "Great Canadian Dollar Rush".

Eventually Canadians would go broke buying $50 cups of coffee and a man leaning against a bar in Northwest Territories would mutter: "Well I thought it was a good idea.

STAGGERING LOSS

Besides the major danger of death, injury and property damage, traffic accidents always entail considerable inconvenience and loss of valuable time. It has been estimated that highway accidents in Canada are responsible for a total national economic loss in excess of $400,000,000 each year.

Add to this staggering figure the unrecorded effects: mental and physical shock, the worry over wrecked vehicles and subsequent repairs or replacement, the legal consequences frequently long and frightening, the painful indignities as to guilt and responsibility, and many more.

Safe driving can avoid all this.

OUSTED

Agrigento, Sicily (UPI) — A notary public, a schoolteacher and a doctor, lost their posts on the Joppolo Giancaxio City Council because they couldn't read.

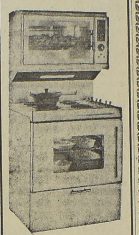

Or at least because they couldn't prove they could. The council's rightwing majority used their failure to undergo a literary test required by law to oust them from office.

RED-FACED COUPLE

Bolton, England (UPI) — closed while they were alone. Police had to rescue 17-year-old eKnneth Best and his girl friend when they were locked inside a dance hall which couple.

NEW COMETS, METEORS AND MERCURYS For Immediate Delivery

The Tri-County Bonspiel in-volving 64 rinks and over 250 curlers wound up in a blaze of presentations at the Fenelon Falls club house Saturday night.

Sixteen finalists in the four main events competed for the many beautiful prizes. Lind-say rinks forged to the front in all competitions, but prizes were shared in by rinks from the surrounding district. Clubs taking part included Omemee, Dunsford, Bobcaygeon, Fene-lon Falls, Woodville, Minden, Haliburton, Cannington, Bea-verton, Oakwood and Lindsay.

Dr. Graham and George Hickson and others of the host club did a marvellous job of looking after the competitions and awarding the prizes to the following winners:

Schenly event — Lindsay - John McCrae skip, Jim Brown, Paul Ashmore and J. Dillon.

Runner-up — Fenelon Falls - Joe Gamsby skip, V. Sheehey, George Hickson and J. Tack-man.

Finney Lumber Co. event — Lindsay - Andy Widdis skip, Don Wood, Bob Widdis and Bob Growden.

Runner-up: — Oakwood - B. Richardson skip, C. Fowler, C. McKinnon and D. Gates.

McElroy Transport event — Lindsay - E. Tummin skip, H. Modell, R. Gateward and M. Woods.

Runner-up: — Lindsay - J. Bellamy skip, L. Pepper, Art Lloyd and Mel DeGroat.

Algar Coach Lines event: — Lindsay - Stan Edmonds skip, L. Carveth, Joe Staples and Don Richardson.

Runner-up — Oakwood - F. Arksey skip, G. Rendering, H. Chambers, A. O'Brien.

Farmers have taken to the game of curling like ducks to water. Lindsay is surround-ed by small "big clubs" in Omemee, Dunsford, Bobcay-geon, Fenelon Falls, Woodville Cannington, Oakwood, Beaver-ton and Sunderland.

Well over 50% of the mem-bership in many of these clubs follow the farming trade. The seventh Annual Holstein cattlemen event last week was a typical example of the in-terest farmers take in the roarin' game. Among the sup-porters of this event taking part in handing out the prizes were Sherman Moore, J. Mc-Kague, Merle Lyons, Joe Mur-phy, Jack Coulter, Cliffe Lilli-co and others.

Every curling club has its "House" and some of them have several "houses". The "house" today means the twelve foot, eight foot and the four foot rings, in the centre of which is the red button. Many of these "houses" are very colorful but Haliburton has one of the most distinctive. The well known copyright "Haliburton Tartan" has been depicted in the circles, a beau-tiful sight to behold.

The Ontario Silver Tankard, representing the Championship of the Province, has been in existence for many years. Six beautiful silk and gold trimmed banners decorate the walls at the Peel Street rink, emblematic of the Championship. The Silver Tankard however is held by the winning rink for one year then returned to headquarters in Toronto.

Clayton Gills, a former act-ive member of the Lindsay Club was curling with his family at the Ivy Lee Club in Toronto a few weeks ago and was interested in a Tankard Trophy which was on display. He noticed one of the plates which bore the names of Percy Skitch, Bert Everson, Charles Moase and Orville Cul-bert. Clayton Grills at one time curled for each of the "four horsemen" above named when he was a member of the Peel Street club. He was act-ive and he curled with consid-erable ability. He was one of the first local curlers to adopt the slide in the days when this style was considered crazy. Looking back over the years, Clayton Grills picked out the late Sam Howe as one of the best curlers in the Lindsay Club. He represented Lindsay at many bonspiels and this fact was demonstrated by look-ing at his Tam-o-shanter. It was decked with several rows of curling buttons from Clubs in Ontario, Quebec and United States.

To illustrate how many play-ers had to win their spurs some years ago, Clayt Grills played for 14 years before he became a skip, and that was the custom. A player had to be good before becoming a skip.

Pot luck luncheon Ladies Aid meet

Fenelon Falls (PN) — Mrs Wm. Cunningham retiring president of the Ladies Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Fenelon Falls, was presented with a Life Member-ship pin at the Christmas meet-ing, which was held at the home of Mrs. H. Copp. Miss M. Demill, the incoming pre-sident made the presentation on behalf of the Society, mak-ing mention of the untiring faithful service given by Mrs. Cunningham, during her term as president.

A pot luck luncheon pre-ceeded the meeting, which fea-tured Christmas carols, the reading of the Christmas Story from the New English Bible by Mrs. W. D. Murchison and other items relative to the yule-tide season, by members.

PIGEON PROBLEM

Des Moines, Iowa, (UPI) — Authorities may take a lesson from the old west and hire someone to "ride shotgun" on the state capitol. The problem is pigeons.

The state executive council, rejecting several more conven-tional pigeon-ridding propo-sals yesterday, said it will check into the possibility of hir-ing someone to shoot the birds. "We got rid of pigeons 50 years ago and it only cost $104," state auditor Chet Akers said. "We hired a sharp-shooter with a .410 shotgun and it worked."

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York (UPI) — Unhappi-ness at Christmas shopping time is:

— You and your bundles not fitting into a phone booth.

— Dropping your bundles as you try to wedge them onto that little shelf space by your teeny-tiny place at a lunch counter.

— Being the first customer after they've sold the last of the imported cat scratching posts you wanted to put in your puss's boot by the fireplace.

— Being at the back of a crowded elevator and the only one wanting out at the second floor.

— Finding you've left the ad-dress list for those out-of-town relatives at home — after the saleslady writes up the sale.

— Losing your charge plate in that duffle bag you call a purse.

— Breaking a heel on an es-calator when you have just two more gifts to go and the store has just 15 minutes to go 'til closing time.

— Trying to hail a cab with face and head motions when hands and arms are loaded with packages.

— Running into your hus-band's very dignified boss in the lingerie department.

— Not having a dime when you get to the rest room.

— Having the bottom of your-shopping bag break open.

— Dropping your shopping bag when the handles rip off.

— Getting confused at the tie counter when you learn they've run out of gift boxes for ties.

— Listening to strains of "Oh Come All Ye Faithful" blaring over the store's loud speaker while you try to keep from getting toppled by the pushing, shoving crowds.

— Finding they've run out of your kind of Christmas card when you need just three more.

— Screaming when someone steps on your corn.

— Being told you'll have to take that toy wagon with you because they can't promise de-livery in time for Christmas.

— Finding they won't have time to monogram your hus-band's gift handkerchiefs un-til after the first of the year.

— Remembering you've for-gotten your father-in-law's glove size.

— Watching them put up the "closed" sign in the store's Tea room just when you need a cof-fee break.

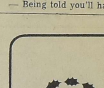

— Your shoes start to pinch.

—You can't keep within the limits of your Christmas bud-get because everything costs just a little bit more than you figured.

— At spree's end, having the bus driver close the door in your face and pull away just as it starts to rain.

Defeated reeve of Omemee speaks out on "the strife"

Omemee Ont.
Dec. 14, 1963.

To Whom It May Concern:

On Sunday, Dec. 6th, on the C.B.C's programme "This Hour Has Seven Days" the village of Omemee was portrayed as a place where a man was disliked on account of his colour by Mr. John Drainie who needed a puzzle to introduce the next subject, little caring that it would do much harm to the village. The programme itself was fairer than expected and still designed to present the image of a place where a man was discriminated against because of his colour. A couple of local citizens were used in the play presented this image, one, the next reeve, and the other misquoting another citizen.

In reality, Omemee should have been presented as a village where the people welcomed the coloured doctor and gave him every opportunity to establish himself and his family. However, the doctor, for reasons yet unknown, immediately began a programme to arouse animosity in the village and district, knowing that he could hide behind his colour and arouse the sympathy of the public at large and the press. This programme started long before the disastrous school fire and took the form of dividing an audience when asked to speak on occasions. He also sought to attack the village council (a popular sport receiving the support of the delighted local press) charging non co-operation where none was asked in the matter of testing local wells. The Council did not co-operate when he demanded that the sanitary inspector be replaced presumably because he had a mind of his own and without even a hearing.

As stated before, Council has been as anxious to assess the village's needs regarding sewage and water as the doctor. Reports from O.W.R.C. are still incomplete but it is my belief until proven otherwise that the village cannot afford either sewage or water and may not need either at the present time. My plea is for greater financial assistance when an alternative sewage disposal system is developed that is worth the expense involved. Both the conventional treatment plant and the lagoon system are an open invitation to the Government to advance funds to promote research into waste disposal and if possible avoid wasting vast quantities of the people's money on inefficient methods.

The sale of the school property to the doctor, secretly, and for the sum of $500.00 was a shock to the Council and the village. When, two nights later, the school burned to the ground the fire was presented in the local press as being an act of spite against the doctor. Certain authorities differ on this matter and we are looking forward to the time when the true story will come out.

Council had an understanding with the school board that they would be offered the property for park and recreation purposes. Two lots adjoining the school property had been given the board for one dollar by the people of the village. One was sold back after a one room temporary school had been erected on it and discarded after a few years — for $2500.00 — when the village needed a fire-hall. Also, the property on which the present school is located containing several acres was given to the school board for the sum of one dollar by the Athletic Society of the village when the present reeve was president of that organization.

When Council were not even consulted prior to the peculiar deal with Dr. Sobrian their anger was roused against the school-board and not the doctor. However, efforts to purchase the property from Dr. Sobrian at a reasonable price failed. He was offered $1500.00 ($1,000.00 clear profit) but wanted at the least $7000.00. Since the election he has threatened with banner headlines in the press that he will put the highest court in the land if council proceeds with the expropriation, undoubtedly hoping to win not on the issue itself — but by using once again his colour. This village has given him a mandate to a certain extent but will not submit to being dominated by anyone.

The school and contests were insured for over $32,000. The sale was made verbally in early June while the school board were still in control of the school and when the fire occurred the Insurance Co. paid almost $12,000. The irregular sale of the property cost the taxpayer over $20,000.00 as no insurance company could be expected to pay $32,000.00 on a property sold with an acre of land and excellent well, septic tank and disposal bed for $500.00.

The Council's protests to the Dept. of Education were of no avail. They were forced to begin expropriation to protect their property and rights of the people. Opposition arose from competing interests who felt their private tourist business would be injured, — from the school board who were trying to cover up their mistake. — and from the doctor who was determined to make this an issue to bolster his position. He declined to negotiate for the property and before the recent election threatened to leave the village if his slate for Council were not elected. He ran a man for reeve and one for council. Both were elected and now the village faces an impossible situation on Council for the proper handling of village matters and County affairs relating to the village.

Due to the irregularities of the sale of this property I feel that it is the responsibility of the Department of Education to investigate every angle of the school transaction and fire and if necessary rule the sale invalid.

Otherwise the strife will continue in Omemee. Churches, Clubs, Organizations and families will be irreparably divided and this can be laid at the door of the school-board and a doctor who does not seem to choose to live in the heretofore pleasant village without arousing unnecessary hostility. I can assure you that the press and the C.B.C. were the ones to introduce colour into this along with a doctor who was willing to go along for the ride.

I am writing this to say that if the question of colour does arise here in the next few months it will be because it was stirred up and fired by elements seeking to do so at whatever cost to the community. As a defeated reeve I hesitated to speak out at this time but on full appraisal of the situation feel that it is my duty to do my part in an effort to repair the damage done to the good name of this village.

The election issue became a "doctor or a park" situation — a ridiculous yet nearly half the people preferred the park. This was not because they did not want a doctor but because they did not want a doctor who would try to use his position to control village affairs and other lots were available for the doctor. The office and home of our former doctor are available also and in excellent condition. Also, there is no other suitable location for a park and only a few years ago some 200 residents signed a petition asking Council to develop a park on the old school grounds and water-front.

My message from Omemee is simply — Do not condemn us for sins not committed but uphold the three members of the new Council who believe that equality demands equal responsibility for actions regardless of race, creed or colour.

George Stephenson,
Reeve, Village of Omemee.

COMPANY PRESIDENT REVIEWS VICTORIA AND GREY YEAR

In his address to the shareholders of the Victoria and Grey Trust Company in which he reviewed the year's activities, Company President Hon. Walter Harris, Q.C., said, "We are now ending our 75th year. We meet in Lindsay to complete the year begun in Owen Sound, because these two communities have been the backbone of our company and have provided us with many of our leaders. We regret that Mr. Thomas Stinson isn't with us today. Over many years he guided the company with a careful hand but he was never too cautious and what he accomplished would do credit to anyone who thought of himself as a vigorous progressive. We hope that his health will improve, and that he would approve of what we do today".

"It is not my intention to review at length the work of the company this year, the company statement clearly shows what has happened in the full twelve months to October 31. During that time we have experienced a greater growth than in any comparable period of our history. We appear finally to have impressed upon the communities we serve that we are available to give service in almost any field and they are now responding to a much greater degree than formerly. It has been a year of very considerable growth in every department, especially in the mortgage loaning in which we experienced a heavy demand for funds. Mr. Stuart Flavelle, the chairman of the Investment Committee was exceptionally busy in seeing that all our branches were given the means of carrying out their duties while retaining a good liquid position".

VICTORIA AND GREY TRUST GENERAL MANAGER SPEAKS OF 'DYNAMIC GROWTH'

Presenting his report to the shareholders of Victoria and Grey Trust, General Manager R. G. Thomas Q.C., said "This year 1964 shows continuance of the dynamic growth of Canadian trust companies — an increasing numbers of companies and a further extending by the older companies of branches. Growth in assets continues at a pace of almost 20 per cent each year. Trust companies have brought services closer to the public by opening branches in smaller communities and in residential areas of the larger urban centres. Continued growth results from the confidence of the public in the widening scope and quality of their skilled assistance and services."

Mr. Thomas said the demand by trust companies for young people with education and training in financial administration is very competitive. "The great growth of trust companies", he said, 'has opened the way for new jobs and opportunities for speedy progress for those taking up this type of work. We try to bring on young men by internal training programmes. Notwithstanding the release of almost $20,000,000 in assets under administration, we have increased our staff by only 15 during the last year, now standing at 184 members."

Miss Shirley Smith of Orillia visited Mrs. Western on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hadley spent the week end at Goodersham.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Chase and daughter Sylvia were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McIntosh.

A library board meeting was held in the library on Friday night with Reeve A. Smitherman and clerk Manley Maybe in attendance. A resolution was drawn up by the clerk of the Township to submit for the government centenial grant for the building of a new library. Mr. Arthur Alger and Mr. Bert Tamlin are to investigate properties and decide upon a lot on which to build.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tamblyn visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Tamblyn of Newcastle on the weekend.

Mrs. Margaret Cole is spending the winter months at the home of her daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Mitchell of Kingston.

Congratulations of the community are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sluggett who celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary. They entertained thirty guests of the family to a turkey dinner at their home and received numerous gifts. The evening was enjoyed playing cards . Mr. and Mrs. Sluggett visited with Mrs. Leslie Western and Mrs. William Ford at Hartley.

Christmas Around the World

CHRISTMAS, CANADA!

Ottawa — People from many lands, speaking as many different tongues, bring colorful variations to the celebration of "Christmas, Canada-1964!"

But through them all runs the same glorious thread of reverance and remembrance on that greatest of all holy days, the birth of the Christ Child, Jesus the Saviour, in a manger in Bethlehem-one thousand, one hundred and sixty-four years ago.

The public service division of The British Motor Corporation of Canada Limited, the Canadian arm of the U.K.-based company that manufactures and distributes Austin and Morris cars in more than 90 different counties, has provided this series on "Christmas Around the World" — so that native Canadians might better appreciate the customs of new arrivals from other lands; so that New Canadians might better remember pleasant Christmases past.

As you read this, missionary and government ships churn, north-by-north on both Atlantic and Pacific coasts, laden with precious cargoes of Christmas mail and gifts for isolated outposts.

RCAF transports prepare flight plans for "Operation Chistmas Tree" — the Christmas paradrop of trees, festive foods, and gift parcels for Arctic personnel in icebound weather and radar stations.

The roses are ready to bloom in Victoria, B.C., on Christmas day.

And in most other parts of Canada, Christmas tree lights dance in the night — and the snow squeaks zero!

Across the vastness of this country of ours, the hustle of Christmas is everywhere, in the homes, in the shops, and in the streets.

The hustle and bustle that leads to the hush, at midnight, on that night of nights — the night of the Christ Child's birth in Bethlehem!

Jesus is born.

Peace on earth, goodwill toward man.

"A Merry Christmas!" — "Joyeux Noel!"

"It's Christmas, Canada, 1964!

(Next "Chistmas, Austria!")

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International)

Hollywood, Dec. 16, (UPI) — Phyllis Diller, queen of the dishpan hands set, pays housewives (and anyone else) $5 for every gag she uses in her night-club act or on television.

So far some 300 amateur jokesmiths have collected from the comedienne — some as much as $1,000 per year.

A typical Diller gag: "I had a telephone call from a peeping Tom begging me frantically to pull down my shades."

Snappy one-liners on the domestic wars are what Phyllis looks for. All of her joke writers send their material unsolicited, and over the years she has paid out a fortune, some $20,000 per annum.

Miss Diller's stock in trade is her appearance. She's a disaster. Her blonde hair terrorizes coiffure artists. Her rasping voice gives audio experts the bends. Her figure will never be mistaken for Sophia Loren's. And while her beauty falls short of Elizabeth Taylor's it does possess many of the qualities found on Mount Rushmore.

But Phyllis is as delightful a female as there is in the world. She has a genuine sense of humour a rare commodity among females she admits.

Her husband is named, simply, "Fang," because, as she puts it, "the only has one tooth and it's 2 inches long. The first time I met him I tried to light his tooth — I thought it was a cigarette."

Her description of Fang is typical Diller humour.

"I hear from some of my amateur writers three or four times a week," she explained, "About two-thirds of them are women. If I don't buy a joke I write them back and tell them why.

"I ask them not to send me jokes with words that wouldn't be heard in a supermarket. I mean I don't want anything complicated or too high-brow for people to understand.

"One of my writers, Mary McBride of Janesville, Wis., became a local celebrity and is now a professional sketch writer."

Miss Diller prefers jokes about hair, clothes, the kitchen, weight problems, kids, female drivers, supermarkets and, yes, sex. Things and situations other females deal with every day.

Frequently, the female trying to be funny reduces herself to a caricature in the eyes of men, or worse, becomes an object of pity.

Not Phyllis Diller. Somehow, magically, she posesses an indestructable feminity that never deserts her despite the fact she appears as if she survived a hurricane every day.

Phyllis requires thousands of one-line jokes a year to keep her material fresh and new. Recently she made 15 television appearances in 10 days with different gags for each guest shot.

"I had to tell one woman to quit sending me gags," Phyllis, she was taking them right out said unhappily. "I discovered of a joke book."

A LOVELIER YOU

By MARY SUE MILLER

TRAVEL MANNERS. A traveler could lose her luggage and survive. But if she mislays her manners, she's in trouble. Fellow travelers avoid her. Willing service and helping hands pass her by.

If you travel with her, you wish her back home and can picture her there—untidily dressed, littering the floor with candy wrappers and loudly criticizing everything and everybody.

In these days when we all have the travel urge, we must remember that we are representatives of our world-back-home to those we encounter en route. And the worth of it is told by our actions.

Ideal behavior demands a courteous approach to fellow travelers, those who serve you and the citizenry of places visited. This does not mean that distasteful company or bad service must be endured. One simply eludes the first and quietly rectifies the second. One's manner is neither intrusive nor withdrawn, but rather it expresses good humor and good will.

Aside from courtesy, all the best a journey has to offer comes from a receptive attitude toward the unfamiliar—from food to folk, from lore to landmarks. Travel is pointless unless it broadens your horizons.

Gracious and receptive, a traveler gains the most from travel. For she wins entree to people and privileges denied to the gauche.

Congregation misses end of sermon

Smethwick, England (UPI) — A strange noise interrupted the hymn being sung by 40 members of the National Spiritualist church yesterday. It was the roof falling in.

"Run for your lives," shouted church official Sidney Whittington. The congregation of 15 women and 25 men did, and all but Arthur Hill, 58, escaped injury.

Hill, hampered by arthritis, was buried in the debris of a 20-foot section of ceiling. He was hospitalized with a concussion.

The collapse caused the congregation to miss the end of church President Frank Brights' sermon: "Compensation and retribution for all the good and evil deeds done on earth."

"Would have been hung back in cowboy days" — magistrate

Patrick Lomonte 19 of Queen Street and David W. Flemming of RR1. Reaboro were sentenced to 30 days each in jail for the theft of a tire from a parked car recently. The pair were convicted of the offense in Police Court last week and were remanded until Monday for sentencing.

Magistrate Ian Munro told the two it was a very selfish and wilful act to steal somebody's tire for their own reasons especially at night. Magistrate Munro said "If you had done something like that back in cowboy days — steal somebody's horse — you would have been hung."

Zeller's Store holds party

Urges leaders to take up challenge

"Scouting is too large an organization to carry on on its own", District Field Representative Wally Harpur said as he commended the 75 people who attended the annual meeting of the Victoria County Scout Council Monday. He said as Scouting grows, so must the parental interest and support grow with the movement.

Mr. Harpur explained that the main objective of scouting is to help boys develop their character and to build citizens. "But", he warned, "boys don't join our organization to develop their characters and become citizens; they join for the fun ,adventure and fellowship to be found in scouting". He told the assembly that is the kind of programme scouting must offer. "It doesn't matter if we follow the programme as it is laid down", he remarked. "We must take new ideas and experiment to development a programme appealing to the boys, keeping in mind the basic aims of the movement", he concluded Mr. Harpur urged scout leaders to "take up the challenge".

Zeller's annual staff Christmas party was held last Saturday night at the Moose Hall, with over 50 persons attending.

Following a turkey dinner manager, Mr. Dick Baker, spoke briefly, and presented members of the staff with their profit cheques. He also presented Mrs. Muriel Wylie with a cash award, for winning second prize in the Assistant Manager's Contest. Mr. Baker on presenting these chequss, offered his congratulations and wished all many more successful years with Zeller's Ltd.

For entertainment, Miss Anne Wallace, sang two solos accompanied by Miss Shaar'n Wylie. Round and square dancing continued for the remainder of the evening with music supplied by Tommy Tetro's Orchestra. The door prize was won by Mrs. M. Wylie and Mrs. Grace Junkin and Mr. Tom Southern were winners of the spot dance.

In order to handle more effectively the business of Presbytery and to make it possible for younger employed laymen to attend, it was decided to hold meetings in January, March and May commencing at 6:30 p.m. The Christian Education report by the Rev. William Piercy of Bethany proposed a special meeting of Presbytery to study in dept the whole field of Christian Education.

Worship sessions were conducted by Rev. Mr. Piercy and by the Rev. Donald E. Tansley of Northminster Church.

Lone scout from Fenelon Falls receives Queen's Scout badge

A 17-year-old lone scout from Fenelon Falls Douglas Lawrence received a Queen's Scout badge from the Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Q.C., at the annual meeting of the Victoria County Scout Council at St. Mary's auditorium Monday night.

When making the presentation, Mr. Frost compared the perservance and resourcefulness of Douglas Lawrence to the qualities shown by the founder of the movement, Sir Robert Baden-Powell, when Baden-Powell helped defend Mafeking, South Africa, 65 years ago. Mr. Lawrence continued scouting, even though his troop had disbanded, and became eligible for the most coveted award in scouting.

As well as the presentation of the Queen Scout award R. A. Corneil of Omemee, Assistant District Commissioner, presented Father R. J. Hart, who was appointed District Chaplain, with a chaplain's badge and Jack Rathwell of Lindsay received the Gilwell Charter, a leadership award.

About 75 scoulers and district representatives attended the meeting.

WRONG CHARGE LAID MAGISTRATE RULES — ASSAULT CHARGE DISMISSED

"Don't take that as issuing a hunting license." Magistrate Ian Munro told Paul Healey of 40 Durham Street East, Lindsay, after he dismissed a case of assault against Mr. Healey. Magistrate Munro said the charge should have been one of creating a disturbance.

Lindsay Police Constable Ronald Graham and William Bowes said Healey was arrested after he hit another man in the face at the residence of Healey's girl friend on Queen Street house after they had been notified of a disturbance. He said when they arrived he saw four youths at the rear of the house arguing and bickering and arguing and shouting coming from inside the house. He said there was a conflict between the accused and another man.

Constable Graham said when Constable Bowes went inside the house Healey hit the other fellow. Constable Graham grabbed Healey but released him when Constable Bowes returned from the house Testimony showed that the other man entered the house and Healey ran in after him and hit him.

Constable Graham said Healey was taken to the County Jail and he was unco-operative. Constable Graham told the court the accused said he would not take off his cloths and be sprayed because he was not an animal. The Constable said prisoners are sprayed with a spraying device.

The accused said prior to the arrival of the police the other man had called the girl "a nothing" and knocked her to the foor and ripped her blouse. Healey said he turned to the man and replied "I'll show you who is a nothing." The other man told police he didn't want to lay charges. Healey said "He wants to get me himself."

Anglican-United church union long way off

Toronto (UPI) — Two religious leaders, one from the Anglican Church and one from the United Church of Canada, say union between the two churches still is a long way off.

The viewpoints were made Monday night by Dr. E. M. Howse, moderator of the United Church of Canada, and Rt. Rev. F. H. Wilkinson, Anglican Bishop of Toronto.

Dr. Howse said it would take at least 15 years to work out the physical and re-organizational differences alone between the two churches.

Bishop Wilkinson said actual organic union was a long way off.

The two made their comments in reply to questions from reporters.

On Oct. 31, a joint committee of clerics and lay delegates from the United Church and the Anglican Diocese of Huron had recommended union of the two churches and that it be known as the Church of Canada.

Sober Up

The advertising campaign conducted in newspapers by the Ontario Department of Transport is an opportune one. "Here is a guaranteed way to sober up—quickly . . . Winding up in jail on a drinking-driving charge will sober anyone up in a hurry. The penalties are tough. Better to learn about them now."

The advertisement goes on to list the penalties for a first offence of "Driving While Ability is Impaired by Alcohol or Drugs" and also for "Driving While Intoxicated."

The penalties are severe as well they might. This is the season to be jolly but if your merriment includes imbibing liquor, then take a taxi, $20 or $30 in taxi fares over the festive season is much, much cheaper than a $500 fine, and you might avert a tragedy too.

Snowstorm Manners

From now on the Civil Defence people can talk as long as they want about the chance of getting this or that many people out of Montreal when there's imminent danger of someone dropping The Bomb. After watching people trying to get home in a snowstorm it's obvious what the chances would be. They'd be ridiculous.

There's a hard-dying myth about human nature always becoming exalted in moments of common disaster; but it's a myth that melts faster than the first snowflake when it's given any strain at all.

When they're up against it, people aren't people. They're standing out in the snow waiting for the taxi or the bus; that isn't when their humanity is strained.

But when they're offered a chance to improve their condition is when you really see them—when the empty taxi appears around the corner.

Then there's nothing they won't do to beat their neighbor. And it's not a matter of life or death that's involved; just the difference between standing in the snow for a few more minutes and getting under cover.

It's a sobering thought; and a little chilling.

The Montreal Star

On Raising Children

New York —(UPI) — Preparing children for marriage isn't something properly done on the eve of their wedding day—and with the gift of a book on budgets or baking.

You start preparing them the minute they start becoming aware of the home life around them, the people in that home and the way one family member acts toward another—starting with Ma and Pa.

This means, in effect, that preparation for marriage begins when the child's in the craddle.

W. Clark Ellzey, acting chairman of the Family Life Education Department at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., makes these points in a new book —"Preparing your children for Marriage" (Association Press).

He maintains that preparation for marriage is a continuous process from birth until wedding day and that perhaps 90 per cent of this preparation actually takes place through children's observations of parental attitudes and behaviour in married life.

"As parents, Prof. Ellzey says, "We help our children and we hinder them as they struggle to become reasonably independent, to acquire respect for authority, to secure status feeling, to discover the joys of giving, to develop a capacity for live . . . ."

"But as parents, he explains, we are imperfect.

"Our own marriages may be a long way from ideal," he said, "We may not show all the characteristics of success and happiness. We may have grown up in some respects and immature in others. We may be strong in some way, but weak in others."

The ideals of perfect marriage, meanwhile, are what we must struggle to reach—and show the children.

"Ideals are like stars." Prof. Ellzey said. "Men have found their way by them all across the ages, but no one has reached one yet.

The marks of a successful and happy marriage cited by the author include:

—Responsible Independence. The husband and wife's needs and dependence is complementary and contributes to the enrichment and fulfillment of their life. They know about hygiene and about taking care of their physical needs. They carry their share of the work around the house. They pick up after themselves; they are alert to the work that needs doing. They do their share.

—Respect for Authority. The attitude of the married pair toward authority seems to be a deliberate choice to relate rather than submission or rebellion. As we held our young people to grown up and learn to respect authority, we are preparing them for marriage.

—Sufficient Status Feeling. The marital partners like themselves as well as one another. They do not think they are perfect. They are aware of ways in which they wish they were different. They are not completely satisfied. But they have, in the main, accept themselves and have an adequate regard for themselves.

—Joys of Giving. People in the happiest marriages seem able to respond to each other's needs because it is easy for them to give.

In addition, the happy and successful marriages are marked by a man and a wife who have developed a capacity to love, who have cultivated a competent conscience, who have learned to work and play, who have mastered the management of money.

Red Chinese invective against USSR may resume

The struggle between Moscow and Peking is in three parts.

—The ideological struggle for leadership of world Communism.

—The difference in the relative state of their industrial development.

—Traditional rivalries, including border claims.

On the first of these, the Russians cannot surrender without becoming a second-class nation in world Communism. On this point, the Chinese demand not only the downgrading of Khrushchev, but the reinstatement of Stalinism.

The Chinese, far behind the Russians in industrial development, demand equal sacrifices of all Communist nations until a common level is reached by all. But the Russians are faced by a grumbling population at home and have more to lose in a nuclear war.

Flushed by their recent acquisition of a nuclear bomb, the Chinese have been even less backward than usual in stating their position on various subjects.

One has dealt with their long joint border with the Soviet Union, the longest in the world. They have warned the Russians they will not give up one inch of their territory in Stinkiang Province, a province not inhabited by Chinese but by a population primarily Moslem.

They have rejected any part of disarmament talks.

They have rejected membership in the United Nations unless it involved simultaneous expulsion of Nationalist China from the U. N. and all its related bodies.

If every man would mend a man...

Washington, (UPI) — Communist China is lifting the Bamboo Curtain for a U. S. surgeon to learn how he has restored the hearing of thousands of deaf persons.

Except for one or two journalists, Dr. Samuel Rosen of New York is one of the few Americans to be extended an invitation to visit Red China.

"Who knows? It may be the beginning of something," said Rosen in an interview with United Press International.

The State Department has approved passports for Rosen and his wife, Helen, to travel to Peking Jan. 1. He was invited by the Red Chinese Medical Society to demonstrate the operation bearing his name.

It involves surgical correction of one of the most common causes of deafness. Rosen pioneered the new technique in 1953. Since then, he has restored the hearing of about 14,000 persons and demonstrated the operation to doctors in 27 nations.

With the use of only local anesthesia, Rosen opens the ear to the stapes in the middle ear. Deafness is usually caused by calcium deposits at the base of the stirrup-shaped bone.

The calcium causes rigidity, keeping the stapes from vibrating, thus blocking the hearing process.

To correct this, Rosen flexes the bone in some cases, nicks it in others and sometimes replaces it with a plastic substitute.

In successful operations — 90 per cent of the time—hearing is instantly restored to the conscious patient.

"It's a terrific sensation for me and the patient," said Rosen.

Word of the operation travelled to Red China with R. K. Nehru, Indian Ambassador to Peking.

"I performed the operation on Ambassador Nehru in Hong Kong. He told me later that Chou En Lai and Mao Tse Tung were amazed at the improvement in his hearing," Rosen said.

Rosen and his wife, who assists him in the operation, will leave for Paris soon to pick up a visa from the Communist Chinese Embassy.

The State Department permits only relatives of U. S. prisoners in Red China to travel to the Chinese Mainland. U. S. newsmen are permitted to go, but rarely get an invitation.

Rosen was permitted to travel to China on humanitarian grounds. He will demonstrate the operation and lecture in Russia before flying to Peking from Moscow.

"Maybe this will be a good thing—they give little, we give a little," he said.

"As far as I'm concerned, I'm a doctor and if they want to learn the operation, it's my duty. I'm a Jew, but I've travelled and taught in many Arab nations.

"I stick to a proverb which just happens to be Chinese. 'If every man would mend a man, all the world would be mended.'"

United We Stand

In these days of turmoil and uncertainty with nations inter-involved in the affairs of our shrinking globe and the ever-threatening cloud of nuclear destruction hanging over our heads like the sword of Damocles, the need for an effective Emergency Measures Organization becomes more and more evident.

We are fortunate indeed to have in Victoria and Haliburton counties such a fine EMO organizer as James Hall.

A former senior OPP constable Mr. Hall has brought to his monumental task of emergency organization, a tremendous amount of energy. With continued support in the form of necessary finances from county council the Emergency Measures Organization of this county could be one of the finest in the country.

The post of EMO organizer was ordered by Ottawa but its wholehearted support is something we can do here in the county. For an efficient and well trained Emergency Measures Organization is invaluable in peacetime as well as war. In the event of a national disaster or a local disaster, floods, fire, airplane crashes and other catastrophies, we will have a team of fully trained rescue men, communications networks and emergency help available.

Mr. Hall is to be commended on his work in the development of an effective emergency set-up for this area.

Not Mind Reader

The motorist who makes a turn without signalling, well in advance, is inviting trouble. No motorist is a mind-reader. No motorist can guess which way you intend to turn. The only safe way—for you and for the others around you in traffic—is to signal every turn. It's a simple thing to do. Flick that little lever as soon as you know what turn you will make. If it isn't working, give the proper hand signal. But one way or another make it absolutely clear that you are going to turn and in what direction you are going to turn. There's no point in saving the tiny effort or the split second it takes to flick the turn signal then losing weeks in hospital or nursing your car through the complications of the aftermath of a crash.

Play it safe.

No Room For Milk?

Mishicot, Wis., (UPI) —A milk producer has urged his fellow dairymen to pitch their advertising on something more stimulating than the nutritional value of milk. Robert Mather of Chicago said per capita consumption of soft drinks has increased to 267 bottles per year.

"That doesn't leave much room for milk, does it?" he asked his health-minded colleagues.

No Disgrace

Contrary to the belief of most motorists, there's no disgrace in politeness and courtesy. It's come to be second nature with the Canadian driver to become angrily upset at the other driver, even when he's at fault himself. He'll cut across a street-neighbor's path, blowing his horn crazily, then work up indignant wrath when the other driver does the same thing.

If motorists would take personal note of how utterly ridiculous they are when this happens, courtesy and consideration would be rampant on the streets and roads. If that ever happens, hundreds of Canadians will live longer.

Play It Safe

One of the big hazards of winter driving is the poisonous cloud of exhaust fumes spewing into the air in heavy traffic. Keep the car window open enough to let fresh air inside. If you feel drowsy, pull out of traffic and walk around in the fresh air for a while. Carbon monoxide can be unnoticed, sickening, fatal. It can happen to you!

Dead Fox Found May Be Rabid

A fox believed to be rabid was found on Logie Street near the railway tracks Monday by an employee of the Board of Works. Percy Swanson of the Fish and Wildlife branch of the Lindsay District of Lands and Forests said the animal was found dead, covered with porcupine quills, an indication that it had left its fear of other animals. Mr. Swanson said the tail of the fox had been removed, possibly by human hands. He said any person who handled the fox should contact the Department of Lands and Forests, Fish and Wildlife branch.

The animal has been sent to Hull for analysis. Mr. Swanson said a reply is expected by Thursday.

Main Street Comments

Over two hundred and fifty men and women answered the call issued by the Red Cross Society recently and donated their blood to the hospital blood bank to prolong and save the lives of hundreds of unfortunate people. While there are many citizens who apparently never receive the urge to help in the cause of humanity, there are hundreds of others who have given their life blood annually for years past. Orchids to the donors. Orchids also to Dr. R. M. Parker who has given countless hours for several years to the cause of the Red Cross, especially as chairman of the clinic. According to many donors and also attendants at the clinic, Dr. Parker has render ed magnificent service. Orchids too might be passed out to the faithful and dedicated who work the clinics.

Service Clubs serve communities in many ways. In fact many towns have been blessed by having active service clubs. These clubs may be termed community builders.

A year ago citizens of Port Hope showed a complete lack of interest in civic elections, in fact three elections were held in the lakeshore town before all the seats on council were filled. Then the Kiwanis Club "took the bull by the horns" and accepted the challenge to arouse the interest of ratepayers in municipal affairs. The Kiwanis Club assisted the support of other service Clubs, with the result that there was a splendid slate of candidates to choose from. Apathy and complacency become a chronic disaster in many communities, so hats off to the service clubs in Port Hope.

Minden elects new councillors

Two newcomers to municipal politics topped the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township elections. Roy Windover secured 259 votes and Robert Gorrie 258 votes. Defeated were former councillors Robert J. Harvey with 159 votes and John O. Jackson with 213 votes. The Reeveship was filled by acclamation by Charles Brandon, former Reeve Lawrence Pritchard having retired after many years service. The deputy reeve Mark Vasey was also returned by acclamation.

Elected as School trustees were Lorne Coburn, Norman A. Harrison, John P Hill, Leonard Lonsberry and Frank Welch.

Improvised Storm Doors

Screen doors and window screens can be converted into moderately efficient storm doors and storm windows by covering the wire screening with translucent wire cloth. Tack the translucent cloth to the frame, using sufficient number of tacks so that high winds will not be likely to tear the cloth off. Use masking tape around the edges to make a tight joint.

Fresh-Looking Fruit

When fruits for salads or desserts are prepared in advance of serving, they can be prevented from discoloring if sprinkled generously with lemon juice. The lemon juice also accents the flavor of the fruit.

Fragrant Candles

If you'll lightly coat some of your candles with cologne, when they are burned later, they'll add a pleasant fragrance to the room.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

Q. How can I remesh a zipper that has pulled out of its slider?

A. Remove the slider to the open end, hold it loosely, and insert end tooth on the pull-out side of the zipper in front of the slider, so that the two sides are exactly parallel and so close they almost touch. If you are holding them correctly, you can hold the ends of the tape as the slider pulls up and meshes the teeth.

Q. How can I prevent fat or lard from spattering out of my frying pan?

A. A little salt sprinkled in your frying pan will prevent these "explosions."

Q. How can I prevent patent-leather shoes from cracking in cold weather??

A.. By rubbing a little petroleum jelly over them, then polishing with a soft cloth.

No-Slip Stand

If your typewriter table or a tool stand for other castermounted piece of furniture persists in inching away from you as you work on it, press a small rubber suction cup piece of wood between the roller and frame of two or more of the casters. This should provide the "brakes" you need.

That Pressure Reel

A plastic bowl cover, such as is used in the kitchen, will come in very handy as a cover for your fishing reel, protecting it from dust and grit.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. Whenever I paint chairs or other furniture, which I save placed on newspapers to protect my floors, my finished paint job sticks tightly to the newspaper and creats a mess. How can I avoid this?

A.. Try inserting a square of aluminum foil under each leg of the furniture, between it and the newspaper, and your furniture will not stick to this.

Q. How can I launder handkerchiefs to make them come out whiter and stay fresh longer?

A. By adding a little borax to your laundy water. Borax gives the fabric just enough extra body to withstand soiling too quickly.

Q. How can I remove vegetable stains from my fingers?

A. By rubbing them with a slice of raw potato.

EMO REPORT

Public information in disaster

by EMO Co-ordinator for Victoria—Haliburton JAMES HALL

Providing information to the public in peace and war has been recognized for centuries as a requirement by civil and military authorities. With the emergence of democracy the importance of an informed public was given new emphasis. If the people are to govern they must search out the true facts upon which to base judgements. And, when the facts are clouded and obscured and multiple choices are available to them, the public must be able to hear and read the varied prevailing opinions in order to decide and make known to their elected representatives the course they wish adopted.

The practice of informing the public has been confined neither to democracies nor modern times. Roman generals campaigning on the frontiers used courier-bourne reports to ensure that details of their victories were proclaimed in Rome's market places. More recently, Hitler had his Goebbels. The grave contrast Winston Churchill dramatically and factually informed the public of the perils they faced and the sacrifices he was demanding. Also, during the Second World War with government approval the Allied Armed Forces organized extensive facilities to assist war correspondents in providing the public with information.

In peacetime, natural disasters repeatedly have illustrated the importance of informing the public. Many readers of the Army Journal will be personally familiar with the constant demand for comprehensive and accurate information to the public during natural disasters. Huricane Hazel; the Manitoba Floods of 1950 and the operations in 1948 when the Fraser River went on the rampage, illustrated this characteristic need for information. And the effectiveness with which it is provided can immeasurably assist those responsible for operations during natural disasters. In one such disaster a complete and frank situation report effectively delivered to the public by a Commander was judged to have had an immediate calming influence although the serious dangers confronting the community were clearly stated.

The importance to defence of an informed public is greater for nuclear than conventional war. And the need to inform the public on the subject will remain constant until such time as the climate for true peace has been developed universally and the control and inspection of arms has been accepted and effectively established. Unfortunately, those conditions do not exist today.

Technological progress has assisted efforts to ensure an informed public. It is now possible to provide an overwhelming mass of data, facts and opinions. Recently world-wide television programmes were seen and other revolutionary aspects in the field of communications were forecast by the highly successful project which placed the satellite TELSTAR in orbit.

But in the final analysis volume alone will not ensure that the public is informed. The effectiveness with the public in the past and the future has and will be informed will vary primarily according to the integrity, honesty and skills in communication of the authorities providing the information and the writers and broad-casters who address themselves to the public.

Even with further technical improvements it will remain, as it is today, a most difficult task to ensure an informed public. Some facts will remain obscure, some truths unknown and some falsehoods circulated.

In addition to the difficulties inherent in ensuring an informed public and the complexities of the subject of nuclear warfare, there is no human experience in either short or long-term effects of a multi-megatons thermonuclear weapons attack. Despite these difficulties, an impressive amount of information based on the best scientific knowledge available has been prepared for the public by the Federal Government. The Emergency Measures Organization co-ordinated the programme by which this information is provided. EMO issues information on subjects for which it is responsible and co-ordinates the emergency measures public information activities of all federal departments. In addition, it provides public information assistance to the provinces and through them to the municipalities.

In preparing the EMO public information plan the first step was to decide what information the public needed and the second step was to select the means by which that information would be provided.

It is not possible in this article to provide the details of all the emergency measures information now available to the public from the federal government. Therefore, in what is a necessary over-simplification, the information being provided can be summarized as follows:

The current threat of nuclear war; the effects of nuclear war upon Canada and its people; federal government emergency plans and preparations and advice to individuals and families regarding peacetime survival preparations they can make for their own protection.

A major means of providing this information has been the publication of pamphlets and leaflets. One series of pamphlets is subtitled Blueprint for Survival.

The information contained in the publications is as factual as present knowledge permits. Prior to publication drafts of each are reviewed by scientists and technical experts qualified in the particular subject and every effort is made to present the information in language that will be understood by the public.

All of the publications are available free and a letter addressed to EMO, Court House, Lindsay, will bring a copy.

Newspapers, radio and television stations have been a major means by which emergency measures information has been made available. Many newspapers reprinted in full emergency measures pamphlets as 13 Steps to Survival and broadcasting stations have presented many major productions on the subject.

As stated earlier, federal departments having major emergency measures responsibilities are responsible for preparing and issuing public information on the subject. For example, the Army supplies the information on its survival role. Also, the Department of Agriculture, in consultation with the Emergency Measures Organization, prepared, published and distributed the pamphlet Fallout on the Farm. The principle has been adopted that each department is responsible for all public information aspects arising from its emergency measures responsibilities. The Emergency Measures Organization co-ordinates departmental public information in order to prevent duplication and ensure conformity with policy and fact.

Beside the current public information plan, the Emergency Measures Organization is responsible for developing and co-ordinating an operations plan for public information that would be brought into use in the event of a real emergency. In an attack on Canada, conventional or nuclear, dissemination of information to the public would be seriously disrupted. But at the same time it would be essential to quickly provide the public with information, instructions and advice, thereby reducing confusion and giving the people the incentive to survive and assist the country in recovering from the attack.

Here, too, it would be important to decide what information the public needed and means by which it would be provided. With respect to the former, it is essential to distinguish between the two general types of information which may be defined as:

(a) Public Information - is information on the activities of our nation, allies and enemy in wartime will maintain the will of the people to survive, help others survive and thereby assist in the country's recovery.

(b) Warnings, Instructions and Advice - to the public requiring or recommending action by them in an emergency.

In planning, the principle has been accepted that every means of passing information to the public would be used.

The quickest possible warning followed by instructions and advice to the public would be essential in the event of a threat of imminent attack on North America. Broadcasting stations provide the fastest means of disseminating information and for this reason an Emergency Broadcasting Plan, developed, organized and operated by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has been prepared.

The plan resulted in the formation of the Emergency Broadcasting Network in which all radio and television stations in Canada, with the exception of some northern stations, will participate. The full network itself is connected by teletype communciations to the Army's Attack Warning System. In fact the sounding of the alert warning on the system's sirens, means the government expects an imminent attack on North America and that the public should listen to the radio for instructions.

The Emergency Radio Network would be available for public information probably in newscast format as well as broadcasts by the Prime Minister and other senior representatives of government.

The printed as well as the broadcast word is included in the operation plan for public information. Provision is being made for the presence of Canadian Press and United Press International representatives, as well as the CBC, in the federal complex for emergency government sand the Regional Emergency Headquarters. These correspondents would obtain information by means of situation reports, briefings and interviews and also would have available to them the copies of the warnings, instructions and advice being broadcast to the public. Their despatches, newscasts and broadcasts by senior members of the governments would be the main source of public information.

Preparation of warnings, instructions and advice would be the responsibilty of civilian and military officers assigned to duties in the various emergency headquarters. For example, warnings to residents of areas threatened or affected by radioactive fallout would be prepared by the Army; advice to farmers concerning cattle and crops by officers of the Department of Agriculture.

As stated above, the means of dissemination for public information and warnings, instructions and advice, would be by broadcast and the printed word.

In the past, the provision of information to the Canadian people in wartime has been considered important to civil and military authorities alike. But the very nature of a nuclear war involving an attack on North America has made public information one of tne factors which might well decide the success or failure of the defence of this continent. Information will reduce panic and fear, and, if acted upon, warnings, instructions and advice developed by a trained staff viewing the overall situation would save literally thousands upon thousands of lives and thereby immeasurably assist the civil defense activities of municipalities and the reserve and rescue operations of the Army. This gives both urgency and importance to the public information operations plan. The present plan is not perfect. No plan ever is. But considerable progress has been made towards insuring that in the event of a nuclear attack authorative information as well as warning, instructions and advice would reach the Canadian people.

"NUTS" SAID THE COMMANDER AT THE BATTLE OF THE BULGE

Washington (UPI) — The skinny Nazi major removed his blindfold, tore open the envelope and removed an 8 by 11 piece of white bond paper.

In three, neat typewritten lines, it read:

To the German commander:

"N-U-T-S.

"From the American commander".

While he spoke English quite well, the German officer said he did not understand. If it was an affirmative answer, he said he had authority to negotiate the surrender of Bastogne.

"It means 'go to hell'-do you know what that means?" sail Col. Joseph H. Harper.

The German officer reddened as he understood the meaning of Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe's rejection of a Nazi demand to surrender the key to the battle that history now calls "The Bulge".

McAuliffe and Harper reached back 20 years today, during an interview with United Press International, to recall how it was at Bastogne during that trying time.

McAuliffe and other veterans of The Bulge were in Washington for a meeting of the U.S. Army Association marking the 20th anniversary of the historic battle.

"We were in a rest area after fighting in Holland when we first heard about it", said McAuliffe, Commander of the 101st Airborne Division in 1944.

"It" was the dying gasp of the Nazi war machine. It was Adolph Hitler's personal plan, in complete secrecy, he amassed 20 divisions-250,000 men-along the allied front.

About 75,000 U.S. troops, stretched thin along 85 miles of Belgian and Luxembourg borders, faced the Nazi counter-offensive.

Hitler planned to cut through the allied front between Aachen and Luxembourg, plowing back the invaders as he pushed to Antwerp and the Channel.

At 5:30 a.m., Dec. 16, the push began.

Artillery fire pounded American lines.

Out of the heavy fog came the Panzer tanks and the Wehrmacht infantry.

Some green U.S. troops threw down their guns and ran from the onslaught to be later killed or captured-in some cases, both.

In the next week the Nazi counter-offensive bulged 60 miles into the allied front. But by this time, allied lines began to harden. To keep the push moving, Hitler needed roads to speed his tanks to the front.

Snow and the woods to the Ardennes Forest has made cross-country tank operations almost impossible.

Five roads came out of Germany and were funneled into Bastogne", McAuliffe said. "We were the hub and they needed Bastogne bad.

"I guess I first knew we were surrounded when they captured our hospital behind us. They hauled away the patients, the surgeons and the medicine. We never saw them again. It was a mistake on my part-I wouldn't have located the hospital there again.

"But we had been surrounded before-in Holland and Normandy-so it was nothing new. We were in pretty good shape except we were running low on ammunition.

"The demand to surrender came on the 22nd."

Harper, who delivered the famous answer to the Germans, said "Nuts" was decided on after attempts at a formal reply failed. He said:

"McAuliffe said 'Aw, nuts' right after he read the German message. Finally, one of the guys said why not use that. And he did.

"After I had given the answer to be Germans who had crossed our lines, the Nazi major said a lot of Americans would be killed. I pointed to the road they had used to come to our lines and told him, 'If you continue this attack, I'll kill every damn German that comes down the road.'

"Later, I thought 'how dumb can you be-they'll send everything they got right up that road at my regiment'. I waited until 2 a.m. that night. But they didn't come".

The next day-the 23rd of December-the skies cleared. Eventually, 786 tons of supplies were dropped by plane into Bastogne. The lifting fog also allowed devastating allied air attacks on the Nazi counter-offensive.

But Hitler still wanted Bastogne and rumours said his troops wanted to give it to him for a Christmas present.

At 3 a.m. on Christmas Day the Germans launched an all-out assault on Bastogne. Panzer tanks and infantry were followed by troops with flamethrowers.

McAuliffe said:

"The next morning Gen. George Patton came down. He said it was one of the finest battlefields he ever saw. There were dead Germans piled up all over the place. You couldn't look anywhere without seeing a burning German tank."

When the vattle was over-early in January-8,000 allied troops were dead, 21,000 missing or captured and 48,000 wounded. The Germans lost 90,000 men.

"It was the coldest winter in 100 years in Europe", Harper said. "Many of the men listed as wounded had frozen hands or feet".

McAuliffe walked over the hills and through the woods around Bastogne a couple of months later.

"It's peaceful and beautiful around there now", he said. "It's just so peaceful.

Planning board to prepare map

The Planning Board was asked to prepare a large composite map of all the subdivisions showing the street patterns. Mayor Holtom told the board it couldn't sit on this forever, and not tell the people where the roads were going to go.

A motion by the Mayor that future or possible arterial roads be layed out on the map was carried. Mayor Holtom suggested two east-west arteries and two north-south arteries be laid out at present.

Mayor Holtom said the map should be on a wall in the Town Hall.

Request for non-conforming use approved

The Town Planning Board heard two applications for subdivision control Wednesday. One submitted by Sherman Moore was approved but the other, submitted by Neville Redstone Gate and Kathleen Gale, was rejected.

Mr. Moore's request was to sell a parcel of land in the annexed area for non-conforming use. The land is situated in an area formerly Ops Township, lot 23, concession 6.

The Gale application was to convey a two-acre parcel to the Anglican Synod. A plan and deeds were submitted to the planning board.

Eric Booth said selling of this land would interfere with the westerly extension of Orchard Park Road and Russell Taylor's subdivision.

James McQuarrie said he will have the plan re-drawn to fit in with the planning board's scheme.

"There's no hurry; the Anglican Church isn't going to build there tomorrow", Mr. Mc. Quarrie remarked.

MAYOR'S CHAIR HAS WANDERLUST MYSTERY OF ITS ORIGIN SOLVED

Antique and art dealer Ed. Harding who recently purchased the Col. Shields residence at 173 Lindsay Street south is pictured displaying an antique vase.

The mystery of the mayor's chair, a question that has interested Lindsay antique and art dealer Ed. Harding was solved this week. Twenty-three years ago when Ed. Harding was on the council in Leaside, the mayor sat on a large, ornate and impressive chair bearing a brass plate, reading "Presented to James E. Peaker, Esq., Mayor 1917-18-19 by the town council of the Town of Yorkton". Yorkton was an early name for the town of Leaside.

One day Councillor Harding noticed a workman carrying the chair away from the council chamber and found it was going to the dump. "You can't dump a chair like that", he said, and asked the workman to leave in in his garage. In the meantime the council chamber of Leaside was used as a schoolroom and council met elsewhere.

The chair remained in Mr. Harding's possession for the past twenty-three years and was carried around from Leaside to Jordan, then to Minden, then back to Toronto, up again to Minden and then to Islington. From there it returned to Minden and then to Lindsay where it stayed until three weeks ago when Mr. Harding asked Leaside council if they would like to have the old chair returned "I thought they would appreciate having such a fine old chair back in the council chamber" he said, "as people are now more antique conscious."

The Leaside mayor said the council would be delighted to have the old chair back and it was taken down and placed in the Leaside council chambers Mr. Harding was to have gone down to Leaside to officially present the chair back this Monday evening.

But then comes the twist to the story. Leaside council checked with the townclerk of the 1917 period and found that the chair had indeed been used in Leaside council for a number of years, but nobody knew where it had come from.

Somebody had the idea that it might have come from Yorkton, Saskatchewan and suggested that the brass plate on the plate didn't refer to early Leaside They were right.

After the clerk wrote to the town clerk of Yorkton, Saskatchewan, T. Tiller, Leaside council were informed that at the time in question a Mayor Peaker had indeed occupied the Mayor's chair. A daughter of the former mayor, Mrs. R. A. Crosthwaite wrote to say she was most interested in having the chair returned to Yorkton where it had been more than willing to co-operate in any way to have the chair returned there as soon as possible.

And so the wandering old mayor's chair is going back home again to Yorkton, Saskatchewan. How did it get to Leaside Nobody knows, and possibly never will.

KLTA to consider cooking course

Kawartha Lakes Tourist Association directors have until the end of February to consider the sponsorship of summer theatre in Lindsay and Peterboro in 1966.

Mr. Larry Reynolds and Mrs. Sally Jones appeared before the meeting representing Trigon Presentations. Mr. Reynolds said the tentative proposal of Trigon Presentations would be to rent the Academy Theatre for a ten week period from July 5th, to August 28th at a rental to be decided, and to produce a season of eight comedies of a variety of themes and scoop which would be featured as "The Kawartha Festival of Comedy". He said this was not a single year proposition, but the aim would be to continue it through the 1967 Centennial year.

Actor Larry Reynolds pointed out that as many Lindsay and district people would be used in the cast as possible. He said the producers would use a cast of ten basic vocatile and polished actors, plus a stage manager, two assistants and two apprentices. He said the project would involve the production of eight plays each produced five times in the area, possibly three times in Lindsay, and twice in Peterboro. He said it was necessary to secure sponsorship to the extent of the sale of 1500 season tickets at least.

Mr. Reynolds said it was felt that members of KLTA could derive direct benefit from such a programme as an added attraction for their guests and suggested the Association could enlist the support of Chambers of Commerce and Clubs. He also noted that definite commitments are necessary by the month of March in order to book the higher caliber actors, and secure the necessary royalties.

Mrs. Jones, actress and radio and TV personality, outlined several ways in which KLTA members could tie in with the summer theatre programme such as holding outdoor barbecues on the evenings of performances and providing transportation for an evening of live theatre in a package deal. She also mentioned the opportunities for local clubs to operate refreshment stands at the theatre, or providing 'in seat' refreshments as well as other projects.

KLTA directors decided to investigate all plus and minus factors such as the type and extent of cooperation available, realizing that this type of promotion could be of great benefit to the trade.

Earlier opening of fishing seasons considered by L & F

Possibilities of earlier opening of the fishing seasons in the Kawartha Lakes area were discussed at the December meeting of the KLTA Thursday night. Fish and Wild Life Supervisor Percy Swanston addressed the meeting and outlined the thinking of the Lands and Forests Department in regard to the tourist industry.

Mr. Swanson explained that the Department is very conscious of the importance of the fish and wild life to the tourist industry. With this in mind, the Department for a number of years has been exploring possible ways and means of assisting in the promotion of the industry and at the same time protect the propagation of the fish and wild life. He said the first step which the Department tried was the elimination of size limits with the exception of lunge which was reduced from 30 to 28 inches, and no detrimental effect was experienced The next step in Department minds would be the lengthening of the fishing seasons, the Supervisor said. He noted that in 1955, pickerel season will open the second Saturday in May, muskie and bass the fourth Saturday in June. He said the Department is considering the extension of the bass and lunge fishing to October 30th.

Further, he said, three opening dates could be fried in this area. Pickerel fishing could open the second Saturday in May. Muskie the second Saturday in June, and Bass the fourth Saturday in June. He said research had revealed that the muskie could be further exploited without any detrimental effect He said a closing date of November 30th. had also been mentioned but he reminded his listeners that no change in dates would be forthcoming until the 1966 season.

The KLTA voted in favour of going on record in favor of earlier opening dates and suggested a letter be written to the Minister recommending earlier opening such as would be in accord with the Departmental findings.

KLTA to sponsor summer theatre

Directors of the KLTA were told Thursday evening of a proposed plan to hold an electric food cooking demonstration in Peterboro for resort operators, early in the new year. Reports presented called for a three day programme with the main feature sections repeated to enable one day attendants to gain the greatest possible benefit. It is understood the Canadian Tourist Association would sponsor the event.

Directors were told that plans for the first meeting on Tuesday, February 2 will be set up to embrace a large area covering the Hastings, Mattawaska Valley, Haliburton and Kawartha Tourist areas. This meeting would be designed for the benefit of Community leaders, Chamber of Commerce members, and tourist association people.

The second meeting is slated to be held at Cobourg on Tuesday, March 2, and will be on a smaller basis to cover the Great Pine Ridge, Bay of Quinte, and Bancroft areas. The programme staff will also be available on Wednesday, March 3, the meeting was told.

A further meeting for staffs of resorts and other business operators is tentatively planned for late in May and the Canadian Tourist Association will put on the course. Plans for including a hospitality seminar were also discussed. C.O. Phillips stressed planning for the mass rather than the class.

ZION CHURCH ON THE HILL

A little red church on the hill-top stands,
It's been there of a hundred years.
It has given comfort in life and death,
It has shared in smiles and tears.

Wire fence around a grassy yard with shrubs grown tall and old, planted by hands in the long ago, toil-worn hands, that have long been cold.

In memory I see the altar rail, where we knelt on communion day — hear the echo of dear old hymns, hear the well loved minister pray.

Once again I sit in the family pew, with my parents and kindred dear. The incense of Sabbath peace steals 'round, and Heaven seems very near.

Though all is changed in the little red church, those loved of old are gone, others have risen to fill their place; the little church still carries on.

It gave of its best, this little red church, showered blessings on all who came to humbly kneel, in the dim dear past: and to-day—it is doing the same.

The Entertainment World

Toronto, (UPI) — The Crest Theatre, Canada's traditional home for Canadian writing and acting, has come out of the cold and darkness.

The theatre — which remained dark all through the fall because it didn't have any money and the Canada Council wouldn't help out — now has the money, the plays and the casts.

It raised the money to open New Year's eve through a public appeal and benefit shows.

It will hold the first performance of "A Severed Head" early Dec. 31 so its loyal patrons can skip off to parties afterwards.

The cast includes top Canadians such as Toronto's Kate Reid and Montreal's Leo Ciceri both veterans of the Stratford Festival, and expatriate Lee Patterson.

Although Patterson has been in 32 British movies and plays and innumerable TV shows including Surfside 6, he has never worked in Canada as an actor.

Toronto-born, he worked as a designer here and then went to England to get into TV designing. He got into the acting side when he jokingly told an agent he was an actor.

He worked for six months in such roles as Happy in "Death Of A Salesman" and then got frightened.

"Once the terror set in, I knew I had to get down and work at acting, he said.

He has just finished his Broadway debut in the P.S. I Love You, directed by former Canadian Henry Kaplan who will also direct the Crest Show.

"A Severed head," a comedy about euthanasia by author J. B. Priestley and Iris Murdoch, will also have TV personality Fred Davis, Anna Cameron, Lee Patterson and Tobi Weinberg.

The Crest's resident director will be Michael Johnston. He studied theatre administration on a Canada Council Scholarship and helped set up the Vancouver playhouse company.

A production that flopped at the Crest, "Brecht on Brecht," may be resuscitated for another Toronto Theatre.

Jack Marigold, who came to Canada from New York to direct Brecht the first time, and Sylvia and Ben Lennick want to reopen the old Royal Conservatory concert hall, now occupied by Ontario Hydro in downtown Toronto.

The auditorium holds 280 seats and the trio hopes to have it reopened in late January or early February with two off-Broadway plays. "The Typist" and "The Tiger". Then they may bring back "Brecht on Brecht."

A group of 20 Canadian performers, headed by Gordie Tapp, has come to Cyprus to entertain Canadian soldiers and airmen.

The group includes the Rhythm Pals, singer Janet Stewart, banjoist Maurice Boyler, a band led by Bert Niosi, dancer Rosanne Hopkins, the Lounsbury Sisters who specialize in twirling batons, and the new Miss Canada — Linda Douma.

Officially, the show is called the CBC concert party. The up to get it to Cyprus.

LINDSAY MEN JAILED FOR THEFT

A Lindsay man, Robert Taylor, 27, of 60 William Street North was sentenced to six months in the Ontario Reformatory for two charges of theft and an accomplist, Donald Coulter, 18, of Lindsay, was sentenced to three months in jail when they were convicted by Magistrate Ian Munro in Lindsay Police Court Monday.

A third man, Ralph Fountain of Lindsay, was fined $200 and costs or three months for being in possession of stolen goods.

Lindsay Police Constable Ralph Fountain said the Police Department received a complaint that a 40 horse-power outboard motor valued at $400 had been stolen from the Ray Weldon garage. Constable Fountain said the motor had been found on Colborne St., west of Angeline, with the control wires cut by a hacksaw.

Damage to the motor was estimated at $150. Constable Fountain said entrance to the garage had been gained by going through a small door at the rear and removing a piece of plywood.

In Taylor's statement he said he was scared and got rid of the motor. He said he was going to take it back but he was scared and left it where it would be found.

Constable Fountain said Taylor returned alone to the scene on November 18 and took a set of wrenches, and electric drill and a 24-quart case of oil from the adjoining garage operated by Glen Cornell. The material taken this time was valued at $103.

Taylor said he saw Vernon Clayton and asked him if he know anyone who would buy some tools. He said Clayton asked if they were "hot" and the accused assured Clayton they were his own. He told Clayton he needed the money and Clayton purchased the tools and oil for $15.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan asked the accused if they didn't seem like a small price and the accused replied, "If you were in my position, with no place to eat or sleep, you'd do the same". Taylor added, "you can't get $100 out of a working man".

Clayton told the Court he sold the tools for $30 the next day or so.

Taylor and Coulter both pleaded guilty to the charges. Taylor's record revealed he had been convicted of theft four times in the last ten years and had one conviction of receiving stolen goods. Most of his theft convictions were in Orillia.

Magistrate Ian Munro told Clayton he did not believe his explanation. The Magistrate said he was quite satisfied Clayton was aware of something "fishy" and he got rid of the goods quickly and made a small profit.

"It has always been my belief", Magistrate Munro concluded, "If there were no receivers, there would be no thieves".

Eaton Company, was honoured prior to his retirement at the end of the year, at a dinner and presentation at the Bonfire Banquet room Saturday night. Upwards of ninety employees, relatives and friends gathered for the occasion.

Bill Cummins, a close associate with Mr. Hanson, both at work and in sports, made the presentation on behalf of the employees and spoke highly of the retiring salesman who started with Eaton's College Street store in Toronto and transferred to Lindsay in 1951. He said Mr. Hanson enlisted with the Canadian Army in 1942 and received his honourable discharge in 1946. Mr. Cummins also related some of Mr. Hanson's triumphs in the sporting world as a prominent softball coach both in Toronto and Lindsay.

Mr. Hanson was the recipient of a power saw complete with stand, and thanked the gathering for the wonderful evening as well as the gift. Flowers were presented to Mrs. Hanson by Miss Jean Richardson of the recreation committee.

Best wishes on behalf of the Company were expressed by the Lindsay store manager, Mr. E. J. Williams, and Mr. Thomas Longson, a former fellow employee, and now manager of the Windsor store.

Mr. Arthur Brose, M.C., for the occasion introduced head table guests, Mr. and Mrs. Hanson and Mrs. K. J. Williams, Mr. G. A. Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Schrader, Mr. and Mrs. T. Longson, Miss J. Richardson.

After his retirement on Dec. 31st, Mr. and Mrs. Hanson plan to leave early in January, for Florida, returning to their Bobcaygeon home sometime in April.

ATTENDANCE DOWN, COSTS UP IN SWIMMING POOL OPERATION

As instruction activity has increased at the Rotary Community Swimming Pool, general attendance has decreased notes Herbert A. Watson, chairman of the Rotary Pool Operation Committee in his annual report covering the fourteenth year of operation of the pool. This is evidenced in part of the number of children brought to the swimming classes from the surrounding resort areas who do not use the pool for recreational purposes.

A total of 15,539 attended the pool this year compared with 16,302 in 1963 and 17,679 in 1962. Operating expenses increased from $4,237 in 1962 and $4,762 in 1963 to $7,888 in 1964. Operating receipts rose from $3,232 in 1962 and $3,672 in 1963 to $4,646 in 1964 and this year's deficit was $3,242, compared with $1,090 in 1963.

A grant has been received from the Rotary Club to largely meet the operating loss for the year of $3,242. The Rotary Club during the past three years has provided grants of $5,375 to meet operating losses of $5,337 during this period.

The grant received from the town of Lindsay, which is related to the cost of wages paid to instructors, increased $293 over 1963.

Higher repairs and maintenance costs accounted for the increase of $3,126 in disbursements over the previous year.

Special recognition should be given to the Pool Staff under the direction of John McKay who filled dual role of instructor and pool manager, and Robert Pool operating chairman Herbert A. Watson. The instruction programme was intensified and the pool operated at high efficiency with a minimum of supervision from the committee. Mr. McKay introduced competitive swimming and weekly film nights at which time films received from the Canadin Red Cross Society were shown for the benefit of the children.

Mr. McKay has made suggestions for the improving of the pool facilities which will be investigated by the Rotary Pool Operating Committee in planning for the 1965 season:

- Heating Unit: The addition of a heating unit would be most desirable and help to increase revenue for both classes as well as public swimming periods. A rental unit is avilable through the Consumers' Gas Company.
- Raising of Water Level: This could be accomplished by sealing the drains in the present gutter system and install a new gutter in the deck behind the pool edge. The higher level would improve the efficiency of the pool for both swimming classes and public swimming and make the use of the high diving board less hazardous. The depth of the shallow end would remain satisfactory for the younger children.
- Removal of basket racks: Many of the children using the checking facilities at the pool only check shoes or shirt. As the present facilities are seldom used to capacity, the removal of the central section of basket racks would leave approximately 200 units available for checking and make space available for use as a staff room and for rainy day class instruction.
- Filtration: This year's maintenance programme resulted in efficient operations all season. As the system was in first-class condition, clean water was maintained by a programme consisting of 1. Acidity control; 2. Algae control; 3. Chlorine control, 4. Pool cleaning (vacuum pump), 5. Filter cleaning.

ICY ROADS TAKE TOLL OF TRAFFIC

Icy roads took their toll over the week end which included two accidents in the Haliburton area. At 10:30 a.m. Saturday morning Edna Tripp of Eagle Lake was proceeding west on the West Guilford Road when the late model car she was driving skidded off the road on a sharp curve and collided with a large tree stump. Approximately $700 damage was inflicted to the car. There were no personal injuries.

At 12:30 a.m. Sunday morning a car driven by Neil Dennison of Oshawa with four passengers was proceeding along highway 503 toward Gooderham. The weather was very foggy and the vehicle slid off the north side of the road and travelled 89 feet along a 12 foot, rock strewn ditch before rolling over. Damage to the car was estimated by police to exceed $800.

Adrien Reid of Oshawa suffered undetermined back injuries and Donald Reid, also of Oshawa suffered minor facial cuts, and Blake McDuff of Gooderham suffered a large scalp cut. All were taken to the Ross Memorial Hospital. No other vehicles were involved and no charges were laid.

GOING TO DOGS

Harlow, England, (UPI) — The urban council here decided to prevent the town park from going to the dogs by engaging one. Man and dog teams will patrol the area from now on to deal with roadies.

USBAND APPRECIATES EALTH-NAGGING WIFE

Woman may not be her other's keeper, but she is er husband's keeper. And at requires both perception nd courage.

Perception, because women re born nurses. They are ften the first to notice that e husband is peaked, or de-ressed, or suffering weight ss, or especially anxious, him to take care of himself. nd courage, because it takes he'd probably be alive. st that to persist in trying stopped only because I could-get advice by being a good lis-t stand being called a nag-ener.

LOW I.Q. BUT NOT DUMB

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I get nervous and tense when I have to talk with anyone unless I know them real well. I'm afraid they will realize I am not very intelligent. When I was in high school (am 48 now) the students were all given an I.Q. test. Although I had to study hard, I was an honor student. So you can imagine my surprise and embarrassment when mine turned out to be 50!

Through the years I have often thought about it. I keep trying to convince myself there was something important and I am still slow by nature—both to think and to act. But I have never found anything I couldn't do, given enough time. I have a wonderful husband who still loves me dearly after 28 years of marriage, although his I.Q. is close to 200.

He and our four daughters know I'm no genius, but I'm sure they don't consider me a moron, either. I teach a class of junior girls in Sunday School and have been asked to teach adult groups, too. I have always been rather quiet so I

I'm writing to you now, because I'm getting more tense than ever with strangers. Can you give me some assurance that I'm not a moron. I look and feel much younger than I am. That is probably because I have been babied all my life by parents, older brothers and sisters and by my husband.—Mrs. X.

Comment: I'll wager your I.Q. is way over 50. Considering what you are getting out of life, I think many would agree with me that the world would be happier with many more "morons" like yourself. I hope you'll pardon the expression "dumb like a fox". But you have enough wisdom to make you happier than most people. I don't know about your I.Q.; but I'll bet your H.Q. (Happiness Quotient) is high.

SWIMMING POOL'S HEALTH HAZARDS

This is about swimming pools. Don't go away simply because you don't own one. Some day you may be invited.

Of course, you know the fundamentals. Don't dive unless you're sure there's water in the pool. Don't yell for help unless you're really in distress. Don't show off. Don't slip. (This is addressed to the elders hopping some of it will rub off on their children.) Kids you know just swim, and dive and have fun and leave all the worring to us.

There are other hazards than the physical, such as potential drowning and broken bones. In a recent article by Donald M. McLean, M.D., of Toronto, Canada, he stressed the need for a proper residual chlorine level in the pool. For, organisms are excreted from the skin, mouth, nose, eyes, urestra and anus. He emphasized that sneezing, coughing and blowing water from the mouth should be discouraged. Taking a shower before entering the pool helps to remove gross contaminations from the skin

If you have any of the following, better stay out: sore throat, obviously infected skin, cold, recent smallpox, vaccination, inflamed eyes (conjunctivitis), infected bladder or diarrhea.

Swimming anyone?

SORE ON LIP

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have had a very small sore on my lip for quite a while (months) which lies dormant for a while, then breaks down and bleeds for about a week, then heals over again. I brought it to our family doctor's attention. As the sore was healed at the time he seemed to think I was worrying unnecessarily.

Now it is beginning to break down again. I did make an appointment for an examination for cancer (advising the clinic that this growth was on my lip) and they sent me two pages of instructions regarding preparations for the examination: i.e., enema and so forth. This seems entirely out of order for examination of my lip. What do you advise? Mrs. M.

Comment: See one of the best dermatologists in your city. Tell your family doctor whether he thinks you are worrying unnecessarily or not, that you'd like him to refer you. If he still thinks you are being silly, which I don't think he will, make the appointment yourself (after getting a list of top notch men from your local medical society secretary).

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My father, who is 84, is rapidly losing his memory. This awareness makes for great anxiety on his part. Is there anything new to alleviate the lack of circulation in the brain? Mrs. R.

Comment: Nothing new that I know of. Harmless medicines that sometimes help (we don't know why nor how) are niacin in small doses; or saturated potassium iodide. Loss of memory can be a stubborn complaint in the elderly.

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

A DOCTOR'S WIFE SPEAKS HER MIND

"What did the doctor say?"

For a change, let's take a look around at the base of the pedestal. What did the wife of the doctor say? Too often she is the silent member of the team. Therefore, occasionally, I like to bring a doctor's wife into the column.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I meant to write you some time ago when I read your remarks regarding "Senior Citizens" vs. "Oldsters". I must say that since I am rapidly approaching the time when I can be referred to as a Senior Citizen I will just hate it! I would rather be called an Oldster–I hope a gay and giddy one–but not Senior Citizen. I agree with you wholeheartedly. It sounds too stuffy for words.

Now that I have that off my chest, here is another thing I'd like to talk about. Your recent column on the poor mixed-up 19-year-old who blamed her "older" mother for her state of not fitting in, just irked me.

I am almost 53 years old. My daughter just turned 18 and my son will be 13 in a few months. As you can figure out, they were born to older parents and they have been such a joy. My husband is a busy obstetrician, so if the good Lord had not blessed us with these two I would be a very lonely woman. As it is I'm too busy being a chauffeur, housewife, settler of innumerable squabbles, etc., to have any time to worry, over their social adjustments.

NO TIME TO WORRY

They are nice kids and I think they like us as we like them. I was 41 when the menopause came my way and with two babies in diapers, that critical period of my life was encountered with practically no attention. I had no time to worry about it. Chalk up one more plus for having children late in life. I'd have two more tomorrow if I could. –Mrs. S.

Comment: To date I have received many scores of letters reacting to the column of the 19-year-old who blamed her unhappiness on being born to an "old" mother. The tally sheet is conclusive. With but few exceptions, older parents (and children born to older parents) write that they wouldn't have had it any other way.

Let nature take its course. If you want to have children when you are still young, fine However, if you are in the late 20's and into the 30's (early or late) and have doubts about raising a family at a later date, there is the other side. Most who have written me about their own experiences extol late parenthood. Too many still consider it a catastrophe to have a child when well into the 30's.

Mr. Y.: Medically speaking, a "host" is a patient who harbors a parasite, a germ or a growth.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Believe me, there are some old-fashioned (if not old) doctors left! My obstetrician who delivered me three babies and has cared for me through every kind of problem for 16 years was so concerned when I asked for a few sleeping pills that he came over to discover what my state of mind was before he would give me any.

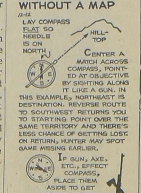

Is this a good man and a fine doctor? You bet he is. Next to God is my Dr. G. Everyone should be so lucky.–Mrs. J.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

SOME OLDSTER SWING A GOOD, STIFF PUNCH

Angry hornets? They are harmless when compared to stirred-up senior citizens in danger of losing their favorite designation. Many weeks have passed and I still receive po and con letters from readers on the subject of youngsters, midsters and oldsters (pardon, senior citizens).

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Shame on you! I am 68, the mother of two sons and a daughter. I have 11 wonderful grandchildren. I am a widow of many years and support myself by working.

At present, I am president of the Ladies Senior Citizen Club here and enjoy every minute of it. I don't agree with your pet hate. I despise the words: age, aging and oldster. We are only as young as we feel. We are entitled to some prestige and dignity. How do you expect the young people to respect their grandmas and grandpas when you degrade us by calling us oldsters? Believe me, I have cut out your column on the subject, and propose to read it at the next meeting and have a show of hands on how these delightful "old ladies" feel about it.

Tip: Don't ever appear before our organization. We'll knock your block off, young man.–Mrs. B.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I want to thank you for letting me know (through your column) that at least one other person does not like the words "senior citizen" as a designation for older people. From the beginning, it has made me a little sick at the stomach to read it. I am 75, still acting as office secretary at a fair salary, and living alone on a walkup third floor.

I'm a relative stranger in this town and a Senior Citizen's Club meets on Saturday and Sunday. I've been tempted to attend, but that name holds me back. I presume you've had many angry letters from senior citizens. You deserve at least one from an "oldster" who agrees with you. –Mrs. S.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I heartily agree with your thoughts on the term senior citizen. It gives me the shakes every time I read it. I was 81 on my birthday last month, and in good health. I am proud to be an oldster, in contrast to my four grandsons who are youngsters.–Mrs. J.

A DOCTOR'S CORRESPONDENCE

Mrs. B.: It is true that a person who has Reiter's disease doesn't necessarily have venereal disease because he has a discharge. Inflammation of the mucous of the eyes, of the urethra and inflammation of joints are the common "triad" in Reiter's disease.

* * *

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: All women with children do not automatically deserve the name "mother". Mothers often fail their children from the time they are born by not giving them love and affection. And the fathers of such families are usually spineless.

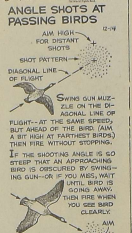

I speak from experience. I have a grandson like that. I pray he finds happiness in time. Children suffer from the sins of their parents.–Mrs. K.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am 81 and have been running a small grocery store for 42 years. I have been having some pain in a knee joint. Doctors are so busy with younger sick people they don't give us much time. Is an occasional aspirin all right?–Mrs. W.

Comment: Don't see how it can harm you. But hear this: Please accept my best wishes for your spunk and fortitude in your work.

Exchange of gifts at W.I. meeting

Woodville (PNS) — The December meeting of the Glen Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Douglas Gilchrist. The President, Mrs. Orville Hill was in the chair and there was a good attendance of members present. Conveners were Mrs. Hugh Imrie and Mrs. Albert Bates. Business was conducted after the usual opening exercises. Roll Call was answered with an exchange of Christmas gifts. A quilting was held at the home of Mrs. Harvey Dixon in November. A donation is to be sent to the Sick Children's Hospital. A letter received from Mrs. J. E. Graham, representative of the Federation of Agriculture, sent notice of the annual meeting to be held in December in the Government Building. Mr. R. A. Stewart, Packenham, Renfrew County, was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Hugh Imrie opened the programme by reading a poem written by Miss Beth Grant, Woodville and several Christmas Carols were sung. Mrs. Warren Thomas read an article about a boy in the days before World War One. Another of Miss Grant's poems was read and the meeting closed by singing "The Queen" and lunch was served.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

LEARNING TO LIVE WITH A WEAK HEART

Recently a friend told me that he'd prefer not to be made aware he had a weak heart. He said it would scare him to death. I said that was a certain way to shorten his days here. The truth may hurt, but ignorance causes more actual damage. In knowledge there is strength. For example, consider this letter from Nashville, Tenn.:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Just read your column about telling the truth. I am glad my doctor told me the truth over 30 years ago. Otherwise, I would never have fought for my life as I have all these years. He said that unless I took care of myself I would not live long. From that time I've read everything I could get my hands on–including your column and your books–which pertained to heart trouble.

I learned at the beginning to consult my heart and abide by it. When I haven't I've gotten into trouble. For the first several months during my original attack I lay on my back hardly daring to breathe and giving my heart a chance to get strong again.

As the years went by I kept consulting my heart. If I got short of breath that meant slow down. If my chest got tight and my breathing laboured, that meant lie down until it quit acting up. If I forgot and ran to the mailbox my heart would act as if someone struck a butcher knife in my chest and gave it a twist. That was warning enough to stop and get a pill under my tongue quick.

I have learned to live with my heart. I still have to pet it and humour it. I believe in the shop-worn precept: Never run when you can walk, never walk when you can sit, and never sit when you can lie down.

I mostly skip the running and the sitting. I either walk or lie down. Ten minutes of lying down rests me more than a half hour sitting.

My husband is 73 and I am 71. We enjoy our children and grandchildren, our garden and our flowers. We have also been laid up with her arm and leg or camping once a week for years.

Yes, Dr. Steincrohn, keep telling your patients the truth about their hearts. As you have said, it's silly to put them in danger by not wanting to scare them with the truth. It's the only thing that will give them a real fighting chance–like it did me.

For an old, scared heart is a might fine thing to have 30 long happy years after you thought you'd never see another sunrise.–Mrs. C.

GRATEFUL DAUGHTER OF OLDER PARENTS

Where is the diving line? When should you have a baby? When shouldn't you? Of course there is no clear-cut line of demarcation. Some mothers, having their baby in their 40s are happy (and so is the growing child); while others are inadequate parents when they are still in their 20s, and their children suffer for it. Here's an interesting letter from a grateful daughter of older parents:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have just been reading the letter from Mrs. X. about having children late in life. She states in the beginning that she never heard the child's side of it. So I am writing this about my side as the child of older parents.

I am 24 years old and the mother of two children. As I was growing up I was aware that my parents were older than my friends' parents. But it never was a handicap. They always seemed so young in their actions and I was proud of them.

My parents went together for nearly 10 years waiting for the depression to be over before getting married. They felt it was better to wait so they could bring up their family under better economic conditions. Late in 1937 they married and my father started a business of his own.

Two years later I was born. A child could never be more loved than I was all my life. I have nothing but beautiful memories of a wonderful childhood. I remember the day my sister was brought home from the hospital. My mother was 41 and my father 43 at the time of my sister's birth.

Nothing could have been more wonderful. I was so happy to have a baby sister because my parents had prepared me well.

I can remember through the years my mother often thanking God for her two children and wonderful husband and how lucky she felt that she had waited to get married after she had seen a little more of life and had matured. She always felt you could not raise children unless you were grown up yourself.

My parents were always active with us in church, school, scouts and other activities. They were friendly with our friends' parents young or old. Of course, many times they were left out of certain social function of my friends' parents because of age differences, but it never mattered much. They always had their own interests, friends and activities.

My sister is now 17 and she has nothing but praise for our parents. She says they have helped her through many difficult teenage problems. Although they are getting close to 60 they are still very young in heart.

I hope Mrs. X. and others have a chance to read this letter. I feel it is the least I can do for wonderful older parents who, through their love, have helped many a younger parent be a much better parent because of their teaching and love.

My husband also came from older parents, and feels as I do that it is a wonderful blessing.–Mrs. Z.

Comment: I doubt that Mrs. Z. or any of her children ever will need the service of a psychiatrist.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: What is the difference between condensed and evaporated milk?–Mrs. H.

Comment: Condensed: milk from which a certain proportion of water has been evaporated and sugar has been added. Evaporated: canned milk with approximately half its water removed.

SENATE APPROVES MAPLE LEAF FLAG UNION JACK GIVEN OFFICIAL STATUS

Ottawa (UPI) — The Canadian parliament has virtually ended what was probably the longest flag debate in history and become the only country in the world with two flags—one borrowed from another country and the other made from scratch.

The senate last night gave final approval to the newborn flag—a single red maple leaf on white with red borders—as Canada's first National flag in her 97-year history as a nation. The vote was 38 to 23.

The flag was designed in a 15-member, all party Commons committee that deliberated in secret for six weeks before finally recommending it to parliament.

Down the hall, the Commons voted the United Kingdom's Union Jack Canada's second flag—the symbol of this country's allegiance to the crown and connection with the Commonwealth—giving a flag that had flown over Canada for more than 100 yrs., its first official status as a Canadian flag. That vote was 185 to 25. The final parliamentary stamp of approval to the Jack will likely be given by the senate today and then the cabinet will seek the approval of the Queen for both flags and ask her to announce their new status in Canada by Royal Proclamation, which Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said last night will "take a little time".

It as an historic and exciting night, a rare one in which both Houses of Parliament generated equal interest and excitement.

It was the 36th day of the marathon flag debate and the 213th day of the longest parliament session in Canadian history.

With an admitted "feeling of relief" that it was all over, Government House Leader George McIlraith announced following the Commons vote that the government hoped to call a recess at the end of today's sitting.

"That's our hope", he said as members giggled in a mixture of disbelief and relief. McIlraith told UPI earlier that he is aiming for a recess of at least five or six weeks.

Members laughed and thumped their desks as McIlraith rolled through a list of about 10 items of business he wants to clear before the recess most of them will be cleared up quickly, with the exceptions of opting out legislation for Quebec, granting that province the right to pull out of certain federal - provincial schemes and still receive federal money, and the labor code setting a minimum wage and other working benefits for about 500,000 Canadians coming under federal jurisdiction.

Lindsay salesgirl wins car in Rexall national contest

Mrs. Ida Lohmeyer, sales-clerk at Quinn's Pharmacy Ltd., was presented Thursday with a new Rambler Classic Sedan — first prize in a nationwide sales contest sponsored by Rexall Drug Company.

The contest began in June, and was open to all employees of more than 1400 Rexall stores in Canada. Thousands of entries were collected at the company's headquarters in Cooksville, Ont., and the winner's names were drawn last week by a panel of retail pharmacists.

Lindsay Reeve, R. I. Moore, presented the prize on behalf of Rexall, and brought the town's sincere congratulations to the happy winner.

Mrs. Lohmeyer was congratulated also by Mr. G. Fletcher Rexall's Medicine Department manager, on being selected as national winner and on her excellent sales performance.

Tom Quinn, who is a charter member of the Rexall Advisory Council for Ontario and whose pharmacy has long been one of Canada's leading Rexall agencies, expressed the feelings of the entire staff when he said, "Ida certinly deserved to win — she's a wonderful worker and we're proud and happy that she got the first prize".

Mrs. Lohmeyer, who came to Lindsay from Munich, Germany, about five years ago, is well known to the many customers of Quinn's pharmacy; her cheerful, helpful and under standing attitude has won her a host of friends among the people of Lindsay.

Mrs. Ida Lohmayer of 47 St. Lawrence Street, Lindsay, receives the keys of her new Rambler Classic Sedan from Lindsay reeve Col. R. I. Moore in front of Quinn's Pharmcay Thursday afternoon. Lindsay youths turned over to Brechin OPP

Acting on information supplied by Brechin detachment of the O.P.P. Constable Ronald Graham of the Lindsay Police picked up two Lindsay youths and turned them over to the Brechin O.P.P. at 5:00 a.m. this morning.

Police Chief John Hunter said no date has yet been set for a probe into the death of Marvin Trowbrige, 42, of 8 Adelaide Street South, Police said Mr. Trowbridge, whose body was found at the Lindsay Golf Course at noon yesterday by a young girl when she was going home from school, died from a gun-shot wound.

Mr. Weaver was pronounced dead on arrival at Ross Memorial Hospital after he was removed from police lock-up cells last Saturday.

The fate of Michu Picchu

Zalla, Peru (UPI) — The Peruvian government has taken a growing interest in the fate of the 500-year-old Inca City of Machu Picchu, discovered in 1911 by an explorer seeking the fabled "lost city of the Incas".

Although Machu Picchu was not the city explorer Hiram Bingham of Yale University was seeking, it was indeed a lost city built in the enclave of Two Andes mountains and apparently uninhabited since the early part of the 16th Century.

The strongly-fortified village was found in a comparatively well preserved condition. It had been spared the ravages of the conquering spaniards under Francisco Pizarro. But the ravages of the weather and time had done their damage. They still are.

This is the problem that concerns the Peruvian Government. Although the Incas were brilliant at building with stone without the use of mortar, the results of their efforts have begun to show their age. Some of the walls and fortresses that protected the city have begun to crumble.

The government and authorities from Cuzco, the former capital of the Inca Empire, are keeping a close watch of the ruins of Machu Picchu. The city is located only a few miles from Cuzco, almost 10,000 feet above sea level.

The government has announced plans to turn the city into a major attraction for both archaeologists and tourists.

Under the direction of the National University of Lima, a program of preservation and restoration is being carried out. Government officials said they hope, in time, to build a museum of Inca artifacts near the ruins.

The reconstruction and development Corporation of Cuzco plans to build a suspended-cable railway from the foot of Machu Picchi mountain to the city it helps cradle in one of its valleys.

And a wealthy Peruvian, Ana Fernandini De Naranjo, recently donated $18,000 toward restoration and construction of the museum.

Although the history of Machu Picchi is surrounded in mystery and still left primarily to speculation, the Peruvian overnment has expressed hope that enough backing can be found for its program to recreate the city and preserve its material structure if nothing else for the future.

Currie, secretary-treasurer; and Harold Cunningham, captain. The team and a good work-out on Saturday afternoon, and are shaping up well. The Club is determined to adopt blue and white as the colours for the season.

Mr. Percy Parsons is working steadily at the rink, and expects to have a good sheet of ice by Saturday night. He has gone to the expense of considerable repairs, and improvements, and is installing a serviceable lighting system. He should make considerable profit this year, if the weather is favorable.

The Northeast Corner

by "the observer"

Since Confederation in 1867, there has taken place a gradual development of the powers of the Canadian Government, until now the status of Canada in the British Commonwealth of Nations can be expressed in these words, as enunrsed in 1926 by the Imperial Conference when defining the relative position of Great Britain and the self-governing Dominion: "They are autonomous communities within the British Empire equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another in any respect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by a common allegiance to the Crown, and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

While Canada with its 3,700,000 square miles of territory, with its enormous natural resources, its varied attractions of scenery, climate and industry, has this independent position within the empire, still our country is bound to the mother land by the strongest ties of fillial devotion as are expressed by all of us every day whenever we are assembled by using and with glass in hand we drink a toast to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth and sing our National Anthem. And when we drink this toast and sing our anthem we stand erect and face the flag-draped photograph of the Queen or King as the case may be.

No subject comes home more closely to the heart of a people or appeals more closely to the intelligence of its citizens than the flag—its traditions, its history, its prestige, its many and vital meanings. There is only one Flag for the whole population of Canada, and today our Government, in trying to appease one segment of our population are forgetting the history and meaning and traditions of our beloved Union ack and are sending it to the junk pile in the hopes that it will soon be forgotten. No it will not soon be forgotten. A few months ago when our Prime Minister was invited to speak to the Dominion Command of the Veterans Convention in Winnipeg, he was practically booed off the platform. The mere mention of changing our flag for some other design was enough to make the veterans see red.

For sake of the few malcontents who are willing to sacrifice their own emblem "The Fleur de Lis", so that all our connection with England will be completely severed. I have recited this poem in this column before but I feel it will stand reciting once more. It was often recited during the last war when Old England stood with her back to the wall fighting for us and for a long while fighting all alone.

"Why should we fight" he asked me,
'Cause England is at war?
Why are we fighting now Dad.
What are we fighting for?
What does it mean to you, Dad
To Babe and Mum and Me?

The Germans won't come over here
From way across the sea
Is it 'cause England owns us —
Is that the reason why?
His eyes look widely at me,
I tightly held my son,
And this is how I answered
His questions one by one.

We fight when england calls us,
For in her sacred keep
The ashes of our fathers
Lie in her soil asleep,
And many times for England,
They fought that she'd be free
And they are part of England
And so my son are we,
And some may pass her by, lad,
And some may scorn her hand,
But we must be forever
A part of that fair land,
For everything we have, son
That's good and fine and just,
Was washed in British blood, son
And given to us in trust.

And we must keep that trust son,
Against the farce of greed,
And fight beside old England
Whenever she's in need,
And once again she's calling
Across the Empire wide
And all her Empire answers,
"You'll find us at your side,"
Oh yes, we're owned by England
But we own England too
As you are part of me son,
And I am part of you.

As this is being written the Government is bringing in a Bill to institute "Closure". This means that all debate on the Flag will come to an end and the Premier will present a flag favourable to himself and the small minority group.

The party press is severely criticizing the leader of the Opposition, John Diefenbaker, for his obstructionist tactics in holding up the vote on the issue. In my opinion Diefenbaker is fighting your battle and mine to hold the flag we revere, so highly and he is fighting practically all alone. Today he may be severely criticized but in years to come he will be among the greatest politicians ever to appear in our Canadian Parliament.

I would suggest that you read the Editorial on the second page in "Daily Post" Dec. 14, entitled "Is it the End." The Editor is a few short sentences has summed up the whole trouble.

Christmas ice cream balls make delightful party fare this holiday season. Simply roll scoops of your favorite ice cream in crushed peppermint candies. This is a good way to use that broken candy cane which cannot be hung on the tree. For an extra special treat top ice cream with hot fudge sauce just before serving.

Imagine coming home to the delightful aroma of hot coffee and fragrant spices. This holiday season treat your family and guests to Spicy Coffee, a delicious combination of strong coffee and whipped evaporated milk. For 1½ cups of spicy whip use: ¼ cup evaporated milk; ¼ teaspoon vanilla, ⅛ teaspoon cloves; ¼ teaspoon cinnamon and 1 tablespoon sugar. Pour evaporated milk into deep bowl and place in freezer until ice crystals begin to form around the edge, about 10 to 15 minutes. Whip until stiff. Blend in vanilla, spices, and sugar. Place ½ to ½ cup of this spicy whip into each coffee cup, fill cups with strong hot coffee, twice the regular strength. Serve at once. This recipe makes 3 to 4 servings.

Never freeze a stuffed fowl warm food specialists say. Quick freezing and thawing of a stuffed bird there is a longer time when the temperature is suitable for the growth of food poisoning bacteria. If you wish, prepare the stuffing ingredients the day before and refrigerate them separately. Combine dressing and stuff fowl just before roasting for maximum safety.

Your kitchen appliances need oiling? Apply a little glycerin with an eye dropper to the moving parts of your gadgets. And if any of this accidentally gets into your food you need not worry — it's harmless.

White Woodwork

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. What is an easy way of stripping an electrical wire of its insulation prior to the making of a connection?

A. A good pulling claw on a hammer is a handy gadget for this. Pull the two strands of your wire apart, then insert one of these at a loose clear down to the bottom of the "V" in the claw of the hammer, and pull the rubber off in bites of about two inches.

Q. How can I add a delicious, special flavor to my vegetable soup?

A. Try adding a few cloves to your next vegetable soup preparation.

This will give it an exciting new lift in flavor.

Q. How can I keep suede shoes new-looking?

A. Brushing them with a piece of stale rye bread or a rubber sponge after each wearing.

'Angels' subject of Gideon meet

Rev. Jonh Bell, retired missionary of the China Inland Mission and brother of Rev. George Bell of Fenelon Falls gave a most interesting and informative address at the regular meeting of the Lindsay Gideon Camp when they met at the home of Gideon Earl Pitts, Adelaide Street N., on Monday evening.

The subject of his address was "Angels" of which the speaker has made an extensive study.

"They are ministering spirits' said the speaker and during his fascinating talk recounted several incidents corroborating his point.

Chaplain Ben Dolby introduced Mr. Bell and words of appreciation were expressed by President Frank Rogers.

The chairman of Scripture distribution Gideon Elmer Evans reported 199 New Testaments distributed in a number of Public Schools during the past month.

Gideon Earl Pitts reported that four services were held in the County Jail, Lindsay on the four Sunday afternoons.

A pleasant social hour was enjoyed after the meeting with lunch served by Mrs. Pitts assisted by Mrs. E. Davey and Miss Linda Pitts.

Expressions of awe and happy smiles greeted Santa when he distributed gifts at the children's Christmas party at the Lock-view restaurant recently. The party was sponsored by the Lindsay Lions Club.

Possible extensions to Fenelon High discussed by School Board

High School Board trustee Art Rowan predicted next year's high school area board would be faced with a building project. It is pretty well established, he told the Victoria County District High School Board, that additional classrooms will be needed in the near future. He recalled some months ago the board appointed a committee to study a proposed addition to the Fenelon Falls District High School or the building of a third area high school possibly in the Dunsford or Bobcaygeon area.

Discussion on various aspects of the extension to the Fenelon Falls High School were discussed at a committee meeting of the High School Board following the regular meeting. Members of the press were excluded from this meeting.

Problems of building an extension to the high shool at Fenelon Falls have centered around the difficulties of obtaining a satisfactory sewage disposal system. Last year much of the weeping tile was torn up and relaid in an attempt to correct the situation. It has been suggested that the solution would be for the school authorities to install their own sewage system for the school property.

Successful tea and bazaar held

Oakwood (PNS) — The Christmas bazaar and tea under the guidance of the U.C.W. was held recently in the school rooms of the Oakwood Church and was well attended.

Buying was brisk and a gratifying sum realized. Mrs. Rev. McLean of Lindsay introduced by the president Mrs. L. Graham opened the bazaar.

GM STRIKE NEARS END AGREEMENT ANNOUNCED

(UPI) — The 15-day old strike by 23-thousand, 500 workers for General Motors of Canada has neared an end. The company and union announced agreement on a new three year contract late last night.

The news came as a surprise since only hours earlier a union spokesman said he could not see an end to the dispute.

Details of the new master contract have not been made public. They will become known after the company and union have botn ratified the contract.

It is estimated, however, that it will be the costliest for any contract ever negotiated in Canada.

The union was seeking wage and pension party between Canadian and U.S. workers. The difference in wages ranged from 40 cents to a dollar-forty cents, and pensions were only about half in Canada of what they were in the U.S.

The union has called a ratification meeting for tomorrow, and sources say it is likely the GM plants in five Ontario centres will re-open on Monday.

A GIFT

Dallas (UPI) — A blind Dallas woman more than 60 years old had her sight restored when she bumped her head on a cupboard, her relatives said.

The woman, who had been blind for 17 years, said she did not want her name made public. "I feel it is a gift from God and I do not want it publicized", she said. "It is a gift which might be taken away".

RMH SECOND LARGEST EMPLOYER IN TOWN, EXPANSION PLANNED

"The Ross Memorial Hospital is the second largest in terms of employment and the very best in terms of staff" commented RMH Board of Governors Chairman S.R. Pitts at the annual staff Chistmas party at the Legion Hall last night. "It is very important" he continued, "that we have such good people in our employ." Following another planned expansion you will form the nucleus of a much larger staff" he told the assembled staff members and guests numbering well over 100.

Poet's Corner

A STORM ON THE LAKE

The sun went down across the lake,
Behind a lowering banks of cloud
The sky took on an angry cast—
No craft could 'ere out flank.

The cloud came rolling up a-pace,
Above the sunset light;
The darkened blue, still darker grew,
The crew perceived the sight.

Ah! yes, but not in time to beach,
The storm broke over head;
The rain came down in sheets, like steel,
"The boat went yaw"—They said.

The lightning flashed and thunder pealed —
A tempest's howling roar,
The wind lashed up, the rolling waves;
White-capped, from shore to shore.

The weather-helm most helpers then,
Her cargo placed a-stern;
The draught was all that she could take;
For leeward men did yearn.

They plied the oars like mariners,
From trough to crest of waves;
Until in yonder harbor moored—
Safe, from a watery grave.

Most Centennial Applications inspired claims James Auld

Grant applications for worthwhile Centennial projects far outnumber those lacking lustre, Hon. James Auld, minister of Treasury, Economics and chairman of the Ontario Centennial Committee, said today in Toronto.

In a special radio interview at Queen's Park the minister was critical of recent newspaper reports which assailed municipalites for not using more imagination in their project plans.

"Granted, some we have dealt with are dull and uninspired", he said, "but it would be wrong and unfair to suggest that the majority of them fall into this category".

To illustrate, he outlined the plan of Hamilton to restore a pre-Confederation mansion to celebrate Canada's 100th birthday. The Ontario and federal governments have each voted $155,133 towards the undertaking, with the municipality itself putting up the other third.

He cited St. Catharines' plans to develop a garden park on the abandoned land of the first and second Welland Canal as another worthwhile public undertaking befitting matching grants of $83,886 from the two higher levels of government.

He said that applications before his committee come in

ADMITTED TAKING RADIO FROM CAR, RECEIVES CONCURRENT SIX-MONTHS

I haven't got any more charges", 27-year-old Robert Taylor of 60 William Street North said when he was sentenced to 6 months in the Ontario Reformatory to run concurrently with a six-month sentence handed down by Magistrate Ian Munro Monday when Taylor was convicted on two charges of breaking, entering and theft. Taylor was arraigned in Lindsay Police Court Thursday to answer to an additional charge of the theft of an 8-transistor radio. Taylor told the court he wanted to explain to the officer about the theft of the radio Monday when he was sentenced, but he didn't get a chance. "There's no sense in lying about it; I did steal it", Taylor told the court.

"I have a clear conscience;

Lindsay Police Constable Ralph Fountain testified that on December 3 he found a transistor radio when he was executing a search-warrant at the accused's residence. He said investigation revealed the radio had been taken from a car owned by Herbert Hennessey of 146 Kent Street East, which had been parked at the Lindsay sale barns on November 13.

In a statement to the police, the accused staid he bought the radio in Toronto. The radio was valued at $36.

Taylor was convicted Monday of stealing a $400 outboard motor and tools and oil valued at $103 and was sentenced to six months concurrently on two charges of theft. His record revealed that he had four prior convictions on theft charges, mostly in Orillia.

Drove while impaired, $100 fine for Lindsay area man

Gerald Cavana of RR3, Lindsay, was fined $100 and costs or 15 days after he changed his plea in Lindsay Police Court Thursday from not guilty on a charge of impaired driving to one of guilty. Mr. Cavana's driver's license was also suspended for six months.

Despite the Crown Attorney's request that the matter of the fine be cleared up before Christmas, Magistrate Ian Munro gave the man until January 15 to pay the fine because, as he put it, "this is a very expensive time of the year."

Defense Counsel Ivan Moore, Q.C. told the court Mr. Cavana is a good driver and never had an accident. Mr. Moore said, "He feels it's all right for him to drop in for a few drinks. He should have learned his lesson." Mr. Cavana's record showed he has been convicted twice of careless driving and once for driving while his ability was impaired. Mr. Moore asked for the minimum fine because it is so near Christmas.

Magistrate Ian Munro replied, "The only time these people worry about their families is when they're before the bar for sentencing." He said there are certain places and conditions for drinking and behind the wheel of a car is not one of them. "More people are killed on the highways than in any way. "Magistrate Munro said; "soon we won't have to worry about the A-bomb, the population will be killed off in motor vehicle accidents.

Lindsay OPP Constable Robert McGregor told the court he followed a pickup truck on County Road 5 at 10:30 p.m. on December 5 because the truck had no tail-lights. He said the vehicle veered from one side of the road to the other about four times in the two-and-a-half miles he followed. He said the man showed signs of having been drinking when the truck was stopped, and this was verified by a breathalizer test.

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International)

Hollywood (UPI) — The Mayfair Mafia has invaded Hollywood en masse to make a movie with hardly an American in sight.

This particular Mafia is made of scores of British actors starring in "King Rat". Most of them are young, extraordinarily talented and inclined to kicking the gong around the Sunset Strip.

Head master of the invaders is John Mills, father of Hayley, and a distinguished actor in his own right.

Says he: "I think it's marvellous that our young chaps are doing so well, and there's not a swollen head among them".

The young British chaps in "King Rat" include Tom Courtenay, James Fox, James Donald, Gerald Sinm, John Ronane, John Standing, Jack Mervale, Reg Lye, Douglas Watson, Alan Webb, Denholm Elliott, Hamilton Dyce, Jeff Bayldon and Leonard Rossiter. There are others.

After a day's shooting on the Prison of War set in the broiling San Fernando Valley, the English colony moves to Mill's rented home for gin and bitters or other odd drinks and to director Bryan Forbe's diggings for an Anglo-Saxon version of a blowout.

Mills is an engaging, thoroughly English Englishman with charm to spare. And there's a ring of pride-of-empire about him when he speaks of the amazing success of British players.

The above mentioned actors are still comers, challenging the Peter O'Tooles, Albert Finneys, Peter Sellers, Richard Burtons, Richard Harrises and all the rest. Mills' own daughter Hayley is as big at the boxoffice as most American actresses, and Julie Andrews is on the brink of becoming a superstar of the Doris Day variety.

"There was a time recently when English movies were a joke and English actors were limited to playing butlers or C. Aubrey Smith roles.

"But even such as Lawrence Harvey, Peter Ustinov, Hermiane Gingold, Hermione Baddeley, Samantha Eggars and Juliet Mills, John's other daughter, are snaring roles that once went to American actors.

"I think English performers are succeeding because they're willing to accept small roles", said Mills. "I have a rather modest part in 'King Rat' but it's interesting.

"American stars rarely are willing to accept anything but starring roles.

"Englishmen, too, are less concerned about billing and money than their counterparts over here".

Mills also credits the rise of talented English directors for enhancing the status of British actors. He ticked off the names of Jack Clayton, Karel Rice, John Giullermin and, of course, Forbes.

"Our young performers have been able to do good work in small, inexpensive pictures of excellent quality", he concluded. "Unfortunately, there aren't many such pictures made in Hollywood".

THE LIGHTER SIDE

with Dick West

Washington (UPI) — The advertising game, which for many years was the most dominatic of all professions, give or take baseball umpiring, appears to have entered an era of creeping uncertainty.

Copywriters no longer seem as sure of themselves as they once were, particularly on television. Judging from some of the commercials currently being aired, a sizeable part of Madison Avenue is beset by nagging little doubts.

I haven't done any research on this, but I believe the record will show that the decline of sponsor omniscience started about the time that one of the home permanents advertisers began asking "Which Twin Has The Toni?"

It is true that in these commercials the Tonied twin was eventually identified. But an element of doubt has been injected. For a brief moment, viewers were left hanging on a question mark. Which was a new experience for most of us.

We couldn't tell which twin had the Toni and we weren't sure that the sponsors knew either. Even after he pointed her out, some doubt persisted. We still were not entirely convinced that he had pointed to the right one.

That tiny crack in sponsor self-assurance opened a gap to a flood of other questions. It wasn't long, for instance, before a hair coloring advertiser began asking, "Does She or Doesn't She?"

This time, the sponsor admitted that he was as much in the dark as the viewers. He told us we would have to get this information from her hairdresser.

His bewilderment was nothing however, compared to that of a cigar advertiser who has been agonizing for months over whether a gentleman should offer a Tparillo to a lady. Seldom have I seen anyone so torn by indecision.

At times, the sponsor seems almost on the brink of forming an opinion. But when the moment of truth arrives, he backs away and evades the issue.

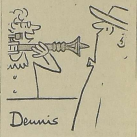

Obviously, he has lost all confidence in his ability to think things through to a proper conclusion. I fear that by the time this series ends he will be a complete neurotic.

By all odds, however, the most striking example of a sponsor not knowing what to believe is provided by another hair coloring advertiser. This one has his models say, "If I have but one life, let me live it as a blonde."

Note that big "If". Is the sponsor suggesting that we may have more than one life? Is he hedging against the possibility that the theory of reincarnation will prove valid?

Does he think that in the next life everyone will be a brunette? Does he feel that ... zounds! Now they've got me doing it!

Political Notebook

by Norman MacLeod

Ottawa (UPI) — In spite of the fact time still is marching at its normal pace and making its customary steady inroads into this year's calender, there isn't too much of the real spirit of Christmas around Parliament Hill as yet.

A few M.P.'s have bought artificial holly wreaths to hang on their doors. A handful have even purchased synthetic tinsel Christmas trees to decorate their offices. But the display obviously lacks heart. It is on so small a scale that it tends to be pathetic rather than convincing.

It is as if there was too much robust discord and downright hard feeling riding the winds of parliament these days for the gentle spirit of Christmas to have a chance. A stranger entering the precinct is told straightaway about the Conservative M.P. who took a dislike to the Liberal colleague's face as they left the chamber the other night and attempted to alter it by means other than plastic surgery. In similar vein there is the story — also authentic — of the Conservative M.P. who during the flag debate had to be restrained by his deskmate from visiting physical punishment upon a Social Credit M.P. to whose heckling of one of Mr. J. G. Diefenbaker's more moving orations he took violent offence.

Altogether it is an atmosphere that is new to parliment even to Canadian public life. The comfortable myth about political differences being only surface deep and being put in perspective as soon as the disputants could twine arms and lift glasses in the nearest bar is in actual danger of being exploded. Certainly no one mistakes the atmosphere which prevails over the capital this yuletide for the peace that was born in Bethlehem.

It is common theory amongst current observers that a good deal of the rancour that has surged into the present unique parliamentary situation has its origin in fear and in companion feelings of insecurity. M.P.'s sense that the present parliament is being less than idolized by rank-and-file Canadian voters.

They have a guilty feeling that they are an operation on borrowed time and that if they allowed a general election to be brought about in the present State of Affairs a large proportion of them would be retired to personal oblivion. It's not the oblivion they mind so much as the loss of a livelihood more comfortable than the majority of them have ever known before. That increases in the parliamentary indemnity to $18,000, with $8,000 of it tax free, has mushroomed the number of mercenaries amongst M.P.'s from a negligible sprinkling to a powerful majority bound not by ties of political partisanship so much as by ties of common self-interest.

So if you receive a Christmas card from your M.P. this year you are at least entitled to be mildly cynical about it. Conceivably it may have been dispatched in a real spirit of Christmas. But the probabilities are heavily against it. The chances are its underlying motive is self-interest and your M.P. was thinking of the ballot box (and of $18,000 per year) when he was addressing the envelope.

U.C.W. hold Christmas meet

Cambray (PNS) — the Sunday school room was suitably decorated for the Christmas meeting of the United Church Women. A lighted decorated Christmas tree was at the front of the room and a small table with white cloth and a picture of Jesus and his parents in the stable the place of Jesus birth and two white lighted candles each side of the picture. Christmas carols from a record player brought the spirit of Yuletide.

The president Mrs. Maurice Tompkins opened the meeting with a Christmas poem followed by the minutes of the last meeting given by Mrs. Linden Sinclair. These were approved. Roll call was answered by 26 ladies. Correspondence consisted of a request from Hillcrest Lodge, United Church of Canada for senior citizens for a donation of $5.00 which was granted. An invitation to attend Queen Street bazaar in Lindsay.

Treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Victor Bailey and motion carried to pay the water bill and caretaker. Mrs. Bernard Gates, supply convenor stated a balance of $9.00. The President expressed thanks to all who helped with the Holstein banquet.

It was approved to give the church treasury up to $150.00 if needed, and for the evening unit to carry on with their project. Presbyterial rally to be held in Cannington, January 20.

Meeting was turned over to the evening unit for the worship service conducted by Mrs. Bernard Gates. This was a joint meeting of the parent and evening unit. The theme of the service was "The Gift of Love". Readings by Mrs. Meredith Wood, Mrs. Ray Jordon, Mrs. Archie McIntyre, Mrs. Gates and members; and Mrs. Bert Tamlin. This was followed by prayer by Mrs. Bernard Gates. Church news letters from around the world were read with prayer by Mrs. Bert Tamlin and a hymn. The offering was received and dedicated.

The meeting closed with prayer and an interesting game. Lunch was served by the evening unit and Mrs. Lila Parson moved a vote of appreciation to the evening unit for their programme and lunch.

World news today

Indiana — At least eight persons are known dead in a fire that swept through a home for elderly persons this morning in Fontaintown, Indiana. Authorities estimate the death toll will climb to 20.

16 or 17 person were still unaccounted for some two hours after the fire broke out. Police said 15 persons were rescued from the home which contained about 35 elderly residents.

The fire began early this morning with outside temperatures hovering around the zero mark.

Only one wall of the two-story structure was left standing — most of the victims were believed buried under the other walls, which collapsed at the peak of the fire.

Sheriff Edge Hill Moore made the tentative estimate of 20 dead.

Most of those rescued were hospitalized for treatment of shock.

Fountaintown is about 10 miles southeast of Indianapolis.

Chicago — In another tragedy fire raced through a barracks-like building near a nursing home in the Chicago suburb of Winfield early today killing four residents of the building and injuring a fireman. Two other persons escaped from the flaming structure. The nearby nursing home was not damaged.

Congo — Outnumbered government troops at the village of Paulis have held against the latest Congolese Rebel attack.

Both sides reportedly suffered when the communist-backed rebels launched their two-pronged attack. The rebels were said to number about four-thousand — but observers in Leopoldville dispute the figure as exaggerated.

The rebels directed their siege yesterday from two sides The town of Watsa in the east and Hamba in the southeast.

Reports said they used two armoured vehicles in their drive to overrun Paulis — which is manned by 47 white mercenaries and 200 Congolese troops.

In Dusseldorf, West Germany — Congolese premier Tshombe told a group of German industrialists last night the Congo will "go the Communist way" if the West waits until order is restored before granting economic aid.

Ottawa — The third day of the Dorion Judicial inquiry into bribe and coercion charges against several aides to cabinet ministers ended yesterday with the mother of Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne on the stand. .

She told of hearing her son respond "No" to telephone calls he later told her were bribe offers.

Ottawa — The external Affairs department has announced the appointment of 62-year-old E.W.T. Gill as Ambassador to Ireland.

Gill is currently Canadian high commissioner to Australia.

Quebec — Picket lines around Quebec liquor Board warehouses in Montreal were broken yesterday for humanitarian reasons.

One of the city's hospitals reported a shortage of alcohol for medicinal and sterilizing purposes.

Alberta — The province of Alberta is considering changing its telephone act to allow wire tapping. Telephones minister Raymond Reirson said there is moral justification for tapping if a more immoral act is prevented. A bill is likely to be introduced in the next session of the Alberta legislature.

Washington — Secretary of State, Dean Rusk says the Western allies may further discuss the idea of taking a new "initiative" with Russia on the divided Germany issue.

He told newsmen in Washington last night that the United States, Britain, France and West Germany expressed themselves in favour of "some further initiative" to the Kremlin on German issues.

Fort Worth — A touch-and-go-landing exercise has left four crewmen dead in the crash of a big air international guard tanker plane at Fort Worth.

Seven others survived the crash — four of them with injuries.

Viet-Nam — Military sources in Saigon say nine senior army generals will be sacked soon — even though the move is likely to cause anger among buddhists leaders.

England — The Charity campaign waged by five office girls in Melkham, England, was nothing to sneeze at. The girls saved one penny each time they sneezed. They sneezed 12-hundred times and donated the money to the freedom-from-hunger campaign.

Drivers to stop school-bus rowdyism - Board

School bus drivers who allow rowdyism on school buses and tolerated children smoking and fooling around were reminded at the Victoria District High School Board meeting on Wednesday evening that they are responsible for the children's behaviour while travelling.

School Secretary J. Stanley Dix told Board members of a case where boys were dropping heated coins down the necks of girls on a bus. Mr. Dix was instructed to write to the bus operators notifying them of the driver's responsibilities.

Members of the school board discussed the problems of children that missed their school buses. At present the children are conveyed home by teachers or other members of the school staff. No more, decided the board, they are greed any student missing the school bus would have to find their own way home.

Two long-time school trustees are to retire

Stan Murray who has served fifteen years on the Victoria District High School Board indicated that he would not seek re-appointment this next year. Mr. Murray was one of the original members of the board.

Mrs. Jack Lightbody, a member of the board for 10 years also indicated she would not seek re-election.

Hope you read this timely greeting,
It's for you — and you — and you —
Just to greet friends, by the hundreds,
Is a work we all can do.

Here's to you our "Christmas Wishes",

Now and all the New Year through.

Happiness brings joy and comfort,
Happiness, helps health and peace,
Happiness replaces sorrow—

And "unto Him, who is able"—
Let us join requests once more;
For this Christmas and the New Year —
"Peace on Earth", the whole world o'er.

THE SPORTING LIFE

UPI Canadian Sports Editor

Montreal (UPI) — If Santa Claus manages to answer all his mail this year, these are some of the gifts Canada's sports personalities and organizations may find under their tree Dec. 25:

Bruce Kidd — two good feet and some enthusiasm pills.

Vic Emery and Crew — A new sled and a second straight world bobsled title to convince the disbelievers their olympic victory was no fluke.

Canada's national hockey team — a book on how to "How To Beat The Russians" to go along with Dale Carnegie's "How To Win Friends, Etc."

Vancouver — A new coliseum, with or without Stafford Smythe.

Stafford Smythe — A bilingual press agent who can get along with the CAHA and translate those Russian statements accurately.

Bob Shaw, new coach of the Toronto Argonauts — A copy of "The miracle worker."

Ted Workman, owner of the Montreal Alouettes — a stadium.

The Montreal Alouettes — a new owner.

Frank Clair, coach of the Ottawa Rough Riders — A one-game sudden death eastern playoff final so he won't blow those 30-13 leads.

The National Hockey League — Bigger arenas, more teams, and overtime games.

Bobby Rousseau, Montreal Canadiens — A pair of ear plugs to overcome his 20/20 hearing.

CFL commissioner G. Stanley Halter — an autographed portrait of Charles DeGaulle and an office in Toronto.

Paul Dojack, WFC referee — two good arms so he can signify scores like all other officials.

All other CFL game officials — An up to date rule book easy to memorize so they can prevent those embarrassing debating huddles during football games.

Northern dancer — A foal who will grow up to win the triple crown that barely eluded his father.

E. P. Taylor — A victory in the Belmont stakes — about the only thing he hasn't got, he has everything else.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association — A Canadian open that has international prestige and a field to match.

Sid Abel, coach of the Detroit Red Wings — a Stanley cup as a reward for the best coaching job in the NHL in recent seasons.

Bobby Hull — A 70-goal season so people won't keep reminding him that Rocket scored his 50 goals in 50 games.

Herb Capozzi, B.C. Lions General Manager — a tape recorder so he can listen to himself when he hasn't got an audience.

Bobby Wirkowski — Lew Hayman's job, as general manager of the Argos.

Lew Hayman — Bobby's old job as coach of the Argos.

George Dixon — Two healthy legs as Alouette fans will at least have something to cheer about.

Canadian Olympic Association — a new image to convice the athletes they come first and restore public confidence in the Olympic movement.

Petra Burka, figure skating olympic bronze medalist — as much humility when she becomes world champion as she displayed in finishing third at Innsbruck.

Bill Crothers — A blackboard big enough to write "I can beat Peter Snell" 1,000 times.

Harry Jerome — The same thing so he can convince himself Bob Hayes isn't the "Worlds fastest human."

George Chuvalo — A right hand punch to go with his overworked left for his upcoming fight with Floyd Patterson.

Chronic loses — Bigger goals, wider cups on the putting greens, faster horses, feet and cars as the case may be, more muscle, more confidence and Merry Christmas to everybody.

Three killed in Beaverton car crash

YOUTH REMANDED FOR PRE-SENTENCE REPORT ON BREAK-IN, THEFT CHARGES

A 16-year-old Lindsay youth was remanded to January 6 for a pre-sentence report after he pleaded guilty in Lindsay Police Court today to the theft of a pick-up truck owned by Algar Coach Lines Limited on November 6 and being in possession of a stolen automobile owned by Harry Barber of Lindsay on December 7. The youth and a juvenile were both charged in connection with the thefts.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan said the other boy was the influence. He said the juvenile will appear on nine charges this afternoon.

Defense council David Logan told the court, "this is a case where the boy got in with a group and as he began to know them better, he got himself into this difficulty". Mr. Logan said the boy was "on the straight and narrow" at one way or the other. He had been in no previous trouble with the law.

Did not pay lodgings, U.S. youth fined

J. Robert Meidrum, 17, of Santa Clara, California was fined $20 and costs or 30 days and was ordered to make restitution after he was found guilty of not paying for his lodging. Magistrate Ian Munro said he was satisfied the youth had no intention of paying the bill of $21 for three week's lodging.

Mrs. L. Perrault of 38 Colborne Street said the youth came to her place on October 27 on the advice of the Lindsay Department of Welfare and took a room. She said he indicated he would get a job at a local store and pay her.

Evidence showed the youth left without notification and flew to Santa Clara after his father sent an airline ticket to him. When the youth returned to Lindsay he received a summons and the same day he called Mrs. Perrault asking her to withdraw the charge.

During the course of his stay at Mrs. Perrault's, the accused lodged a ward of the Children's Aid Society and then told him to leave when he failed to buy groceries with the money given to him by the CAS for that purpose.

Magistrate Munro said the act committed by the accused didn't have the dignity of a crime and termed the act "picky and miserable."

The accused told the court the reason he was in Lindsay is that he has a girl-friend here.

Manoeuvres for Kavaliers in new year

M. J. Cunningham, a member of the Kavaliers Drum Corps executive, told members at the band's annual party last night, "We will be going into marching and manoeuvreing this year, there is no question about it". Mr. Cunningham said marching manoeuvreing is the ultimate goal for the corps. He said the corps has had a number of requests for the band to enter into field shows and field competitions. These requests, he added, have come from members in the corps as well as people interested in hiring the band and seeing it perform.

$1,350 damage in Peace Valley collision

Total damage of $1,350 resulted when two cars collided on Highway 35, one-half-mile south of Peace Valley at 2 p.m. yesterday. Lindsay OPP said no one was injured when a car driven by John William MacKenzie, Fenelon Falls and a car driven by Heinz Stuempel of RR1 Minden collided. Damage was estimated to the MacKay vehicle at $1,000 and $350 to the Stuempel car.

A car driven by Donald G. Nugent sustained minor damage when it went out of control on highway 35 near the Ops-Fenelon Township lines at 8:30 p.m. yesterday. Lindsay OPP said the vehicle was proceeding south on Highway 35 one-and-a-half miles north of the junction of Highways 35 and 35B when it went onto the west shoulder of the road causing the car to skid. Police said the car skidded across the road sideways into a ditch, where it hit a high embankment and turned around.

No injuries resulted.

DISTRAUGHT

Verona, N.J. — (UPI) An apparently distraught woman collapsed in the arms of armed director Michael Prout yesterday as she told of the death of her mother.

After the woman left, Prout discovered his wallet containing $20 also was gone.

Three people were killed early this morning when two cars collided head-on on Hwy. 12, three miles north of Beaverton. Brechin OPP said the driver of one of the vehicles, Norman David Westall, 24, of Willowdale and his two passengers, Ronald Dennis Westall, his 17-year-old brother and Jane Susan Laver, 17, both of Willowdale were killed in the crash. The driver of the other vehicle, Allan Dickson, 35, of Brockville was rushed to the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital in Orillia.

Police said both cars, 1954 and 1955 models were totally wrecked. Ambulances from Beaverton and Sunderland were sent to the scene.

Brechin OPP Constable John Miller, who is investigating the accident said neither car was equipped with seat belts.

BAND MAY HOLD FORMAL PARTY

The annual party of the Kavaliers Drum Corps may turn into a formal affair, M. J. Cunningham of the corps executive told "The Post" last night. About 35 couples attended the party last night which included dancing and a buffet lunch.

Mr. Cunningham said he anticipates a formal party next year with the band members in uniform and the ladies in evening dress.

Why Hide It?

Frequently girls escape from the Girl's Training School in Lindsay although many of the "escapes" are not known to the public because the school authorities have asked the police departments not to release information on such escapes.

Last Friday evening a girl escaped from the school and hitch-hiked northward where she was eventually found near Minden and brought back to the School. However, in the interim, police were stopping cars and looking for the girl and one road-block at Fowlds Corner was a possible hazard to traffic. Here the police had the cruiser parked in a driveway, and flagged down cars with a flashlight so they could peer inside.

Now, if as soon as a girl escaped the information was released to the newspapers and radio stations in the area, drivers would be able to look out for the girls and they would find it more difficult to hitch-hike away. It would be most embarrassing for a driver to pick up a girl who said she had missed the school bus home, to find instead she was running away from the school.

Why the secrecy when a girl absconds? It is common knowledge that the girls do leave, after all there are no locked doors to prevent them leaving, so why try and hide the fact from the public?

Four nominations for mayor

The shortest nomination meeting in the history of the town saw two members of the Board of Education, two Hydro Commissioners and a member of the Water Board returned to office by acclamation. The meeting also set a record in point of number of nominations. Only 18 names were advanced as compared with over 80 possible candidates nominated last year. The meeting was extraordinarily quiet with the partly-filled room of people giving the speakers their whole attention.

Three men were nominated to oppose Mayor A. T. Claxton, James Healy, T. H. Stinson, K.C. and L. W. Jordan. In the aldermanic field James Healy and George Hodgson were nominated to oppose the three members of last year's council, Lewis Gordon, L. W. Jordan, and Richard Butler. Charles Lamb, ex-deputy-reeve was nominated to oppose Deputy-Reeve J. L. Baker. For the Board of Education, R. J. Vickery and C. G. Frost received acclamations with Dan McQuarrie and Rev. A. J. Goldring as possible candidates for the South Ward. J. G. Baldwin, chairman of the Hydro Commission and Neil Gregory were returned to office by acclamation as was James S. Mackey of the Water Board.

Comb woods for Bancroft man

A posse of Provincial police and farmers are combing the woods near Rose Island in the vicinity of Coe Hill, for a 27-year-old farmer, Richard Tinney, who fled from police yesterday afternoon and is believed to be armed with a rifle.

The strange story of a man who is thought to have shot and killed his own $350 team of horses with a rifle, and who may be mentally ill, came late last night.

Lindsay's leading industry razed

A staggering blow was given the town last night when one of its leading industries—in fact one of the leading industries of the country—was destroyed by fire, and what was yesterday a busy hive of industry, giving employment to several hundred hands, is today levelled to the ground. The portions of the walls left standing, the shafting and machinery, twisted into all conceivable shapes, and the smouldering debris, all tell a sad story of the fire-fiend's relentless ravages.

The Horn Bros. Woollen Mill, which was gutted yesterday was established by the late Alex Horn, 22 years ago.

The origin of the fire is not known for a certainty and there are of course, the usual number of conjectures out as to how it started. It was first noticed in room number two on the second floor in the southwest corner of the main building at the corner of Bond and William Streets. Mr. Alex Horn himself discovered the fire as he was on his way down town at seven o'clock and when just opposite the brick store-house on the other side of William Street, he noticed a small light in Room two on the second floor. Suddenly before he could take more than two or three steps, the whole floor burst into a blaze as if a bomb had been dropped. He sent a man to put in an alarm at once and ran across and warned the watchman and any others who might be in the building to get out at once.

Though the fire spread like lightning, no one was caught, although one man lost his coat containing his watch and twelve dollars in cash.

Five streams of water were connected up at once, but the fire monster licked the fires of water up without any apparent effect.

Self Development

by John W. Gardner
Carnegie Foundation, N.Y.

When we have learned to achieve . . . self-renewal . . . we shall have discovered one of the most important secrets a society can learn, a secret that will unlock new resources of vitality throughout the society. And we shall have done something to avert the hardening of the arteries that attacks so many societies. Men who have lost their adaptiveness naturally resist change. The most stubborn protector of his own vested interest is the man who has lost the capacity for self-renewal.

No one knows why some individuals seem capable of self-renewal while others do not. But we have some important clues to what the self renewing man is like, and what we might do to foster renewal.

For the self-renewing man the development of his potentialities and the process of self-discovery never end. It is a sad but unarguable fact that most human beings go through their lives only partially aware of the full range of their abilities. As a boy in California I spent a good deal of time in the Mother Lode country, and like every boy of my age I listened raptly to the tales told by the old-time prospectors in that area, some of them veterans of the Klondike gold rush. Every one of them had at least one good campfire story of a lost gold mine. The details varied: the original discoverer had died in the mine, or had gone crazy, or had been killed in a shooting scrape, or had just walked off thinking the mine worthless. But the central theme was constant: riches left untapped. I have come to believe that those tales offer a paradigm of education as most of us experience it. The mine is worked for a little while and then abandoned.

The development of abilities is at least in part a dialogue between the individual and his environment. If he has it to give and the environment demands it, the ability will develop. Any small boy with real ability to wield his fists is likely to discover that ability fally early. The little girl with the gift for charming grown-ups will have no trouble discovering that talent. But most abilities are not so readily evoked by the common circumstances of life. The "mute, inglorious Miltons" are more numerous than one might suppose, particularly in an age in which even an articulate Milton might go unnoticed, certainly unrewarded. Most of us have potentialities that have never been developed simply because the circumstances of our lives never called them forth.

Exploration of the full range of his own potentialities is not something that the self-renewing man leaves to the chances of life. It is something he pursues systematically, or at least avidly, to the end of his days. He looks forward to an endless and unpredictable dialogue between his potentialities and the claims of life not only the claims he encounters but the claims he invents. And by potentialities I mean not just skills, but the full range of his capacities for sensing, wondering, learning, understanding, loving and aspiring.

The ultimate goal of the educational system is to shift to the individual the burden of pursuing his own education. This will not be a widely shared pursuit until we get over our old conviction that education is what goes on in school buildings and nowhere else. Not only does education continue when schooling ends, but it is not confined to what may be studied in adult education courses. The world is an incomparable classroom, and life is a memorable teacher for those who aren't afraid of her.

"Keyless" Key Developed For Cars

The new Japan Keless Key Company is turning out 10,000 keyless keys a month to meet the steady demand from motorists who habitually lose their car keys.

The keyless key is actually a type of small combination lock which can be used to replace the ignition lock on an automobile or motorcycle. The owner of the car dials the proper number when he wishes to turn on the ignition.

An alarm system foils potential burglars by blowing the automobile horn whenever an incorrect combination is dialed.

The name "keyless key" was chosen for the device since in many parts of the world the term key is now used to describe the entire locking mechanism.

The compan has signed contracts with several automobile manufacturers in Japan and the United States and the keyless key will probably be offered as an option in the near future. Installed price of the unit in Japan is about seven dollars. "Japan Reports"

HOLIDAY COOKIES

½ cup butter, ¾ cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1¾ cups all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt.

Cream butter and gradually blend in sugar. Add egg and vanilla and beat well. Sift dry ingredients and stir into creamed mixture. For easier rolling, chill dough about 30 minutes. Roll out on lightly floured board to about ⅛ thickness. Cut into fancy shapes such as bells, stars or holly leaves. Sprinkle with coloured sugar or tiny candies and decorate with small pieces of candied fruits or nuts. Bake on a lightly greased cookie sheet in a moderately hot oven (375°F.) until light golden around edges, six to eight minutes. Makes four to five dozen cookies.

Bells — Sprinkle with coloured sugar or candies. Place a silver bell at bottom for the "clapper" and arrange strips of red or green cherries at top to make a "bow".

Pine Trees — Sprinkle with green sugar and arrange tiny silver balls and pieces of red and green cherries or fruit to look like a decorated Christmas tree.

ZABAGLIONE

3 eggs yolks, ⅓ cup sugar, few grain salt, ⅓ cup sherry or orange juice.

Measure all ingredients in to a bowl. Place over boiling water and beat constantly with rotary or electric beater until mixture thickens slightly, about five minutes. Remove bowl from boiling water, scrape down mixture from sides of bowl and continue beating until thick enough to coat back or a wooden spoon, about three minutes longer. Serve warm in sherbet dishes. Makes six to eight servings.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

Q. What's the best way to treat a hat that has been caught out in the rain?

A. Don't hang it on a rack. Push out the dents, turn up the brim evenly, turn out the sweatband, let the hat dry on a level surface, then brush it well.

Q. How can I cream peas "the easy way"?

A. A delicious cream sauce for peas is made in a jiffy by heating a can of mushroom soup with a half-cup of vegetable liquor. When the sauce is hot, add the peas.

Q. How can an amateur wood carver harden the wood that has been cut or sculptured in the desired shape?

A. By boiling the pieces in pure olive oil for eight to ten

Tin Can Flattener

To make a "foot-powered" tin can press for flattening empty cans so that they take less space in your trash barrel, hinge two squares of heavy plywood or hardwood stock together on one edge. Then all you have to do is insert a tin can between the two pieces of wood and "step on it".

Auto Body Dents

If you can get at the back side of a dent in the body of your car, hammer it out with a rubber mallet. Otherwise, fill with auto-body solder, and sand smooth when dry, then repaint.

In Memoriam

JOHNSTON — In loving memory of Mabel Johnston who passed away Dec. 23, 1954.
The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one we loved,
From memory pass away.
Lovingly remembered by Roy, Milton and Gladys.
(802)

POWER — In loving memory of a dear father Andrew J. who passed away Dec. 25, 1961.
He is gone but not forgotten
And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
Ever remembered by Wilfred and Frank. (849)

In Memoriam

JOHNSTON — In loving memory of our dear mother Mabel Johnston who passed away Dec. 23, 1954.
Beautiful memories tenderly kept;
Of the one we loved and will never forget,
Deep in our hearts they will always remain.
Lovingly remembered by Kay, Harold and family.

JOHNSTON — In loving memory of a dear mother Mabel Johnston, who passed away Dec. 23, 1954.
Time changes many things,
But love and memory ever clings
Lovingly remembered by Shirley, Clarence and family
(770)

LISCOMBE, Elias: — In memory of a dear husband and father who passed away Dec. 22, 1963.
One sad and lonely year has passed,
Since our great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received that night,
No one can ever tell,
God gave us strength to meet it,
And courage to bear the blow
But what it meant to lose him
No one will ever know,
It's a lonely life without you,
And sad has been the way.
For life at home is not the same,
Since you were called away.
It was a sudden ending,
To sudden to forget,
For the ones who loved you dearly,
Are the ones who won't forget.
Ever remembered and sadly missed by his wife Florence and daughter Joan. (811)

HOUGHTON — In loving memory of our dear mother Lila Houghton who passed away Dec. 25, 1961.
God bless us with a mother
And you were one of the best
For life is not the same to us
Since you were called to rest,
Each time I look at your picture
You seem to smile and say,
Don't grieve I'm only sleeping
We'll meet again some day,
Sometimes its hard to understand,
Why things have to be,
But in his wisdom God has planned,
Beyond our power to see,
They say time heals all sorrows,
And help us to forget,
But three years so far has
Only proved how much We miss you yet.
Ever remembered by her daughters Edythe and Doris.

NOW YOU KNOW

In pre-cambrian times — some 500 million years ago — the north pole was located near Hawaii, according to the National geographic society. (UPI)

STOCKING UP STARTS WITH SANTA

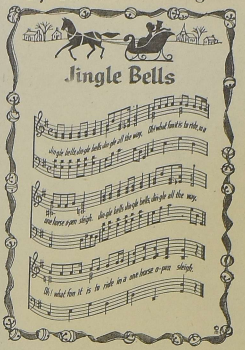

Santa Claus envisoned today as a jolly, cheerful man with an affinity for children, was a romanticist too, according to legend.

The first Santa Claus, St. Nicholas, started the custom of hanging stockings by the chimney when his romantic heart was touched, and he gifted a bankrupt merchant's three marriageable daughters with gold for dowries.

Desiring anonymity, he tossed the three bags of gold through the window, or, as some tell it down the chimney. One of the bags landed in a stocking which had been hung up to dry on the mantelpiece.

Hanging up stockings thus became part of the holiday ritual.

"Jingle, Bells" Sings Of Snow and Sleigh

"Dashing thro' the snow, in a one-horse open sleigh;
O'er the field we go, laughing all the way;
Bells on bobtail ring, making spirits bright;
What fun it is to ride and sing a sleighing song tonight!

"A day or two ago I thought I'd take a ride;
And soon Miss Fannie Bright was seated by my side.
The horse was lean and lank, misfortune seem'd his lot;
He got into a drifted bank, and we, we got upsot.

"Now the ground is white; go it while you're young;
Take the girls tonight, and sing this sleighing song.
Just get a bobtailed bay, two-forty for his speed;
Then hitch him to an open sleigh, and crack! you'll take the lead."

REFRAIN:
"Jingle, bells! Jingle, bells! Jingle all the way!
O What fun it is to ride in a one-horse open sleigh!"

Although it says not a word about Christmas, the song "Jingle, Bells", is now a familiar part of the holiday season. The spirited description of "Dashing thro' the snow, in a one-horse open sleigh" conjures up visions of the old-fashioned Yuletide nearly every remembers — or likes to think he remembers.

Usually it is thought of as "Jingle Bells", but early copies of the song show that the title was really meant to be "Jingle, Bells" — with a comma added to make it a command to the bells to go into action.

Both the melody and lyrics were written by James Pierpont, who was the son of a minister who ran away to sea at the age of 14.

Pierpont wrote the song in the late 1950's according to Encyclopedia Americana. He was then living in the Boston suburb of Medford here, at the time, the only piano in the entire village was located in the parlor of Simpson's Tavern. It was there Pierpont picked out the "Jingle, Bells" melody.

Little Britain

Mr. and Mrs. George Little have moved and are now settled in their new home west of the village which is now completed and very modern in every detail.

Mr. Charles J. Gorrill made a business trip to Orillia on Thursday of last week.

The village is at present taking on the spirit of Christmas and several of the residents are lighting the outside of their homes as are to be commended. The lights at the homes of M.A. Goard, Stewart Chidley and J. C. Junkin are among those that are very beautiful and attractive.

Sticklebacks in Cambray area pond

Farm ponds are becoming as familiar a part of the pastoral scene as windmills once were reports the Lands and Forests. The dugout type designed only to catch and hold some of the freshet in the spring and rain water throughout the summer is particularly prevalent.

Although in most cases such ponds are not connected with permanent bodies of water in which fish and other aquatic creatures thrive, with increasing frequency reports of fish occurring in them are being received here.

Some specimans of fish, thought by the farmer to be black bass were taken from a pond in the Cambray area recently and brought to the Lindsay office for positive identification.

They were found to be brook sticklebacks, one of a dozen species of sticklebacks that occur in sea and fresh waters in the northern half of the western hemisphere including the Arctic, North Atlantic and North Pacific oceans.

These fish have no direct economic importance appearing to exist solely as a forage species i.e. food for other fish.

Sticklebacks are a curious fish, they build an elaborate nest, much like the nest of the oriole, but they spawn fewer than 100 eggs (most fishes spawn many thousands of eggs).

Equally curious of course is how they become established in a pond having no apparent inlet or outlet.

It is possible that they entered by way of an underground stream or that a gull or duck inadvertently stocked the pond, in any event there is one advantage to their being there they eat prodigiously of mosquito larvae.

IN RUSSIA

Russian children hang up their stockings on New Year's Eve, in anticipation of Grandfather Frost's visit. Though Communists eliminated the religious celebration of Christmas, they allowed the children's festivities of the season to remain.

TALLEST TREE

Tallest Christmas tree? In the U.S. the title probably goes to the Indianapolis, Ind., "tree" — the Soldiers and Sailors Monument at Christmas the 246-foot structure is decorated with electric candles and stars.

Robert Thompson

Seagrave (PNS) — Seagrave lost one of its highly respected citizens in the passing of Robert Elliott Thompson on November 26th. Born in England in 1880, the son of the late Robert and Mary Thompson he was educated in England and was a chartered accountant.

Coming to Canada in 1910, he went overseas as an original member of the 58th Cnd. Inf. Bn. with the rank of orderly sergeant.

During the latter years of the war he was attached to the British Embassy at Washington, D.C.

On his return to Canada he resided in Toronto and Green River before coming to Seagrave in 1936.

During World War II he was very active in raising funds for the Red Cross and other patriotic activities. He was a charter member of the A.F. & A.M.

He leaves to mourn his passing his widow the former Susan Baxter and a brother Thomas in England.

A private funeral service was held at the McDermott-Panabaker Funeral Parlours on Saturday, November 28th. The Rev. E. McNeil conducted the service with interment in Pleasant Point Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Messrs. Ralph Reynolds, Orville Boo, Gordon Sweetman, Leon Standish, Robert Nodwell and Fred Cookson.

DEMOCRACY

Birmingham, England (UPI) — two traffic cops put illegal parking tickets on two big black limousines. Later they found out one belonged to the mayor and the other to the chief of police.

Mayor Frank Price, faced with paying a $14 fine, said, "It shows we live in a true democracy."

by "the observer"

This week we celebrate our Christmas in our own peculiar way. Christmas is celebrated around the Christian world in many different ways. In Canada we follow pretty much after the fashion of the British Isles with feasting and merriment. In Scotland I found however that their big festival is observed more on New Year's than on Christmas. Perhaps it is because it will give their native Scotch whisky a few more days to mature.

My mind goes back to the earliest Christmas I can remember in our old log house. Quite naturally it has changed in many dimensions to what it is today. And this is all to the good. My memory is that we never had a Christmas tree in the old log home, decorated with strings of coloured electric lights. Today that is the first prequisite for a Merry Christmas. Nor was our old log house decorated in any way on the outside with electric lights. The reason was that there was no electricity available in those old days. The light we had to light the inside of the house was the coal-oil lamp and if we happened to run out of coal-oil then there was always a supply of tallow candles that substituted until some one got to the village store and procured a can of coal-oil. I was the second youngest of a family of 4 sisters and 4 brothers and it often fell to my lot to be the one chosen to walk to the village and carry home a gallon of coal oil. At the corner of our farm there grew a large basswood tree and in the early days there, where two childr.n had died and were buried in this particular corner and my grandfather had planted this basswood sapling as a marker for the grave. The old timers who visited our home often talked about ghosts and in fact many of them believed in ghosts. My young mind listened very attentively to those old tales and at night when I would be coming home from the village carrying the gallon of coal oil, I would cut across the fields, knee high in snow and thus save myself from coming in contact with any ghosts. Today as I look back on these interesting exploits I can candidly say that I never met a ghost in any way, shape or form.

No in those far away days we didn't have a Christmas tree but we always had loads of fun. The stores didn't have all the gadgets they have today to help in the celebration and even if the stores did have them, the people didn't have the money to buy them. However before we went to bed on Christmas eve it was the custom in our home for everyone to hang up his or her stocking. Each one had his or her own particular nail on which to hang the stocking and the stockings weren't any nylons but strong woollen long stockings that our mother had knit. We were always up at daybreak to see what Santa had left and sure enough he had come down our chimney and visited our humble home for there would always be a large orange in our stocking. In later days I could never quite understand where our mother had hidden these lovely oranges so she would have them for Christmas for there weren't too many places in the old home where they could be hidden from young eyes. After breakfast it was time to feed the stock and do the chores and it was always our custom to give the horses and the cattle a little extra feed on Christmas morning for we felt they too know it was Christmas.

Today every family must have a turkey for their Christmas dinner, but in my boyhood my mother always had a large flock of geese and she would always keep a couple of geese for this festive dinner. In those days the taste of a goose was a rare treat and even today I much prefer it to turkey that always seems so dry to me.

Well those good old days are now just a memory. But they were good simple days. We never heard of a can of soup of a can of meat, or a can of salmon. But we had lots of home-made soup and we had lots of fish. We never heard the word, electricity, nor knew what it means so we didn't have a refrigerator nor a deep-freeze. We were quite happy to have a high stepping driver to take us in a cutter of a slow team of heavy Clydes to take us all to a party in a sleigh.

Today we live pretty much on canned goods instead of knitted woollen stockings our mothers and her daughters wear nylons and instead of baking bread she plays bridge.

No things have changed from our boyhood days and we think the changes have been for the best. Instead of walking through the cold, frosty morning our children are driven to school in heated buses, instead of the cat-of-nine tails we have the method of gentle persuasion, instead of going to the pump for a drink of water have it piped into the school on tap. Instead of the old box-stove our homes are heated by oil or gas or electricity. In olden days when a couple got by their working days they were taken care of by their sons and daughters. There were no old age pensions or pension allowances of any kind. These and hundreds of other changes have made a better, fuller life. Today there is much more time for study and reading and the changes are not finished by any means. We are all earning more money today we are spending more money today than we ever did in the history of our country. This no doubt is due in a large part, to the number of unions that have sprung up.

World news today

Quebec — Raymond Daoust, a prominent Montreal lawyer, suggested Tuesday that a group of "master blackmailers" hoodwinked the wife of suspected narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard with false promises of arranging his bail.

Daoust told the Dorian Commission investigating bribery and coercion charges against high government officials that the group was peddling non-existent connections which would free Rivard on bail from prison.

He said he deduced that sums of money had been paid Mrs. Rivard for the fraudulent efforts on her husband's behalf.

The group claimed to have arranged that Pierre Lamontagne, counsel for the U.S. Government would not oppose Rivard's request for release on bail from Montreal Bordeau jail where he is being held pending the completion of extradition proceedings to the United States on U.S. smuggling indictment.

Lamontagne told the Commission in Ottawa last week that he was offered and later turned down a $20,000 bribe offer if he would drop his opposition to bail.

He said he was the victim of blackmail, political pressures and other forms of coercion by high-ranking government officials.

United Nations, N.Y. — The United States moved toward its Christmas recess today, its financial deadlock and the Congo dispute still unsolved.

Hopes were high, however, that agreement on the financial crisis might be announced today to end the "No Vote" situation in which the Assembly has operated since its Dec. 1 start.

Meetings, public and behind the scenes, were scheduled to continue on both issues.

In the Security Council, Kenya was expected to present the African Nations' condemnation of last month's U.S.-Belgian rescue operation in the Congo. The Congo delegate was set to speak in defense of the airlift. But the question was not believed ready for a vote.

Malaysia — Official sources in Malaysia say more than 20 Indonesian guerrillas have landed on the West Coast.

The sources said the raiding party came at dawn in two large boats and landed at the mouth of a river some 30 miles west of Singapore on the Malaysian coast.

Malay troops are converging on the scene with the help of a little boy who escaped the raiding party. The youth is leading the troops to the place where four of the raiders captured two other boys. The four raiders were wearing civilian clothes and carrying British-made submachine guns.

The guerrilla infiltration point was at the same spot where some 108 Indonesian insurgents landed in Malaysia last August. Most of the interlopers were captured or killed at that time.

Viet Nam — The U-S has named the Vietnamese Government that continued American aid hinges on a stable government in the war-torn country.

A state department statement approved by President Johnson was sent to the Vietnamese Government last night in reaction to anti U-S inferences made yesterday by Army Chief Nguyen Khann. The general said yesterday he fully supports the recent military coup of the high National Council by army insurgents.

Khahn made a radio broadcast to his armed forces stating that his army is figthing for the liberty and independence of his country-not to carry out policies of a foreign country. U-S officials take the statement as an apparent reference to American policy in the South Viet Nam.

U.S.A. — New York City police have arrested and charged three anti-Castro Cubans for the bazooka attack on the U-N December 11th.

The Cubans were charged with three counts. The charges include--malicious endangering of life by placing an explosive near a building . . . attempting to destroy buildings or vessels . . . and conspiracy.

The arrests were made last night after intensive investigation of Cuban refugee groups in the area and probes on the sources and parts used in making the bazooka.

England — Joseph Hutton really got caught in the middle.

Hutton yesterday refused to pay a fine for violating a building code in Crowthorne, England. He said he was not to blame and said he would go to jail before he pays.

Hutton admits violating the building code by repairing a leaky roof on his bungalow . . . but he said he didn't have any choice. Hutton said that rain water was splashing down on his wife's bed. He said she told him that if he didn't fix the leak, she was leaving.

Said Hutton--"I did what any husband would have done when given an ultimation by the wife--I obeyed the wife".

Merchants win in new sweaters down Twins 11-4 on Babcock's 5

George Babcock fired the Lindsay Merchants to an 11 - 4 win over Cannington - Sutton Twins last night with a five goal effort at the Kiwanis Arena. The Merchants trailed 2 - 1 at the end of the first period, but outscored the twins 4 - 1 in the second period and 6 - 1 in the third to complete the route. Gerry Heffernan scored twice for the Merchants with single goals from Bill Horton, Paul Yearwood, Bob Taylor, and Ray McCabe.. Ron Josephson scored twice for the Twins, with Dale McLeish and Norman Smyth adding one each..

Two quick goals by the Twin's Ron Josephson midway in the first period rocked the Merchants into action, then when George Babcock had his feet pulled from under him as he neared the Canington crease, a penalty shot was awarded to Babcock. Stopping Babcock's attempt on the short side possibly triggered the husky right-winger to his five goal effort. Bill Horton recovered one goal for the Merchants before the first period ended..

The Twins prodded the Merchants again early in the second period when Dale McLeish scored unassisted at 4:09, to give the Twins a 3 - 1 lead. Three goals in three minutes put the Merchants in front to stay started with Babcock's first goal at 6:35. Neil of the Twins was serving a major penalty at the time for parting Ray McCabe's hair too deeply, and Goodfellow had his two minute slashing penalty cut short by this goal. Gerry Heffernan scored at 8:31, and Babcock again at 9:36 to put the Merchants ahead. Gerry Heffernan's second goal at 16:45 completed the scoring for the middle session.

George Babcock started his third period hat trick with an unassisted goal at 4:25. Three minor penalties to the wins in less than a minute set up the next Lindsay marker with Paul Yearwood ending Smith's penalty at 6:58, and their third penalty was ended at 8:30 when Bob Taylor beat Frank Childe from close range. Babcock scored again at 11:45. Six minor penalties and one major followed in the next three minutes starting with an elbowing penalty to Horton. Cotton of the Twins and Pillsworth of the Merchants were sent off for roughing at 13:23. McLeish for roughing and Morasse for roughing and fighting followed at 13:42, and Smith for slashing at 14:05. Another delayed penalty.

Ray McCabe made the score 10 - 3 at 14:17, then the Twins prodded the Merchants with Smyth scoring at 16:25 which was matched by Babcock at 16:57. A holding penalty to Puetz at 17:45 completed the record.

While the Merchants were thumping the twins last night, Bobcaygeon Tri-Cats defeated Stouffville Clippers 8 - 4 before the largest crowd of the season (400) at Stouffville. This keeps the 'Cats two points ahead of the Merchants who now lead the Clippers by three points.

The next home game for the Merchants, and it will be a really big one, is scheduled for January 8th, when Bobcaygeon comes to town with their big following. The Merchants play three games away before that time however including to-night's game with Little Britain Acres at Cannington Monday night the Merchants travel to Newmarket, then start the big series with Bobcaygeon on Wednesday, January 6th. at Bobcaygeon.

The BMerchants were skating in the last two periods again last night and gave their smart new sweaters a real break-in. The Merchants will have to travel for the remainder of the schedule to keep pace with the first place TiCats who have lost but one game to date while the Merchants have dropped three. Doug Broad came up with some sensational saves to keep the Merchants in the game on the first period before the pressure was eased by the Merchants sustained drive.

FINE SINGING

Grimsby, England (UPI) — Harold Scott thought the Christmas carolers outside his door were singing "O Come All Ye Faithful" remarkably well.

He opened the door and found one 10-year-old boy, playing a tape-recorder.

"I gave him a shilling (14 U.S. cents) for his cheek," Scott said.

IN SOUTH PACIFIC

For Fiji Islanders, Christmas starts at 2 a.m., when carolers wake the village with serenades. At dawn, when everyone is awake and assembled, some attend church while others take care of preparing the feast.

Canada's Sub-Arctic Railroad to Rich Resources

Tracklayer crew working at mile-a-day pace as they near journey's end after nearly three years of construction. Tracklayer feeds crew rails and ties from cars behind.

Machinery for base-metal mine being built at Pine Point, Great Slave Lake, above, will move north by new railway.

Construction crew lays steel on last lap of northern railroad. Project includes eight major and 33 other bridges and reaches a maximum elevation of 2,425 ft. above sea level.

Aerial view of end of steel shows rails being placed on ties. Railroad construction was completed October 28, 1964.

Canada's first railway to penetrate the vast 1,300,000-square-mile Northwest Territories has been constructed 14 months ahead of schedule. This new railroad, starting at Peace River in northern Alberta, runs a total of 492 miles to Great Slave Lake—inland gateway to the mighty Mackenzie River and Canada's mainland arctic regions. Working day and night with a massive-powered tracklayer, hundreds of workers laid a mile of steel a day across the low-lying plateaus of wilderness, sometimes in 40-below-zero temperatures. Built by Canada's national railway, the $86,000,000 project is a shining steel highway for shipping machines and material north to speed development and a vital freight line south for rich natural resources from northern mines and forests. Already in operation, it has spurred agriculture and sent thousands of cars of grain and lumber rolling south. Biggest foreseeable user of the line is the Pine Point base-metal mine being built at the railway's end, but, as exploration and development proves across the enormous region and world technology makes new demands, future rail cargoes may consist of riches not just still undiscovered—but as yet unknown.

1965 YEAR FOR ROYAL VISITS

London (UPI) — The year of 1965 will be one of travel for Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip and other members of the Royal family but Canada is not on the itinerary.

In February the royal couple is scheduled to pay a state visit to Emporor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia in Addis Ababa and then to go on to Khartoum, Capital of the Sudan — if the political situation is sufficiently stable there by then.

In May, the royal couple is due to make a long-postponed state visit to West Germany, spending about eight days in Hamburg, Munich and Duesseldorf. They are also to go to Hanover to see Prince and Princess George of Hanover. The Princess, formerly Princess Sophie of Greece, is Prince Philip's sister.

At the end of the state visit the couple spends one day in West Berlin provided the east-west picture is not at crisis level at the time.

In the autumn the queen and her husband may make a state visit to Athens to King Constantine and Queen Anne-Marie. This possibility was discussed privately when the young Greek couple spent a week's vacation in London last month.

The Duke and Duchess of Kent are to represent the Queen at the Gambia Independence Celebrations in February. In March princess Margaret and Lord Snowdown are to visit Uganda as guests of King Freddie of Buganda.

Queen Elizabeth the queen mother is expected to visit Australia toward the end of the year to make up for the visit she had to cancel last spring because of an urgent operation for appendicitis.

Among the royal visitors expected to be received by the Queen in London next year are the Shah of Persia and Queen Farah. They are to visit Britain for two weeks in February and spend a long weekend as the Queen's guests at Windsor Castle.

PEARSON FLAG A KAVALIERS "MISTAKE"

A member of the Kavaliers Drum Corps executive, M. J. Cunningham, was erroneously introduced as the president of the Kavaliers at the corps' annual party last night. Mr. Cunningham remarked, there have been two mistakes made in the band this year. The first, he said, was when the Pearson flag was carried and the second, a bigger mistake, was his introduction as president of the corps. He said there have been no elections in the corps executive.

SIGHTING ROBINS

Popular motif on early Christmas cards was the English robin — possibly because English postmen, who delivered the cards, in those days wore red uniforms and were often called "Robin".

IT'S A HOLIDAY

First of the United States to give recognition to Christmas Day as a legal holiday was Alabama, in 1836.

Mrs. D. Heels, 108 Lindsay South, Lindsay received a welcome Christmas windfall this week when she received $100 in cash in the ..Dominion ..Store ..."Magic Circle" game. She is the sixth person to win $100 since the new Dominion Store opened. Dozens of other shoppers have won prizes between $50 and $2. Mrs. Heels is just recovering from an operation and her husband is presently in the Ross Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Heels had worked in the original Dominion Store in Lindsay many years ago. —"Post" staff photo.

Santa Stocking Fund nears target, with one day left

The support of the Santa Claus Stocking Fund in the last few days has been wonderful but still more is needed. Another $106.00 will bring the fund up to last year's mark and every cent will add hope and happiness for some needy family. The fund received a healthy boost from the proceeds of the Christmas Carol Singing Night at the Academy Theatre Monday night when choirs from St. Joseph's Academy, the Central Senior School, and the Kinsmen Band blended their talents to help the needy. Fund organizers feel sure that the citizens of Lindsay will come through in the last day to put it over the top to help assure a Merry Christmas for all.

THREE SEMESTERS A YEAR AT GUELPH

Toronto, (UPI) — The University of Guelph will become the first Ontario University and one of the few in Canada to swing from two semesters to three a year.

The University announced yesterday that the three-term system will be started at Wellington college next September and later be introduced in the University's three other colleges.

The plans mean the University will be operated year round, thus eliminating the traditional three months summer holiday.

J. D. MacLachlan, University President, said students will be allowed to attend consecutive semesters of four months each. Faculty members will teach two out of three semesters.

The plan is considered to be a provincial pilot project.

RED ENSIGN FOR ONTARIO?

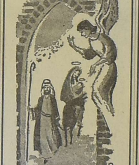

Toronto, (UPI) — Ontario is considering adopting the Red Ensign as a provincial flag, Premier John Robarts said yesterday.

Parliament has accepted a maple Leaf flag as the Canadian flag "and of course we accept it as the official flag of Canada. But we have no provincial flag at the moment," the Premier said.

If Ontario adopts it, the Red Ensign would continue to fly officially in the province beside the new Maple Leaf flag and the Union Jack, declared by parliament to be Canada's commonwealth flag.

"Windy" the Kavaliers trademark, has travelled the North American continent this year taking Christmas greetings across Canada and to many points in the United States. The figure of Windy, the fellow who blew so hard his pants fell down, was printed on the front of the Christmas cards sent by the Kavaliers to all the members of the Canadian Drum Corps Association and to many American bands.

Christmas 1964

At this joyous Christmas Season we are reminded of the warm friendships formed over the years. Perhaps it is this that causes us to pause and seek for inner Peace, Strength and Courage that will lead us toward reason and understanding, that we may be more conscious of those things that divide us.

As the New Year approaches may the true spirit of Christmas, with its joy, its beauty, its hope and its abiding faith, be yours.

R. GLEN HODGSON, M.P.P.

At this joyous time, when hope and good spirits are high, we express appreciation for your continued loyalty, and wish you the best of everything for Christmas as always. Thank you.

Christmas Around the World

CHRISTMAS, ITALY!

Rome — The Eternal City's feast eternally the Virgin Mary — as does all of Italy, at Christmas time!

This is the major feast, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, and it overshadows the festival of Christmas day.

The public service division of The British Motor Corporation of Canada Limited, the Canadian arm of the U.K. based company that manufactures and distributes Austin and Morris cars in more than 90 different countries, has provided this series on "Christmas Around the World" — so that native Canadians might better appreciate the customs of new arrivals from other lands; so that New Canadians might better remember pleasant Christmases past.

One colourful custom of "Christmas, Italy!" is the annual visit from the hills of Calabrian shepherds — dressed in goatskin trousers and multi-colored jackets.

Piping pastoral flutes, they pause before each and every shrine, and at the door of every carpenter shop. They do this to honor the carpenter, Joseph, husband of Mary, and to honor her child, the Christ-Child — the God-Man who was born and died on this earth to save mankind.

The Christmas scene in Italy is set with bunches of sweet flowers and the graceful olive tree.

For Italian children, Santa Claus is not the jolly gentleman in the flowing white beard and red flannel suit, but "Befana" — a male witch clothed in rags, who rides from house to house on a broomstick.

Befana, of course, is a good witch.

Like Santa he leaves presents for the children by the hearth and good little boys and girls in Italy, like good little boys and girls in Canada, doubtless can hear the sound of the rooftop, in the stillness of the Christmas night, as Befana makes his nocturnal visit!

Today, there are more than 200,000 Canadians of Italian origin in Canada, and many of them continue to celebrate Christmas,, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception — and the fun of the good witch Befana — as they did and do in sunny Italy.

SEEKING LOG WAS FAMILY AFFAIR

The traditional Yule log survives today more in art, song and story than as an actual "blazing Yule". After all, not every home has a fireplace nowadays, and even when a fireplace exists, its proportions are usually far from sufficient to accommodate the Yule logs of yesteryear.

During ancient times in England, however, it was a solemn family ritual to select the log, dry it and burn it according to custom. Logs from fruit-bearing trees were preferred.

The whole family went along to select the log, as this was thought to bring good luck for the coming year, and to frighten away any witches.

If the log burned out quickly, or did not burn brightly, it meant bad luck ahead.

On Christmas morning, the children of the household beat upon the log and called for gifts to come forth. They were scolded by their parents, sent outside and after a time, called in to open the gifts, which had been set near the log.

SWEEP...

The farmers love the game of curling and that they are also fine exponents of the game was evidenced last week at the Lindsay ice palace. The "black and white' vendors, one hundred strong, took part in the annual bonspiel sponsored by the Victoria County Holstein Association. It was the seventh annual event and the originator Sherman J. Moore was again in the driver's seat, assisted by an able committee. A number of the games went "down to the wire" but when the smoke of battel cleared away the top winner, with three games under his belt was Russel Pearson of Unionville with Charles Johnson of Bobcaygeon and Cliff Lillico of Woodville in close pursuit.

All three won games. Joe Nesbitt of Glenarm carried off the two win high score and Sherman Moore's rink won the prize for one win and high score.

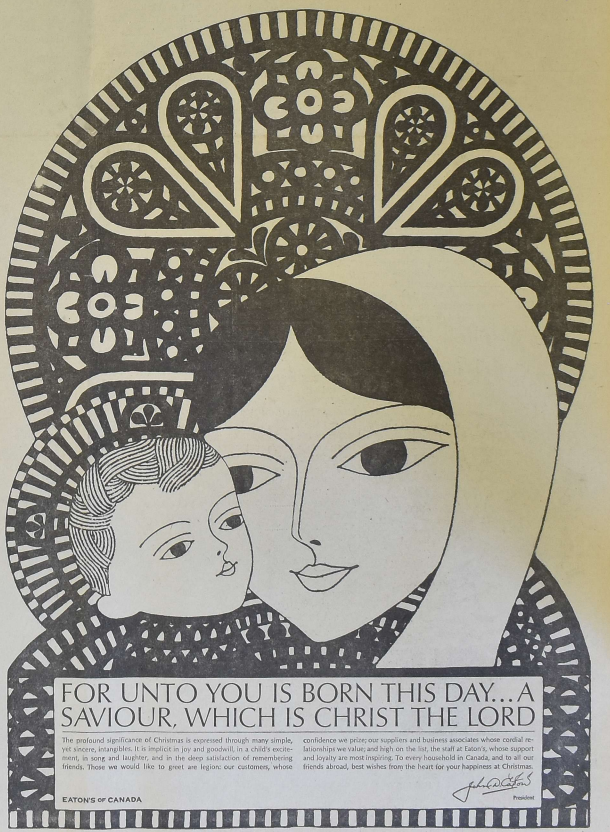

Skip Roy Smithers of Woodville was a winner with two wins. Special prizes went to Skip McKay of Little Britain and Skip Elmer Beggs of Cambray. The prize for the rink traveling the longest distance went to a rink from Alliston.

Sunday School has Christmas party

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — "Hark The Herald Angels Sing" by the congregation of Fenelon Falls Fellowshop Baptist Church opened their annual Sunday School Christmas party, held on Friday evening. The carol was followed with prayer by the pastor, Rev. Geo. Bell.

Mr. Sewell Watson, Superintendent of the Sunday School was chairman for the concert, at which each class contributed an appropriate Christmas number. Mrs. Geo. Bell's class quoted passages of Scripture which told the Christmas story and members of Mrs. Ivan Dewells and Mrs. C. Martin's class gave Christmas recitations. A delightful musical interlude was enjoyed when Margot Michell favoured with a piano solo. Recitations by three members of Mrs. M Devitt's class were followed by a playette "The Christmas Star" given by Mrs.. Wilfred Jackett's class. The audience joined in Singing another Christmas carol before Mrs. May Sneddon's class presented a Christmas play which was follower by recitations by members of Mrs. Glen Webster's class. Members of Mr. Stanley Kennedy's class recited selected passages of scripture relevent to Christmas and Heather Dewell a member of Mrs. W. Jacketts class recited Scripture passages from the Old Testament. Mrs. Martin's and Mrs. Dalby's classes presented a playette "Why Jesus Came" after which the Bible Class sang a Christmas carol and the Rev. G. A. Bell sang a solo. The entire audience joined in singing "Silent Night"

Rev. G. A. Bell pronounced the benediction ofter which refreshments were served in the Lower Hall.

FOR UNTO YOU IS BORN THIS DAY... A SAVIOUR, WHICH IS CHRIST THE LORD

The profound significance of Christmas is expressed through many simple, yet sincere, intangibles. It is implicit in joy and goodwill, in a child's excitement, in song and laughter, and in the deep satisfaction of remembering friends. Those we would like to greet are legion: our customers, whose confidence we prize; our suppliers and business associates whose cordial relationships we value; and high on the list, the staff at Eaton's, whose support and loyalty are most inspiring. To every household in Canada, and to all our friends abroad, best wishes from the heart for your happiness at Christmas.

OMEMEE BOER WAR VETERAN ENJOYS DAILY ROUTE MARCH

Omemee (PNS) — Veterans of the Boer War of 1898 - 1901 are very hard to locate and even in the larger cities only a small company are able to answer the roll. But here in Omemee with a population of 850 we have a Boer Veteran Herbert J. Streeter who will be 85 next July 11. .

Mr. and Mrs. Streeter occupy a nice suite in the Carnegie apartments and both enjoy very good health.

Born in London in 1880 he enlisted in the Royal Engineers of the British Army in 1898. He went to South Africa in 1901 and landed at Cape Town after a three week trip via troopship. He did not participate in any of the major engagements at Ladysmith, Paardeburg of Bloemfontein but was engaged in guerilla warfare building blockhouses and barbed wire entanglements to encircle the Boers.

Right after the funeral of the Late Queen Victoria he returned to England and spent his 21st birthday enroute in 1902. He came directly to Canada in Saskatchewan. His wife whom he had known since childhood came out to marry him, and he remarked that he had ploughed with oxen, horses and tractor.

Their only son Jasper served in the U.S.A. army in the Phillipine Campaign, and they have one daughter Mrs. Joseph Chester in Pt. Hope whom they will spend Christmas Day with.

Mr.. Streeter received no pension for his army service but proudly wears the Boer War service medal richly engraved with his name and number.

Ironically his only brother was killed in action on Armistice Day Nov. 11, 1918.

Mr. and Mrs. Streeter resided at Oakville for 12 years. Here he met Mr. Wallace of the Oakville Wood Products Co. who for many years owns the pretty picturesque Mirror Lake private resort a few miles from Omemee. For many years Mr. and Mrs. Streeter were caretakers for this resort until his retirement a year ago.

Mr. Streeter's hobby is painting and the scores of lovely pictures adorning the walls testify to his expert workmanship with the brush. He even engraves all of his own Christmas cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Streeter are staunch members of Christ Church and attended services regularly. Like the old soldiers who never die, he still enjoys his daily route march to keep fit.

Wassail Hassle

GATHERED around the wassail bowl with a group of friends on Saturday evening, Doakes bet he could down 30 mugs of the spicy stuff in a week and yet drink an odd number of mugs each day.

One of Doakes' friends took the bet, assuming that Doakes was either tipsy or bluffing.

But Doakes fulfilled the terms of his wager, by actually drinking 30 mugs of wassail within seven weeks, with an odd number of pints each day. How could he?

Candles Glow At Christmas

Many traditional candle customs brighten today's Christmas celebrations.

From Ireland comes the custom of putting a lighted candle in the window on Christmas Eve to light the Holy Family's way. The candles denote a home where the Holy Family would have been welcomed, not turned away as they were at the inns in Bethlehem.

In Germany, too, candles are placed in windows to provide a glowing welcome for the Virgin Mary and a host of angels who the Germans believe pass over the countryside each Christmas.

In many countries, such as Germany, beautifully decorated candles are an important part of Christmas celebrations. Entwined with religious and other figures, they add an artistic and revered touch to holiday festivities.

Similarly, many still celebrate the medieval custom of lighting a giant Christmas candle that burns brightly until Twelfth Night.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York (UPI) — The newest medical therapy doesn't come in bottles or capsules.

Rather, it comes from musical scores and is delivered via trumpets, violins, drums and all else in the musical instrument department.

Dr. Michael De Bakey, the famed Texas surgeon who operated on the Duke of Windsor, work's to the quieting tones of piped-in music.

Many obstetricians find background music helps to relax expectant mothers in labor and waiting rooms.

Making musical therapy available 'Round the world, meanwhile, is Ralph and Gretchen Hoy's 40-hour-a-week hobby.

Hoy, an executive with Alcoa in Pittsburgh, Pa., makes special tapes designed to help the ailing. His specialty is industrial films. Mrs. Hoy is a music teacher.

The merging of their career interests in the "recordings for recovery" project started when a tape-deaf friend came down with multiple sclerosis.

The Hoy's made a tape recording for him — a few words of encouragement and some music.

"We were pleased, though a bit surprised, to learn that our tape cheered him to the extent that he resolved to fight the ailing. His specialty is industrial films. Mrs. Hoy is a music teacher.

Since that time the Hoys and a small volunteer staff have sent some 5,000 tapes to nursing homes, chronic disease hospitals, psychiatric institutions rehabilitation centers — and homebound patients.

The music for their tapes comes from all over the world — even the jungles of South America and the White House.

The Christmas issue of 'Squibb nurses note' salutes the Hoys by making a report on their work the cover story. It's bound to make the Hoys both busy and happy.

Nurses nationwide are invited to make use of the free "R4R" tapes when they feel musical therapy might help a patient.

Hoy has a number of impressive case histories. One physician credits "R4R" with the "Almost miraculous recovery" of a young patient whose prospect for same was extremely poor.

"In that instance, we sent Jazz tapes," Hoy said.

The late Dr. Tom Dooley used the tapes for his patients in Laos and as a morale-booster for his staff. Other medico outposts are making similar use of the musical medicine.

One of them, Dr. Larimer Mellon at the Albert Schweitzer hospital in Haiti, uses boistrous band music from his sound truck to gather an audience for lessons in better sanitation. He reports that the music draws from 300 to 2,000 persons at a time.

The story of the Hoy's project is a statment of International co-operation. Embassies have supplied music from their homelands performed by top artists.

The Kennedy's and later President Johnson gave permission to use recordings of the White House concerts.

Some of the world's leading orchestras have okayed the use of recordings from Bach to Boogie Woogie.

And the American Federation musicians has authorized its members to play without fee for "recordings for recovery."

"We try to put tapes together that suit the particular needs of the individual patient," Hoy explains.

"Melodic stringed music may be soothing to some, but there are others who find comfort in good Dixieland.

"Our research shows that a person's diagnosis, as well as his personality and situation are important factors in putting together a successful tape for him."

The hobby has solved a problem for Hoy. When he retires next year, he doesn't have to worry about what to do.

He'll just give "R4R" the 40 40 hours he now gives Alcoa each week.

The project is financed by donations.

"We never seek payment for our recordigs," Hoy said.

The Maidens "Viewpoint"

It has been well over six months since the cover has come off the typewriter — the tourists have gone home and things are almost back to normal. So here we are again.

* * *

There is a great deal of mail to catch up with. Between this column and the regular mail everything should soon get answered.

* * *

In this day and age when everyone is bemoaning the fact that "life is tough" it is uplifting to hear from certain people. One such letter came to me a short while back. It was from Harry Strickland at Bobcaygeon.

Normally I avoid parties but the party mentioned in Mr. Strickland's letter I'm going to look forward too and attend.

The letter was an invitation to a birthday party — Harry wrote: — "Be sure and reserve April 25th, 1970, for my 100th birthday!"

* * *

Mr. Strickland is a remarkable man. About thirty years ago when I started with the Lindsay Hydro Electric System and was reading Mr. Strickland's meter he was looking forward to retiring as Chief Inspector for the Ontario Hydro. I'm now over the half-century mark and he's going almost as strong as ever. So in 1970 I'll be closer to retirement and my good friend Harry will be 100 years young.

Little Britain

Mrs. Cora Sornberger and granddaughter Miss Karen Meneely of Lindsay visited at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sornberger and their family last Sunday.

Friends of Rev. Bruce Eaton of the Goderich area and recently of William Street Baptist Church, Lindsay, will be interested and glad to learn that he has been engaged to take charge of the morning service at the Little Britain Fellowship Baptist Church next Sunday.

Mr. Glenn Heatlie of Lindsay visited at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Heatlie in the village last Saturday.

The Little Britain United Church choir's Cantata last Sunday evening was exceptionally well attended and was a wonderful story entitled "Wonderful". The organist was Bob Tompkins for this occasion and the soloist was Miss Kathy Hall of Lindsay.

Mrs. Charles J. Gorrill was one of the lucky ticket holders in connection with the Oddfellows draw aat Lindsay last week and was fortunate in winning a turkey.

Mr. Norman Eagleson spent a day recently with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Eagleson and family at Seagrave. It was the occasion of his brother's 89th birthday and his many friends wish him many more happy returns of the day.

Mrs. J. B. McGibbon has gone to Toronto where she intends spending the Christmas vacation with her son-in law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R.V. Stephenson and their family.

Friends of Mr. Reuben Ford of Toronto and a former Little Britain resident regret to hear of his illness and being confined to the hospital but hope that he soon will be restored to his normal health again.

The annual Santa Claus parade which was held in the village is over for another year and the success of the parade was due to the co-operation of the business men and other various organizations. This year the children as usual lined up outside the Community Hall where the most popular man in Christendom distributed the candies, etc., and sent all to their various homes in a very happy mood.

From Mexico comes a card from Betty and Bert Bennett of Rosedale. Bert, "the Patron Saint" of Rosedale stopped off in Mexico for a short visit before going on to Hawaii. The best of "The Water of Life" is $1.50 a quart, cigarettes are 8c a pack and the cigars are almost given away.

My good friend Earl T. Monahan has written me several times enclosing articles which he has been commissioned to do by various publications. In all of them he boosts the County of Haliburton, thus maintaining his reputation as being our best booster. Being a dyed-in the-wool American, makes this boosting by Earl something to be reckoned with.

Earl is working on some more material at the present time When it is published I'll let you read it.

The Del Rios — of Calgary are working on a $10,000 order for the State of New York Hand carved birds for a government sponsored craft exhibition. Del is real handy with a knife as many will remember who saw him at the Lindsay Central Exhibition when he threw everything he could get his hands on — at his wife — Honey. When living in Minden, Del used to take the ash off my cigars with an Australian Bull Whip. Since he has left I remove the cigar ash in the accepted and conventional manner — it's easier on the nerves too.

Everyone has the tendancy to worry — now me, I worry all the time. Even when things are going good and I have nothing to wory about — I worry because there is nothing to worry about.

A little over twelve years ago I met Dale Carnegie in Utica N.Y. he told me this about worry.

"Just about the biggest problem is worry. It ruins more health than organic diseases. If we could learn to put our worries into proper perspective they wouldn't be so serious. For instance, an estimate of how people worry, shows what you are up against. Things that never happen; 40 percent. Things in the past and that can't be changed; 30 percent. Needless health worries: 12 percent. Petty worries; 10 percent. Real. honest-to-goodness worries; 8 percent.

Now, if I could just be sure these figures of Mr. Carnegie were correct then I could stop worrying.

* * *

That's about it for this week. Things are bound to improve. When we get the rust out of our thinking and the machine loosens up a little and more ideas start coming through it should be more interesting. In the meantime, if any of you think of anything that would help us out — don't hesitate to write.

* * *

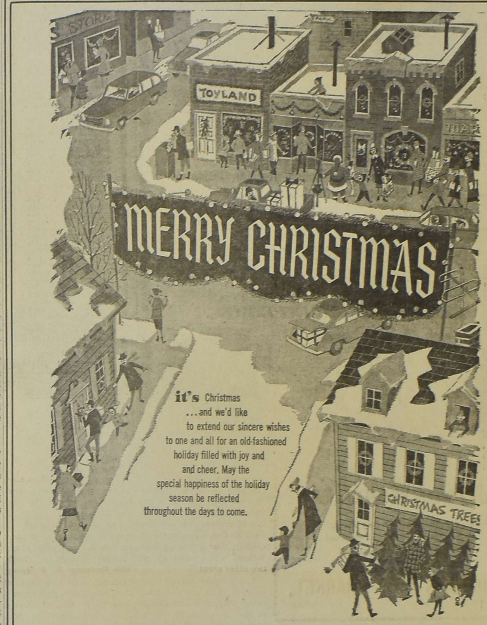

Years ago the late Jim Hunter told me a little bit of philosophy in a column never hurt anything — so, we'll end this week with a short quotation —

"The rich man has his motor car,
His country and his town estate
He smokes a fifty-cent cigar
And jeers at fate.

Yet though my lamp burn low and dim,
Though I must slave for livelihood —
Think you that I would change with him?
— You bet I would!"

I'm indebted to Franklin Pierce Adams for that one.

Convention held for teachers

Cannington (PNS)—No. 1 Teachers Institute convention was held this year at the University of Toronto. The day of Professional Development was arranged by the inspector, Miss L. McNeill B.A., B.Paed, with inspectors of two other areas.

The morning session convened at 10.00 a.m. in Convocation Hall and was presided over by Professor V. W. Bladen, Faculty of Arts and Sciences.

Excellent suggestions were brought out by Dr. C. T. Bissell, President of University of Toronto.

Importance of elementary school must not be minimized'.

In conclusion he stated that a university education may be a basic requirement for the teacher of the elementary school.

The main feature of the morning session was a panel discussion, 'Curriculum Changes in Ontario Schools' with Professor R. S. Harris, Principal, Innis College, U. of T. in the chair. Participants were Mr. H. Mitchell, Ontario Curriculum Institute, Mrs. E. Grossberg Chairman of Forrest Hill Board of Education, Dr. K. Prueter, Superintendent Public School, Etobicoke Board of Education, Professor C. B. McPherson, Department of Political Economy, University of Toronto.

The teachers were given an insight into the way a Curriculum Institute works. This organization brings together all segments of society university personnel, elementary and secondary teacher lay people and trustees for research. Their findings are submitted to the Department of Education. It is important that education be considered one unit from kindergarten to university. Mrs. Grossberg explained that Ontario Education Research Council is an annual forum in which people interested in education can get together and discuss curriculum. Teachers in a class room should do research on their own problems in curriculum.

Dr. Prueter emphasized the need to study conditions under which teachers are expected to teach each pupil thoroughly. Teacher-pupil ratio must be freed to teach. Secretarial duties must be kept to a minimum. Out of research come new and proven materials and tried procedures, available to the classroom.

The afternoon was given over to tours of various university buildings.

Let us share in the wonder and joy the shepherds felt that first Holy Night when angels brought their glad tidings of peace, good will toward men.

Holly Holds Sway

The holly tree and its brightly berried branches hold an important place not only in holiday decorations but in the legends and lore of Christmas.

An old belief in England and Germany was that there are "he" and "she" hollies — the "he" hollies with spined leaves, the "she" hollies smooth-leaved. The varieties brought into the house at Christmas supposedly showed who would head the household for the coming year — "he" or "she."

A variation on this custom said that if the holly was brought into the house in fair weather, the wife would rule, but if the weather was bad, the husband would be master.

Holly was credited with many magical and medical powers. It was believed to cure toothaches, banish rickets, and even foretell to girls the names of their future husbands.

We offer best wishes and sincere appreciation to all our friends on this Blessed Christmas.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson struggles into a sweater presented to him by Mrs. Margaret Rideout, MP for Westmorland, on behalf of the Liberal Caucus who were gathered together for a Christmas party. —UPI telephoto.

"Silent Night, Holy Night..."

Oberndorf, Austria (UPI) — Two cold and weary men trudged despondently through the gale swept streets of this little town one night 146 years ago. They were downcast because their plan for a festive Christmas had been upset by mice which had eaten holes in the bellows of the church organ. So there would be no music.

As the pair walked silently along, leaving St. Nicholas Church behind them, the bitter wind suddenly died and the skies cleared. Looking up at the stars one of the men Oberndorf's young parish priest, Josef Mohr, 26, sighed "Silent Night, Holy Night..."

Still unhappy about the organ, and perhaps a little ironically, father Mohr walked on a few steps, then added — "All is calm, all is bright."

Beside him his friend Church organist and schoolmaster Franz Gruber, heard the words, ran them around for a moment in his musician's mind and an idea came. "Josef," he said, "those are the words for a Christmas carol!"

The two friends went at once to Gruber's home and worked out more verses and music to go with them. It took them the best part of that cold night. They hummed and sang it together — and liked it.

When, on Christmas Eve, the townspeople gathered in St. Nicholas Church to celebrate the birth of Christ Father Mohr and Gruber first coached and then led them in singing the simple words of praise set to Gruber's flowing and easily remembered melody. The hymn was sung to the accompaniment of a guitar.

That essentially is the story of how the world's best loved Christmas carol was given to the world, although some of it may be legend.

From its first singing in St. Nicholas Church that Christmas of 1818 the song spread at first only to nearby neighboring villages. But when it was taken up by the bargemen who floated salt down the Salzarch River it was carried further by an organ builder who came to Oberndorf to repair the mice-ravaged organ and for whom, as he tested it, Gruber played "Silent Night, Holy Night"...

It was not until about 1830, 12 years after it was written, that the carol spread beyond the Alps and then gradually around the world.

The town of Oberndorf as father Mohr and Grubber knew it was destroyed by floods and fire. Today's Oberndorf was built around 1900, farther down the valley. Just before World War II a "silent night" chapel was constructed on the site of the old St. Nicholas Church, mainly with donations from the United States and other parts of the world.

In the chapel, this Christmas "Silent Night" will be sung again as it first was in another century by two simple men of Oberndorf.

Bells, Bells, Bells

Through the ages, bells have served many purposes — announcing the approach of vehicles, for instance, or signaling the beginning of curfew. Early associated with churches, by medieval times the pealing of the bells had come to signify the rejoicing of the Christmas season.

An early custom was the tolling of church bells on Christmas Eve, during the hour before midnight. The tolling announced the death of Satan, and at midnight joyous peals told of the birth of Christ.

In England, where bell-ringing is an honored, family-taught art, the tuneful bells ring out at seven-thirty on Christmas morning.

It takes years of training and practice to learn the ringing of complex "changes," as the different chants and sonal combinations are called.

Fenelon Falls

Friends of Miss Jacqy Covie who has been a patient in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, for several months will be happy to know that she is now convalescing at her home in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Burley and Mrs. A.R. Brokenshire were visitors to Toronto on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Ritchie of Toronto spent Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Halligan.

Miss Ellen Stuart of Hamilton spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Marion Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stuart and their family.

Mr. G.A. Southron who has been Post Master at the Fenelon office for the past few transferred to Orangeville. while we regret to see the Southron family leave the village, we understand it is a promotion for Mr. Southron.

The store formerly Burgaynes, which has been operated for over a year by Mrs. Mona Moore, will be taken over the end of the year by the new owners, Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Watson.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral of the late Frederick Metcalfe included Mr. Art Meltcalfe, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Metcalfe of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hutchinson of Penetang Sound; Mr. and Mrs. Manson Curry, Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hopkins of Midland.

Kinmount

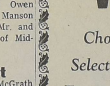

Mr. and Mrs. T. McGrath were business visitors to Lindsay.

Mrs. George Walford and daughter, Jill were business visitors to Peterboro.

Mrs Gerald Junkin and family of Bobcaygeon were Sunday visitors in the village.

Miss Margo and Philip Austin of Toronto, were weekend visitors with their mother, Mrs. Essie Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Phillips and daughter, Lois, motored to New Brunswick to spend the holiday season with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Phillips.

Naming Santa

Santa, the giver of many gifts, is a man of many names, too. While he is becoming almost universally known as Santa Claus, Santa or St. Nick, many European children still wait for the arrival of St. Nicholas.

St. Nicholas was the first of Santa's names and came from a real bishop in the fourth century, A.D. He is said to travel not by reindeer but on horseback, and wears bishop's robes.

Over the years, Santa has gained still other names: In France he's Pere Noel, in Finland Father Christmas, in Germany Kris Kringle, in Russia Father or Grand-father Frost.

UNIQUE CHRISTIAN PAVILLION FOR '67 WORLD'S FAIR

Montreal, (UPI)—The seven major churches of Canada today announced plans for a unique Christian pavilion as "a common proclamation of the gospel" to celebrate the nation's 100th birthday in 1967.

Leaders of seven churches, headed by Paul Emile Cardinal Leger, Archbishop of Montreal, disclosed plans for the pavilion as part of the 1967 World's Fair (Expo' 67) at a news conference today.

At the same time Deputy Commissioner General Robert Shaw said that it was possible the Canadian government would invite Pope Paul VI to attend the exhibition.

The Christian pavilion will represent all the major Christian churches. For this reason the World Council of Churches and the Vatican will not erect separate pavilions.

"We will do everything in our power to discourage other Christian pavillions," said Shaw, during a news conference following the ceremony in which the church leaders signed the declaration.

The declaration was signed by Cardinal Leger, Bishop Kenneth R. Maguire, Anglican Bishop of Montreal, Right Rev. Dr. E. M. Howse, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, Rev. Dr. Ritchie Bell, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, Rev. Emrys Jenkins, Moderator of the Eastern Association of Churches of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, His Excellency, Right Rev. Timotheous, Bishop of the Greek Orthordox Diocese of Canada and Alaska and Dr. Earl J. Treush, Executive Director of the Canadian Lutheran Council.

CONSUMERS' GAS ON THE JOB THROUGHOUT THE HOLIDAYS

In Lindsay, Metro Toronto and 60 other Ontario communities Consumers' Gas Company employees will be on the job or on call over Christmas Eve, Christmas Day and Boxing Day, and again on New Year's Eve and New Year's Day.

It isn't because it's Christmas Consumers' policy calls for service 24 hours a day, every day. But there is a special wish at this season to make sure that customers' homes are warm, that those turkeys get cooked.

Most of Consumers' 2200 employees will, of course, be home with their fmilies Christmas Day, but crews of service, construction and maintenance men, telephone personnel and gas supply people will be on the job.

This means holiday shifts for many, since Consumers' service area takes in more than sixty cities, towns and villges, as well as the townships — from Bampton and Streetsville on the west, north to Barrie and Collingwood, in Peterborough and Lindsay, east to Bowmanvill, Ottawa and in most of the Ottawa Valley.

In Metro Toronto alone about 50 employees will be on the job.

Past experience indicates their main function will be to look after requests to maintain heat, to adjust ranges and hot water heaters in homes, apartments, hotels and restaurants.

They will attend fires in case it is necessary to turn off the gas supply, and answer calls from people who smell foreign odours and want a check made.

There may be customers who have just moved in to a new house or apartment to find service cut off because no one notified the gas company.

Whatever the call, anywhere in the company's service area, there'll be a Consumers' Gas man availble at short notice.

Hi! MERRY CHRISTMAS

May your Day be an especially joyous one... filled with holiday happiness and good cheer.

Twinkling Lights, Soft Snows, Add Touch of Magic Canada Lights Up For Christmas In White

Strings of multi-colored lights festoon shopping centres, churches, residential districts and city streets against a background of fresh, white snow, give Christmas in Canada a scene of enchantment.

When the whispering winds of winter deep-drift the first gentle snows across the vastness of the land, then is time for a myriad twinkling, colored lights to sparkle frostily over another Christmas scene. For Canadians in general, Christmases are always white. The fresh falls of winter's magic mantle have already muted big-city traffic, gilded brightly-lit shopping centres, hushed silent the open countryside with a soft, firm embrace. Suburban residential districts, transformed into white, translucent wonderlands of sugar-candy houses, come aglow each early evening with milky-ways of shimmering, multi-colored, artificial stars, and illuminated messages from folks within bid good cheer to passers-by without. Far from the winking reflections of Christmas lights strung through ornamental garden trees and under roof-top eaves, the snows are deeper yet. Where the lone wolf treads with careful delicacy the thin supporting crust atop the powder snow, where the big pine trees and firs loom dark against a moonlit sky, where undulating barrens roll endlessly towards the polar star, where high mountain peaks set in timeless solitude—there too, the Christmas snows of Canada command the silence. For, here and there among the majestic expanses of wild land, small groups of Canadians link thoughts of goodwill across the sparkling snows, to join with a nation once more aglow with a Christmas in white.

NATIONAL FILM BOARD PHOTOSTORY

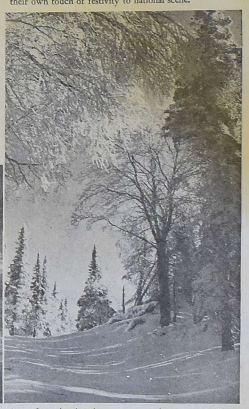

Houses of Parliament in Canada's capital city, Ottawa, add their own touch of festivity to national scene.

Garden trees, set aglow on snow-covered lawns, take on new beauty during Christmas season.

Suburban residences become a fairyland vista as doorways, chimneys, windows, roof-tops and gardens come ablaze with millions of sparkling colored stars and illuminated figurines.

Away from the city, deep snows spread a mantle of whiteness to make another Christmas scene.

ON THE MAIN STREET

There is a marked difference in the appearance of the main street in Lindsay this Christmas season compared to several decades ago. In many ways there is not the same holiday spirit today.

Decorations today are actually mammoth and fabulous compared with the Christmas decorations of years ago. Today the gloss and glitter is appealing in its attractiveness In days gone by there were very few decorations — no coloured lights twinkling from miniature green trees, no illumination from strings of beautiful fixtures hanging across the main street, no Santa Claus parades, no lovely tinsel, no decorated towering pine tree at the town hall, and no playing of carols from church towers and commercial buildings.

"In the good old days" the grocery store windows were filled with nuts of all kinds, raisins, oranges, and the displays were usually separated by rows of peel — every ingredient for the old fashioned Christmas pudding. Other decorations included strips of coloured paper suspended from the ceiling, or tied around saleable articles.

Popular confectionary included a grand assortment of bard candy, and all kinds and sizes of red and white peppermint candy canes with old time creams and gum drops.

Many years ago Lindsay boasted an Advancement Club, a group of business men who banded together at various holidays to organize and hold sports days. The annual winter carnival was such an event, when all kinds of races were held on Kent street. These races included light horses and cutters or sleighs. The races were started at Victoria Avenue and ended at Lindsay street. There were also foot races for boys and girls and dog races.

The town market at the old market square was a busy spot every Saturday and on days immediately preceeding Christmas. Citizens wended their way to the market where they found half carcasses of beef hanging from the verandah roof at the east end of the town hall, or were placed on a large butcher shop's chopping block. Beautiful quarters of pork were displayed and the butcher had no trouble making sales.

Inside the town hall the entire first floor was used for market purposes where women from the country displayed and sold chickens, geese, ducks, turkeys, as well as eggs, all kinds of home made butter, buttermilk, bunches of sage, onions, and beets and sometimes home-made pies, bread, and cake. Nobody worried too much about sanitary surroundings but the produce was clean and attractive.

The snow was deep on the main street and the days were frosty, much more so than in these balmy days, but people were warmly clad, many in homemade garments. People were friendlier and happier than they are today, Christmas came but once a year as it does in these modern times, but in the old days it brought a different type of good cheer.

Little Britain

Friends of Mrs. Harold Mason are glad to hear that she has been able to return to her home in the village again after being on the sick list and confined to the Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay for a few days.

The many friends of Mrs. Everett Mark regret to hear that she has been quite ill for some time and is at present confined to the Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay but hope that her condition will soon show signs of improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. James McDonnell motored to Peterboro, where they spent a day recently.

Mr. Alberna Plunkett of Toronto spent the weekend in this community at the home of his mother, Mrs. Arthur Woodward and Mr. Woodworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dunn are leaving on Wednesday evening of this week for California by plane where they intend spending a months vacation with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs Geo. Campbell and their family.

Mrs. Stan Nowakowski of the Little Britain teaching staff is spending the Christmas vacation at her home near Derryville and her many friends regret to hear that she has sent in her resignation and has accepted another position as the Victoria County Librarian after the new year.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Avery motored to Essex, where they spent the weekend with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Patterson and their family.

Word was received here last week with much regret of the passing of Mr. Edgar Weaver of Lindsay and formerly of Little Britain last week and who was in his 56th year. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Weaver and the funeral service of the deceased was held at the Mackey Funeral Chapel in Lindsay with interment being made at the Little Britain Christian Cemetery.

3rd annual Silver Stick Tournament at Port Huron, Michigan, Jan. 26-31

Howard E. Radford, Commissioner and Dr. Harold F. Willis, tournament director, announced that the 3rd Annual North American Finals of the International Silver Stick Hockey Association will 'le held January 26, 28, 29, 30 and 31 in the Henry McMorran Sports Arena at Port Huron, Michigan.

This years tournament has been expanded to 38 teams from last year's 26 teams, 19 Pee Wees and 19 Bantams. This means there will be 608 boys participating in the tournament for the coveted Silver Stick.

Lindsay All Star Pee Wees and Bantams entered this tournament last year and the Pee Wees took all opposition until losing out to Sarnia in the final game. Last year there were no divisions according to home town population, the result being that the Lindsay Pee Wees met and defeated teams from Barrie, Detroit, Michigan and St. Catharines, Ontario, before bowing out in the final. This year separate competition will be held for towns and cities. One award did come to Lindsay last year when Gord Grieder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gieder, Adelaide St. S., was picked on the tournament All Star Pee Wee team.

The Washington D.C. teams are coming the longest distance to the tournment this year (910 miles). Cobourg, Ontario, Canada wanted to come so bad this year that they offered to bring with them a full marching band.

The purpose of the Association is:

To promote citizenship and international good will at the boyhood level through the medium of Silver Stick Hockey.

To foster sportmanship through International competition for boys and youths of all nations.

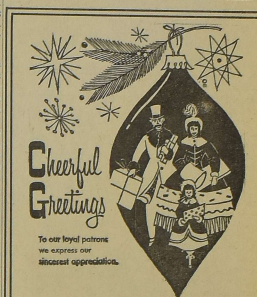

The Association shall have no capital stock and shall not be conducted for profit.

All games are played in the new 3½ million dollar Henry McMorran Memorial Auditorium and Sports Arena, built in 1961 by Andrew J. Murphy and the Henry McForran Foundation and donated to the city of Port Huron. Due to the lack of ice time, Mr. Murphy and the Foundation have started building a Junior Sports Arena attached to the present facilities. This will allow the tournament to expand to accommodate 80 teams for the 1965-1966 competition. Seating capacity is 9,330 in the main Sports Arena and 1,000 more in the Junior Arena.

Secular and religious Christmas customs met in the old English "kissing bunch." This evergreen ball had mistletoe, for kissing, hung from the center.

But it also contained small dolls to represent Jesus, Mary and Joseph, as well as an array of fruits and colorful ornaments.

To our loyal patrons we express our sincerest appreciation.

LONDON'S EIFFEL IS AN EYEFUL!

London (UPI) — The picture of parliament's clock tower–Big Ben–flashes on the television or movie screen and from then on the audience considers itself in London.

This is what film people call "An establishing plot". They have their choice of two which instantly mean Paris to audiences–The Eiffel Tower and the Arc De Triomphe.

And at least three which are unmistakably Rome–the Colosseum, the Vatican and the Fountain of Trevi.

But ever since it was built more than a century ago Big Ben has been the unique symbol of the British capital.

Till now.

Over the skyline of Central London, ancient and modern, there has taken shape an oddly-shaped tower so stunningly inconflict with everything in this old city that the natives scarcely ever mention it.

Most of them don't even know what it is although they have a vague idea it has something to do with television. They act as though it will go away if they ignore it. But it won't. It is the talest structries in the British Isles and likely to remain so for many years.

It can be seen for miles from nearly any point around the city. It is functional and ugly where Big Ben is a Gothic marvel of graceful proportions and elegant adornment.

But the new tower is bound in time to challenge its predecessor as a smybol of London. Not on esthetic grounds, simply because it is there.

When many acres of the capital were levelled by German bombers during the war, grand plans were made for rebuilding it in beauty as Christopher Wren had done after the Great Fire in 1666. But lovers of the city were dismayed as one matchbox-shaped skyscraper followed another.

Despite an admitted need for more office, hotel and other space, there was no excuse for most of the unsightly building other than the quick profits from using cheap materials. At least the new tower has a reason for being where it is and looking like it does.

The nationalized general post office, whose child it is, says that it is primarily a telephone and television aerial and cannnot be too heavily disguised without impairing its functions. It had to be constructed near the heart of the city because of the geographical characteristic of London.

This also dictated its height of 620 feet (roughly as tall as a 60-story skyscraper and 200 feet taller than any other edifice in Britain).

London (says the post office) lies in a saucer-shaped depression so the tower had to be high enough to ensure an unhindered "line of sight" for television paths and to avoid obstruction from the many tall buildings now being built or projected.

The post office tower, as it will be officially named when it is opened in mid-1965, will have a capacity of 150,000 telephone circuits and 40 black and white and colour television channels. It will transmit the country's first colour television.

The tower looks like an enormous cylinder, solid for its first 115 feet. The next 16 floors contain its equipment and are studded with many glass panels. Then it inderts for six floors of futuristic aerials, and bulges out again for six floors of public observation platforms and a slowly revolving circular restaurant.

Above that is a weather radar aerial intended to improve short range forecasting.

Of Wreaths

Using wreaths as decorations at Christmas may be traced to the customs of Advent season, the four Sundays before Christmas — a time of preparation for the coming of the Christ Child. Traditionally, the Advent wreath is made of evergreen branches interlaced with red ribbons. It holds four candles. One candle is lit at dusk on the first Sunday of Advent, two the next Sunday, three the next and four on the last Sunday before Christmas. The wreath may be placed on a door, set on a table or hung from the ceiling.

Kirkfield - Eldon

The Sunday School of St. Andrew's Eldon Station held their Christmas Party on Monday evening in the Church. The children of the Sunday School, put on a short programme consisting of recitations, and acrostic and readings. The congregation joined in Carol singing. Miss Heather Fairley sang several lovely solos and also a duet with her mother Mrs. Wm Fairley. They were accompanied by Miss Kathleen Fairley. Mrs. Don Grant of Bolsover showed pictures. Gifts and candy bags were given to the children. Lunch was served by the ladies.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith of Kirkfield in the passing of Mrs. Smith's sister.

Mrs. Annie Snider of Kirkfield is visiting at the home of her son and his family Mr. and Mrs. Donald Snider of Eldon Station.

Congratulations to Mr. Jim Jewell of Kirkfield and Miss Rosemary Devine of Alderwood who were married in Alderwood Presbyterian Church on Saturday. Mr. Melville Brown of RR2 Kirkfield was elected area chairman of Eldon Township for the Progressive Conservatives at a meeting in Kirkfield last Friday evening.

The tower was started in June 1961 and will cost $5.6 million.

The post office insists it has had no complaints about the appearance of the tower or its location–just off busy Tottenham Court road on the edge of the polygot Soho district and less than two miles from Big Ben.

Recently a mental hospital patient climbed to a gallery 450 feet up and jumped to his death. He was the first suicide from the tower. The Eiffel Tower, holds the landmark record for suicide jumps–339 since it was built in 1889.

London, (UPI) — On the first day of Christmas my true love sent to me a partridge in a pear tree. and on the 13th day he was broke, the Evening Standard said today.

A columnist took the old Christmas song and priced every item on the London market.

The total — less "Ten Lords A-leaping" — came to nearly $3,100.

The newspaper charged the minimum weekly wage as stipulated by the agricultural wages board for the "eight maids A-Walking." went to the musicians union for the wages of "twelve drummers drumming" and estimated "A fair price for a troupe of 11 dancing girls" at $322.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Alton who were celebrating their 28th wedding anniversary last Friday.

Washington (UPI) — Come Christmas morning, little ones across the country will be taking a drink, blowing bubbles, twisting, sneezing, burping, flirting, getting a suntan, and even coming down sick. But they won't be children.

They'll be dolls left to delight little girls.

In another demonstration of amazing technology, Santa has mechanized dolls that do everything but steer the car from daddy's lap. And it may not be long before toymakers manage that.

There's a doll that can say 216 words some of them in French, Spanish, Russian, Italian, German, English and Japanese. It comes from tiny phonograph discs that play inside the doll.

Another whiles away playtime singing nursery rhymes, in contrast to one creation in Beatnik garb which advises, "play it cool."

According to the experts, dollmakers expect to get a major share of the $1 billion toy business this year, and are expanding their offerings to get it.

Along with the dolls themselves, there are wardrobes of up to 100 pieces. Some include mink coats, mink coats, monogrammed pyjamas, sneakers and even swim fins.

For doll recreation, there's sports cars, boats, and golf clubs — after the housework, of course which is equipped with whistling tea kettles, perking percolators, and sizzling skillets.

The career-minded may even spend their days at a doll desk equipped with a two-way telephone that lights up.

Despite the current emphasis on mechanization, mechanical dolls have been around for a long time.

Research of the national geographic Society determined that American dolls learned to walk and talk at least a hundred years ago.

For the future nurse there's a doll that comes down with mysterious red spots, recuperates, then becomes well and happy. The medical feat is accomplished with interchangeble faces while she lolls in her own adjustable hospital bed.

Another breakthrough accomplishes just what parents have been trying to do with real tots all along — at the push of a button the doll turns its head and dutifully falls asleep in its crib.

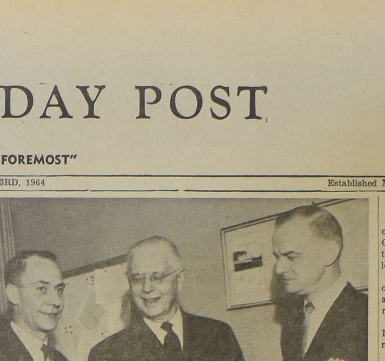

One lifelike entry for little girls' affections has hair that "grows" and can be washed, set and combed into sophisticated coiffures. Again ,it's a mechanical action done at the flip of a switch. Perhaps the even greater advance in doll technology is the invention of two Baltimore brothers of a doll which gets a suntan after a minute in the sun. It's skin, made sensitive to light by a special coating, freckles, then turns a Miami beach-brown.

In the 18th century, Swiss watchmakers built three marvelous dolls, still in existence, able to write, draw, and play miniature musical instruments.

Surely little girls have played with dolls as long as there's been little girls, but we in the west my be taking a chance on letting it go on.

A Czechoslovakian Communist youth newspaper blamed dolls for spreading "Burgeois ideas of a perfect lady."

"Girls will grow up to be more interested in fashion than in the production of synthetic chlorophyll," it warned.

Hon. L. M. Frost, on completion of his tour of inspection of the extension to the Leslie Frost Public School last night, hands the symbolic key to school principal Robert Allan on Monday evening. George Inrig, representing the Lindsay Public School Board, observed the ceremony. —"Post" staff photo

Leslie Frost School one of two buildings named for Mr. Frost

"Only two buildings have been named after me and this is one of them" observed Hon. Leslie M Frost as he paused to address the Christmas party gathering during his inspection of the new extension of the Leslie Frost School last night. "I have refused to permit highways to be named after me, and the other building bearing my name is a university library" remarked the honoured guest.

Commenting on the vast change in education in the past 20 years, Mr. Frost noted that there were no secondary schools in this area north of Fenelon Falls 20 years ago. "Now every child in the two counties have equal opportunity for advanced education. Twenty years ago," he continued, "the provincial budget for educational purposes was in the area of 13 million dollars. to-day that figure has grown to 400 million, with over 100 million dollars for universities alone."

In closing, Mr.. Frost thanked the school principal R. J. Allan for the fact that the school was name "The Leslie Frost School" and extended best wishes on behalf of himself and Mrs. Frost to the pupils and parents gathered for the occasion. Before leaving the platform he remarked that he was losing his power. He said he could have given the children a holiday a few years ago but did not have that authority now!

Emotional rallying point

(UPI)—Since 1958, Mohammed Ayub Khan has ruled Pakistan, first under Martial Law and since 1962 under a system of Basic Democracies."

The "Basic Democracies" were devised by Ayub, a former Commander-in-Chief of the Pakistani Army, to replace the Parliamentary system for which he says the 85 per cent illiterate Pakistanis are not ready and to establish rule under a strong President.

In effect, it strongly resembles French President Charles de Gaulle's Fifth Republic.

Elections naming 80,000 "Basic Democrats" who will in turn select the next president have just been completed.

These electors are expected to vote on Jan. 2, and what had been expected to be a "walk-away" victory for Ayub now may be something less than that.

The reason is a 71-year-old spinster who is the sister of the revered Mohammad Ali Jinnah, founder of Pakistan.

She is Fatima Jinnah around whom Ayub's heretofore scattered opposition has found an emotional rallying point.

She accuses Ayub of running a dictatorship more unbending than the Soviets', and the chief plank of her campaign is a return to Parliamentary rule.

Ayub has ridiculed her both as an amateur politician and as a tool of his enemies, but his tactics so far only have enhanced the crowds she has been able to draw.

Ayub on the other hand has campaigned on his record of stability, a quality notably lacking in Pakistani politicis prior to his bloodless coup in 1958.

He has expanded industry, instituted land reform and done much for reduction.

But, equally, he has not hesitated to jail rival politicians and to close down newspapers opposed to his policies.

In the current campaign he has encountered increasing enmity among the nation's leading editors and lawyers.

And just as he misjudged Fatima Jinnah's appeal, so he seems to have misjudged other factors.

The regime has been plagued by strikes among university students demanding greater freedom for student political organizations. A number of students have been killed and students and professors severely manhandled.

The tough treatment is said to have cost Ayub votes.

The handling of the students led to an outdoor meeting of 400 women who protested the manhandling and defied a government ban against a public meeting of five or more persons.

Closer to home for the United States is the Anti-U.S. tone of the campaign.

For different reasons, both sides have seen fit to deny any pro-American sentiments. A member of Ayub's ruling Pakistan Moslem League even declared loss of American friendship "good riddance."

Moon may be Rosetta stone of Universe

Cairo, U.A.R., (UPI)—If skies are clear over north-eastern Egypt on the night of Dec. 18, the United States may make a giant stride toward selecting a landing site on the moon for its astronauts.

On that night there will be an eclipse of the moon. And in a desert observatory midway between Cairo and Suez, three American scientists and their Egyptian counterparts will train several million dollars worth of special equipment on the moon to measure temperature variations at various spots before, during and after the eclipse.

Since the cooling rate of different materials varies sharply, the scientists expect to be able to learn a great deal about the nature of the moon's surface from one area to another, and from this the U.S. can determine the most ideal spot for landing a rocket ship.

Dr. Richard Shorthill, 35-year-old head of the Geoastrophysics Division of the Boeing Colleagues, John Saari and Gilbert Fox, already have arrived in Egypt and begun setting up the 11,000 pounds of equipment they brught with them for the experiment.

Dr. Abdel Hamil Samaha, director of Observatories for the U.A.A., is working with them in the project which is to be carried out at the Kottamia Observatory.

Shorthill said he and his colleagues had conduct any similar studies during two lunar eclipses in 1960 from observatories at Victoria, British Columbia, and Mt. Wilson in California.

Since then they have developed special equipment which will enable them to scan the entire visible surface of the moon—something that was never possible before.

They had planned to use this equipment for the first time at Mt. Wilson during an eclipse last year. But cloudy weather made this impossible.

"We decided to come to Egypt because of the sunny climate," said Dr. Shorthill.

"If it is cloudy on the night of December 18 we will be extremely disappointed. But we will be able to take measurements before and after that time, so the experiment will not be a complete failure."

Since developing their equipment, Shorthill and his colleagues have made precise measurements of 10 million different spots on the moon.

"We have mapped 23 phases of the moon," he said. "But we've never before been able to get the entire moon."

He said their telescope will scan across the moon's surface, taking measurements ever 1/300 of a second. In the center of the telescope's eyepiece will be a piece of Germanium, a metal which is sensitive to infrared rays. Measurements of these rays coming from the moon enables the scientists to determine the moon's temperature.

They also will measure visible light on the moon and various other factors.

"Where the visible ligh its strong, the moon is cool because this means most of the sunlight is striking the surface and bouncing off," said Shorthill. "But the dark areas of the moon are warm because this means most of the sunlight is being absorbed and is reflected back as infrared rays instead of visible light."

He said the moon cools very quickly during an eclipse—going from plus 248 degrees Fahrenheit to minus 248 in just two hours.

Shorthill, a tall, graying man with a mustache, has been studying the moon's cooling rate for nearly 10 ever since he graduated from the University of Utah in 1960 and went to work for Boeing.

He said so far he has determined that the moon probably has a thin layer of dust over a hard, compacted surface.

"The moon may well be the Rosetta stone of the solar system," he said, referring to the stone whose inscriptions enabled the French scholar Champollion to decipher the ancient Egyptian language.

"The moon is constantly being bombarded by space dust and meteors. And unlike on the earth, when something hits the moon it stays where it comes. Thus when we get there we may be able to tell what happened to the solar system thousands and millions of years before. That is one of the reasons for going to the moon."

Capital Punishment

Alberta Premier E. C. Manning told a press conference Wednesday that it would be a mistake to abolish capital punishment.

"I subscribe to the old principle that life is sacred and a man who takes one should sacrifice his own," he said. "Taking a human life is an act that cannot be tolerated. It is the one offense for which capital punishment is justified."

The House of Parliament is to have a free vote on the question of capital punishment next year. It is a difficult decision for the members of parliament to make—should the principle of an eye for an eye, a life for a life, or should the offender against society be incarcerated? For, of course, the system is not infallible and an innocent man could be convicted.

With an issue such as this, as in the controversial flag issue, the question should go to the people in a plebiscite. The answer so often made to suggestions of this kind is that such decisions should be left to the representatives elected by the voters for the purpose of running the country. This may be, except that the representatives do not always vote for what their constituents want. They vote party. Of all the Liberals in the house who voted on the "free vote" on the flag only one voted against the Pearson design. It is unlikely all represented constituencies that supported this meaningless bit of cloth.

In Switzerland the members of parliament frequently ask the opinion of the people. Sometimes two or three times a year. With controversial issues such as new flags, capital punishment and the like, this is as it should be because the members of parliament seem unable to divorce their thinking from party lines whether a vote is "free" or not.

The Entertainment World

Toronto UPI) — Canadian television actors have been handed a quarter million dollar Christmas gift.

It was brought about by the purchase by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and a U. S. network of a Canadian-produced soap opera or as the CBC describes it "a brand new concept in daytime chapter play programming."

The serial is called "Moment of Truth" and will start on the CBC coast-to-coast television network, Dec. 28 for five days a week.

The American network, NBS, will start carrying it a week later.

"Moment of Truth", bought by both networks for at least 26 weeks, will spend about about $250,000 a year for the cast. In addition to the regular stars and players, it will use 58 Canadian actors each week.

It is the first time a full Canadian series has been sold to the United States although for years, Canadian productions have been sold in Britian and Australia where they are generally greeted with indifference by the watching public.

The series is produced in Toronto by Arrowhead productions using the facilities and staff of Robert Lawrence productions.

Because it's a Canadian show, Producer John Trent is keeping a tight grip on the selection of the cast — with the exception of the two leads, the players are all from this country.

The CBC and Arrowhead claim the serial is "More than a soap opera, an afternoon drama, richer in a style and mood falling between The Eleventh Hour and Mr. Novak."

The star is American actor Douglas Watson who plays a professor of Psychology at a small university — Canadian or American whatever your mood fancies. The choice female role goes to Louise King, widow of English racing driver Peter Collins she plays Watson's wife.

The rest of the cast are Canadians. They include Ivor Barry, Peter Donat and Stephen Levy. Levy a Toronto actor, got his break in acting by going to Italy. He lived in one room there and says he was hired by English and American producers only because they got lonely for the sound of someone speaking English.

The first scripts have been handled by Clare Kennedy, an expatriate Canadian now living in New York.

The Producing company, the producer and the CBC stress the serial is different from the soap opera.

Trent says: "Whereas 90 per-cent of daytime dramas are done live and confined mostly to two people talking in their living rooms, we'll rehearse this series two days, shoot three days and put it together the fourth. It's a production philosophy. . . We will certainly convey more mood, feeling and information, while still retaining the properties that have made daytime dramas so successful."

Come Dec. 27, we'll all know who is considered Canada's man of the year, woman of the year and sports personality and businessman of the year.

The privately-owned CTV has been conducting a teleport among 1,000 Canadians to get the answer. They'll reveal it then.

Budgeon—Moore Nuptials

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — St. Leonards Anglican Church, Toronto was beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums for the candlelight wedding ceremony of Jacqueline Ann Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Moore of Fenelon Falls and Mr. David Allan Budgeon of Val D'Or, Quebec.

The Rev. Canon J. W. Judd officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a floor length gown of peau de soie, with a scooped neckline which accented an eighty year old gold cross. The long sleeves came to a lily point at the wrists, and the corded waistline allowed the pleated skirt to fall in a train at the back. Her bouffant elbow length veil cascaded from a crown of lace and sequins. The bride carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

The maid of honour, Miss Betty Errington wore a floor length dress of dark green peau de soie with matching accessories. Her bouquet was of rust and yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids, Miss Janet Wareham of Detroit, Michigan, and Miss Linda Budgeon of Val D'or Quebec, were similarly styled dresses as that of the maid of honour. They were of a lighter shade of green and their flowers were also yellow and rust mums.

Bruce Budgeon of Val D'Or, Quebec, brother of the groom was best man. Ushers were Uno Nicka of Val D'Or and John Slean of Scarborough.

The reception was held at Fantasy Farms where the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a lovely turquoise sheath of shantung, and a deeper lace jacket. Accessories were of a matching colour, and her corsage was of small yellow roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing a beige sheath, with green accessories, and a corsage of pastel yellow roses.

The bride left the reception wearing a raspberry red double knit suit with a white feather hat and a corsage of white baby chrysanthemums, with black accessories.

Since their return from a honeymoon in Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Budgeon are residing in Don Mills.

Out of town guests at the wedding were from Val D'Or, Quebec, Haileybury, Owen Sound, Fort Hill, Pittsburgh, Penn., Detroit Mich., and Fenelon Falls.

Over $100 for Stocking Fund after Academy Theatre show

The Santa Claus Stocking Fund in Lindsay will receive $106.35 proceeds from the community carol singing programme at the Academy Theatre on Monday evening.

Enthusiasm greeted the singing at the Academy Theatre Monday night when the audience, led by Lindsay Kinsmen Band, the Central Senior School Choir and the choir of St. Joseph's Academy, filled the auditorium with the sounds of Christmas. The large audience which nearly filled the theatre sang such well-known Christmas numbers as Joy To The World, Jingle Bells and Santa Claus Is Coming To Town.

Special selections were performed by the bands and choirs throughout the evening. The 70 voices of the Central Senior School choir sang Silent Night and It Came Upon A Midnight Clear. Among the carols performed by the choir of St. Joseph's Academy were The Little Drummer Boy, Mary and Joseph and The First Christmas Morn'. The band played three selections; the first was a medley of Deck The Halls, Jingle Bells and Angels We Have Heard On High. The other two numbers were O Come Little Children and Jolly Old St. Nicholas.

Contributions received from the performance will be donated to the Christmas Stocking Fund in the names of the choirs, band and the Academy Theatre Foundation.

Many enjoy Santa parade at Fenelon

A crowd of about 2,000 Fenelon Falls and district people lined the main street of Fenelon Falls for the annual Santa Claus parade sponsored by the businessmen of village Saturday. It is reported to have been the best Santa Claus Parade held in Fenelon Falls in a number of years.

Among the 30 floats in the parade were three from Lindsay. The Lindsay entries were by the Lindsay Girls Training School, the Lindsay Real Estate Board and the Kawartha Oddfellows. Music for the parade was provided by the Lindsay Kinsmen Boys' and Girls' Band, Jack Marshall, organist, and a Tramp Band made up of several members of the Fenelon Falls Rotary Club. Also in the parade were the Twirlettes of Sunderland, clowns and story-book characters.

Bags of candy were provided for the children by the Rotary Club of Fenelon Falls.

A LOVELIER YOU

By MARY SUE MILLER

VITAMIN, FULL OF GRACE. Do you get your share of vitamin C? You really must. Vitamin C is essential to firm gums and to the prevention of spider veins. It acts as a shield against infections and colds.

From the strictly feminine viewpoint, C is a paragon among beauty-makers. Because it "feeds" your muscles, it helps keep your flesh firm. Because well-fed muscles enable graceful, poised carriage, no would-be lovely can do without her daily ration.

Studies show that there is a vitamin C deficiency among a large percentage of our population, particularly among teens and reducers. That this should be so is hard to understand. Teen health programs stress a high intake, as do all approved reducing regimens.

It is not as though vitamin C foods were either exotic or expensive. Goody quantities are readily available in such commonplace produce as citrus fruits, green-leafy vegetables, berries, tomatoes and green peppers. If you want to be upstage about the whole thing, include rose hips and fresh-picked avacados.

Just how much vitamin C do you require? Well, scientifically, it figures in milligrams. In a lovely's terms, it comes down to this: have citrus fruit, a leafy vegetable, and a tomato every day — and you're in. You must have these items or an equivalent every day. Unlike many nutrients, vitamin C is not stored up in the body and must be replaced on a daily basis.

Isaac—Goodhand Wedding

Coboconk (PNS) — The Baddow United Church was beautifully decorated with flowers for the wedding of Ruth Lillian Goodhand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Goodhand of Fenelon Falls, to James William Isaac, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Isaac of Fenelon Falls on October 24, 1964 at 2:30 p.m.

PARTY POINTERS

Every woman, whether a career woman or a homemaker, dreams of being the perfect hostess at her parties. She knows that a party's success rests almost entirely on her, and to help fulfil that dream and ease the load, we are listing a few suggestions:

First — the type of party, be it elaborate or simple, this is an important decision to make.

Second — the number of guests. A list should be compiled immediately and invitations, made at least one week in advance of the party.

Last — the menu. It should be a practical one that is simple to prepare and serve, leaving plenty of time for the hostess to enjoy her party. Details should not be forgotten, so lists are most useful for groceries, decorations, things you make (ice cubes, chip dips) and last-minute tasks, (arranging flowers, filling candy dishes, making sure there are enough ashtrays, etc.). Suitable music is an important detail too, music to dance to, to sing to. So are games, for 'breaking the ice', simple ones, like Charades. These help to keep both ladies and gentlemen from forming their own separate little groups.

A party plan organized along these general lines, adapted of course, to suit the individual occasion and taste is, we think, the secret of a perfect party.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove very stubborn black soot and smoke marks from a brick fireplace?

A. Try giving the facing an entirely new surface. Use a carbonrundum block and rub firmly all over the surface of the stained brick. If the contrast between these bricks and the rest of the facing is very marked, go over the other bricks lightly to give them all the same tone.

Q. How can I, when preparing my laundry starch, avoid the formation of skin over the starch?

A. By covering the bowl with a piece of cloth, stretched tight, as soon as the starch is made.

Q. How can I keep my rice grains snowy-white and separate, instead of lumpy?

A. By adding a teaspoonful of lemon juice to your water.

Prevent Clogging

To prevent stoppage in kitchen drain pipe, avoid letting grease go down them. It's a good idea always to run hot water down the drain for a few minutes after washing the dishes. Be sure, too, to clean the lint in the washing-machine trap before it gets down the drain. As a headache-saver, give the drain the eye treatment every six months or so.

Carpet Brightener

To brighten a faded carpet, sweep it clean, then mix ½-gallon of cold water and ½-cup of ammonia or vinegar. Take a soft clean mop and wring it out well in this mixture, then rub over your carpet.

Pouring Aid

Hold a common lead pencil across the open end of a bottle to provide a spout for pouring a fine stream of liquid. The liquid will follow the pencil and flow evenly off the point.

POINSETTIA

Poinsettia, a traditional Christmas plant, thrives best in a well-lighted location and a temperature of about 65 degrees F. The flowers of this plant are inconspicuous, but a colorful show is provided by the large scarlet bracts. The red variety is the most popular however, there are also a white and pink varieties. To prevent yellowing and dropping of the bottom leaves, horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture have the following tips:

The poinsettia should be kept out of cold draughts. Place the plant in a window where it will receive as much sun as possible. In addition it should not be allowed to dry out.

Plants may be carried to the next year. After "flowering" rest the plants in a cool location for 6 to 10 weeks and let the soil dry out. However, do not let the stems become so dry that the bark shrivels. After the rest period cut the plants back part way, place in a larger pot and supply water. They should then be exposed to good light and a temperature of 65 degrees F. These plants can then be grown on for next Christmas

Fragrant Bed Linen

A variation of the old colonial custom of spicing the bed sheets can be worked in your linen closet and drawers if you'll purchase quantities of toilet soap in advance of your needs and store these unwrapped among your linens.

Frozen Meats

Frozen meats may be roasted without thawing, but you must allow about one and one-half the usual cooking time. Thawed meats are roasted the same length of time as fresh meats.

Fur Cleaning

The "furry" side of a fur pelt can be freshened to a certain extent by rubbing with a cloth dipped in soapy water and wrung out thoroughly. A more thorough effect is achieved by moistening cornmeal with cleaning fluid, rubbing this well into the fur, then brushing it out.

Q. What is the proper way to cut off excess carpeting?

A.. Turn the carpet upside down, and use a very sharp knife to sever the cord. As a guide for making a straight cut, keep the knife blade between two parallel filler or warp strands.

Q. What is a practical and safe way of locating a leak in a gas pipe?

A. By brushing the pipe in the suspected spots with thick soapsuds. If a leak is present, the escaping gas will cause bubbles to form at the "guilty" spot.

Q. Please suggest an easy, safe and mild bleach I can prepare at home for my hair.

A. One good one is comprised of a cup of 15 per cent alcohol, a drop or two of glycerin, and the juice of a lemon.

Shoelace Repair

When the metal tip comes off a shoelace, dip the end of the lace into colorless fingernail polish, give it a twist, and let it dry. It will then be stiff enough to poke through the eyelets of your shoes.

Red Ink Stains

Red ink stains can be removed from white materials by using ammonia and water.

Check Christmas tree lights Chief warns

"If you have old Christmas tree lights which you have used year after year, better check them closely before you put them on your tree," fire Chief Arnold Watson warned today. "Inspect them for fraying and damage. Loose connections and bare wires have started many a distrous Christmas tree fire," he stated.

"Fortunately, no one with any sense uses candles any more, but the regular Christmas tree strings of lights are far from foolproof. Light bulbs produce heat and heat produces fire, so make sure no bulbs are actually touching the tree.

When you buy Christmas tree lights, you should always look for the monogram or the approval label on the manufacturer's nameplate. Only those bearing this C3A label are approved.

Always turn off the Christmas tree lights before going to bed or leaving the house. Another very important factor in protecting the family from fire is the circuit fuse. Each circuit must be protected by not more than a 15 ampere fuse."

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York (UPI) — What will it be for the festive board when Christmas rolls around?

A brace of beef, roast suckling pig, saddle of lamb? or perhaps a liver pate to start, followed by duckling with olives in wine sauce?

Is the stuffing to be oyster, chestnut, sausage, or truffles? For dessert — plum pudding, marrons glace, pot au creme or brandied fruit cake?

Which of these exotic dishes will you select this year for the yule dinner??

If one's a typically American family, the answer is not one of them.

The exotic is "out" and the traditional — "in", according to a survey of young homemakers nationwide.

Despite international influence and the availability of gourmet foods, for most families it's turkey with all the fixin's.

Today's young wife and mother may look to foreign lands for her part's menus the rest of the year, but in Christmas she does it the way her mom and grandma did before her.

This the conclusion of a survey — "Food and the family" — conducted for the dedomenico Kitchens of the Golden Grain Macaroni Co.

Homemakers on both the east and west coast reported that this year, as always, they would be serving such familiar dishes as turkey (52 per cent) or ham (30 per cent), accompanied by potatoes, yams, or such vegetables as squash, turnips, peas and green beans.

For dessert: Cake and pie with a sprinkle of Christmas cookies or fruit cake.

To cast their culinary profile on the typical family, the food firm surveyed a selected panel of homemakes in 12 large cities.

Most were from 20 to 30 years old with two to three children. Occupation of their husbands ranged from accountant to truck driver but most incomes were in the $5,000 to $10,000 range.

The uniformity of the menus surprised even the survey makers. And nearly half the women said they would serve much the same menu to their families as at Thanksgiving.

The only significant difference was the substitution of ham for turkey and a corresponding switch from mashed to scalloped potatoes. Cranberries dropped in preference from first to third place as a side dish.

Among the non-conformists were these:

— Some women planning to serve tamales with their turkey.

—The wife of a musician who will serve up antipasto, lasagna, green salad, meat balls and sausage.

— One new England family planning goose, wild rice, and plum pudding.

— A salesman's wife in the south who will prepare a braze of chevsant.

Saturday, December 26th will be a busy day at the Lindsay street rock garden. The annual Boxing Day bonspiel is oversubscribed and will bring together a number of strong rinks. It is expected that the rink will be visited by many former local curlers. One rink to take part will be skipped by John McCrae or Paul Breese. This foursome was formed during Lindsay Collegiate days when the rink overthrew some of the best rinks in the province, and still include Bill May of Fredericton, N.B. University, now on business in St. Catherines as well as Bev Smith, now of Oshawa.

Little Britain curlers are as busy as bees hustling their efforts to open the artificial ice plant. These "busy bees" are hoping to have the official opening in January.

Seldom are curling stones broken but occasionally they are chipped along the broad side. Few players rock the stones today but some years ago before artificial ice, many a rock was sent rocking down the ice, especially when the ice was soft. A rule was at times enforced, that a skip had the right to drop his broom between the shot rock and the person rolling rock to prevent the possibility of curling stones becoming damaged. A few days ago Clayt Gillis was bowling former days at the Peel Street rink and said he never forgot the game when the opposing skips were Murray Grant and Ford Moynes. Grant had a strong arm and could hurl the forty pound stones like nobody's business. In this particular game he let go a real hum-dinger to Grills, but it rocked all the way down the ice to the blue circles. It was a deadly shot and there was a look of consternation on the face of Skip Grant when he saw Skip Moynes place his broom between the rocks to prevent the possible breaking of one or two stones and accurately there was little argument because of the fact that the score was somewhat lopsided. Curlers who could heave a fast rock included Bob Rawlings, Frank Carew and Cecil Frost.

The story is recalled when C. G. Frost was playing a game on No. 1 ice. At the time there was a large window of small panes of glass at the south end of the rink. There was a foot wide gap at the end of the rink and there was also a high wooden back. Skip Frost gave a tremendous heave, the running rock included the target in the circles, hit the high back, bounced upwards and shot, like a torpedo, through the glass window. One of the players had to walk outside the building and go around to the south end in order to retrieve the lost curling stone.

POST OFFICE CLOSED ON BOXING DAY

The Lindsay Post Office will be closed on Boxing Day, December 26th, for all services including Lock Box Lobby. General Delivery aand stamps Postmaster L. Thomas Tyrer informs "The Post".

There will be no letter carrier or rural route delivery on this day and only one street letter box collection at 4:15. All mail posted at the Post Office will be despatched as usual.

Save Ravelings

It's good idea when hemming table linen to save the ravelings and wrap them around an empty spool. They are the best material possible for darning holes and thin places in worn table linens.

Church parade for Scouts and Guides

Cannington (PNS) — Coinciding with Advent Celebration the Cannington Scouts and Cubs, together with the Guides and Brownies from Sunderland held their Church Parade at All Saints Anglican Church on Sunday, November 30th. It was indeed heartening to see so many enthusiastic young people turn out and an excellent congregation in support.

The service opened with a processional hymn and members of the Color Party carried their flags to the Chancel to remain there for duration of the service. Rev. Davidson gave them a very warm welcome being himself an 'old Scout' and still keenly interested. During the service he was assisted by Scout Roger Lake reading the 1st Lesson, Gen. 28 and the 2nd Lesson St. Mark 4 (35-51) by Cub Billy Parliament.

In his sermon to the young people, Rev. Davidson used hats to demonstrate his meaning on Life First he produced a pretty and fragile lady's hat which was more decorative than practical although he admitted he admired it as a means of adornment. However he pointed out the folly of attaching too much importance to outward show and the worshipping of false gods such as dollars and possessions urging them to be themselves at all times without false pretences.

Next came the Red Hunter's hat which denotes a warning of danger, or the difference between right and wrong in spite of temptation. A sensible dark hat, worn with eartabs for warmth and security from the cold reminded him of God's love and protection from fear and harm. Finally the Scouts hat, symbol of Fellowship and a World Wide Movement. A practical hat affording shelter from sun and rain. It stands for strength and maturity, the Law and Promise to Serve God, Country, and Neighbour, just as we are taught in the Ten Commandments.

Following the Offertory Hymn were closing prayers, the Benediction and Processional hymn.

Formosan student participating in Lindsay United Church pageant

The offering of the children from Cambridge Street United Church this Christmas are giving toward the support of a Formosan student by the name of Joseph Chen. He has arrived recently in North America to undertake graduate studies as a dairy science student at Cornell University. It is expected that he will be in Lindsay for Christmas and will participate in the pageantry of the church on Sunday evening.

The minister of the church, the Rev. Robert McLean, met Mr. Chen in Japan where he was a student at the Rakuno Dairy College to further study abroad to prepare himself to teach dairy science to theological students and lay people in his island home of Taiwan. Cambridge Street Church through the Church School and Couples Club have undertaken to give him scholarship aid while he studies at Cornell.

It is hoped that he will be able to spend some time now in the Lindsay area before proceeding to Cornell, and plans are being made to enable him to learn what he can about Canadian agriculture, education and other matters of interest.

The pageant "Christmas is a time of giving" will be presented at Cambridge Street on Sunday evening at 7 p.m. Members of the teen age group of the church and the church choirs have participated together for many years in presenting such a service of witness and celebration at the Christmas festival season. The Couples Club are responsible tor the decoration of the sanctuary and for many details of the arrangements for the pageant itself. Girls of the Ontario Training School will attend as a group as guests of the congregation.

CHILDREN'S SEASON

Christmas is the season for children and Fire Chief A. Watson asked that adults pay special attention to their protection during this season because there is a tendency to "step out for a drink" during the festive season, care should be taken to make sure that the children are being attended by a responsible person at all times, with complete written and verbal instructions for all emergencies which could arise. He emphasized that it was an offence under the Criminal Code of Canada to expose a child to danger through neglect.

AREA FARMER BUYS STRANDED CATTLE INTENDED FOR CUBA

Edmund Ruth, of Marlowe may farms, RR1 Omemee attended a very unusual livestock sale at Hays Farms near Oakville last Monday.

The sale consisted of a consignment of very high grade English breeding cattle, had been sold to a Latin - American purchaser and had been purchased in England and Scotland in the early summer.

The consignment had been shipped from Glasgow to the St. John Animal Quarantine station in Newfoundalnd to acquire Canadian animal health status, and were then to be shipped to Latin America. The sudden death of the purchaser made it impractical to add additional shipping costs, and Hays Farms were contracted to secure a selling agent.

There were individual cattle in the shipment that cost over $2,000 each, and the total cost including the original purchase price, shipping and insurance costs amounted to over $150,000.

Included in the shipment were 5 Herefords, 4 Angus, 5 Galloway, 12 dairy Shorthorns, 4 Red Polls, 4 Sussex, 5 polled Devon, 4 Lincoln, 12 Jersey, 11 Friesen, and 5 beef Shorthorn.

Edmund Ruth purchased three head of the imported stock as he took advantage of this excellent opportunity to improve his cattle blood lines.

He purchased a herd sire, "Stockwood Lord Foggathorpe" born March 9, 1963, from Worcestershire, England. The two females purchased for Malowemay Farms were "Buckstone Mary Fifteenth" from Derbyshire, England, and "Bloulgrange Charming Susie" from Thulston, Derby. Both females were born Sept. 8, 1961, and both are in calf.

Canadian National Railways hauled one of their heaviest single car-loads through Lindsay Friday morning. The shipment, a huge transformer enroute from C.G.E. at Peterboro to the Lakeview generating station at Toronto required renting of the only flat-car of its kind from the Pennsylvania Railway.

The transformer, cylindrical in shape, was 16 feet across and approximately 40 feet long and weighed 247 tons. To handle the load, the C.N.R. brought in the special type of car that measured 120 feet long with 16 wheels at each end with a low slung centre section or loading area, with a weight capacity of 110 tons.

The trip from Peterboro to Lindsay took two hours and five minutes and the shipment was expected to reach Mimico by dark this evening when it pulled out of Lindsay at 11:00 a.m. Fifteen miles per hour on straight track and five miles per hour on curves was the limit for the heavy load.

LINDSAY TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SURVEY GRANTS — MAYOR

"The conference on Housing and Urban Renewal was a review of recent Federal and Provincial legislation regarding matters" reported Mayor Joe Holtom on his return from the conference in Toronto.

"We have been studying the aspects of this legislation for some months now in Lindsay, and have already moved to take advantage of grants available for the necessary surveys" said the Mayor.

"An important philosophy was stressed and becomes very apparent:-and that is, that the whole field of Planning, Urban Renewal and Housing are all very closely interrelated— and should all be considered together", he said.

While the term "urban renewal" and redevelopment has applied in the past to the larger cities—smaller municipalities can also be affected by pockets of blight, deterioration, or sub-standard development.

"We have certain problem areas here in Lindsay in this regard, and the initial steps have been taken by Council to prevent any further deterioration".

"I have asked the Planning Board to study this matter— as the next project—now that the Official Plan is almost finalized", said the Mayor.

The Federal Government, through Central Mortgage and Housing, is holding these conferences in every province in an effort to provide the required co-ordination with the provinces.

Mr. Nicholson, the Postmaster General, said that Ontario leads all other provinces in its work with its municinalities in providing proper housing for its citizens who cannot afford to buy their own house.

It was stressed that private enterprise should be encouraged to take part in redevelopment—as in the case in downtown Toronto—but where the economics did not indicate a satisfactory return for private capital, then public funds could be used to amortize the project over a longer period of time. Under present legislation costs amortized over a period of 40 years.)

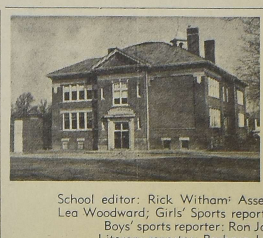

The Mayor arranged an interview with Mr. Suters, Managing Director of Central Mortgage Housing Corporation, who assured him that Lindsay would receive priority in connection with planning request and the more rental housing units. Mr. Suters stressed the fact that the actual need must be proven first.

"In order to achieve more industrial expansion in Lindsay, we must have adequate housing for the working man", said Mayor Holtom. "Both private enterprise and public funds will be encouraged to provide the necessary capital".

Also attending the conference were Councillors Dan Logan, Engineer Eric Booth and Lindsay Housing Authority Manager, E. Rogers.

SOCKS FOR SOCKS
by Rick Witham

On Wednesday the grade sevens had a Christmas party. A prize was awarded for the best pair of decorated socks. The prize, a pair of white socks, went to Katherine Cockerton and candy canes were given to the runners-up. The winner's socks were decorated with Christmas tree streamers and Life Savers.

One of the novelty dances was the balloon dance, where couples tied balloons to their ankles. The couples were eliminated as their balloons were broken. When the dance was announced, the balloon box was surrounded by a mob of girls. One would have thought the Beatles were in town. Although the dance was extraordinary, it proved the grade 7 pupils were enjoying themselves.

It was a very successful party.

EMO REPORT

Alaska earthquake conclusions

by EMO Co-ordinator for Victoria—Haliburton JAMES HALL

The following is taken from a Report on the Alaskan Earthquake, Friday, March 27, 1964, produced by the Office of Civil Defense.

Some basic conclusion reached as a result of emergency civil defense operations in the great Alaska earthquake disaster, were stated by Alaska State Civil Defence Director Don Lowell, in one of the first moments he had for reflection. Lowell had this to say:

Guidance provided by the Office of Civil Defence, at the Federal level, has been proved generally sound.

To be prepare for disaster–

1. There must be an emergency plan. This must be a flexible plan — one designed to meet various contingencies, either in peacetime or in war.

2. There must be trained people — who know what their responsibilities are, and where to go and what to do when disaster strikes.

3. There must be supplies and equipment in place — and ready for use in an emergency.

4. There must be communications — used primarily up-on shortwave radio, and with a great number of battery-powered transistor receivers in the hands of officials and the public. Emergency generators at transmitter sites and at central receiving sites are also essential.

5. There must be a central control point for each operational area, for the gathering and dissemination of accurate official information. And there must be trained, professional people at those control points, to analyze incoming information, and prepare emergency information messages.

6. There must be an adequate operations head-quarters for civil defense, with heat, power, and lights — and space for the operational personnel, and along with this, must be control of access to those people who work in the headquarters, and to keep out those who are not involved in the emergency operations.

7. Overall control must be by civil government — with military support.

A Nation that can conduct successful peacetime disaster operations is also prepared to deal with the effects of any attack.

Alaska has provided an invaluable exercise for successful disaster operations in all communities throughout the Province of Ontario.

7-YEAR OLD BOY DRAGGED 25 FEET UNDER MOVING CAR

A 7-year-old Lindsay boy, Matthew Becke, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Becke of 70 Angeline Street South, is in Ross Memorial Hospital with possible head and chest injuries and shock after he was dragged 25 feet underneath a car driven by Robert Nesbitt, 21, of 115 Albert Street North, on Angeline Street, Sunday morning.

Lindsay police said the Nesbitt vehicle was proceeding south on Angeline Street and the driver said he swerved to avoid hitting another vehicle driven by Roger Hladki of 28 Maple Crescent, which had pulled out onto Angeline from Maple Crescent. Nesbitt's car skidded sideways down the road and struck the boy who was playing in the ditch along the ditch road. Police said the boy was carried 25 feet under the moving vehicle but the wheels were locked and the car continued sideways so he was not pulled under the wheels of the automobile.

A witness at the scene rushed the boy to hospital where he was treated by Dr. T. W. Broad-foot. He was X-rayed and kept in hospital for observation. Lindsay hospital authorities reported that the boy's condition as satisfactory. He was admitted at 10:15 a.m. Sunday.

Christmas Around the World

CHRISTMAS, ENGLAND

London — Buried deep in England's ancient past is the origin of the yule log — its significance lost in antiquity.

We do know, however, that the Druids blessed the yule log with great ceremony at their winter feast, at which they also honored the ever-green, as a tree that was forever green and thus seemed to symbolize immortality.

The public service division of The British Motor Corporation of Canada Limited, the Canadian arm of the U.K.-based concern that manufactures and distributes Austin and Morris cars in more than 90 different countries, has provided this series on "Christmas Around the World" — so that native Canadians might better appreciate the customs of new arrivals from other lands; so that New Canadian might better remember pleasant Christmases past.

In olden England, the yule log often was decorated with garlands of flowers and anointed with wine. For good luck, it was not allowed to burn out during the festive season, and its ashes were thought to bring fertility to the soil.

When Christianity came to England, Christmas became a predominately religious observance — and remains so to this day.

For centuries, "Christmas, England!" has been a time for religious gladness and the good fellowship of feasting and merriment!

In 1400's, Henry VII introduced the wassail bowl, from the Scandinavian countries. It was a bowl containing a mixture of hot ale, spices and toasted apples — a cup of good cheer, with which to toast success for the coming year!

The Christmas tree was another English Christmas importation from Germany — and was introduced to England by Prince Albert, Queen Victoria's consort, from whence it made its way to North America.

(Next: "Christmas, Italy!")

Many weekend car accidents

Damage estimated at $200 resulted when a car proceeding south on County Road 6, one-half mile north of Little Britain, slid into a ditch on the east side of the road and crashed into a hydro pole at 1:45 p.m. Sunday. The car was driven by Reginald Armstrong of Oakwood, said Lindsay OPP.

A car driven by Michael James Wilkin, 19, of 7 Colborne Street East, sustained $75 when it crashed into a ditch near the Hillhead turn on Highway 7 at 7:30 a.m. Sunday. Lindsay OPP said the vehicle was westbound on Highway 7 and pulled over to the side when meeting another vehicle. The car went out of control and went into the north ditch.

Lindsay OPP Constable Elmer Liddkie investigated.

A deer was killed at 12:30 a.m. Monday on County Road 4 about two miles east of Little Britain when a car driven by Ronald Szego, 20, of 67 Victoria Avenue struck the animal which crossed the road in front of the car. The automobile sustained $75 damage.

Car turns over on highway 121

Two people were injured when a car driven by John Edward White, 22, formerly of Bancroft missed a curve and flipped over on Highway 121, five miles south of Haliburton at 10 p.m. Saturday. Haliburton OPP said there were six passengers in the vehicle.

Police said the driver and Frieda Switzer of Bancroft, a passenger, both sustained perforated ear drums. They were treated and released from the Haliburton Red Cross Hospital.

No estimate of damage was available.

Fire Destroys Canopy at Dominion Plant

Lindsay firemen were called to the Dominion Rubber plant, which is being constructed, after a propane heater, which is used to heat the cement while it sets, ignited a plastic canopy over the cement at 1:40 a.m. Monday. Lindsay Fire Chief Arnold Watson said the fire destroyed the canopy and parts of the forms for the footings. He could not say whether the cement was damaged and no estimate of the damage was available.

He said a fog screen was made while firemen removed the propane gas tank. The gas could not be turned off because the heat had damaged the valve.

Fire Chief Watson said firemen rescued a dog from the cold Scugog waters at 12:47 p.m. Sunday after the animal went through the ice at the end of George Street. Firemen reached the dog with a pike-pole when they couldn't get their boat close enough to grab it.

Car taken without owner's consent crashes into pole

A car owned by Clarke Trent of Oakwood received $1000 damage when someone took the car from the lot in which it was parked, without the owner's consent and crashed it through a hydro pole on Saturday evening.

Police said the vehicle evidently turned off Lindsay Street South onto Glenelg West at 6:40 p.m. Saturday and the car swerved crashing through the hydro pole on the south side of the street and then veered back across the road coming to rest against a large elm tree.

The matter is under investigation by Lindsay Police.

Rose Devell of 209 Lindsay Street South was the fortunate winner of $1000 in a Rotary Club Contest. this week.

MISSING GIRL FOUND AT MINDEN

OPP Provincial Police set up roadblocks near Fenelon Falls on Friday evening in an attempt to catch a girl who escaped from the Girls' Training School at Lindsay. The girl had been reported missing about 6 p.m.

The girl was seen entering a car which proceeded northward and was found by Minden OPP officers at about 7:20 p.m.

ON THE MAIN STREET

With a hearty Ho, Ho, Ho, Jolly Kris Kringle never had a busier time in Lindsay. He arrived officially in Lindsay with the Santa Claus parade sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and has been going at top speed ever since, appearing in all the churches and schools, and he is now making his way among the service Clubs.

The Lions Club entertained some fifty children at a lively but orderly party at the Lockview Dining Room. Mine host Charlie had the dining room nicely decorated and the youngsters were laden down with ice cream, cookies, and presents of all kinds. They were also happily entertained by two good picture films. Santa Claus arrived and he had a real busy time. .

The Boys and Girls Committee of the Kinwanis Club will entertain a number of boys and girls and their parents at Tuesday's meeting, when there will be a free lunch, toys, and a visit from St. Nick.

The Rotary Club will hold a Christmas Party at the Academy Theatre when a number of handicapped crippled children will be special guests. Rotarians, their wives and families, and visitors will view a picture and afterwards the children will be entertained to holiday goodies in the reception room upstairs. Santa Claus will be in attendance.

The Kinsmen Club entertained a large number of Children who attended the function with their Dads. The Kinettes also entertained at a Christmas party.

For years past, officers and members of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, as well as members of the Rebekah Society have enjoyed Christmas parties with their boys and girls. The annual event in the IOOF hall was held Thursday night and was a gala affair. An unusual twist took place when the children provided the programme. The brilliant Christmas tree was the centre of attraction for old and young.

Robert Everson of RR2 Oshawa, was fined $50 and costs in Lindsay Police Court Monday or 10 days after he pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident. Lindsay Police Constable Ralph Fountain said he investigated an accident on Lindsay Street South on November 28 at 3:20 p.m. and found that a parked car registered to John Bowins of 31 Glenelg Street West had been struck in the left rear corner but the car that struck it was not at the scene. Constable Fountain said the impact drove the Bowins car five feet and into the rear of another parked vehicle. He said the other car involved was found in a parking lot about 100 feet from the scene of the accident.

Constable Fountain said the accused came into the office five days later and admitted being the owner and driver of the vehicle. In a statement to police, the accused said he had been proceeding south on Lindsay Street, looking for a parking place. He said he began to pull into a spot and found he couldn't park there and when he was pulling out again

The largest one-piece shipment to be hauled over the Peterboro to Toronto tracks of the Canadian National Railway was photographed as it passed in the Lindsay yard for the addition of a second locomotive. The 27-foot long load required a flatcar 120 feet long to carry the 247-ton shipment. —"Post" staff photo.

$500 DAMAGE

Total damage of $500 resulted at 4:40' p.m. Sunday when two cars crashed head-on on the Trent Canal single-lane bridge at Bolsover. Fenelon Falls OPP said the drivers of the cars were George Hurren of Toronto and Donald Grant of Bolsover.

Fenelon Falls OPP Constable Charles Shepherd investigated.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

HYSICIAN: FATHER IMAGE ETS HIS SHARE OF ANGER

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Right w I'm so mad at my doctor ould wring his neck. Last ek I was so thankful to him ould have kissed him. Now w do you account for such elings? I consider myself ormal. Why should I love n one week and hate him a w days later? I'm ashamed myself. All he did to make e angry was keep me waiting few minutes for my appoint- ent. I know he was busy, or man, but I couldn't help tting mad. Mrs. L.

Commend. All physicianns tch it at one time or another. ometimes we deserve it; but ost of the time sudden anger mes on the wings of a whim fancied hurt. After a while e come to understand the mo- ation for such feelings. We st happen to sit up there in ll view like a father-image, viting the occasional hostil- y of family or friends.

The human being needs to t off steam at what better fi- re than his physician, the an who tells him, "Don't do is and don't do that," who akes promises he sometimes can't keep, who sometimes sends a bill which is harder to swallow than a pill, who doesn't relieve your pain or other dis- comforts as quickly as you'd like; who keeps you waiting for ours in his outer office? Yes, let's face it, he's also the guy whose magazines are way out of date.

PATIENT IN A HUFF

I recall one patient who walked out of the office in a huff one day because she had to wait about 15 minutes after scheduled appointment time. When she stalked out I was madder than she was. In 20 years of treating her, I don't think she lost a total of a half hour in the waiting room. She got over it and so did I. She brought in a box of cigars the next day and apologized for acting up.

That's how these misunder- standings should end. Too many patients allow a sudden feeling of animosity to actually break up a fine doctor-patient relationship. If you do that for no good reason, you will be the loser. It takes time, — years — to build a strong structure of faith and under- standing with your doctor. When you get on the medical merry-go-round looking for another you may not find one as good.

If there's a moral it's this: unless you have unquestion- ably good reason for being angry with your doctor, it's wis- er for the two of you to make up. You'll be the loser if you stay hostile indefinitely.

WITHOUT FAITH, CHANGE DOCTORS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I haven't got the faith in my doc- tor that I should have. I don't seem to trust him. I get the feeling that he sees me more often than he should. What should I do? Mrs. F.

Comment: Change. Without faith and trust, I don't see how any doctor will do you much good.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My doctor has recenely given up smoking. It's wonderful, for a change, to hear him say that smoking is bad, without at the same time blowing smoke in your face. . .

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

DON'T OVERLOOK A LAZY THYROID

Many persons think that thyroid trouble, either under- or over-active, is primarily an adult problem. Far from it. You have heard of cretinism. That is low thyroid activity at extremely young age. Most any doctor would suspect that, because the symptoms and signs are so typical.

But borderline hypothyroidism, especially in a teenager, can be overlooked. Unless the doctor is alert, he can be caught asleep at the switch in making his diagnosis. This is true for lazy thyroid at any age. It can be overlooked in the elderly, too. But let's just consider an interesting case history of a youngster.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: After reading the letter sent you by Mrs. F., and your answer, I was reminded of my own experience which was partly due to a "lazy thyroid".

When I was 11 years old I was overweight. My parents thought this was evidence of good health. But my hair was thin and I was always tired. At school the teachers thought I was lazy because I didn't like doing my lessons. The other children made fun of me because I was fat.

When I got to high school I started dieting. It was hard to lose so I cut down to 400 calories a day. This made me even more tired. My grades kept going down until I quit school.

I had been to several doctors but not one of them had even gone to the trouble to suggest a basal metabolism test. It wasn't until I had a physical exam while applying for employment that a doctor found the trouble. Now, since I've been taking thyroid extract, I eat three reasonable meals a day. Ive lost weight and I feel better than I've felt in all my life.–Mrs. S.

LIKES HAPPY ENDING

Comment: I like these happy endings. What his case underlines is the need for giving consideration to the thyroid whenever a patient complains of fatigue, thinning hair and dullness and lack of concentration. It doesn't always turn out to be the culprit. But it's better to take tests, than go from doctor to doctor taking medicine that doesn't help.

Dear Dr. Steincrhon: I have read that veterinarians, when a sick dog is brought to them, often put the animal on a two or three-day fast. When the dog's mistress calls for him, he is well and lively, and she is delighted and never knows why he has recovered. She has simply been overfeeding him. Why not the same treatment for human beings? We overeat more than dogs do–Mrs. G.

Comment: A day's fast rarely hurt anybody. I know some patients who attribute their good health to fasting every Sunday. I've tried it occasionally. But I find this often happens. After fasting all day ,I have all I can do to pile in a day's calories between sundonw and midnight. Better than complete fasting., I think is to be able to leave the table hungry, not keep nibbling between meals, and not making those late evening and midnight foragings to the kitchen.

SHAPING the EARTH

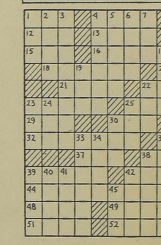

He was probably the first man to ROAST MEAT before eating it, as is apparent from traces of fireplaces found in areas where he lived. The MENU included rabbit, deer, bears and ostriches. Skulls of antelopes were used for drinking.

Peking man lived about 450,000 years ago. We had some primitive ideas, too. STONE TOOLS and a great assortment of BONE TOOLS. These were used to hunt and to prepare meals.

Because he realized that the brain is a vital part of human energy. Peking man believed that by eating the brains of fallen enemies, he would inherit that man's strength and vigor. He was therefore, A CANNIBAL – more specifically, A HEAD HUNTER.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

A FRUSTRATED WIFE GIVES SOME ADVICE

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am a nervous wreck. I need advice more than I need tranquilizers. I don't sleep. I don't eat. All because my husband has come to treat me as if I don't exist.

What shall I do? I know you're not a columnist for the lovelorn, but I don't think you'll be poaching on their private property. Doctor's live with these problems in their patients every day.—Mrs. H.

Comment: The other day a "lovelorn" columnist wrote, in answer to one of her reader's problems: "Headache? Why don't you take an aspirin and forget it?" In reprisal (but it isn't really that) I'm taking on your marriage problem today. But even so, not directly. I am reprinting a letter from one similarly troubled, who believes she has found the formula of proper behaviour:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: In a recent column, a letter you received from a Mrs. X. caught my attention because it is like my own case in many respects. Although we can never rule out physical disturbances, it is my opinion that this type of problem deals chiefly with temperment.

My husband, before we were married, was accustomed to having his own way all the time and his bad habits, mostly uncontrolled temper, were actually encouraged rather than discouraged. Although his character and morals are good, he is, nevertheless, physiologically unfit for the partnership of happy marriage.

Like Mrs. X, I, too, have spent many unhappy, frustrated and tearful years with my husband, trying almost daily to teach him patience, consideration and some understanding. But talking to him, fighting back, only left me physically ill and mentally depressed.

RETREATS TO WORLD OF OWN

Finally, I gave up and retreated into a world of my own; a sort of world within a world. I ceased to confide in him, kept my problems to myself and stopped showing any interest is his. I sought my pleasure without him. In church activities we are of the same faith so this was not a problem).

I am happy to report that the results are slowly gaining some satisfaction for me. It seems that my complete indifference and show of independence is making him a little more congenial.

Perhaps, Mrs. X., like myself, is taking her husband too seriously. Perhaps we both wanted a kind and understanding companion who could be depended on when needed. But our type of man is one who has to lean on others and dreads even a hint of being leaned upon in return. To the extent that he retreats behind a bad temper and irritable disposition to hide his abnormalings. And the more we look to him as a helpmate and companion, the more irritable and ornery he gets. We all have our faults, but patient and tolerance is needed by two people and not just one.

My advice to Mrs. X., therefore, is to put on a show of indifference and independence, no matter how it hurts. After a while she will get used to it and although the results will not be exactly what she wants, they will at least ease her physical and mental strain. Otherwise, for the sake of her child, as well as for herself, she should leave him even if only temporarily to see the results.—Mrs. A.

Palestine Farm Forum members met at the home of Messrs. Donald and Archie MacMillan for their final meeting of the new year of 1965 when Mr. Clare Curtin was the guest speaker following a radio broadcast dealing with the Marketing Board.

A number attended the presentation for Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Webster (nee Patricia Cruess) held in Hartley Community Hall despite the cold stormy evening. Stephen Kaye read the address of good wishes to Patricia and Grenville for a happy married life and Billy Hoyle made the presentation of a gift of money to buy an article of their choice for which both voiced their thanks. Howard Nesbitt was master of ceremonies for the occasion where a happy time was spent by all present.

Friends were glad to learn that Harry Christian was able to return home after treatment in the Ross Memorial Hospital the result of an accident he sustained to his ankle a couple of months ago but now able to recuperate at his own home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Nicholson, son Aubrey of Scarborough, were guests at the home of parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nicholson and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Webster of Lindsay and were happy to be present for the presentation of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Webster at Hartley Community Hall on the weekend.

Mr. George Bain and brother Don of Lindsay were visitors at the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Grantin McKay and mother, Mrs. Angus McKay (where George made his home for several years) and friends are happy to hear he is so much improved following surgery on his foot.

It was with regret it was learned of the sudden passing of the late Norman Mayers at his home in Toronto. Mr. Mayers made his home in the Glenarm community and sympathy is extended to his wife and family who mostly all reside in Toronto.

Members of the family in the community of the Webster family called at the home of their father, Mr. John Webster now residing in Lindsay to wish him continued good health for a recent birthday on the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Nesbitt and family visited friends Mr. and Mrs. Vern Harrison of Peterboro and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Henry of Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Copp, accompanied by her father, Mr. Patton were supper guests of sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bairstow of Orono the occasion being a birthday dinner for Mr. Patton's 85th birthday and wish of continued good health.

Lochlin

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dart and family, of Oshawa, spent the week-end with relatives here.

Mrs. Ralph Young was badly shaken up when her car skidded on the icy highway and rolled over near Minden. When she was on her way to work at the telephone office in Minden on Thursday morning. Fortunately there were no broken bones or lacerations.

The many friends of Mr. Raymon Congdon will be very pleased to know that he returned home from the Western Hospital Toronto on Sunday after undergoing surgery on his legs and all hope he will have much improved health in the future.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

By Anne Ashley

Q. What can I do about the tailpipe on my car, which annoyingly scrapes every time I enter or leave a steep driveway?

A. There's a way of cutting this tailpipe without shortening it. Hacksaw a piece from the bottom of the pipe on the bias, or at a long angle — and this will give you more road clearance, and yet the overhang will keep your bumper free of exhaust stains.

Q. How can I whiten discolored handkerchiefs?

A. By immersing them in cold water to which you've added a pinch of cream of tartar.

J. How can I prepare a "different" kind of green beans?

A. Try adding sauteed mushrooms or shaved blanched almonds to them just before serving.

Patrick Perdue

WHIPLASH INJURIES A HIGHWAY HAZARD

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Where can I get some information about whiplash injury? I have been getting severe headaches since my head snapped back in a rear-end collision of my car. Is that one of the symptoms?—Mr. T.

Comment: In the horse-and-buggy days a common, complaint used to be sacroiliac strain. When railway passenger cars did a thriving business, common back complaints after accidents were called railway spine. Now, at the other end of the spine, due to sudden acceleration and deceleration in some auto accidents, we have the modern whip lash injury.

This is a long way around to answering your query, Mr. T., but I thought you'd be interested. It is true that pain and stiffness in the neck may come on within hours after the accident. It may spread down across the shoulders. Headache may occur in the front of the head as well as in back. There may be exquisite tenderness in the neck muscles and extreme pain in turning the head. These are only a few of the symptoms.

How much the patient suffers depends upon the actual underlying damage: whether there are fractures or other injuries. In many patients, much of the suffering is due to a post-traumatic neurosis. So you can see that treatment will depend upon what the doctor discovers as the cause of the symptoms.

In some cases simple traction will relieve the patient; in others, bed rest, heat applications, massage, ultrasonic therapy, medicine for pain, tranquilizers for nerves, neck braces, or operation.

PAINFUL INJURY

In most cases it requires several weeks or months for recovery, depending upon the severity of the injury. I am not being facetious when I say that the discomfort in some patients has ceased as soon as litigation is over. It's true a few exaggerate their pain for settlement purposes, but any physician (or patient) will tell you that the true whiplash injury can be very painful.

Now, at last, for the specific information you wish, Mr. T. I suggest you get it from your own doctor. Do not try to diagnose or treat yourself.

For more information I refer you to a recent book called "Traumatic Cervical Syndrome and Whiplash". I recommend it as being concisely and understandably written, yet comprehensible by the layman. It was authored by Charles W. Goff, M.D., John O. Alden, M.D., and John H. Aldes, M.D., and published by J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia.

I think you will be interested in this explanation of anxiety by Ralph W. Gerard M.D. made in the Bulletin, New York Academy of Medicine: "Anxiety is particularly associated with unfinished business; with events to come even more than events from the past. Anxiety is common when an important decision is to be made; when waiting for a particularly important message, as a phone call or letter. Time then becomes interminable, the stress gets worse and worse as delay extends, and a predisposed person can go into a true anxiety panic. Really nothing whatever is happening, there is just maintained uncertainty".

FAMILY SMOKES, MOTHER SUFFERS

Woe to the nonsmoker who is allergic to tobacco smoke. If he is caught in a public place where the smoke is thick enough to obscure furniture and people, all he can do is bear it like a martyr or do what is much wiser—jump up and dash out of there.

It's even worse for the woman who is misunderstood by a family of smokers. Soon they have her catalogued as a prissy-mouthed tobacco hater. They can't believe that just a little tobacco smoke can make any human being so uncomfortable. "It's ridiculous", they say. And soon she is consigned to that large heap of unhappy sufferers called selfish naggers.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Several members of my family are heavy smokers. It seems they smoke constantly, in the house and in the car.

When I am exposed to heavy concentrations of smoke, my eyes burn, itch, tear and become badly inflamed. Even swollen. My doctor says I am unquestionably allergic to tobacco.

But my family says this is ridiculous. That I should look for another cause and another doctor. What is your opinion, Dr. Steincrohn? Where shall I go? Where can I run?—Mrs. L.

Comment: Get some copies made of this column. Then distribute them to the members of your family. I hope they will read what I say here.

I call them selfish, unimaginative, unfeeling brutes—all the way down from grandparents to grandchildren, if they are the ones who keep on smoking. If your husband or grown children are the guilty ones, they deserve to be shut out from home. (Change the door locks.)

Then they can congregate under the stars and hold consultation. Perhaps they will realize they've been acting like a bunch of chumps. That you have been until now, a patient, long-suffering saint.

REACTION VERY UNCOMFORTABLE

For it is true, dear family, that mother hasn't been just imagining things. Some of the most uncomfortable human beings I've ever seen have been those who react like your mother does to tobacco. It isn't her fault, anymore than it is the fault of one who is allergice to a wasp sting to swell up and fight for air and life.

Have I made it too strong? Not at all. Please believe me when I say your mother needs your help and cooperation rather than be made to suffer unaided and misunderstood. When she's around, hold off on that urge to smoke, especially during the winter, when the house and car windows are closed.

Where can you run, Mrs. L.? Nowhere, just nowhere. From now on let your family do the running. If I haven't convinced them today, it's all my fault. But if they keep on filling the house and car with smoke tomorrow and day after they have only themselves to blame. If they become a normal, understanding family, by being set straight, I think you can look forward to a more comfortable home in the future.

CONSCIENCE MONEY?

Denver (UPI) — An unidentified ex-airman sent a $100 bill to the air reserve records centre here.

"I think I owe the air force some money," the unsigned covering letter said without elaboration.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: This is in answer to Mrs. H. who really aroused my ire. Nobody likes to be called a lazy, fat slob. I am overweight but I am not lazy.

Mr. parents were slim, so were my six sisters and brothers. But I turned out short and round. (Just a freak.) I have battled with the weight problem for years. I just wonder if Mrs. H. realizes the will power it takes to go on a strict diet? I wonder if she has ever wanted pie and ice cream so badly that if she did eat it, her conscience would keep her awake. I cut grass, do lots of church work and take care of my 83-year-old mother. So Mrs. H., all overweight persons aren't lazy, fat slobs. Besides we make nice neighbours.—Mrs. C.

Comment: I'm on your side, Mrs. C.

UNUSUAL CURE FOR BURSITIS

Bursitis can be a very devil. Those who have suffered its stings and aches will agree. Not only a devil, but a stubborn devil. Some cases last only a few weeks, but many latch on for months and years. Some treatments work on some but are just like so much water on others. In the end, each hopes to find his personal answer to the painful problem. Sometimes relief comes from unexpected quarters:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I write this letter so others, unable to find relief for their bursitis, may discover some help.

For over 10 years I suffered from the horror of bursitis. It was with me all the time. There was never a moment I was not aware of it.

The nights were worse than the days. I sought after every treatment: diathermy, great variety of medications, shots, exercising (this gave me back the use of my arm and shoulder). I saw and was treated by at least a half dozen doctors. No advised surgery but all the others were opposed. During one attack, I had violent pains for seven days and nights with no let-up. No medication or treatment, not even the heat of the electric pad gave any relief.

My wife, one day, decided to put our electric blanket in a quilt cover. A friend told her this will keep the blanket from getting dirty. There was no connection between her action and my bursitis.

I awakened in the morning with no pain, absolutely none. I couldn't understand it. In fact, I said nothing about it to my wife. The following morning, the same thing. It went on for several mornings.

On about the fifth morning, my wife told me she hadn't slept all night. She was horribly cold and she had kept turning up the control on her side of our blanket but there just wasn't any warmth to it. She told me that she noticed I had been sleeping without pyjama tops.

MYSTERY UNRAVELS

Now the mystery began to unravel. I was so warm that I slept during my side of the blanket down. I used to sleep with my control at from 2 to 3. She kept her side at from 6 to 9. As she kept getting colder as she was turning her side up. But she was actually turning my side up, not knowing she turned the blanket over when she put it in that quilt top. As she pushed more heat up on my side I started to sweat, and was turning her side down with the control on my side, not knowing this, of course.

It is now over five months since that strange experience. I have had to learn to sleep with the heat at from 6 to 9. I don't wear pyjama tops any more and this makes standing more and this makes standing the same relief. My doctor says its a fluke. Who cares what it is so long as it took the horror away. Of course, I am at a loss to answer why the electric heating pad I used originally did no good.—Mrs. S.

Comment: As you say, Mr. S., it was no fluke for you. And that's what really counts. Do I advise it? Why not, if other measures have failed. I just tell folks not to hold out too much hope so they won't be disappointed if it doesn't work for them.

DRIVE CAREFULLY — DON'T DRINK POLICE CHIEF WARNS MOTORISTS

Have a happy and safe Christmas, Lindsay Police Chief John Hunter said in a Christmas warning to motorists. "Use that little bit of extra caution and attention so you will arrive safely at your destination", the chief said. Chief Hunter added, "Even if your journey is a short one, bear in mind that in most accidents the driver involved is not more than 25 miles from home; often he is within a block or two of his residence.

Chief Hunter said weather and road conditions this time of the year are usually hazardous. Extensive study has revealed that when travelling over 50 miles per hour on wet pavement an automobile is not riding on the roadway but on a wave of water, and breaking ability is therefore almost negligible until the car gradually decreases its speed to under 50. Then tire will again touch the pavement, he said.

Even with all the warnings and knowledge of the awful tragedies that occur on streets and highways, people persist in driving after drinking. "Bear this in mind over the holiday season and drive with sufficient care to minimize the dangers these drivers may cause", urged Chief Hunter, who warned, "If you are a person who intends to celebrate with the use of alcoholic beverages, make arrangements for a non-drinker to act as driver or use some other means of transportation. Think of this first, not after some tragedy has happened or when sorrow and disgrace has been brought down upon the whole family".

The Chief concluded by wishing residents a happy and safe holiday.

Tools, $150 cash taken in break-in

Lindsay Police are investigating a break-in at the Lindsay Shirt and Pyjama Company Wednesday night in which about $150 in cash and tools was taken. Lindsay Police Chief John Hunter said the theft was discovered about 4 a.m. Thursday morning.

The matter is still under investigation.

HIT AND RUN!

Melun. Erance (UPI) — Police here are searching for a novel hit-and-run accident suspect — a pedestrian. He ran away after colliding with a motorcyclist, who fell off his cycle and was admitted to hospital for treatment.

He represented Vancouver South as Federal MP for two terms and then turned to city politics. He has been an outstanding member of the Board of Education, Harbour Commission and the City council.

His father, the late Frederick A. Broom was a member of the Lindsay council for many years and he is a brother of Mrs. Thomas Story of Lindsay and also Roy Broom of Frost Insurance Agencies, Limited.

Christmas on the farm in days gone by . . .

Ford Moynes recalls the happy days of Christmas experienced on a farm several decades ago, when the snow lay deep on the roadways and cutters bounced through the snow drifts . . .

There were three boys in the family and one of the greatest thrills was the train trip from Lindsay to Victoria Road several decades ago. It was Christmas time in the days when snow fell to a depth of several feet and when the mercury sank down to zero on a thermometer which hung at the back kitchen door. Great preparations had been going on in the terrace home for weeks by a kind thoughtful hardworking mother. There was no father in the home. Finally the old suit case and a number of strong bags were placed in the hall to await the coming of the cat man. The trip south on William Street to the Grand Trunk depot was exciting as the cutter bounced up and down in the deep snow drifts. The train was wheezing at the depot, tall puffs of smoke shooting up from the old smoke stack on the old iron steam locomotive. It was dark and the station platform was lighted by one flickering lantern.

Finally the burly conductor cried "All aboard" and we three boys had to be helped up the high steps of the coach. It was dark inside the old coach with a ray of light shone through the stove of the pot belly stove and there we huddled until the brakesman entered. He lit a long taper which he held up to a lamp in the ceiling of the coach. Soon we were on our way and it was like fairyland to look out of the frosted windows where we had scratched away the frost with a thumb-nail — to see the lights shining out of the many homes in the town. Soon the train was snorting and puffing its way out in the country and the cold air seemed to creep in the windows and doors of the old swaying coach. Mother tucked our coats around our bodies and we slid down on the seat close to one another for warmth.

It seemed like an endless journey but it was also exciting. Once in awhile we could see a light in a frame home and occasionally a farm hand swinging a lantern as he apparently was walking to the barn. The snow glistened with frozen whiteness and in the night grew on us we could see thousands of brilliant stars and the old dipper in the sky.

Finally the engine whistle sounded clear and strong and the train slowed down to a halt amidst screeching brakes and the hissing of much steam from the engine. Peering into the darkness we saw the old station at Victoria Road and after gathering up all our parcels we hurried down the aisle and into the open where we had to jump into someone's arms, as the coach steps seemed to be many feet from the platform.

With joy and greetings we met Uncle Henry. He hugged us all. He looked so big like a big bear in his bulky coon skin coat and fur mitts.

We were hustled into a box sleigh filled with straw and we sat down on the floor where we discovered warm bricks wrapped in paper. It was fun being tucked in with large buffalo robes and a horse blanket. Then with a cheery "get up" to the horses we were whisked out to the station yard, down a short street lined with small stores and away out into the country. It was a beautiful night, clear, cold and crisp. It was fun to have the odd ball of snow from the horses' hoof fall in our lap and what a merry time the sleighbells played. Soon the horses were steaming but they seemed to enjoy the sleigh drive as much as we did.

The excitement was too much and the three of us fell into a heavenly sleep to be awakened as the sleigh halted at the farm house door. What a welcome from little, old and kind Grandmother and others in the household. The big kitchen, spotlessly clean was a welcome haven. Soon we were out of heavy coats, mufflers, ear laps and mittens and we snuggled around the big stove. The oven doors were opened and we toasted our toes and soon were thoroughly warm. Hot milk and bread was almost ravenously consumed and we were then hustled off to bed. It seemed like we'd never get to sleep as we nestled down into a deep feather tick and were piled with warm blankets. It was a night of nights now that we dream of the train journey, the long ride in the open sleigh and the warmth of the old fashioned kitchen.

Christmas eve on the farm! It was another night long to be remembered as we hung up our long stockings around the chimney place. Santa Claus was to arrive. Bouncing out of bed bright and early it was fun to be with the older folks and I remember how they laughed and chatted as we dug down into those long stockings. There was a lovely red and white peppermint candy cane and a candy sailog a small mouthorgan and Jew's harp, nuts of all kinds, a toy horn, an apple and at the very bottom the toe of the stocking bulged with a large orange. Then we were handded other gifts like a pair of mittens, a knitted toque, story and picture books and a home made apron.

Then it was time for breakfast with Uncle Henry at the head of the table. Always he asked Grace, a lovely meaningful Grace uttered with great reverence, that I never will forget.

It was Sunday morning and the entire household cleaned up in their best Sunday-go-meeting clothes. It was the custom for the entire household to go to Church. Again we piled into the sleigh box and drove to the little red school house at Long Point. Neighbours welcomed each other, chatted about the weather and hoped the Minister would arrive in time, as the snow drifts were high and it was a long way from the parsonage at Victoria Road. Everybody got as close as possible to the old box

Positive Thinking

So much has been said and written about positive thinking that to most of us the term has lost any useful meaning. There are those who honestly believe that to express opposition to anything is to be guilty of a lack of positive thinking. This, of course, is utter nonsense.

The situation has become so bad that when a motion is placed before a Committee or a group, members are afraid to vote against the resolution for fear of being characterized as negative thinkers. Are people confusin the word affirmative? Are we all beginning to believe that it is proper for us to be yes men? Has the function of public relations become so confused in the public mind with sweeping dirt under the carpet that we are becoming afraid to take a firm opposition stand?

Legislation is frequently introduced in the expectation that it will be accepted as a great boon and benefit to the voting public. The fact that such legislation is said to be advantageous does not make it so and those with knowledge and experience have not only a right but a responsibility to voice opposition. Frequently an alternative proposal can be substituted but even if this is not possible, opposition to a bad plan or program or procedure should be expressed.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce opposes the Canada Pension Plan as presently exposed because it believes that Government-operated public plans should be restricted to flat rate benefits such as provided for on a fully universal basis under the Federal Old Age Security legislation. This is positive thinking despite the fact that it expresses opposition. There is here no thoughtless opposition to the concept of pensions legislation but an honest and sincere desire to see that the best possible pension plan is provided for all Canadians.

Dies Curling

While curling last night at Cannington, C. C. McFadden of that place suddenly toppled over dead from heart failure. The said news was received by Lindsay friends this morning. Mr. McFadden was enjoying one of the first games of the season, and was taking part heartily in the game, and apparently in the best of health when, it may have been too much strain suddenly before he was in condition, heart failure took him off.

The late Mr. McFadden was a man of about 50 years of age.

In Time

A large shipment of Canadian turkeys arrived in time for the Christmas trade, replacing the usual supplies from Hungary and Galacia. All the Canadian birds offered at Leadenhall Market were sold immediately. Londoners regret that there were not more but the major portion of the consignment was bought at the ship's side in Liverpool for consumption in the large manufacturing centres of the midlands.

It will be of interest to our citizens to learn that the shipment referred to was from Flavelles Limited, Lindsay.

Drops bomb

The official bureau announces an aeroplane of the enemy dropped a bomb this morning while passing over Dover, which fell into a garden and exploded, doing no damage.

Belgians cross Yser

Despatches from the Belgian frontier report the Belgians crossed the Yser yesterday near St. George in the face of a murderous fire and have established themselves firmly.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Travel . . . on a cushion of air

Buffalo, N. Y., (UPI)—It's debatable whether an air cushioned vehicle (ACV) is flown or driven.

The craft skims in mid air about six inches above any surface—water, ground or the weediest terrain.

Bell Aerosystems Co., a leading ACV developer in the United States, calls it the transportation vehicle of the future.

The craft makes skidding, twisting movements through the air. In a test over a field near the Bell plant here, former navy jet pilot Allen "Blackie" Gilmore called it "like riding a car on ice."

"It's a completely different evironment than a plane—a new sensation — On the other hand, you can't put on the brakes and stop it, because you're in the air." Gilmore, manager of flight operations for Bell, retired from the navy in 1963 as a commander after 21 years of service.

The Bell ACVS are steered by rudders rising on the after deck. A continuous rubber skirt along the bottom helps to retain air underneath the craft and allows it to go higher. The skirt completes an "air duct," essential for lift.

To make a 90-degree turn, the smallest Bell Craft, Carabao, travelling at cruising speed, must start its maneuver about 100 feet away. He has to stop quickly the operator can turn off the lift fan and thereby drop the air cushion.

Although the ACVS are equipped with airplane engines and controls, Bell says none are hard to operate. Gilmore said anyone who can be taught to drive a car can operate the Carabao.

The Carabao is as rugged and hefty as the water buffalo for which it is named. Almost 19 feet long and 10 feet high, it has three air outlets equally spaced around its centre fan too provide the lift. It reaches speeds of 60 miles an hour carrying a driver and about 1,000 pounds of cargo, yet can clear a 16-inch wall or a tree foot hedge or a 10-foot-wide ditch.

The 65-foot long Hydroskimmer is the largest and most powerful ACV built in the United States. Four fans —each 6½ feet in diameter—provide lift while two 10-foot propellers drive it forward. The fans and propellers are powered by four marine gas turbine engines of 1,100 horsepower each .

Bell built the craft for the U.S. Navy Bureau of Ships to test its feasibility in anti-submarine warfare, rescue operations, and marine amphibious assault landings.

Over smooth terrain, the craft can be operated close to the surface; in rough going speed can be reduced for greater lift. The craft skims over muddy marshes, across bogs and through tall grass with as much ease as over water. It operates forward or sideways. The rider barely notices the transition from different types of terrain.

—0—

Between the Hydroskimmer and Carabao is the SR.N5, a seven-ton craft that carries 20 passengers or two tons of Cargo. This British craft is the first ACV to be put in quantity production and currently is being used in England as a passenger ferry.

The SR.N5, which reaches up to 80 MPH, was developed by the Westland Co. in England, but Bell, with exclusive licensing rights in the United States, is promoting it.

The ACVS could fill the existing transportation gap between boats and helicopters. Though not officially classified as boats or aircrafts, they come under the jurisdiction of the Coast Guard.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I repair a hole broken in a trunk panel?

A. Cut a sheet-steel patch large enough for rivets to go into the sound material around the break. Smooth the edges of this steel patch, or bend them slightly in and put the patch on the outside of the trunk panel. House paint or thick varnish between the panel and the patch will add greater strength to the joint and make it water-resistant.

Q. How can I insure my cooked cauliflower arriving at the table looking whiter?

A. By adding a piece of lemon during its cooking process. And cook the cauliflower only until tender. Overcooking tends to discolor it.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK
By Roberta Lee
Pattern Order

Home dressmakers often get confused when pieces of the pattern become scattered, and it is difficult to tell where they belong. This can be avoided if you write the name and number on each piece when opening the pattern. Another cause of confusion arises in working with material the right side of which is difficult to distinguish from the wrong side. Avoid this by marking the wrong side of each piece with chalk as it is cut.

Bolder Typing

A hint for you typists! Words can be emphasized in typing merely by slipping a strip of plain paper in front of your ribbon, holding it there with one hand, and then typing the desired word or line with the other hand.

Ink On Fingers

Ink stains on the fingers can be removed easily if you'll dip an old toothbrush or nailbrush into vinegar and then into salt, and scrub away the stains until they vanish.

OLD ENGLISH MINCE TARTS

Old English Mince Tarts are based on a traditional recipe for a practically fool-proof, rich and tender pastry. These spicy little "pies" are served often in British homes at Christmas in support of the belief that each one eaten in a different home will bring the consumer a month of happiness in the new year.

Makes Approx. 3 dozen tarts

4½ cups once-sifted all-purpose flour or 5½ cups once-sifted pastry flour; 4 teaspoons baking powder; 2 teaspoons salt; 2 cups shortening; 1 cup hot water; 4 teaspoons lemon juice; 1 egg, well beaten; 2 15-ounce tins (aprox. 3½ cups) prepared mincemeat.

Combine flour, baking powder and salt in large mixing bowl. With pastry blender, cut in 1¼ cups of the shortening until it resembles cornmeal. Completely dissolve the remaining ⅔ cup shortening in the hot water. Add lemon juice and beaten egg to the dissolved shortening. Mix these liquids into the flour mixture until the dough leaves the sides of the bowl.

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead about one minute until all flour is blended in. Divide dough into 4 equal portions. Wrap in waxed paper and chill about one hour or overnight if desired.

Preheat oven to 400 deg. F. (hot). Roll out dough on lightly floured board, one portion at a time, to 1/16 inch thickness.

Cut out half the dough into circles about 5 inches in diameter; use to line muffin cups (approx. 2¼-inch top inside measure). From remaining half of dough cut out small circles about 2½ inches across. With a sharp pointed knife, slit the small circles in star pattern. Fill dough lined muffin cups ¾ full of mince meat, about 1½ tablespoons. Top with small circles, crimp edges and mark edges with tines of fork. Repeat with remaining refrigerated dough.

Bake in preheated oven about 20 to 25 minutes or until lightly browned

The baked tarts take readily to freezing for several weeks. Store them in the freezer in tightly covered tins or wrapped tightly in foil. If you want to serve them hot, wrap them in foil and heat in a preheated slow oven (300 deg. F.) for about fifteen minutes.

In Memoriam

MASTION — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Jas. Mastion, who passed away December 26, 1959

We lost a mother with a heart of gold
Who was more to us than wealth untold.
Without farewell she fell asleep,
With only memories for us to keep.
We love lost but God has gained
One of the best mothers the world contained;
Her heart was the truest in the world,
Her love the best to recall,
For none on earth can take her place,
She is still the dearest mother of all.
If she could have spoken before she died,
These are the words she would have replied:
This life for me is truly past
I've loved you to the very last.
Weep not for me but courage take,
And love each other for my sake.
Too dearly loved and sadly missed to ever be forgotten, by Marion and Ollie.

(870)

SCRIVER — In loving memory of our dear son and brother Cecil Earl Scriver, who passed away Dec. 26th, 1955.
Softly the leaves of memory fall
Gently we gather and treasure them all,
Unseen, unheard they are always near,
Still loved, still missed and very dear.
To have, to hold and then to part,
Is the greatest sorow of our heart.
Lovingly remembered by
Mom, Dad, sisters and brothers

LOHMAYER — I wish to thank all my Canadian friends for flowers and congratulations I received on winning new Rambler. We wish you all a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Ida and Karl Lohmayer. (861)

Boy gets wolf for Christmas!

Among unusual Christmas presents for a boy of 16, you'll have to include a brush wolf sometimes known as a coyote.

Gerald Carruther, son of a farmer near Barwick, likes trapping, among other hobies. He set his traps in the northwestern Ontario forest near his home, hoping tocatch a mink and sell the pelt for some extra Christmas cash, as boys will.

Instead of mink for Christmas, he found a brush wolf in his trap.

But wait! The young trapper was luckier than you might think!

Mink brought an average of $11.73 per pelt at last season's North Bay wild fur auctions where 10,720 pelts sold for $125,745.60.

The bouty payable on a wolf at the District office of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests here is $25.00!

Happy Christmas, young trapper!

$400 DAMAGE

Damage estimated at $400 resulted when a car driven by Leslie McCracken, 18, of RR1 Minden went out of control and crashed into a tree near Minden at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Minden OPP said Mr. McCraken applied his brakes when about to make a left turn on the Horseshoe Lake Road and his vehicle slid into a tree.

Police said no injuries resulted and no charges would be laid.

Christmas

stove which was crammed with long sticks of hardwood. One of the pipes leaked a puff or two of smoke and the pipes nearest the stove were just about red hot.

The Minister's horse and cutter could be heard coming down the road and soon his hearty and loud "Whoa" would be heard. He was assisted out of his Buffalo robes and his horse taken to the shed.

The minister was a kindly, middle-aged man with a moustache and he had a welcome for everyone as he made the rounds shaking hands and calling people by their first names. His eyes twinkled as he called "Merry Christmas" to the children and he took special time to welcome three boys from Lindsay.

It was a good service and the old hymns were sung with gusto, and the Minister preached a timely sermon about the three wise men and the birth of the child Jesus.

City and town folk who have never had the experience of spending a Sunday night on the farm many years ago, missed a thrilling experience. Neighbours gathered in the big old fashioned front room Mother, who played the organ well, and was once the organist in the Woodville Methodist Church, took her place on the little organ platforms at each end of the keyboard, and the organ which had beautiful tones, was equipped with foot pedals and side knee pedals which added greatly to the volume when they were pumped. It was a masterful effort to play one of these organs and to play well.

What an angelic choir. Everybody loved to sing, father, mother, sister, brothers and the hired man and neighbours. Some sang deep bass and others tackled the high tenor, while the women handled the soprano and the alto. They loved singing and the hymns were beautiful. This continued for a couple of hours and the break up seemed to come too soon for many. Then came lunch — just a little bit of something of everything.

These days have long been forgotten. What a comparison to the days of today, to the shame of modern church going, and Sunday night fellowship of today. It was a religious duty to go to church and to be neighbourly and to observe the Sabbath as The Lord's Day.

It was fun on the farm in the wintertime. It was fun to sleigh ride, fun to roll up huge snow balls two and three feet high, fun to build a castle of snow, and to wander down to the earth-floored cellar and enjoy all kinds of apples, russets, McIntosh Reds, Talman sweets, red Astruchans, snows, and spies. It was fun to have a warm bowl of bread and milk every night before going to bed, fun going to the barn at nights to watch the men bed down the animals, fun to watch the family playing games such as parchesi, crokinole, lost heir, tiddle-le-winks and other games.

Then came the morning to leave the farm for home. The train left early in the morning, and once again, we three boys were tucked on the bottom of the straw laden sleigh with warm bricks at our feet. It was pitch dark, cold, and frosty. The horses were keen to get going and the steam rose from their perspiring bodies, sleigh bells rang and it was exciting digging in and out of the pitch-holes. We were on time, the old engine and coach, the same conductor were waiting. Reluctantly we said good-bye to Uncle Henry, as we knew we would not see him for several months. Mother cried as she bid her older brothers goodbye and we were soon on our way back to Lindsay. It was a wonderful never-to-be-forgotten experience, an experience the town and city boys and girls of the country never have in this day and age.

Lindsay Police Chief John Hunter offers a three-decker ice cream to a 7-year-old Lindsay boy who was the recipient of new winter clothes from head to toe provided by the Kinette Club of Lindsay. Other years the Kinettes have provided Christmas baskets during the festive season but this time the Club members decided to outfit a boy for Christmas and asked the police chief to choose the lucky lad. "This is one of the many fine things the Kinette Club members do", said the chief, "they give generously of their time to assist people in need at Christmas and other times and much of their good work is unknown to the citizens of the town."

THE SNOW

The Snow! The pure white, frozen snow,
Descends from the clouds afar;
It dims the golden sunlight and—
Obscures the evening star.

Snow falls in shapes, so soft and light,
It covers all the ground;
It piles upon the window ledge,
And on the eaves around.

Snow rests upon the chimney tops,
Too, on the cedar boughs;
It covers up the clover fields—
And makes the rabbits browse.

Snow fills the highways, edge to edge,
The lanes and by-ways too;
Until the snow-plows force their way—
To let the traffic through.

Snow offers play-ground to the sport —
On snow-shoe, ski or sled;
Serves as a blanket, for fall wheat,
Tucked in its wintery bed.

When Winter's all but o'er, snow yields,
To sun rays, wind and rain;
It fills to brim, the brooks and rills —
And gushes to the main.

Thank goodness for the seasons four,
So let us not complain;
The years will come—and go again,
Snow, sunshine, dew and rain.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

New York (UPI) — String along with these illuminating tips and save your nerves at tree trimming time.

When you decorate the Yule tree, there's no need to get yourself hopelessly entangled in the strings, step on ornaments and otherwise turn the joyful experience into a horrible one.

The electrical strings of lights come in varying lengths and contain from seven to 25 bulbs. Beforehand, figure how many you'll need.

To avoid a skimpy look, use this guide: 80 bulbs for a six-foot tree; 56 for a five-foot one 36 for a four-foot one; and 24 for a little three-footer.

If your house is big enough to take a king-size tree, it's recommended that 110 lights go on a seven-foot one; 144 on an eight-foot one; and 225-for plenty of sparkle-on a 10-foot one.

Straighten out the strings of lights along the floor and remove all kinks before you start to trim the tree. Make certain that all bulbs are okay and that none of the cords are frayed or sockets damaged.

Then disconnect the strings if you plan to have a multi-coloured tree arrange the colours alternately. The contemporary look, however, involves use of bulbs of just one colour.

Other tree-trimming tips (from the residential lighting department of Westinghouse):

—String your lights on the tree starting at the top and working down. Place the lights on the inside boughs and work from the trunk outward to the tips of the branches.

—After each string is in place light it and stand off to check your work before proceeding with the next string. For tall trees, strings may be hung straight down from top to bottom on the outside branches, giving vertical lines of light.

—After the strings are all in position, disconnect them before beginning to hang your ornaments, again working from the top down.

These rules apply to outdoor trees, as well, if you want the decorations to have symmetry and charm.

For a dramatic effect, highlight the tree with white or coloured spot or flood lights.

For a colourful effect, use a 75 to 150 watt clear flood light behind a revolving colour-wheel to project changing tinted light patterns on tree, doorway, window, or house.

The revolving colour-wheels for flood bulbs are made for indoor and outdoor use.

Those for outdoor use come with a spike to put in the ground and are about 30 in. high to keep the colour-wheels out of the snow-expected by all wishing for a "White Christmas".

Merchants gain first place tie for Christmas, beat Aces 10-1

Lindsay Merchants stuffed a first place hockey team in Gus Bodnar's stocking last night when they defeated the Little Britain Aces 10-1 at Cannington. Well . . . a share of first place at least as the Merchants and Bobcaygeon TiCats each have 26 points in the league race. The Ti-Cats play again Saturday, Wednesday and a week from Saturday while the Merchants have just one game before they meet Bobcaygeon on January 6th.

In contrast to the Tuesday game with the Twins, last night's game saw only six penalties called by referee Joe Sadler, four in the second period and two in the third, four to Lindsay and two to Little Britain.

The Merchants ran in four goals in each of the first two periods and two in the third, while Randy Reid's loss of a shut-out was self inflicted when his attempt to deflect a slow off-the- net slider to the corner was deflected into the net at 14:33 of the third period.

George Babcock, after scoring five goals, Tuesday night, helped on five last night to give him a piece of first place in the team scoring alongside Bob Taylor with 35 points each. George picked up ten points in two games while Taylor added four. Ray McCabe picked up seven points in the two nights Bill Horton added six, Purdy, Yearwood and Jackson added four each.

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International)

Hollywood (UPI) — Comedy writer Hal Kanter is celebrating his thirtieth year as a gag writer, three decades of putting jokes into other people's mouths.

At the same time, he was putting food into his own.

More than one comedian owes his laughs to Kanter. Without him many a clown would have faced a hostile audience.

Hal has been batting around the laugh league since he was 15 years old, a kid in Junior High School peddling laughs to magazines and press agents.

"I've been paid for 30 years" he says. "I didn't get paid before that".

At 45 years of age, Kanter has written for the greatest comedians in show business: Jack Benny, Bob Hope, Jerry Lewis, Danny Kaye, George Gobel, Ed Wynn, Milton Berle.

"I started selling jokes as a cartoonist when I was 15", he said. It was a hand-to-mouth job for which he often received $5 for a joke. Sometimes he got $15.

He often helped press agents get their client's name in the newspapers with a witty saying attributed to an actor or actress who wasn't capable of saying anything original.

"For many years there was a group in New York, and I was in it, which sold jokes to press agents", he recalled. "You got paid on the basis of how often the joke was printed in the newspaper".

Hal was an avid newspaper reader in those days, scanning the columns looking for a buck.

Kanter is a tall, soft-speaking fellow. He has a scrubby little mustache and a narrow pair of eyes which always seem to be looking at the bright side of life.

There's no other place for him to look. If he viewed everything with a jaundiced eye, Hol would be out of a job.

His is not an easy job. it's one of the toughest in show business. Comedians are traditionally difficult to please. Their audiences are even more demanding.

Kanter is currently producing and writing the "Valentine's Day" ABC-TV series. It's a show in which he says his only limitations are budget and taste.

He's also working on a new series "Sally And Sam", which he hopes to sell for next season. If that show doesn't sell, there should be plenty of work for Hal, one of the entertainment industry's best writers.

"Ninety eight per cent of the things the public laughs at are written by somebody else" Kanter said.

Hal gets paid in gold and giggles. It's a fine way of life he says. Beats writing tragedy.

"I'd rather hear an audience laugh than walk out tearyeyed and wondering what it was all about", he concludes. "I'm an impatient fellow. I want instant recognition".

He usually gets it.

Fenelon Falls

Mrs. Ryan Reigler and children, Kathy and Ronnie, of Toronto, are visiting her parents Rev. George anad Mrs. Bell this week.

Friends of Miss Maude Littleton were sorry to learn that she is a patient in Ross Memorial Hospital as a result of icy streets resulting in the fracture of the bone, which will necessitate lengthy hospitalization. She is reported to be making satisfactory progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wise and family of Toronto, visited with his mother, Mrs. George Cluff. Mrs. Cluff returned to the city with them to spend the Christmas and New Year holiday.

Women's Views

New York (UPI) — Bound to happen during the holidays:

The man of the house will put off putting on the snow tires on the basis of the long ranged forecasts for a dark Christmas. There's a white Christmas instead and anybody who goes over the hill to Grandma's house or anywhere else either hoofs it or calls a taxi.

One of the children will discover the hiding place for the gifts and all the small ones will not breathe a word of their secret to parents.

The postman, laundryman, paper boys, and delivery boys will be the souls of graciousness and help before Christmas; some will snarl after the holidays when encountering those who didn't leave a Christmas envelope with bills enclosed.

Some child, pulled onto Santa's lap in a department store. will spell out his wants for this year and on departing kick Santa on the shins with the explanation, "that's because you forgot what I asked for last year."

Some Santa finally done in by crawds will resign and go to the nearest bar for his own brand of Christmas spirits.

Dad will get what he's always wanted for Christmas — neckties, socks, and bills.

We'll hear Im dreaming of a white Christmas until the dream turns into a nightmare.

New Year's greetings will be mailed to make mends to those when you forgot at Christmas although they remembered you with cards. They'll be immediately reinstated on your next year's list.

Someone will count up the postage bill from using five and eight cent stamps and grumble that once upon a time Christmas cards would go sealed for three cents and unsealed for a cent and a half.

Dad will get mom a size 12 housecoat when she has grown to size 16. He will get HER to exchange it later by the artful comment, "But dear, I don't think you've chnged a bit since we were married."

Almost everyone will make New Year's resolutions ranging from saving money to going on the wagon and will keep them at least one week.

Some wife will wish she could get her husband off the perfume kick — she's still trying to use up contents of bottles from the last five years.

Many families will remember their less fortunate neighbours with food baskets or other gifts.

Several girls will get engagement rings and quietly eye the rings of friends to see if theirs has a larger diamond. Several engagements will be broken because of the comparison. The doctor'll have to be called for one of the children who overdid the popcorn balls and for one of the adults who overdid the eggnog.

There'll be a family argument as the Christmas tree goes up and HE says it's standing straight; SHE standing off supervising says it isn't and moves in to rearange it. There'll be another when she says it's all his fault there aren't enough tree lights, for he'd promised to do at least that much shopping.

Haliburton

Miss Heather Inglis eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Inglis who is a nurse in-training in Scotland is spending Christmas holidays at her home in Haliburton.

Miss Margaret Elstone RR2, Haliburton fell and broke her right arm. After having the cast put on Miss Elstone is resting at her home.

Mr. James Inglis who has been laid up with his back is now able to be up but will not work again for a week or so.

Mrs. Gerald Laborittilier is ill and was transferred to Peterboro hospital. All hope for a speedy recovery.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

with Dick West

Washington (UPI) — In telecasting NFL football games this year, the networks have been making big use of something called the "Isolated Camera".

For the benefit of my wife and others who abhor football, on television or otherwise, I shall attempt to explain how the ilosated camera works.

While the regular cameras are covering the central action on the field–that is, following the ball–the isolated camera picks out some individual player and records his activities on video tape.

If it turns out that the player being followed by the isolated camera did something important on that particular play, like catching a pass, the tape will immediately be put on the air to show how he did it.

Thus the viewers get two looks at the same play, which is one more than the spectators inside the stadium get, unless they happen to be crosseyed or have severe astigmatism.

Assuming that everyone is now clear as to how the isolated camera works, I will tell you about a splendid suggestion that I am preparing to lay before the networks.

I intend to propose that they use the isolated camera technique in covering President Lyndon Johnson's "State of the Union" message to the U.S. Congress next month.

As you know, the President has decided to deliver the message at 9 p.m., rather than the customary noontide. Since 9 p.m. is regarded as "Prime Time" on television, this presumably will insure a bigger viewing audience than he would draw at mid-day.

If the networks adopted my plan, the speech would be taped by an isolated camera and when Johnson got off a particulary good line, it would immediately be repeated so that the audience could savour it twice.

The announcer would break in and say, "Let's watch that last paragraph again on the isolated camera to see how the President got so much applause. Here we see him building up to a climatic pronouncement on Viet Nam. And here's the punch line . . . now back to the alive action".

As with football, the isolated camera could be used to pick up little details that might ordinarily be overlooked. For instance, the regular camera would show the President in a medium range view discussing tax reductions.

Then the isolated camera would rerun his remarks with only his hands showing. That way we could tell whether he had his fingers crossed when he said it.

Or the isolated camera could focus on members of Congress. Then, during the rerun, we could see the expression on Sen. Harry F. Byrd's face while the President was urging enactment of Medicare.

Teachers called highest paid oddjob men in country

Toronto (UPI) — A Toronto high school teacher has written a scathing article about extra-curricular jobs of teachers which he says makes them the highest paid odd job men in the country.

Art teacher Dawson Kendall wrote in the Bulletin, a teacher publication, that teachers' pay was docked if they were late for classes because of snowstorms but they received no extra pay for after-hours jobs.

He said teachers are used "for ticket selling, crowd quelling, insurance agenting, inoculations, quequing, garbage guarding, dance bouncing and textbook trundling".

Kennedy said teachers are the only group working longer hours than a generation ago.

T. W. Latta of London, Ont., President of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation, said yesterday that no harm is done if extra duties do not affect the effectiveness of teaching.

Graham Gore, Superintendent of Secondary Schools in Toronto, said the extra jobs were a part of teachers' work and that most professional and managerial people worked longer hours than a generation ago.

BONZO SAVED

Stamford, England, (UPI) — Mrs. Helena Beall, 62, saved the life of her 3-week-old puppy, Bonzo, by giving it mouth-to-mouth resuscitation after it collapsed in a neighbor's gas-filled kitchen.

BE HONEST.

Be honest; admit there are times when you shouldn't drive your car, particularly when traffic is congested and road conditions are dangerous. If you're tired, angry, nerved-up, rushed, drowsy, impatient, keyed-up or uncertain of yourself behind the wheel, ride with someone else or take a bus or taxi. The cost is relatively low; the cost of chancing it can be high. It can include death!

Canned Onion Dry Soup Mix Shines in Fall Buffet

Most women long to have that elegant little buffet . . . the food expert . . . the hostess so relaxed as her guests. And what better time than during the beautiful days of fall!

The secret for success lies in planning. This dinner cooks with hardly a glance from the hostess, thanks to a marvelous mix of onion, dry soup mix. The menu combines thick shoulder lamb chops with tender green peas. The sauce is no problem, for onion dry soup mix takes right over. Just add water, a little thyme — it seasons itself to perfection.

A crisp salad bowl goes well with your lunch. Tow lettuce, watercress, carrot curls, and ripe olives with your favourite dressing. Dessert is a beautiful Bavarian cream (made the day) before garnished with fresh frozen raspberries.

SPECIAL LAMB DINNER

6 shoulder lamb chops (about 1½ pounds)
1 tablespoon shortening
1 can (10½ ounces) onion dry soup mix
2 tablespoons flour
1¼ to 1½ cups water
Generous dash leaf thyme, crushed
Generous dash pepper
2 pounds frozen green peas
2 tablespoons pimiento strips

In frying pan, brown chops in shortening; pour off fat. Add soup mix and flour; gradually stir in water and seasonings. Cover; cook over low heat 15 minutes. Add peas and pimiento; cook 20 minutes longer or until tender. Stir now and then. Makes 6 servings.

Canned onion dry soup mix is not only great for main dishes, but spectacular in dips, spreads, dressings, salads . . . or wherever you want outstanding flavour and ease of preparation.

A LOVELIER YOU

By MARY SUE MILLER

THE MILKY WAY. A teen lovely writes: i have heard that ladies once took milk baths to keep their skins smooth and fair. is there anything to it? And just how would you go about taking one?

The Answer: Milk contributes mightily to the beauty of the skin. All the more when you drink it! You'd be getting the most were you to step into a milk bath with a glass of milk in your hand, and then sip while you loll.

If not game as a starlet that many modern charmers are devoted to milk baths, updated ones. Actually a milk bath is now an afterbath treatment and more of a "do" than most girls-on-the-go may bargain for. It can be recommended, though, to the adventuresome of all ages. The hour for it is bedtime.

A good sudsy brush-scrub and thorough rinsing comes first, either under the shower or in the tub. After that you supply yourself with a glass of milk, or a glass of water if you are in the ump-teen group. You then fill the tub with steamy water and trickle in a packet of instant milk, whipping it up to a froth with your hand.

Now sip and soak. The combination of a cold beverage and steaming water encourages cleansing perspiration, while the milky content does its work. Let ten minutes go by before you arise and very gently pat dry. Follow up in the morning with a quick shower or bath. You must not leave the milky residue on your skin to sour. For continuing benefits take frequent milk baths and, if the results are all you hoped for, why not?

Would you mind making a little more row? . . . It annoys my mother-in-law."

Movie Makers for a Nation

In 25 years of recording the country's growth and development, the National Film Board of Canada has become a source of entertaining information for millions of people in 100 countries around the world. In Canada, NFB films average more than 1,000 daily showings with an additional 10 TV and theatrical screenings per day. Abroad, the demand for Canadian films breaks new records as commercial bookings increase and film showing facilities grow in number. In a vast and varied land the motion-picture subjects range accordingly. From Drylanders, a saga of settlement in Saskatchewan, to Stephen Leacock's My Financial Career as a humorous cartoon, from an awe-inspiring spectacle of modern astronomy, Universe, to Lonely Boy, a penetrating look at Ottawa-born Paul Anka's success in show business, from Fields of Sacrifice to the TV series Temps Présent, from films on pure science to emotional teenagers, from Canadian poetry visually interpreted to experimental films and off-beat techniques, from the obvious to the subtle — NFB films present an arresting array of creative ideas and documentary realism.

Visitors to the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto view one of the 66 filmstrips produced by NFB last year. Filmstrips are used extensively in schools.

Five servers to be inducted into Anglican Server's Guild

Servers lighting the candles in the Anglican Church. —"Post" staff photo

Five members of St. Paul's Anglican Server's Guild will be inducted on January 3, 1965. The servers, Barry Davis, Peter Hall, James Walker, Thomas Appleton and David Tyrer, will gain full membership in the guild in the service of induction, which is the climax to their probation.

In addition, Ken Johnson, Stefan Blasco, William Moody and Glen Scott will receive server's crosses for one year of faithful service.

The server's guild, for most of its members, provides a unique relationship with the rector. The servers think of themselves as the Lord's servants at His table, in His House. They are in the sanctuary of the Church to see to the needs of the celebrant. The servers are the Priest's helpers.

The server must fulfill many strict requirements before he is admitted to the guild and after his induction he must maintain the high standard he has reached by this time. To become a member, the boy must be a confirmed member of the Church, not under 14 years of age. He is then trained to serve at the Holy Communion and placed on probation for six months. During his probationary period, he is taught to serve in other services of the Church, such as morning and evening prayer and Holy Baptism.

The server usually begins by serving at 8:30 a.m. Eucharistic Services. He is required to be at the Church at least 15 minutes before the service begins and must be neat and tidy. He puts on the red cassock and goes into the sanctuary where he checks the elements, bread and wine, makes sure the Missal is open at the correct place and is on the correct side of the Altar, and lights the candles. After prayer, he returns to the sacristy where he and the Priest make their preparation. Before returning to the sanctuary for the actual service.

When a server has finished his probation to the satisfaction of the Priest, he is inducted into the guild. This is the second great moment in the life of a server, the first being the first time he served. The third great moment for an altar-boy (another term for server) is when he receives his server's cross. This coveted cross is presented to the boy when he has had one year's satisfactory service in the guild.

The server's guild provides, for the boy, a sense of fellowship, a deeper insight into his religion, a strengthening in his faith and a closer relationship with God.

EMO REPORT

Emergency Broadcast Receiver

by EMO Co-ordinator for Victoria—Haliburton JAMES HALL

The principal means of passing instructions and information to the public during a national emergency will be through the use of all broadcast media i.e. AM and FM radio and TV (sound channels).

As normal electric power may be disrupted, the provision of standby power at some broadcasting stations is part of the emergency broadcasting plan but, even then, many stations may go off the air because of power failure.

For the same reason, many receivers may become inoperative and it is therefore essential that every household should have a battery powered standard band, radio receiver and that it should be capable of receiving stations including other than local stations.

Individuals will naturally buy the best receiver that they can afford, but the following pointers may be of assistance:

a. The set should be reasonably sensitive and capable of receiving an AM broadcast station in the day time which is located at least 50 miles from your residence and which is preferably not located in an area designated as a Target Area.

b. The set should be a portable, battery-powered type, using flashlight batteries which should be replaceable without difficulty. It should be capable of operating on one set of batteries for 12 hours per day for at least 14 days.

c. There should be provision on the receiver for the connection of an external antenna. An external antenna is essential if the radio is to be used in any shelter or building with steel reinforced construction, since a broadcast station's signal level received inside such a building would be seriously reduced or even eliminated. In an average residence, the outside antenna would also increase the signal level from distant stations.

The internal construction of the set, as well as the case, should be rugged, so that it could take some rough handling and continue to perform well.

Winners of prizes in the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce Christmas decoration contest assembled at the Chamber office Wednes day evening to receive prizes. Pictured above is Kathy Hick receiving an electric clock donated by Morley Greaves Company for the best commercial winner off the main street. Mr. A. E. Hick's residence was also chosen as an area winner but this prize went by reversion to the third place winner. With Miss Hick is Chamber of Commerce vice-President James Nolan (centre) and Decoration Contest chairman Vern O'Connor.—"Post" staff photo.

Santa's outdated fashions!

London (UPI) — The British men's fashion magazine "Tailor and Cutter" has rapped Santa Claus' antiquated costume and called for illustrations showing him dressed in beach shirts and bluejeans.

"The poor old boy has been doing the rounds of 142 years now dressed in what must be a largely impractial style of garments in terms of at least half his business", said the lead article in the Christmas issue of the trade paper.

"It would appear that the Northern Hemisphere has forced him into clothes significant of their own climatic conditions. This is at the expense of his comfort during deliveries to the millions of children living in the rather more than temperate zones.

"A belted anorak in heavyweight material, trimmed with fur and ponderously parallelled with a brace of fleecy-lined boots, could induce at least a sweaty discomfort in terms of the former and possibly a sharp attack of athlete's foot in the latter.

"With the whole world progressing towards and appreciation of less and lighter clothing, it would seem to be churlish to lumber Santa with fashions that emerged well over 100 years ago.

"Trying to shove a sled along in the country that has not seen snow for longer than Santa has been in pictorial evidence, would bring perspiration even to a man not clad in clothes more suitable for the arctic".

"Tailor and cutter" called on the industry to "do something to retain its fair share of the Yuletide expenditure. More, illustrations of Santa in beach shirts and lightweight suitings is, perhaps, our only possible retaliations to the spirit of retail commercialization which has everyone's purse in its grip".

Police must prove who was driving in parking tag cases - Cunningham

You don't usually meet a penguin and a palace guard on the way to a cub hockey tournament but that is what happened to John Haw, age 9 of Melbourne Street East today. John was on his way to the Academy Theatre, and Lo and Behold, Penguin Franz Russell and Palace Guard Robert Koons taking part in the Museum Children's Theatre production of "Sinbad" were there to greet him.

Following a recent case in Lindsay Police Court in which a Lindsay woman, Mary E. Bovie of 16 Durham Street West, charged with failing to put money in a parking meter, had the charges dismissed because she was charged under a non-existent bylaw, her attorney M. J. Cunningham stated that the owner of a vehicle parked at an expired meter is not under any obligation to pay the meter unless he is the driver of the vehicle and subsequently if the vehicle receives a parking tag, it is the driver and not the owner who is responsible, which puts the onus on the police to establish who the driver is and, if necessary to prove the point. Mr. Cunningham, based his statement on a decision made by Judge D. Kennedy in Peterboro County Court on February 20, 1960, said merely placing a parking tag on the windshield of an automobile means nothing. The police must know and must prove who the driver of the automobile was at the time.

In the case Mr. Cunningham referred to in Peterboro, it was admitted that the accused was the owner of the vehicle in question and that that vehicle was parked opposite a parking meter on Water Street in Peterboro and at the time in question the necessary money had not been deposited in the meter as required.

Judge Kennedy's decision was that the driver and the owner of the vehicle were not necessarily the same person and the Municipal Act required drivers to make use of parking meters and limited the right of parking to such drivers as made use of the parking meters. Judge Kennedy ruled that the municipality had no power to extend its jurisdiction beyond drivers of vehicles so as to include the owners of vehicles. He said that a driver was essentially a living person, whereas an owner might be a corporation, government, municipality, society or church. He said a driver and owner were two entirely different categories of entities.

Basing his remarks on this case, Mr. Cunningham said he could not see how the police could write a license number and price on a parking ticket and, after placing it on the windshield of the illegally parked vehicle, walk away expecting it the fine were not

Must revise rural education system to compete with urban

"We are living in a time of great advancement and if we do not make some attempt to revise our rural system of education, we cannot hope to compete with urban educations", A.C. Jones, who is retiring from the Fenelon Township Area School Board, told "The Post" today.

Mr. Jones, who has served on the school board for a number of years said "During this time, I have tried to the best of my ability to be sincere in discharging my duty, having in mind the education of our children". He said while the little red school house has served its purpose well in the past, the leading educators of our country has proven it is time for a change. He said he was pleased that the Fenelon Township School Section would be united under one board as of January 1, 1965.

"It is my feeling that we have made some progress in the semi-grading of most of our one-room schools. I now hope that the new board will see their way clear to carry on with this arrangement until a central school system is adopted", Mr. Jones stated.

He said the uniting of the school sections under one board will cause the assessment to be divided more equally. In the past, Mr. Jones said, there were school sections with a low assessment and they found it difficult to compete with those schools which were more fortunate. "With the new system", he remarked "we will have a lot more equal arrangement".

When announcing his retirement today, Mr. Jones said the members of the school board were good to work with and any major decisions made were always the voices of the board as a whole. He said he wished the new school board, teaching staff, parents and pupils success in the years that lie ahead.

Police Vigilent in Cell-Death Probe, Coronor's Jury Decides

The death of the late Edgar Weaver, 54, of 4 Mary Street, Lindsay, was found by a Coroner's Jury last night to be due to a chest condition and extreme intoxication. There was no evidence of negligence, in fact very good vigilence was maintained by the police, the jury found.

Dr. Peter Gill told the inquiry Mr. Weaver had presented himself for a medical examination for pension application prior to December 10th. and was found to have a chest condition in that he could breath in air but the elastic muscles of the chest cavity had become destroyed, the chest had become enlarged and he had become short of breath. . A post mortem report from the Attorney General's laboratory indicated a 3.7 alcohol content was found in the deceased's blood sample which would produce unconsciousness. A 1.5 alcohol content in the blood is normally considered sufficient for intoxication. There was very marked muscle damage in the chest cavity and the collapse of the left lung had been a cause of death, he said.

The inquiry was told Mr. Weaver had been placed in the cells in an unconscious condition about 6:00 p.m. on December 12th. He had been checked every ten to twenty minutes and had not moved nor had his breathing changed up until the final check at 8:45 p.m. The man was found to have expired between that time and 9:05 p.m. without any movement or coughing. Artificial resusitation had been applied by fire department personnel to no avail. Sgt. Gordon Eberts told the enquiry that Mr. Weaver had received overnight accommodation at the cells at least 95 times in the past ten years. He said the man's pulse was strong and a normal 72 each time he was checked.

Coroner Dr. W. R. Crowe told the jury that the extremely high alcohol content would cause unconsciousness and he felt the police watched the deceased carefully.

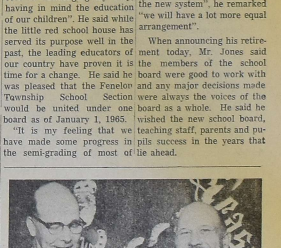

The five man jury considered the extensive evidence for forty-five minutes before bringing in their verdict. Jury members were Harold Wainman, foreman, John Arril, Arthur Stevens, Robert Lewis, and George Nokes.

LIN-AIR PLANE FORCED DOWN AT OAKWOOD: FUEL TROUBLE

Officials of the Lin-Air Flying Club reported no damage was incurred when the Club plane "P.K.W." was forced down near Oakwood yesterday.

Club mechanic Ray Harrison told "The Post" today that the plane was forced to land due to fuel trouble. Apparently, he said, water had got into the fuel tank when the guage cap was left uncovered, which caused the motor to stall. He said that the plane made a smooth landing and officials planned to fly the plane back to the Lindsay airport this afternoon.

Mr. Harrison said the plane was returning from a cross-country flight with student pilot James Walker and Club instructor Lynn Head at the controls. He emphasized no damage or injury resulted as only a routine emergency landing was involved.

Harry Johnson, President of the Lindsay Kiwanis Club, presents A. B. Patterson, Treasurer of the Academy Theatre Foundation, with a $500 cheque at a Kiwanis luncheon held yesterday. The cheque is part of a pledge made to the foundation by the Kiwanis Club.

Talkathons

Canadians don't have many world championships about which to talk, but one they have is for talking itself. For the twelfth consecutive year, Canadians led the world in the number of telephone conversations per person according to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company edition of "The World's Telephones".

Canadians used Mr. Bell's invention for a tremendous talk-session and had to beat out four other nations with more phones to do this. The Canadian average for 1963 was 597.7 calls per person. Iceland came second in the talkathon with the U.S. now in third place. They were second last year.

As of January 1st, 1964 there were 171 million telephones in operation in the world and Canadians can reach people on the end of most of them.

Of course we shoulder-to-the-wheel, nose-to-the-grindstone serious-minded men don't make unnecessary calls, the immensity of the chat-sessions is caused by teenagers and by the women members of the community. Indubitably!

Resigns from Board of Education

James Peel, for many years a valued member of the Board of Education, presented his last report at last night's final meeting of the Board for the current year. For over 18 years Mr. Peel has represented the south ward as a member of the Board of Education and for the past several years has been chairman of the Finance Committee. At the close of the meeting, C. G. Frost paid tribute to the valued work Mr. Peel has done during his tenure of office and expressed the regret of the Board that he should find it necessary to retire.

"I feel as though I have lost my right arm said R. W. Groves, chairman.

Armed bandits get jail terms

Convicted on three charges of armed robbery and one of breaking and entering, to which charges he pleaded guilty, George Gauld, 21 of Orono, was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary by Magistrate E. A. Gee in Lindsay police court this morning. Sidney York, 18, of Orono also pleaded guilty to the same charges and was committed to the Ontario Reformatory for nine months. Ernest Allan, 20, of Orono, received a six months' sentence for his participation in the armed robbery of Daniel Berry near Omemee on December 20, in which all three took part.

Big Business

Many important decisions await the Victoria County Council at the January session. The controversial problems of the County Road System and whether or not an addition to the County Home is needed now that Haliburton is providing its own home for the aged. Whether the county should join with Peterboro in the formation of a County Health Unit, long urged by forward looking councillors. Whether a county-wide Welfare Department should be formed, as Councillor Eakins suggested at Monday's council meeting. What action to be taken on the proposed improvements and extensions at the county building?

These questions and many others have to be faced by Victoria county council. In the past there has been a tendency at times to procrastinate over some of these items. The problems must be faced and decisions made as soon as possible.

Contest Mayoralty

Contrary to expectations, Lindsay's municipal council for 1915 will not be elected by acclamation, as there will be a contest for the Mayoralty as well as the position of Second Deputy-Reeve. Mr. Joseph Staples will oppose Mr. R. M. Beal for the first named position while Mr. W. W. Jordan will oppose Mr. Newton Smale for the deputy-reeveship.

Tried to avoid contest

The candidates had until nine o'clock last night to qualify and before that hour there was a commendable effort made to have the election go by acclamation. A number of former members of the council as well as those of the council of this year were on hand, prepared to serve or drop out in order to pick the best council possible without a contest. It looked for a time as if their efforts would succeed, but some time before the hour for closing came, Mr. Joseph Staples handed in his qualification papers for the Mayoralty, followed some time after by Mr. W. W. Jordan, who qualified for the Second Deputy-Reeve.

Determined to stand

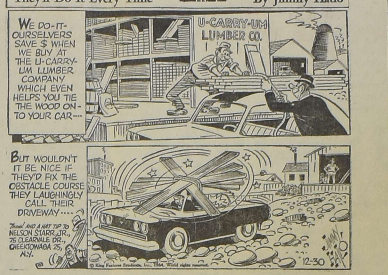

An effort was still made to avoid a contest and the friends of Mr. Jordan tried to get him to withdraw. He was as adamant, however, and claimed Mr. Smale had as much right to resign as himself. He was pressed into council last year, had at one time filled the position of deputy-reeve and it was his privilege to offer himself again for the position.

Mr. Smale preferred not to say anything, being satisfied to allow his record in the service of the town speak for itself.

Man-eating shark-delicious!

Washington, (UPI)—The best and probably the only way to handle the man-eating shark is for man to eat him first.

"They're delicious, especially the great white shark often called the man-eater," say Dr. Perry W. Gilbert, one of the world's leading experts on one of the world's oldest inhabitants.

"The only practical way to eliminate sharks from swimming resort areas it to have fishermen catch them," Dr. Gilbert said in an interview with United Press International.

"Australia, Mexico and Japan created a new market for fishermen after finding out how tasty shark meat is.

"Broiling is best, but fried or dried and salted like codfish also makes the shark a very nice dinner."

Gilbert is Professor of Zoology at Cornell University. He also is chairman of the American Biological Science Institute's Shark Research panel. He said that many of today's 250 species of shark are just like they were 75 years ago.

"The best thing we have today to keep sharks from eating humans was stumbled on during during World War II," Gilbert said. He added that the Navy Department in 1941-had what it termed a morale problem on its hands. Concussions from a torpedo or crashing of aircraft alerted and drew sharks to disaster scenes. After some brief experiments, it was found that the smell of copper acetate repelled some sharks.

The chemical at first was invisible in water. To show a floundering pilot its presence the Navy added nigrosine, a black, spreading dye.

Since then, Dr. Gilbert and others have learned that it was the dye and not the chemical which not only improved personnel morale but actually saved thousands of lives.

Of the white shark sires of Bimini Island in the Bahamas, Gilbert and associates determined that sharks fled upon seeing the dye.

How did Gilbert know it wasn't the shark's notoriously sharp nose or "feeling" senses that alerted it to the dye?

He said he discovered this at the Lerner Marine Laboratory of American Museum of Natural History. It is in the water off Bimini and contains large pens filled with trapped lemon sharks.

As part of his study of shark senses, Gilbert anesthetized some of the 15-footers which can remain out of water two hours without injury. Then he inserted black plastic caps over their eyes, temporarily blinding them.

The blinded sharp would swim through the dye without noticing it. But after the blinders were removed, the same shark would avoid the dye. It would also avoid the dye when it could see but had its nose jammed with scent-blocking cotton.

The shark's sense of smell can pick up the scent of Tuna fluid—the best shark "attractant" — even when it is diluted in 1.5 million parts of water, Dr. Gilbert said.

"The dye is useless, however, when the shark is in a feeding frenzy," he said. This occurs when blood or other body fluids wash through the shark's nose, Gilbert added:

"In a feeding frenzy, caused by its own blood, I've seen a shark rip large chunks from its own body, devouring himself until he dies.

"Sharks travel up and down U. S. coasts some of them in mammoth packs, mostly hammerheads—no pun intended. Some, but not all, will attack humans. But you stand a better chance of getting hit by lightning than getting attacked by a shark.

"Recent developments, such as a curtain or air bubbles and several electrical devices, are worthless as far as keeping sharks away. It will be a while before we can come up with a shark chaser better than the dye."

Ah! School Days

Nature lovers the world over will one argue the relative merits of a breaking dawn and a blazing sunset, but all would agree that it helps to be able to distinguish between the two.

The observation is prompted by the revelation of a provincial department of education that is precisely what a signicicant number of Grade 13 students taking part in last summer's examinations could not do. To at least fifty of them, dawn and sunset were one and the same thing.

If wanting in this respect, however, there were some who were not altogether lacking in descriptive powers, among them the author of the following immortal passage: "The dainty violets were peeping through the leaves as a glistening white seagull drifted in on the soft breeze and pounced on a dead fish with its intestines hanging out."

With purple prose of this order flying around, it's not surprising that the examining teachers should have been somewhat shaken. Nor was there any relief in a study of replies to a quotation asking for examples of humour in Shaw's Caesar and Cleopatra.

As one examiner sorrowfully put it: "Many candidates seemed to have a warped or deficient sense of humour, with several quoting Potbinus' death scream as the most hilarious incident in the play . . . "

At well, they may not be learning much but at least they are, as they would say, having themselves a ball.

Blue plates

On December 1 Ontario's licence plates for passenger and dual purpose automobiles and motorcycles went on sale.

New plates have white lettering and numerals on a blue background — the first change from black-and-white combinations since 1956. Plates are on sale at all licence issuing offices in the province.

Expiry date for 1964 plates is Sunday, February 28, 1965, at midnight. There will be no extension. Persons operating cars with old plates after 12.01 a.m. Monday morning, March 1, will be subject to prosecution. All licence issuing offices will be open on Saturday, February 27.

These dates apply only to plates, not to drivers' licences. Under the new system begun a year ago, an expiry date is shown on each individual driver's licence. This date coincides with the driver's birth date in either 1965 or 1966 and each driver will receive an application by mail when it is time to renew his driver's licence.

For commercial vehicles and trailers, the later issuing dates of the past two years will apply. 1965 plates for commercial vehicles and trailers will go on sale Monday, March 1, 1965 and the expiry date for 1964 commercial plates will be midnight, March 31, 1965.

BUFFET BAKED BEANS — — TEEN STYLE

After a chilly evening of skating or tobogganing, your teen-agers will appreciate a hot, hearty snack. Buffet baked beans are sure to please them and you, say food specialists at Macdonald Institute, Guelph. These baked beans are warm and spicy and so easy to prepare.

BUFFET BAKED BEANS

2-20 ounce cans baked beans, ¼ cup finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 pound wieners, ¼ to ½ pound Ontario cheddar cheese.

Turn beans into an eight cup casserole. Mix in onion, brown sugar and mustard. Split each wiener lengthwise almost through. Stuff with cheese strips. Place filled wieners on beans and bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Serves 6 to 8. (Two tablespoons molasses may be substituted for brown sugar if desired.)

Serve this casserole with oven-toasted French bread and plenty of carrot and celery sticks. Hot chocolate, a favorite teen beverage, will be more than welcome at any party.

Better-Fitting Gloves

If the fingers of a new pair of gloves are a bit too tight for comfort, insert a clean, cold curling iron into each finger. Open the iron slightly to stretch gently, pulling the iron out slowly at the same time to avoid "fan shaping" of the fingertips of your gloves.

When Cutting Glass

If you are using a ruler as a straight-edge for scribing or cutting glass or plastic, stick a length of friction tape along one side of the ruler, and this will prevent its slipping around under pressure on the glossy surface.

Lighter Muffins

To make your muffins much lighter, grease the pans and heat them in the oven for a few minutes until hot, before pouring in your batter.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

Q. How can I remedy a baseboard or some wood trim in my home, which has warped away from the wall?

A. Try drilling a clearance hole through the board at its greatest bulge, and then running a flat-headed screw into the stud underneath. If you're unable to pull the board up all the way, fill the space between it and the wall with putty, or plaster, and paint.

Q. Is there any use that can be made of the usually discarded celery tops?

A. Try chopping them and using in salads, soups, stuffing, sandwich spreads and stews. They add a good flavour.

Q. How can I remove ink stains from linens, washable silks and cotton?

A. Canned tomato juice is often a big help. Soak the stained areas in the juice for about 10 minute, rinse and then wash as usual.

In Memoriam

HALL In memory of Freddie Hall who passed away accidently Dec. 31, 1963.
One year has passed, dear Freddie,
Since you were called away,
But what I'd give to hold your hands,
And have you on my knee,
To see your face and hear your voice.
Which meant so much to me.
Ever remembered and sadly missed, Millie and Sam.

(911)

HALL — In loving memory of a dear brother, Fred.
We always remember the way he looked,
The way he spoke and smiled,
The little things he said and did.
Are with us all the while,
For down the lane of memories
The light is never dim
Until the stars forget to shine,
We will remember him.
You can't explain to others
The loss you feel inside.
We only know we miss him so
And the tears we try to hide.
Sadly missed by Doreen, Edward Nesbitt and family.

(910)

In Memoriam

HALL — In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Frederick (Freddie) Hall, son of Gordon and Ruth Hall, Cobconk, who died accidently Dec 31, 1963 in his ninth year.
There is a family who misses you.
And finds time long since you went,
We think of you daily and hourly,
But try to be brave and content
Tears that we shed are in silence,
And we breath a sigh of regret
For you were ours and we remember,
Though all the world may forget.
Dearly loved and sadly missed by dad and mom, brother Hovie, sister Cindy and Granny Hall. (909)

Parade heralds Santa Claus in Cannington

Cannington (PNS) — Santa Claus arrived in Cannington accompanied by Scottish pipers, bands, western riders and floats.

A large crowd of children and adults were in attendance at this annual parade, considered one of the best in years, which was headed by a swirl of bagpipes played by Bill Ross and Susan Lea of Victoria Harbour.

A number of gaily decorated saddle horses followed the pipers. Floats sponsored by various organizations in town were paraded past the spectators and they included Smokey the Bear, Boy Scouts and Cubs, a number of nursery rhyme characters, the merry-go round Christmas scene, a float depicting the benevolent work of the Rebekahs and Oddfellows a decorated truck and fire engine and ice fishing floats.

The parade was greatly supplemented with music provided by three bands. Those were the known Georgina Police Band under the direction of Constable Len Dommer along with their colourful and well trained Majorette Corps., the Brock District High School Band with its leader, Mr. E. A. Linton and the Whitby brass band.

The best part of the whole march-past as far as the kiddies were concerned was the float carrying jolly Old Santa Claus and his eight reindeer. After a drive thru town he gave out bags of candies to the children and Briars Dairy distributed free cartons of chocolate milk.

Following this a free movie at the Jewel Theatre or free skating at the Cannington Community Centre was enjoyed by the many youngsters.

This event was sponsored by the Lions Club and local business men.

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International

Hollywood (UPI) — Mary Tyler Moore is moving up to the big time.

The part "Laura Petrie" of "The Dick Van Dyke" show has signed a movie contract with Universal Studios that may preclude future appearances on television.

Miss Moore will remain with Van Dyke this season and next —when the series is scheduled to be scraped no matter what its rating–and then devote her time and talent to the big screen where the big, big money is.

Her contract calls for Mary to make 10 pictures during the next seven years at the studio but allows her the freedom to star in movies for other companies if the mood seizes her.

"I'm not going to wait for the Van Dyke show to go off the air before I begin making movies", she said during a break in rehearsals. "My first movie is scheduled for this spring".

It won't be her screen debut, however. Mary appeared in "X-15", a semi-documentary about the experimental airplane which never got off the ground boxoffice-wise.

Mary has confidence in herself, but she'll stick to comedy.

"I'm afraid of heavy drama because I'm not very good at it", she said. "I've never done drama. On the other hand I enjoy comedy and feel comfortable in it".

One of the very few in television to land an important movie contract–a couple of others are Steve McQueen and Jim Garner–Miss Moore is unconcerned about taking along her image as Laura Petrie.

"There is no image of Laura to lose", she explained. "I haven't been playing a nurse, or a reporter, Laura is a contemporary girl, and that is the kind of role I'll be playing in movies.

"The audience won't have to readjust it's thinking at all. In fact, I'll let the movie audiences think they are discovering me because I'll be taking second or third billing for the first four pictures and working only with leading men from the 'A' list.

"That way I won't be responsible for carrying a picture".

Miss Moore is unusually straightforward in her appraisal of herself and career. With amazing candor she added:

"I want to be a big star so I can surround myself with interesting, exciting people and properties from a business standpoint. Socially, it won't mean a thing.

"If neglecting television in the future would insure my success in movies, then I would never appear on television again.

"However, I have no fears about doing another television series, either. I know I could always do another one if that's the way things work out. But I hope to make the grade in movies. Dick Van Dyke's doing just that, isn't he?"

New York (UPI) — "Going to auctions is like eating peanuts — once started, there's no stopping."

This is the way a veteran auctioneer who travels the country selling explains the appeal of gallery and estate sales which are packing 'em in these days.

"There's no such thing anymore as a bad day for a sale," said 0. Rundle Gilbert, of Garrison, N.Y., who's auctioned everything from antique buttons to entire estates. "I've had them in freezing rain — snow. It doesn't matter."

"The antique and art markets are booming — no, exploded is a better word," said Gilbert, a genial man in his 50's. "I see no end to it either, because we haven't even begun to get into the population explosion. There's a tremendous surge of the young collecting. And everyone is becoming Americana-conscious."

The "explosion" fits into the whole current pattern of culture with a capital C, he said. And there's plenty of money in circulation.

To Gilbert, Auctions also are fun for people and there isn't a soul bidding who doesn't hope either to find a bargain, a great rarity, or else is a serious collector adding to.

Bargains can come in all price ranges — from the $12.50 paid by a novice for a Tang dynasty figure from about 700 A.D. but probably worth $700. Or, the American game table recently auctioned for $18,000. The owner had paid $3,000 for it three years earlier. Or, the oriental rugs owners acquired in the early 1930's and now find worth twice as much even though they've had three decades of wear.

But that search for a bargain can be a major pitfall of attending auctions — "buy something you need. Don't buy just because it's cheap — out of one attic and into another," he said.

I talked with Gilbert and his wife, Ann, during one of their trips to New York where he also has offices. His wife doesn't auction but helps him with all the preparations for sales.

Gilbert said he got into auctioneering during the great depression. His father owned storage warehouses in New York and "where there's storage there are auctions," he explained.

The Gilberts, married in 1933, have five sons — one of whom, Richards, is associated with his father.

Gilbert's fee on a sale is 20 per cent of the gross, but he pointed out that he pays for all the preparation — the advertising, the photography, the cataloging, the brochures and mailing, the tagging, the provision of tent and seating for as many as 350 persons if a house's interior is too small to handle the crowds, and the guards and other extra personnel necessary on day or days of sale.

The auctioneer offered these suggestions to those attending auctions:

— "If you're an amateur, study the subject you're interested in. Read up on it.

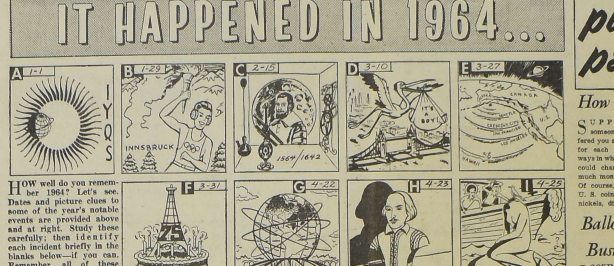

— "Check values by going to dealers. If they're asking $300 for something you want, and you see it at an auction going for around $150, you've got a bargain.

— "Be sure it's a legitimate auction by checking banks or estate sources. There are a lot of fakes, where a house is rented for an auction filled with junk.

— "Go to the exhibit which precedes the auction with someone experienced if possible for an appraisal.

—"Don't listen to the person next to you at the auction. He or she may be belittling because of self-interest in purchase.."

How Much Change in a U.S. Dollar Bill?

SUPPOSE someone offered you a dollar for each of the ways in which you could change a U. S. dollar bill. How much money would it be possible to win? Of course, the change must be made in U. S. coins now in general use—pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and halves. Obsolete currency, such as 2½ and 5c pieces, are not to be considered.

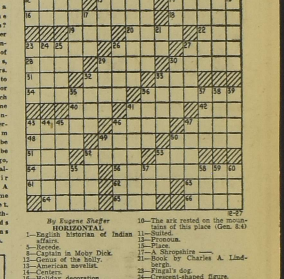

Just for fun, take a guess at the answer.

(spoilsport spoon was drawn after changing and is perhaps no problem for you.)

Balloon Buster

LOOKING for a lively game for New Year's Eve? Try this: Scatter several dozen inflated balloons of various shapes, sizes and colors. Divide guests into teams named for colors. Have each team appoint one or more balloon-tenders — persons to whom balloons are to be brought to be held. At word go, teams gather balloons of their particular hue. A two-minute time limit is set. Group that gathers and holds most balloons wins the game.

— Ontario Hydro Photos

Ontario Hydro forces are busy developing resources to meet increasing power demands. For the third year in a row coal-fired stations played a vital role in supplementing the sharply reduced output of hydro-electric plants as a result of low water levels. Highlights of the present program include, clockwise: A Hydro crew working in sub-zero weather on Kipling hydro-electric project in James Bay watershed; helicopter airlifting hardware for Extra High Voltage line under construction near Parry Sound; specialists attaching tubes through which natural uranium fuel will enter reactor of Douglas Point Nuclear Power Station between Kincardine and Port Elgin; water "cannon" blasting loose rock from walls of Chippawa power canal at Niagara Falls in preparation for rehabilitation, scheduled for completion in 1965.

World news today

Montreal — A lanky balding former RCMP officer takes the stand at the Dorion judicial inquiry again today.

Ronald Crevier, yesterday testified he heard Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to Immigration Minister Rene Tremblay tell Montreal lawyer Piere Lamontangue — "I am minded! I am finished!"

The express was used when the pair were discussing an RCMP investigation of charges by Lamontagne that Denis had offered him a 20-thousand dollar bribe.

Crevier said that during the conversation he heard, Denis repeatedly denied having made any offer of a bribe that was turned down by Lamontagne.

One of the ironies of the case, is that Crevier is now out of the RCMP force and working as a private investigator for the law firm of which Lamontagne is a partner.

One of the other witnesses to appear yesterday was Guy Lord, an Oxford Student and lawyer who at one time was executive aide to Justice Minister Guy Favreau. He denied ever coercing or intimidating Lamontagne. Earlier in the Commons, Lord had been described as an innocent dupe in the scheme to have accused Mafia and drug smuggler Lucien Rivard freed on bail.

Montreal — Delegates to the American Association for the advancement of science meeting in Montreal, have been told of improved techniques for learning about possible life on other planets.

Scientists from the jet propulsion laboratory at the California Institute of Technology said yesterday, recent advances now offer the possibility of identifying life-related compounds on other planets with a minimum of speculation.

The delegates were told several biological experiments are being prepared because one of the most important goals of a space landing mission would be the search for life.

Saigon, Viet Nam — Six Americans were wounded in a Viet Cong ambush at Binh Gia village, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. They were aboard U.S. helicopters flying Vietnamese troops into battle to recapture the village. Two helicopters were brought down and two damaged by communist anti-aircraft fire.

United Nations, N.Y. — The United Nations General Assembly elected Malaysia, the Netherlands and Uruguay to the Security Council by a straw vote and acclamation. The unusual procedure avoided a formal vote which would have brought the United States and Russia into a showdown on U.S. demands that the Soviet Union lose its voting rights for unpaid debts.

Leopoldville, The Congo — Congolese government forces led by white mercenaries freed 120 white hostages in the town of Wamba in the Northeast Congo. Survivors were quoted as saying Rebels butchered 25 to 30 whites before the relief column arrived, including the Belgian Roman Catholic Bishop, Msgr. Wittebol. Another 120 whites at Wamba were reported missing.

Berlin — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt said the Berlin crisis ended this year when the Russians gave up their plan to drive the allies out of the city. Brandt told a year-end news conference he would now urge the communists to make it easier for West Berliners to visit East Berlin and East Germany.

Tiberias, Israel — Israeli and Syrian patrols exchanged gunfire again, in the week's latest incident of border fighting. The shooting occurred over disputed farming land near Tiberias. There were no reports of casualties on either side.

Rome — Giuseppe Saragat, the pro-western Social Democrat, took office as Italy's fifth president with a pledge to heal the political strife that preceded his election. Aragat, elected president with the support of Italy's communist party, indicated in his inaugural address that Italy should deal as much with the communist powers as the Western governments in an effort to relax world tension.

Fenelon Falls Horticulturists plan more projects

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — The Fenelon Falls Horticultural Society held its last regular meeting of the 1964 season at the Cameo Tea Room. At this meeting the following activities were reported: A new flower bed was planted at the B.A. Service Station. Flower beds were planted and maintained at the Bank of Montreal. at the entrance to Fenelon Falls from Bobcaygeon and at the Sunoco service station.

The society maintained the upkeep of Clifton Park, the park at the rock garden and Market Square. A project which has been started and will be completed in 1965 is the construction of a lookout from Clifton Park, overlooking the falls.

A pot luck supper was held in St.. James Parish Hall for the 36 junior members, with almost 100 members present.

The annual flower show held in August was a decided success. The society is most grateful to the business people of the village whose support and prizes were in great part responsible for the success of the flower show, as well as the other activities of the past year.

Haliburton downs Kiwanis Juvs. 7-5

Two goals each by Danny Roberts and Ron Cummings, plus singles from Larry Sawyers, Ron Gartshore and Mike Easson were sufficient to gain a 7-5 victory over the Haliburton Juveniles over the Kiwanis Juveniles at the local arena last night.

Jim Golden scored three goals and Dave Lemoire scored twice for the Lindsay lads in their losing cause. Down 4-2 in the second period the Kiwanis puck chasers closed the gap 5-4 before the visitors cashed in on a couple more break-aways to put the game out of reach.

The game in itself was cleanly played, with better passing attack by the visitors being a deciding factor. The next game brings Beaverton to Lindsay next Tuesday January 5th to meet the Kiwanis Juveniles.

The opening game of last night's double header saw the Lindsay Legion Midgets down Beaverton 7-4.

Women's View

by Gay Pauley of United Press International

New York (UPI) — The "Ideal" woman no longer is the sophisticated one in her 30's. She's the girl in her teens.

Ask Gerard Austen, a Londoner, who is styling some of the more famous heads in assorted parts of the world.

Austen puts his views this way: "It is reasonable to say that with the next 10 years the number of really famous couture houses will not be as they are today.

"The young people all have a great influence on designers today and for the first time designers are now designing exclusively for these people. The ideal composite woman is no longer 35, she is 17. I would say it is an era of nymphets".

The same trend goes for cosmetics, said Austen. "The styles are set by the young 'switched on' deb, young actresses, fun people."

Austen forsees the London look sweeping the United States, including the longer hair worn by British boys.

"I suppose it's a sign of nonconformity", he said in an interview. "They are aping or copying the pop idols . . . certain pop groups cultivate their hair to the shoulders. It is a throwback from old times when men wore long hair with curls, very elaborate and ornate, the women wore rather nondescript hairdos. In natur, the male has the more beautiful plumage . . . the lady is the drudge".

Austen, a highly successful stylist although he's still in his 20's was in New York on business for Yardley's for whom he is beauty director. He also has his own salon in London.

After his first look at American women, he announced, "shocking lack of hair styling. English women are much more chic".

Among his customers internationally, he boasts Princess Irene of Greece, Princes Soraya, Princess Dina formerly of the Jordanian family, Jane Fonda, Juliet Prowse, Julie newmar, Diahann Carroll and Elke Sommers.

Austen takes a strong stand on makeup too.

"The first essence of good makeup is to create a young, soft, natural look", he said. "The dead, pale look is out.

"The accent in makeup is going from the eyes to the lips to go with a new, short boyish hair cut (for girls).

"Eyes are becoming rounder and more innocent . . . no more black eye liner or shadow, more softened tones. Eyebrows should be curved, not elongated. False eyelashes should be short and curly".

"High time for abolition of country roads system"

Dear Sir:

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Councillor Yacoob on his recent stand re our county road system, it is long past due for a real effort to be made to try and reduce our costs in place fo continuing to go ahead and spend the peoples money recklessly and in this field our county road system should receive very careful scrutiny, in 1965. The maintenance costs of the county of Victoria's 210 miles of road was approximately $246,000 while in the same year the township of Fenelon maintained about 90 miles of road for $47,000 and I must say they, the Township, did a splendid job. What is the reason for this great differential. Well, almost everybody knows but very few have the fortitude to say much or to do anything and it is high time for the abolition of the county road system.

Another county project that should receive careful attention is the County home.

Mr. Morrison has intimated his intention of aspiring to the wardenship and if successful he promises to push the proposed half million dollar extension. Is this expansion necessary at this time?

The Haliburton project is well advanced and I believe our Victoria County home is at present accommodating a number of Haliburtonites who in due course will be transferred and this should give considerable relief. In some of the reports it was intimated that the proposed expansion would accommodate about 90 guests or about $5.500 per capita of capital cost. a lot of money, while some municipalities are providing wonderful accommodation for about $2,000 per capita, a vast difference and something that should be investigated and given very careful thought before any action is taken.

It is all very well to say that the levy for welfare or for any department will have to be such and such does private enterprise do business this way? Well any business firm can answer this question and also know what to do about it in order to remain in business.

I hope that all county councillors newly elected and old hands alike will give very careful thought to their obligations to us, the tax payers, so that when they go to the inaugural meeting it will be with the determined intention of giving us careful and progressive administration in 1965 in place of drifting.

Very sincerely,
Sherman Osborne,
RR1 Fenelon Falls.

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — The Christmas meeting of the Couples Club of Fenelon Falls United Church which was held in the Fellowship Room, was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Coulter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Peters and Mr. and Mrs. Art Bell.

Christmas carols, under the leadership of Mrs. Ken Coulter with Mrs. H. Arscott at the piano opened the meeting.

The devotional period stressing the Christmas theme, included the Christmas story as recorded in St. Luke's Gospel read by Mrs. Peters and the meditation "The Star and the Stable" given by Jerry Peters. Mrs. Peters and Mrs. Coulter sang "Star of the East" accompanied by Mrs. Arscott.

Mr. W. A. Bain, the guest speaker was introduced by Mr. Bob White. Mr. Bain gave a timely talk in "Conditions in Quebec today". A lively question and discussion period followed. Ken Coulter read a Christmas poem from St. Frances of Assisi.

From a beautifully arranged Christmas table, refreshments were served to conclude an interesting meeting.

Ploughed path too narrow — councillor claims

Councillor John Eakins told council Monday he would not agree to acquiring another snow-plough for the town's sidewalks until he was shown what the present machine can do. A report from the Advisory Committee of the Board of Works informed council that the new sidewalk snow-ploughing equipment had been received. Mr. Eakins said from what he saw of the work done by the new equipment, the old snow-plough was better. He said a sidewalk he walked on, just after it had been ploughed, seemed too narrow.

Town Engineer Eric Booth said the snow-plough was equipped with a four-foot blade, but Mr. Eakins insisted the sidewalk he was referring to had not been ploughed to a four-foot width.

Reeve R. I. Moore said it would be wise to buy another snow-plough for next year. Councillor Eakins said he would like to see what the present machine could do before council considered a second one.

CHIMNEY FIRE

Lindsay firemen were called to the residence of John Stewart, 21 Kawartha Drive to extinguish a chimney fire at 10:25 p.m. Monday. Lindsay Fire Chief Arnold Watson said a five-gallon hand pump and a booster were used. He said no damage resulted.

MANY SERVE THE PUBLIC ON CHRISTMAS DAY

maintaining essential services . . .

While children all over town were excitedly opening presents from Santa Claus, with parents looking happily on, many families were gathered home for the happiest day of the year, many other people were at their posts maintaining essential service in the interest of health, safety and convenience of the public.

The Bell Telephone Company had their bevy of operators on hand to handle the usual large number of calls. Lindsay Hydro had staff on standby to handle any power emergency. Several Ontario Provincial Police officers were on patrol throughout the day as well as a constable on desk duty. The Lindsay Police and Fire Departments were manned and ready for any emergency. The Water Department had a man on duty at the pumping station as well as a man on call, and the Ross Memorial Hospital served special Christmas dinners to the patients and their guests as well as assuring their physical well being. The County Home for the Aged was also the scene of Christmas festivities requiring the services of staff members during the holiday.

Many of those on duty who were visited by "The Post" found happiness in bringing joy to others at Christmas time. One person visited smilingly admitted to their fifth Christmas Day on duty in the past six years, while some others found it a novel experience in helping to bring joy to others.

Provincial Constable Gerry Simpson of the Lindsay Detachment monitors the provincial police network and keeps in contact with the other men on patrol during the Christmas holiday. "Post" staff photo.

A rainy Christmas Day spoiled the shine on the Lindsay Police Cruiser as Constable Ralph Fountain started out again on his rounds in the interest of public protection. "Post" staff photo.

Lindsay and district police report a very quiet Christmas Day, and no calls were received at the fire department for fire fighting equipment or ambulance service.

IT WENT THAT-A-WAY

Peabody, Mass., (UPI) — What is black and white and sought all over?

If you need more clues, it also has a revolving blue and red dome light, a two way radio and a siren.

The cruiser was taken last night from right in front of the city police headquarters where it had been left with its motor running.

Christmas dinner on the job was the order of the day for stationary engineer A. O. Johnston, on duty at the Ross Memorial Hospital Friday. "Post" staff photo

COUNTY WELFARE DEPARTMENT URGED BY COUNCILLOR EAKINS

Town council may approach Victoria County for the formation of a County Welfare Department, it was learned at a meeting of the town council Monday night. John Eakins, Chairman of the Welfare Committee said he wanted the town council to bring the matter up for discussion in county council early in the new year. He said this ties in with the formation of a Country Health Unit.

Mr. Eakins said welfare must work on a larger basis than within separate municipalities. He stated that if all efforts were channelled through one central office, it would be ideal for maximum efficiency. Mr. Eakins added, "It takes an experienced staff to get the most value out of each dollar." He suggested if this could be worked on the county level, a staff could be appointed to administer welfare throughout the county. He said the staff should be familiar with the work of the Medical Officer of Health, the Victorian Order of Nurses, Boards and Departments of Health and the Children's Aid Society.

Council indicated that steps may be taken in the direction.

HEALTH UNIT NEXT YEAR?

Peterboro and Victoria Counties will combine to form a health unit early in the new year. Reeve R. I. Moore told members of town council Monday night. The statement followed a letter from Dr. W. R. Crowe, in which he requested council to accept his resignation as Medical Officer of Health. Dr. Crowe recently sent a letter of resignation to council but rather than accept it at the time, council asked the doctor to hold the post until a county health unit could be established.

In a letter to council Monday night, Dr. Crowe said he did not mean to be arbitrary but, "I must insist that my resignation be accepted". Reeve Moore told council, "I'm sure the doctor didn't know we would have a health unit so soon". Reeve Moore said the invitation was extended by Peterboro after December 8.

Council decided to fill the MOH vacancy by appointing someone temporarily on a fee basis. Council will give Dr. Crowe the first chance to accept the appointment and if he declines council will advertise through the Victoria Medical Society to have the vacancy filled.

Council gets bogged in bylaw

Following complaints from some local restaurants, town council planned three readings of a bylaw to regulate mobile canteens but after the bylaw was read, council got bogged down in legal terminology and sent the bylaw back to be redrafted.

The bylaw stated that mobile refreshment vendors can at no time operate on rush-hour streets, defined as Colborne Street East and West, Kent Street West, Queen Street and Lindsay Street South, or where parking meters are, or will be placed or in prohibited areas. The bylaw provided that a one-dollar license fee annually would be necessary for each vehicle to cover the cost of health inspections.

Councillors questioned the word "operate" asking if the vendor would be permitted to drive his vehicle on the streets defined as "rush-hour" streets. Reeve R.I. Moore suggested the bylaw be amended to read "cannot dispense merchandise on rush-hour streets". Then councillors questioned whether bulk orders were included in the dispensing of merchandise and whether it would be permissable for the vending-truck to pull off the road onto private property.

Councillor David Logan asked what the prohibited areas referred to in the bylaw were and no one could answer that question. It was suggested perhaps it meant areas where vehicles were not permitted to travel, parks in the towns, and areas where the police, at their discretion might decide the mobile vendors may go.

Councillor Carl Brown charged that this last suggestion would be unfair. He said it would make the town police the "judge and jury" in the matter.

Mayor Joseph Holtom said the bylaw and was very loosly worded and asked who drafted it. After he was told the town clerk and town solicitor had prepared the by-law, Mayor Holtom said council relies on the clerk and solicitors to draft the bylaws properly before they are presented to council to be passed. "This bylaw must be sent back for review and re-drafting", Mayor Holtom added.

Council carried a motion to refer the bylaw to the Advisory and Finance Committees for study and re-drafting.

INVESTIGATE BREAK-INS

Lindsay Police reported two break-ins Monday night. Police said the break-ins occurred at the Paper Box factory on Bond Street and the Imperial Oil bulk station at the corner of Sussex and Melbourne Streets. Chief John Hunter said nothing was reported missing.

Police said no other details are available at this time. Lindsay Police Constable Ralph Fountain is investigating.

Lindsay can control signs — Mayor Holtom

Mayor Joseph Holtom told town council last night, Lindsay is ahead of other towns in the control of signs, since a plan has been in operation for seven years. Referring to a letter from the town of Gananoque suggesting legislation be introduced to control the number of signs on the streets in a town, Mayor Holtom said Lindsay has covered this area in its zoning bylaw. He added, "Gananoque needs an official plan and bylaw; that will give them all the authority they need to control the placement of signs".

In the letter, town officials of Gananoque complained of difficulty with the control of signs and called them "a nuisance, cluttering up the streets". The town officials said they wanted power similiar to the county, which has authority to prohibit erection of signs within a specified distance from the road allowance on county roads.

$600 DAMAGE

Damage of $600 resulted when a car driven by Mayer Hewitt, 19, of Brampton went out of control on a straight stretch of the North Road in Minden Township at 1:15 a.m. on December 26 and rolled over. Minden OPP said the road surface was wet. No injuries resulted.

Minden OPP Constable Earl Bush investigated.

LINDSAY HYDRO "SLOW" CHARGES COUNCILLOR LOGAN

Councillor David Logan, Chairman of the subdivision committee, charged that the Lindsay Hydro Electric System was slow and suggested that the procedure of having Lindsay Hydro install the poles, lights and wiring should be reviewed early next year to overcome this difficulty. Mr. Logan said only one subdivision has lighting and in others the poles have not even been erected. He suggested council consider sub-letting the work of erecting the poles to save time.

Lindsay Hydro, he said, has taken a great deal of time, "probably because Hydro has so many jobs".

With the exception of street lights, all the projects in the subdivisions have been completed, he said.

MAILMAN DON'T BE SLOW!

London (UPI) — A letter from Melbourne, Australia, has been delivered to England in 26 hours, covering a distance of 13,000 miles.

Haliburton Legion elect new officers

John Fergus of Minden is the new president of the Haliburton Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion. Immediate past president is Allin Cooper. First vice-president of the branch is George Brennan and second vice-president James Miles.

Other officers elected are Tresurer, Harold Douglas; Executive Committee, Dick Clark, Ross Anderson, Eldon Sibley, Max Sisson, Bill Neimi and Sgt.-at-Arms, Reg. Brooks. Service Bureau officer for 1965 is Harold Douglas. A secretary is still to be appointed.

Zone Commander Ian Scott of Lindsay will be in charge of the installation at the next meeting in Haliburton on January 8th.

Holiday Time

Lindsay was fortunate over the Christmas holidays not to suffer any highway fatalities. Peterboro was not as fortunate and the death toll over the festive season is high.

A holiday is a time for frivolity and carefree joy, a time to be convivial and friendly but it must be remembered that the jovial, jinketing driver of today has a couple of hundred horsepower and a two-ton vehicle under his command and is also surrounded with other similarly equipped drivers. When a festive party drops an alcoholic mist over a driver's unfocussing eyes and reduces his driving ability, it produces an unguided missile that takes life in horrifying quantity.

Christmas is over but the last day of the old year is celebrated in many ways, particularly by the partying crowd. If you are wise you will use public transportation if you have to travel on that evening. For safety's sake adhere to the rule of not driving if you take alcoholic drinks and make the last one "for the road" tea or coffee whether driving or walking.

Contradictions of Diplomacy

(UPI)—Back in 1801 when Barbary pirates operating out of Tripoli were molesting U. S. shipping, the United States put a stop to it by sending in warships and marines.

But times have changed and just how much they have changed may be seen by looking just a little farther along the Mediterranean coast to the United Arab Republic.

It is one of the contradictions of modern diplomacy that despite violent attacks on U. S. lives and property within the U.A.R., the Nasser government sees nothing inconsistent in pressing at the same time for stepped up shipments of American food.

And, while there may be some delay, it seems probable that they will get it.

It is of a pattern established throughout the world among new and underdeveloped nations who see no relationship between violent anti-US outbursts, usually organized by the governments, and their continuing right to U. S. aid.

In the first of two incidents, a mob presumably made up of African students and some Egyptians attacked and burned the John F. Kennedy library attached to the U. S. Embassy in Cairo.

A grudging government apology came two days later, followed later by a bland announcement that Nasser would make a gift to the library of 1,000 books and a set of encyclopedias.

Then on Dec. 19 came the shooting down of an armed U. S. oil company airplane by Russian-built Egyptian Migs and the deaths of the two American-owned fliers. The plane, enroute from Jordan to Libya, had filed a normal flight plan and had made the trip many times before.

Along with these two incidents had been a violent anti-American press campaign.

Meantime, the U. A. R. government is asking the United States for an additional total of $35 million in surplus foods over the $140 million already allotted for the coming year.

The program is conducted under the public law 480 program which provides that U. S. farm surpluses may be sold in foreign countries for local currencies, much of which is then plowed back in development schemes.

The Egyptians are short of hard currency and face an increasingly severe food shortage. Recently, to combat rising prices and flourishing black market, the government banned the sale of meat for three days a week.

From the U. S., Nasser is said especially anxious to obtain beef, poultry and corn.

Neither the United States nor the Soviet Union has great reason to be happy with Nasser. Despite huge Soviet aid, Nasser continues to jail local Communists.

But both feel it necessary to tolerate him. From the U. S. standpoint he does represent a certain stability. He is the strongest among the Arab leaders and now is working hard to extend his influence throughout Africa. The U. S. view has been that no matter how unpleasant Nasser may be, it should be in a position in Cairo to exercise a restraining influence even though limited.

But recent events make it seem certain that relations can only worsen.

The lady went headhunting

(UPI)—Princess Fatima Wan Abdul Rahman practiced headhunting in her youth. Today she's a welfare worker in the Malaysian city of Kuching on the island of Borneo in Sarawak.

Twenty-three years ago the Japanese occupied Malaya. Princess Fatima was of the Royal Family of Brunei, a mere 15-year-old at the time . . . but she was a guerrilla fighter against the occupying Japanese.

The Dyaks had been ardent headhunters before the war and practiced the art extensively on Japanese invaders, whenever possible.

The princess—enthroned in the jungles of Borneo with a group of Dyak guerrillas—readily related how she won initiation as a headhuntress.

She said one night her group of Dyak guerrillas stumbled upon 24 Japanese soldiers struggling in a river rapids in dugout canoes. The Dyak band assaulted the Japanese. After the Japanese soldiers were bound, the leader of the Dyaks asked the princess to "wet her hands."

In Dyak—"wetting one's hands" means taking the heads of one's enemies.

The princess said she took her parang—a razor-like Dyak knife —and beheaded four Japanese.

Princess Fatima said it was necessary for her to perform the act and added, "of course, I did it swiftly. I did not want to torture them."

If Indonesian President Sukarno attacks Malaysia—this formidable woman will take to the jungles again to defend her land.

But the practice of headhunting among the Dyaks has calmed — replaced by more constructive endeavours . . . although Princess Fatima says there is always some vendetta being settled in the traditional Dyak fashion.

The princess is a remarkable woman. She is twice married and the mother of 15 children. She is Westernized and the leader of social welfare work in Kuching — the capital city of Sarawak.

She is married to a member of the Malaysian parliament.

In 1961, Fatima and some other ladies organized the Kuching Women's Home Welfare Association. The organization cares for indigent people . . . operates kindergartens and teaches basic housekeeping to Malaysian women.

The princess also is active with the Girl Scouts.

Her work day begins at eight each morning, when she paddles a small sampan across the Sarawak river to the Red Cross office in Kuching.

The princess organizes handicrafts and the housekeeping classes. Fatima says Malaysia "is a democratic country and everybody should at least try to do something."

The princess says her prime ambition when she grows old is to write a book. She said she has "a good story to tell."

Lifeline

"I suppose that people never cease to regret, when sickness or death kicks down the door of accustomed routine within a family or other close community, that they had talked so little contact with the person who is suffering or dying. This contact, often long unsought, or even denied, then becomes overwhelming, one might say, all important . . . Such times, then, are often marked by a perception, however short-lived, of the way in which the meaning or value of life bound up with the quality of communication between us; what we are only in relation to others." John Brown, Warden of the College of Aeronautics, Cranfield, England.

Symbolism of American Classic

"The beauty of the symbol in literature, when successful, is that it can be tied down to no one single meaning; its richness and its continuing life lie in its ambiguity. So one could have as many reasonable and acceptable interpretations of the chase in 'Moby Dick', the confrontation and the destruction of Ahab as there are readers of the novel. It has been described as the best handbook on whaling ever written. That is true. It is also the best tragic epic of modern times. And its power derives from the fact that these two aspects of it cannot be separated." — Novelist and critic Walter Allen.

A Remarkable Record

Monday evening Col. R. Ivan Moore, Q.C., reeve of Lindsay sat on the Lindsay council for the last time. He has decided to step down from civic politics and enjoy a well-earned rest after many, many years of service in the municipal field.

"The Post" would like to pay tribute to the colonel. He has a record of service few can equal. His service includes a splendid record in the military field in which he rose to the office of colonel. He served as commanding officer at home and abroad with distinction and still carries the scars of battle wounds from World War One.

Following the war Mr. Moore earned the reputation of being a true friend to the returned veteran, especially if through the whims of fate and circumstances the returned man needed help. He had the honour of leading the Lindsay Air Cadets in town.

Col. Moore has also a remarkable record of service to the community. He gave outstanding service as campaign chairman in connection with the Ross Memorial Hospital extension, he served as chairman of the Board of Governors and is still a member of the RMH board.

The popular reeve has served for eleven years on council, twice as Mayor and presently as reeve. In County Council he was on a number of Committees.

Mr. Moore is a charter member of Kiwanis and has served for forty-two years going on from President to Lieutenant Governor and Governor of all clubs in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes. He was active in the building of the Kiwanis arena.

In his church Col. Moore was not only a warden at St. Paul's Anglican Church but engaged in other departments of the church. He has been a member of the Community Chest since its beginning, a worker in the TB and Cancer Societies, a member of the Royal Canadian Legion, a past president and patron of the Curling Club, a past Master of the Masonic Order, and a member of the I. O. O. F.

In the legal profession Col. Moore practiced successfully for many years and was honoured by being named police magistrate, an exacting position he filled with good judgement for many years.

Colonel Moore is well entitled to the name "Mr. Lindsay" as ex-Mayor A. E. (Bert) Hick referred to him at the last nomination meeting.

We wish Mr. Moore many, many years of continued good health.

Forbidden Plateau

Courtney, B.C., (UPI)—At the same time every year, the snows of Hiyu Cultus Illahe, on Vancouver Island, turn to red.

Scientists say te phenomenon is caused by a small reddish organism, which each year turns the snows of the "Forbidden Plateau" to the red colour.

But the Commox Indians tell of a hairy wind-man that wiped out an entire village of women and children by throwing them over the plateau.

Now, at the anniversary of the killings, the snows again change to the colour of blood or so the Indians say.

Hiyu Cultus Illahe is Commox Indian for forbidden plateau—a 100-square-mile wilderness on British Columbia's Vancouver Island.

It is 16 miles west of Courtney and before 1923, was known only to prospectors and timber cruisers. For generations Indians shunned the area where peaks range as high as 7,000 feet.

In the beginning — long before the Commox Indians lived on the delta of the Courtenay River. They led a happy life—fishing and hunting was good —and the climate was pleasant.

But one day tales of a fearfull invader shook the community.

Knowing a battle was coming, the Commox warriors gathered their women and children and sent them to the forbidden plateau. On their return, all they found was blood-stained snow. The women and children were never seen again.

But at least one Indian apparently survived the encounter with the feared plateau whitemen. Many years ago, as an old man, he told his story to a white settler.

The hairy giants took him to their camp, and after he attempted to escape, they threw him over the cliff. He manged to grab branches to break his fall, but was knocked unconscious by the impact and eventually was found by a fishing party.

"Hiyu Cultus Illahe," the battered Indian told his people—"The forbidden plateau."

The plateau is a hunter's paradise. Deer and bear roam the lush wilds and the rivers are filled with trout. Sportsmen looking for game and adventure find the area hardly changed from the time of its creation.

The Odd Spot

Princes Risborough is a small town in Buckinghanshire, England.

But it is an expanding town which twice a year is plagued by a fair, held by ancient charter in the centre of the town. This causes many accidents, and also impedes the commerce of the community.

But no one, except the Black Prince, who once owned the town and granted the charter but died 600 years ago, and the Lord of the Manor can alter this charter. Unfortunately there is no Lord of the Manor, anyone remotely resembling a person of that authority.

Now it seems that the only person who could order the removal of the fair from the town centre is the Queen, so the Parish Council is considering petitioning her on the matter.

For the historically-minded the Black Prince was the popular title conferred upon Edward of Woodstock, eldest son of King Edward III, and an ancestor of the present Queen. He was created Duke of Cornwall in 1337, the first Duke to be created, and Prince of Wales six years later. He was a great soldier, and became known as the Black Prince because of the armour he wore.

He was a model of the conventional chivalry of those days — the knights in shining armour rescuing damsels in distress touch — but was not exactly an economist, and consequently was plagued with creditors and tax collectors from the early days of boyhood. His second son became Richard the Second of England. The Black Prince is buried in Canterbury Cathedral with his helmet and gauntlets on top of his tomb.

CHANGING TIMES

Lowestoft, England, (UPI) (UPI) — Times are changing in Lowestoft. It has been decided to replace the town's gas lights with electric lights.

SWEEP

Many local curlers are unaware of the fact that the first shipment of matched stones ordered from Scotland by the Lindsay Curling Club went down to the bottom of the Atlantic ocean when German torpedoes sank the Lithenia. It was a year later before the second batch of matched stones crossed the ocean safely. They are still in use.

It is interesting to learn that although curling stones have always been shipped to Canada from the quarry in Scotland, that a story in the Hydro News recently disclosed the fact that a brave attempt is now being made to manufacture stones in Ontario out of black granite. Jack Boitson writes the following interesting story entitled "A Sweeping Denarture".

When it comes to haggis, good whiskey and curling stones, the credit or blame belongs to the Scots. Heroin they can have, scotch we'll be happy to import, but curling stones — that remains to be seen.

The Scots gave birth to the "Roaring Game" as early as the 16th century, according to some accounts and they were canny enough to convince everyone that the only granite suitable for the manufacture of curling stones happened to be located in Scotland. They have supplied those portions of the world addicted to this pristine winter pastime ever since.

Outrageous as it may seem, a tiny company with big ideas and a deposit or rare granite in Northeastern Ontario is drawing a bead on this Scottish monopoly. Armed with orders for about 500 curling stones, the River Valley Stone Manufacturing Company, 20 miles north of Thirteen Falls, is all set to commence production. Prototypes have been tested extensively and are said to comply with all the necessary standards. It all came about when River Valley resident Claude Larcher, who operates a small logging and lumber business, set out in search of some big horses which had gone astray. An amateur prospector, he was intrigued by the unusual texture of a rock outcropping he came upon in the rugged hills near town. Nothing happened when he chipped at it with the back of his axe. Only after hard, repeated blows was he able to break off a small chunk.

Unfamiliar with its gravblack color and very fine grain formation, he stuck the rock chip in his pocket and continued in search of his wayward animals.

Later, Claude showed his find to a friend, Hector Giroux, who owns a general store in River Valley.

"I knew right away what it was — black granite", Hector recalls... "I thought there might be a use for it, so we returned to the spot, and staked out about 90 acres altogether."

Samples were sent to the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys in Ottawa for analysis. Word soon came back telling them they had indeed found granite of extreme hardness and fineness.

Adds Hector, "I believe our granite surpasses the world renowned 'Black Swede' Granite, which up to now was the finest available for ornamental stone work."

Along with its assay, the Mines Department suggested the granite might be useful for making curling stones.

"This was all we needed", says Hector. "When you consider that a pair of curling stones sell for $120 and more, and that orders from Scotland take more than two years to be filled, you could say we had found a gold mine!"

But it's one thing to find a 'gold mine' — and another to make it pay. Just how do you make curling stones?

"We had a time of it," Claude Larcher remembers. "No one could tell us how to make them, or the kind of equipment we would need. Luckily, Pietro Allero joined us last year. He is a master stone- cutter from Italy."

Something less than an authority on curling stones himself, Pietro did have plenty of imagination and ingenuity. Using a regular curling stone as his model, he painstakingly fashioned two stones by hand from the black granite. When they were finished, the stones were taken to the Cooper Cliff Curling Club for testing.

The crucial moment was at hand!

Throw after throw was made and the new stones glided along the ice smoothly, flawlessly — but straight as an arrow!

"No matter how many times we tried, the stones just wouldn't curl!" recalls Hector. "We almost broke down and cried."

Very carefully the stones were measured, compared and weighed. Scottish ones, bored and poked at but still the "something" that makes curling stones swing lazily from the straight line to the left or right at the curlers command, was missing.

"Out-turn or in-turn, the delivery made no difference, they just sailed along with no-turn" adds Hector. "One of us finally noticed that the lip of the cup on the underside of the Scottish stone was not highly polished — ours was. We roughed up the lip a little, tried it again, and bingo! — it curled beautifully!"

So they got on with the job of designing production. This proved to be a matter of modifying and adapting equipment intended for other purposes. Suitable stonemaking machinery, it seemed, was not to be had in the nearest dealers.

A hydraulic wire saw is used to cut the quarried granite into slabs five-and-a-half inches thick. Cores 11 inches in diameter are cut from the slab with a diamond bit. At this stage the product resembles a stone-age wheel.

A shaper contrived from a boring mill shaves the edges or shoulders, so that the granite now roughly resembles a curling stone. It's taken next to a polishing machine, where the final finish is imparted.

"Trial runs suggested our production methods would work", says Claude. Our next problem was speed. We talked to Cliff McConnel, Hydro manager at Warren, and he suggested that a three-phase, 550-volt service would be more than adequate. When this is installed, we plan to hire six men and begin full-scale production."

In 1962, Canada imported around 8,000 curling stones from Scotland. And delivery was slow.

We're aiming for an initial annual production of 2,500 stones" says Hector. We will be able to sell a pair for about $110".

As well as curling stones, the fledgling company plans to produce a variety of ornamental stonework such as fireplaces, garden and patio stones. Additional uses for the granite are also being explored.

Optimism is no crime, of course, but there are some rather formidable obstacles to be overcome before River Valley will bring furrows to the Scottish brow in the matter of curling stones. Sheer cussedness on the part of the curling fraternity is probably one. Purists all, they will be reluctant to sweep aside tradition where the serious business of stones is concerned.

And the River Valley product represents something of a departure in color and size. Almost jet black, the stones are also slimmer than their Scottish counterparts. Because of the black granite's greater density, the shoulders of the stone had to be shaved in order to meet the specified weight, which is approximately 40 pounds. At the same time, the diameter was required to conform with curling standards as was the height to the handle.

Gaining acceptance will take some doing in a pastime where reddish Scottish granit is about as traditional as the thirst-quenching ritual at the end of the game. But the River Valley partners are confident.

"We know our product is good," they say, "we've been comparing samples in curling centres across the country and we think it's just a question of time before our stones become a curling by-word in Canada."

Even if they are only half right they could be on to a good thing. Estimates suggest that nearly a million Canadians took to the brooms last winter.

Don't molest an Oak-pik!

The Snowy Owl, known to the Eskimos as "Oak-Pik", is among the owls and hawks that migrate to southern Ontario from the extreme northern part of Canada at this time of year. They are all beneficial to mankind in controlling the destructive rodent population such as mice which girdle and kill young trees in plantations and decorative trees as well during winter. Mice have a special preference for the bark of apple trees, but any young tree will do. The far northern visitors prevent a great deal of such damage.

It is because of their value that hawks and owls are protected by law. It is an offense under Ontario's Game and Fish Act to molest or harm these birds in any way.

"Ook-pik", the Snowy Owl, lives in Alaska, Labrador and to the extreme limits of land in the Arctic. It migrates south in search of food when the leeming and mouse crop in the far north has failed or is in a period of low cycle. The birds take up residence in southern areas where the mouse population is high and, in spring, return home to the northern tundra where they nest and raise their little "Ook-Piks". They hunt by day or at dusk and will be seen here frequently during the winter months.

Any person found molesting hawks or owls in any manner may be apprehended by conservation officers of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests and charged under the Game and Fish Act in magistrates' courts.

Quiet holiday

The Lindsay Police Department reported a very quiet holiday week-end. Police Chief John Hunter said there were no arrests for drinking and driving. The people appeared to have used good judgement he added. Chief Hunter said periodic spot-checks were carried out but drivers appeared to be all right. He said he hopes this continues throughout the remainder of the holiday season.

PLAY IT SAFE

Safe-driving on winter streets isn't a matter of luck. So often it's knowing the little tricks of the trade. For example there's drivers who rarely skid. They keep safe by pumping their brake pedals instead of holding them to the floor and locking the brakes. The safest way is to slip the car into low gear before braking, then brake gently, intermittently.

Thursday, January 7th, the topic will be "Farm Business — Records, Plans, Decisions" by D.A. McArthur, Farm Management Specialist, O.A.C. Guelph.

Ability impaired, truck driver fined $75, licence suspended

Robert Jenkinson, 24, of RR3, Fenelon Falls, a truck-driver, was fined $75 and costs in Lindsay Police Court Monday, or 7 days and had his driver's license suspended for three months after he pleaded guilty to having the care and control of an automobile while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Magistrate Ian Munro told the accused it was an expensive way to celebrate and he could have celebrated somewhere other than in a car. Magistrate Munro said, people who have to depend on driving for a living should be more careful of their driving privileges.

Fenelon Falls OPP Constable Stuart Brooke said investigation revealed that the accused had been proceeding east on Highway 121 in Fenelon Township when it went out of control after negotiating a "moderate" curve. Constable Brooke said the vehicle travelled 210 feet in an arc after it left the road. The constable said he found the vehicle in a ditch, undamaged, with the accused behind the wheel. The accused appeared to have been drinking he said.

Christmas Day accident causes $1,200 damage

Over $1,200 damage resulted Christmas Day when a car driven by Margaret Hawkins of 59 Pottinger Street struck a parked car at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Hawkins is reported by Lindsay hospital authorities to be in satisfactory condition in the hospital with a fractured left wrist and abrasions to her head.

Lindsay Police said the Hawkins vehicle was proceeding north on William Street, between Bourne and Regent Street when her vehicle came into collision with the rear of a vehicle occupied by Yvonne Woodcock of 4 Wellington St., which was parked on the east side of William Street.

Mrs. Hawkins was taken to hospital where she was treated by Dr. Charles Konyer for a fractured left wrist and abrasions to her head.

Damage was estimated at $600 to the Woodcock vehicle and over $600 to the Hawkins car.

$300 damage

An estimated $300 damage incurred early Sunday morning in the village of Oakwood when cars driven by Keith Harold Watson of RR 2, Oakwood and Murray Gavin McNevan of Scarborough collided on the four corners in the village. Constable George Scott of the Lindsay Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police conducted the investigation. There were no injuries reported.

Youth crashes Christmas Day at Fenelon Falls

Jethro Arscott, 21, of Francis Street Fenelon Falls is in satisfactory condition in Lindsay Hospital with injuries to both his legs, sustained when his car crashed into a tree, totally wrecking the car in Fenelon Falls early Christmas morning.

Fenelon Falls Police Chief William Weaver said the Arscott vehicle which had been proceeding west on Francis Street at 1:10 a.m. December 25 went out of control after it crossed some railway tracks and crashed into a tree, wrecking the vehicle.

Police said charges may be laid.

Bylaw no longer exists, charges are dismissed

Two charges of failing to put money in parking meters were successfully defended in Lindsay Police Court Monday. The charges were laid against Mary E. Bovie of 16 Durham Street West on October 24 and November 17 of this year.

Defence Counsel M. J. Cunningham pointed out that the charges were laid under by-law No. 2202 which was repealed on November 25 of 1963. Mr. Cunningham told "The Post" a large number of people were fined in 1964 under a by-law that doesn't exist.

WON AND LOST

Berlin (UPI) — A 25-year-old gasoline station attendant won a bet in a bar yesterday by drinking a half quart of German Cognac in 25 minutes. Then he dropped dead, police reported today.

Highway deaths across Canada during the Christmas holiday weekend surpassed predictions of the Canadian Highway Council. A total of 57 persons died in traffic accidents during the holiday. The council had predicted 50 road deaths during the period.

The total number of accidental deaths across the nation during the holiday came to 76. They included nine drownings, three deaths by fire and seven miscellaneous fatalities.

Close to 600 persons died in traffic accidents across the United States during the three day Christmas weekend, but the toll apparently fell short of a record.

A United Press International count of fatalities between 6 p.m. Thursday and midnight yesterday showed a total of 563 traffic deaths. The overall breakdown:

Traffic 581; fires 47; plates 18; miscellaneous 67; Total 713.

California led the death count with 60 traffic fatalities. There were 40 in New York State, 39 in Texas, 32 in Michigan, 33 in Pennsylvania, 29 in Illinois and 25 in Ohio.

Six states got through the holiday without a traffic fatality. They were Alaska, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana and Washington.

The death rate on the highways eased off after a frightening start in the holiday's first 24 hours. A spokesman for the National Safety Council said "The final toll is terrible enough, but it could have been far worse."

The Safety Council had warned that between 550 and 650 traffic deaths could be expected during the 78-hour holiday. The record for a three-day Christmas holiday was set in 1955 when 609 persons were killed.

The worst tragedy of the holiday was not recorded in the accidental toll. At least 40 persons died in California, Oregon, Idaho and Nevada from floods that caused hundreds of millions of dollars in damages.

Alaska may have been freed from holiday death, but not from holiday cold. The temperature failed to rise above 45 below in Fairbanks, Alaska, yesterday. Sub-zero cold gripped much of the northern states during the Christmas period.

The holiday traffic toll started out at what officials feared might be an all-time record, perhaps even worse than the four-day "black Christmas" toll of 709 in 1956.

But the pace dropped in the late hours, despite several serious accidents.

Three cars came together on a rain-slick highway near Oceanside, Calif., yesterday killing five persons, two cars collided at an intersection in Tucson, Ariz. late Saturday killing four teen-agers. A tractor-trailer truck rammed a pickup truck near Villa Rica, Ga. yesterday killing all four occupants of the pickup.

A father and four children were asphyxiated in their home at Memphis, Tenn., yesterday by fumes from an unvented heater. A single-engine plane crashed in the Santa Cruz mountains in California yesterday and all five persons aboard died.

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — The I.O.O.F. of Lindsay won the prize for the most original float in the Fenelon Falls Santa Claus parade with their display of 'Old King Cole' under the direction of Ron Shannan.

Second prize went to the Sunshine Club of Fenelon Falls for the best group of children in costume.

The community prize for the best decorated home went to L. Jubb of RR1, Fenelon Falls.

Christmas phone calls a record

Lindsay Bell Telephone manager C. B. Symonds reported Monday that Christmas day calls this year exceeded their estimate by almost 200 calls.

Total calls handled through the Lindsay office totalled 2360 which could well be a record for the Lindsay exchange, he said. There was heavy traffic to Western Canada while the Eastern areas were well up in the count. The manager said that an unusual number of calls to unfamiliar places were handled by the Lindsay operators on the holiday.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

LOW 'BUST' MEASUREMENT NOT REASON FOR ANXIETY

Unhappiness still fills the undeveloped bosoms of many who wish they weren't so flat.

I continue to receive letters from depressed women who could like to find some serum or hormone which will quickly develop them. Unfortunately there's no such medicine around. Although, many are turning to plastic surgery for aid.

Here is a helpful letter for those in the abyss of despair, as they used to say in the old novels.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I was very touched after reading in your column of the two 19-year-olds with the undeveloped breast problem.

I would like to say that in the first place these two dear young ladies are putting too much stress on this matter. Beauty of face, body, etc., may attract attention by the opposite sex, but it goes deeper than that.

My last daughter who is now 24, is married to a doctor. I never one was lacking in this undeveloped condition, she was. She also has a nose with a sharp rise in the middle. For a while she considered plastic surgery. Yet to everyone who knew her she was so charming and had such a happy, and vibrant personality that you never gave a thought to an imperfection or lack. Just a lovely person, gracious, kind, thoughtful and she is said to be the most wonderful hostess, entertains like a queen, has so many friends her home is never empty. She also has an adorable baby daughter, and yes, she did nurse this sweet baby, too.

So there you are, girls. Who said that underdeveloped girls are out of luck? Don't for one moment think your chances are slim.

Get on your aprons and learn how to be good cooks. You will never have to worry about the opposite sex. No man can turn down a well-cooked meal. He may turn his head to look at a glamour girl, but when it comes down to the real things in life like a good meal, a charming, well-kept home, where he can relax and a have a happy and loving wife to greet him, he will melt in your arms and, say, "How lucky can a man get?"

More power to you, dear young things. Concentrate on the important matters and you can take your mind off your present worries. They really don't amount to much.—Mrs. D.

COCKTAILS ANYONE?

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: The area population here in Washington is about 2 million. Recently a campaign was organized to immunize a large portion of the population against polio. These sugar cubes are taken orally and have three drops of the vaccine on them. Oral polio vaccine is given in three types and is administered to last a fairly long period of time.

In my particular case it seems wise to take a small amount of alcohol before taking the vaccine. Taken this way, even if given orally, the alcohol would produce the same antiseptic effect which is produced when your arm is cleansed before having a shot with a hypodermic needle.—Mr. W.

Comment: Confession or what, Mr. W.? I'm sure you don't suggest it as a universal procedure. I've heard that people make a lot of excuses to have a cocktail party in the nation's capital, but this is the best reason for a drink I've heard yet. Or, am I just a square? Not hep and all that.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS FOR SCUBA DIVERS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My husband who is only 34, was discharged from the army because he had a coronary thrombosis attack after a long march. Before he went into the service he was an ardent scuba diver. He is stubborn. He wants to dive again. It seems to me it is a silly thing to do considering his heart attack. Mrs. T.

Comment: More than silly. He's inviting serious trouble.

There are certain basic health requirements when a person takes up scuba diving. For example, he must be free from chronic or acute respiratory infection (bronchitis, emphysema, severe common cold, etc.). His ear drums and hearing should be O.K. Even obesity is a factor. Anyone over weight should not engage in the sport. People emotionally unstable add another minus sign.

But when there is an unmistakeable history of a coronary attack (either a previous cardiac infarction (injury to heart muscle after a thrombosis), or having actual attacks of angina pectoris, I believe there is but only one decision to make: NO. Tell your husband if he persists in diving he's asking for it. For what? He knows what.

ACTIVE AT 86

"I don't want to get old." How often I receive such words from people in their 40's and 50's, who look with aversion on the later years. But not all oldsters react that way.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have one of the sweetest mothers in the whole, wide world. Although she is 86 she is active as can be. She is a Gray Lady in the hospital — still writes letters to shutins; reads for patients; visits the "aged" in the hospital and at home; sends greeting cards to the sick; attends church regularly and teaches Sunday school; puts on four plays each year, and is civic-minded.

Is there any wonder everyone loves her?? If I can be like she is when I get old, I want to live to 100. Mrs. O.

* * *

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My brother had two goldfish, which he kept in one of those small bowls that require a frequent change of water. In performing this task his hands may have come in contact occasionally with the fish or the used water. Later he died of ulcerative colitis. A neighbor expressed an opinion that has been bothering me. Could he have picked up a germ from the goldfish that caused his trouble? Mr. Mc.

Comment: I doubt it.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: One of the main causes of dissension among office workers seems to be the question of heat and ventilation. I should very much appreciate your opinion as to whether drafts, electric fans, etc., tend to aggravate one's arthritic joints, irritable colons, stiff necks, and encourage colds, etc. Or is it all imaginary? Miss D.

Comment: Not imaginary at all. Try to find a comfortable spot in the office even if you have to go to the boss to talk it over. Some hardy soul who doesn't seem to mind drafts, etc., will be willing to swap places (you hope!).

Imaginary? Why, if I sat in a draft (and felt the faintest sliver of cold air sneaking up my leg) I'd be sneezing within the minute. I can walk in a blizzard and in freezing weather without any discomfort. But deliver me from a draft!

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International

Hollywood (UPI) The country's richest baby sitters — most active are Joe Barbera and Bill Hanna of the Hanna-Barbera cartoon factory.

At some time or other throughout most of the day little kids plop themselves — or are tricked into playpens — in front of a television set to be baby-sat by Hanna-Barbera productions.

It beats paying a teen-ager, and it relieves mothers of entertaining their offspring..

The tots are exposed to a whole gallery of wacky characters: Quick Draw McGraw, Touche Turtle, Yogi Bear, Peter Potamus, Ruff and Reddy, Magilla Gorilla, Wally Gater, and, well, you get the idea.

These far ranging cartoon animals survive a series of misadventures that make their soap opera competition pale by comparison.

In all there are 13 half-hour series beaming around the country on various channels and different times of the day.

They are seen in 52 countries and by some 330 million persons (although mostly kids in this country) according to Joe Barbera, a handsome, articulate man whose fine Italian hand is unerringly on the pulse of the nation's smallfry.

In addition to the daytime shows, H-B also produce "The Flintstones" for nighttime adult viewing and a new and revolutionary cartoon series titled "Johnny Quest." The latter is a half-hour adventure drama involving serious plots and new techniques in cartooning..

"We're very proud of this one," Barbera said during a brown derby lunch. "It's costing one third more than we expected, but it's worth it. The idea is giving birth to three new shows, too."

Hanna-Barbara have been approached time and again to put together a Disneyland-like park incorporating their myriad cartoon characters. Plans are in the works now to make it a reality..

"We have 320 full-time artists working on our cartoons right now," Barbera said. "But we're planning to produce our first live feature film, starring real actors."

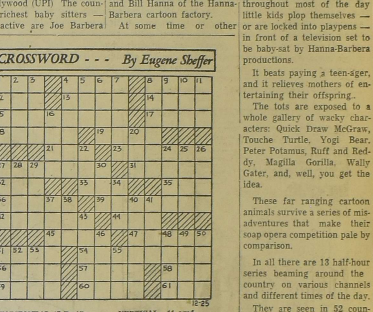

Barbera is convinced his cartoons — the ones that do the baby-sitting during the day — are contributing to the education of the play-pen set.

"There are no sponsors for three-year-olds and under," he explained. "There isn't a broad enough audience. The sharp kids of four and five today wouldn't put up with nursery rhyme stuff. They're too hip; they've seen much more sophisticated things.

"So the real little ones have to watch our shows produced for older children and adults. It brings them along much more quickly than you'd suspect.

"They're not only entertained by our shows, they're educated as well. Our aim is to reach all age groups, and I think that's exactly what we're doing."

HOW TO CHOOSE FAMILY DOCTOR

So many write, completely frustrated, on their inability to choose a satisfactory family physician. Women especially, who are usually the custodians of their family's health, want to know how to choose a family doctor. Often those who move to a new location are in a quandary. They miss their old doctor.

In many columns I have suggested, in such cases, that they turn to their own physician for recommendations. Failing this that they ask local medical associations or hospitals for advice. Recently I received a letter from William R. De Lay of the American Academy of General Practice which may help, too.

"An alternative to contacting the local medical association or hospital in quest of a family physician is to write a letter or postcard direct to the Academy. (The American Academy of General Practice, Volker Boulevard at Brookside, Kansas City, Mo.). Response is made in the form of a loose page or pages from the Academy's membership directory (depending upon the number of members) listing Academy members in the inquirer's home community.

"This listing gives vital statistics of each physician and his address, enabling the individual to select one or several doctors nearest his home as possibilities for further investigation. The academy is pleased to perform this public service in the interest of those seeking a qualified family doctor.

"Since inaugurating this service nearly 10 years ago, we have serviced more than 100,000 requests. Again, we appreciate your recognition of the American family doctor as a prime force in the nation's health".

SCIATIC NERVE

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Will you give me some advice about my sciatic nerve? My right leg has been affected by it for the past few months. At first it was a sudden, severe pain going all the way down into my foot. Gradually it's getting better, but far from good. My doctor has been giving me vitamin shots for it. But I still limp and can't do much walking. Don't you think I ought to be X-rayed or something?—Mrs. C.

Comment: Not too many years back a hot iron to the hip and down the thigh was a common treatment. Of course, there was the old standby aspirin (and codeine) to help control the pain. Rest in bed on a board (under the mattress) was auxiliary treatment.

But lately, we are always suspicious of some trouble in the spine pressing on the sciatic nerve causing the trouble. Is it trouble in a disc or something else interfering with proper function of the vertebra?

Yes, I think you ought to have X-rays. Also a complete physical. For example, diabetes mellitus or some other systemic disease, may be a factor in producing nerve pain and numbness. Vitamins alone are not the answer to your problem.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Even Hitler would be safe after May 8th, 1965 . . .

Bonn (UPI) — West Germans are trying to decide how many murderers among them may be able to boast openly after May 8, 1965, about the headier days when they had a license to kill Jews.

The statute of limitations on murder runs in Germany for 20 years, and the Nazi regime and its period of crime came to an end on May 8, 1945, the day of its capitulation to the allies.

As matters now stand, even Adolph Hitler would be safe from prosecution after then because no German court has opened a legal proceeding against him, on the assumption that he is dead.

The government says if anyone produces any evidence before then that Hitler is alive, formal charges will be laid against him. But others fear that if such evidence were made available only after the deadline, Hitler probably would be safe from prosecution.

Under German law, the 20 years of the Statute of Limitations runs from the date of the murder in question, or from the date of the last legal proceedings in the case.

The decision on extending the Statute of Limitations now nas narrowed to a question of whether all or most of the Nazi mass murderers or their crimes have been identified and legal proceedings opened against them.

Federal Justice Minister Ewald Bucher believes most crimes and murderers have been detected and proceedings opened against them, so that they could be brought before a court at any moment during at least the next 20 years.

By Jan. 1, 1964, German courts had tried 12,882 persons for Nazi crimes.

District Attorney Erwin Schuele responsible for most of the current investigation of hitherto unexplored Nazi crimes, believes the rate of undetected Nazi criminals "Is somewhat less than for ordinary crime".

Schuele is head of the Central Office for the Clarification National Socialist Crimes. Established in Ludwigsburg in 1958 at Schuele's suggestion, it co-ordinates the investigations of crimes committed by Nazis outside the geographic area of the West German Federal Republic, in the Main, in Eastern Europe.

Those who demand an extension of the Statute of Limitations insist there are tons of documents yet to be read and many witnesses still to be heard which will identify perhaps thousands of Nazi criminals yet undetected and unpunished. Even the documents cannot possibly be assessed in the five months remaining of the 20 years since the fall of the Nazi regime they argue.

Robert Kempner, an American lawyer of German birth who was one of the U.S. prosecutors at the Nuernberg trial of Hermann Goering and company, estimates that up to 10,000 Nazi murderers are still free.

"It is like an iceberg", Kemp-

Simon Wiesenthal, one of the men who led the search for Adolf Eichmann after everyone else assumed he, as Hitler, was dead, thinks 256 Nazi leaders now considered deceased are alive, and living somewhere with false identities.

A smile of appreciation crosses the face of 11-year-old Larry Houghton of Lindsay after he opens the gift Santa Claus and members of the Royal Canadian Legion gave him when they visited the Lindsay Hospital Tuesday night. —"Post" Staff Photo.

SYMPTOMS AND CARE OF DIVERTICULITIS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have had a few attacks of diverticulitis during the past year, even though I have been on medical treatment. After consultation with a surgeon, I was advised to have an operation to cure it. What do you thing? –Mrs. O.

Comment: As you'll agree the decision is up to you and your doctors. I'd only muddy the situation if I tried to give you specific advice without knowing your complete history and physical findings. It's tempting to make long-distance diagnoses, but I lean backwards when asked for individual advice. Nevertheless perhaps I can help you indirectly, by making a few points about diverticulitis.

As you know, there is a difference between diverticulosis and diverticulitis. In the former, which is, by the way, more common than people realize, there are a few small, dilated pouches in the intestines. In most instances these cause no symptoms at all.

However, in those instances where they become inflamed, the result is diverticulitis. Patients may have abdominal pain fever, cramps, distension and even a mass can be felt in the abdomen. In some cases, attacks simulate acute appendicitis. Quite often, the patient passes bright red blood in his stools.

Unless there is really an acute emergency, the physician treats his patient conservatively. He prescribes (and I suppose you've been through it, Mrs. O.) rest and a low residue diet. Also antibiotics. Sedatives, antispasmodics and mineral oil or psyllium seed are also given as necessary.

WHEN SURGERY IS CONSIDERED

As in your case, when there is a history of repeated attacks which are not influenced by conservative, medical treatment, surgery must be considered. Especially if there is a mass in the abdomen, if there is repeated bowel hemorrhage, or other symptoms which indicate that a small pouch or pouches have perforated causing localized peritonitis.

If such an operation is done in time, it can be performed in one stage without serious complications. However, if complications have arisen, the resections of intestines are done in more than one stage.

You see, therefore, Mrs. O., that occasionally operation for diverticulitis must be given serious consideration. If you are in doubt about your doctor's decision, get another opinion or two. But don't put it off too long.

* * *

Mrs. H.: Hydrocele is a collection of fluid between the layers of testicle coverings. It is true that sometimes it can be cured by draining off this fluid by a needle puncture and syringe. At times, when the scrotum is quite large it may resemble a hernia. But the diagnosis is relatively easy. If the swelling returns, a simple operation will take care of it.

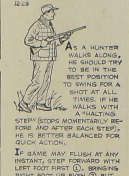

* * *

Mrs. D.: Of course you should be careful not to let your youngsters get near roach poisons. These are dangerous to humans because they contain such substances as arsenic, copper, strychnine, thallium and cyanide. In such an emergency, empty the stomach, give milk or the whites of eggs beaten up in water, and powdered charcoal (if handy). Most important, get the child to a doctor or hospital as soon as possible.

Volunteer help for hospital recruited soon

All department heads at the Ross Memorial Hospital have been advised of the volunteer programme, and have been asked to advise the administrator of their "needs". When this information is known, several of the community resource organizations will be contacted to obtain candidates, RMH board members were told Wednesday.

The statistical report for the month of November shows a net decrease of 39 admissions compared to October, but a net increase of 112 over last year. Patient days totalled 3,952 in November compared to 4,006 in October. Year to date figures however show a net increase of 60 patient days. Average daily occupancy for November is up over the month of October with the average for the year to date running at 131.5 patients.

Percentage occupancy in relation to the rated capacity at the Ross Memorial Hospital ran at an average of 106% during November, excluding maternity which ran at an average of only 29% for maternity cases. Actual use of the maternity floor when patients of other diagnosis are included which are accommodated there, brought the average up to 56% compared to 53% the previous month.

EMPHYSEMA PATIENT SHOULD HEED "NO SMOKING" ADVICE

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Are beer and cigarettes bad for emphysema? My husband has it. He says beer won't hurt him, although he is at least 30 pounds overweight with a rubber tire around his middle.

He drinks on the average of four cans daily and smokes at least a pack and a half a day. He coughs all the time and even chokes until he almost turns completely blue. He is 51 and takes no medication. I told him I would ask you about the cigarettes and beer. He admits the beer may be bad because it puts on weight, but says modern doctors are "hipped" on cigarettes causing all kinds of trouble.

"At first they tied it in with cancer of the lung. Now all you hear is cigarettes being bad for emphysema", he says. "Doctors in the old days didn't bother you about how bad you were smoking is". As you can see, he's pretty stubborn.–Mrs. G.

Comment: I am glad he agrees that the beer may be the reason for his extra poundage. Incidentally, the way to get rid of excess weight puts an extra burden on breathing for such patients.

Now, as for the cigarettes. Some physicians even believe there is more evidence that smoking cigarettes is directly concerned with emphysema than with cancer of the lung. But don't let's quibble. Neither condition is anything one would choose.

As for us modern doctors being hipped about smoking, I think this may interest your husband. At least I have got around to reading something I have been putting off for years. "Crime and Punishment" by Fedor Dostoevski. In it I came across these words, spoken by one of the characters. (The book appeared in 1866).

PERNICIOUS HABIT

"Ah, these cigarettes!" Porfiry Petrovish ejaculated at last, having lighted one. "They are pernicious, positively pernicious, and yet I can't give them up! I cough, I begin to have tickling in my throat and a difficulty in breathing. You know I am a coward, I went lately to Dr. B— to be ill- hour to each patient. He positively laughted looking at me; he sounded me; 'Tobacco bad for you', he said, 'your lungs are affected.' But how am I to give it up? What is there to take its place?'–"

You see, Mrs. (and Mr.) G., doctors have been hipped on the dangers of tobacco for years. Getting specific, and coming down to your husband's problem, tell him he's actually committing slow suicide by continuing to smoke. Of all diseases, emphysema continues to worsen with tobacco.

Your husband isn't getting blue in the face for nothing. While there's still time, get him to a chest specallist who will institute the necessary medical, and other treatment necessary to fight this ailment.

Mrs. T.: It is true that the patient who has a pheochromocytoma (a tumor in the adrenal gland) may have symptoms that at first confuse the diagnosis with overactive thyroid, diabetes or ordinary high blood pressure. For example, headaches, high blood pressure, excessive sweating, anxiety, increased pulse rate, elevated blood sugar or increased metabolic rate.

Although pheochromocytoma is relatively rare, we should always thing of its likelihood if the diagnosis of the other conditions remains uncertain. There are special tests with tyramine to determine the presence of pheochromocytoma as the cause of all the trouble.

DANGERS OF OPERATING ON CORONARY PATIENTS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My husband has gallstones and has decided to have an operation. Our family doctor suggests that he have electrocardiograms and other heart studies before surgery. Do you think this added expense is absolutely necessary?–Mrs. Y.

Comment: There's no cheap or premium we'll every have to pay to give himself every chance for survival. Here's the reason. We know from experience that the patient who has an operation earlier than three months after he has had a coronary thrombosis is a very poor operative risk. And how can you be certain that he hasn't had a "silent attack" lately? So many a case is undiagnosed because it is passed off as a little indigestion or breathlessness or weakness which disappears within a few hours. All cases or coronary thrombosis aren't typical: sudden severe chest pain, pallor, sweating, rapid fall in blood pressure and a state of shock.

Suppose he hasn't had the coronary trouble recently? Suppose he had the trouble years ago? Even so, this makes him a poorer operative risk than the man without a coronary history. He has a much better chance of coming through surgery without complications if the doctors and surgeons are fully aware of his disabilities.

All doctors may not agree, but I believe that a complete cardiac survey (in addition to other examinations) is a must for any patient contemplating surgery. A few dollars of additional expense weigh pretty heavily in tipping the scales of life against death. Not getting a complete medical inventory is more than false economy; it is one huge gamble.

HUMAN NATURE

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: When I was married at 21 I weighed 112 pounds. At that time I was told "It's your nature to be thin". Now, at 41 I weigh 230 pounds. A neighbour told me the other day, "It's your nature to be fat". I'm not writing for any special reason, for no information or aything like that. Just to let you know, as you didn't, that there's more than one side to human nature. –Mrs. O.

Comment: One day, when you diet back to normal weight, some kind neighbour will say, "It's your nature not to be too fat nor too thin". Then you'll really be a many-sidede person, Mrs. O.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: What do you think of vacations? I haven't had one in 20 years and yet I feel all right. Not tried or nervous. Quite happy and content. Is it necessary for me to go to Europe? My wife says it's time we took a trip.–Mr. P.

Comment: You're lucky. You seem to be one of those relaxed, philosophical persons who don't have to go running off somewhere to be fulfilled and happy. But perhaps your wife isn't made of the same mold. I agree with her it's time. Not having had a vacation in so long you don't know what you are missing.

Take it-for her sake, if for no personal health reason. When you come back you're liable to say (as have many other businessmen): "How long has all this been going on? From now on I'm taking time off every year."

Christmas meet by Home and School

The King Albert Home and School Christmas meeting was held at the school on December 8th. 1964 at 8:00 p.m.

The meeting was opened by the President, Mrs. Gordon Henry with O Canada and the Lord's Prayer with Mrs. Lloyd at the piano. Mrs. Irene Norris read the Home and School Creed.. The minutes of the last meeting were read and also the roll call. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Norris and correspondence by Mrs. Bushey. Mrs. Henry extended a welcome to those present.

The main topic of the meeting was the planing of the annual fun fair. The date was set for February 13, 1965, with Mrs. Peter Sabovitch as the Convenor.

The school looked very lovely in all its Christmas splendor with its decorations made by the students. Mr. Allan had a speaker installed in the basement so that the group could listen to Carols before the meeting began.

The meeting was then turned over to Mr. McEachern who led in the singing of Christmas Carols accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd. Two films — "The Night Before Christmas" and "Little Lamb", was secured by Mr. Brown and presented by Mr. McEachern, which were enjoyed by everyone.

Mr. Neil Wilson then introduced the Guest Speaker for the evening, Rev. Jones of William Street Baptist Church in which he explained the true meaning of Christmas.

The meeting was brought to a close by singing God Save the Queen. Then a Social Hour was held with lunch being served by Mrs. Kennedy and her helpers.

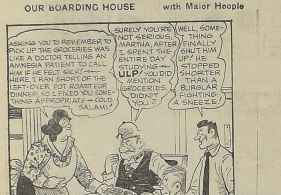

Community Carol Service

Bethany (PNS) — A community Christmas Carol Service was held in St. Paul's Church on Sunday night led by the joint junior and senior choirs of the United and Anglican churches directed by Mrs. Williarm Piercy, organist.

Reading the scriptural prophecies of the birth of the baby Jesus were Billy Smelt, David Pierce, Gail Cardex, Bobby Smelt, Marie Baker and Rev Reginald Rose.

The processional hymn was "O Come, O Come Emmanuel". Anthems by the choir were "If you would hear the Angels sing", the Bohemian carol "Violette Night", "The Angel Gabriel", "The Magnificant" and "Love came down at Christmas".

FOREIGN NEWS COMMENTARY

by Phil Newson, of UPI

TALK, TALK, TALK

Long drawn-out consultations on the U.S. proposed integrated nuclear force for NATO will put off a final decision on that controversial issue until well beyond the middle of next year and possibly later. With 40 per cent of America's powerful nuclear weaponry assigned to the defense of Europe, many Europeans are wondering what the fuss is all about regarding creation of a special NATO nuclear force. It would add little militarily to the already existing nuclear over-kill. Much hinges on the Germans who are still more interested than anyone else in Europe in getting a say in nuclear strategy. Some entirely new idea may emerge in the course of the forthcoming negotiations.

MORE TALK:

Dates for a whole series of top-level European diplomatic talks are being held up pending the next meeting between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, and the fixing of a date for the January UN General Assembly session. Among those still to be firmed up are visits to Paris by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard. Both are expected towards the end of January.

TOUGH DE GAULLE:

The French government is likely to get tougher next time if the labour minister attempts another public utilities strike in January similar to that which crippled national life for 24 hours, Dec. 11. The Government may resort to arrest of electricity workers. Failure to obey a requisitioning order is as serious an offense as desertion from the armed forces. President De Gaulle is expected to devote a portion of his New Year's Eve radio-TV broadcast to an appeal for an end to labour-front unrest. He also will reiterate his stand that France must become a nuclear power in order to take her full place in the world.

AILING SUKARNO:

President Sukarno of Indonesia is expected to go to Vienna in February for medical treatment for his kidney ailment. The February date is mentioned because he must be in Algiers for the second Afro-Asian conference scheduled for March 10. It is assumed by informed sources in Jakarta that he will not want to spend too much time outside Indonesia after his September, October and November tour.

FILIPINO SIMMERINGS

Manila reports that the current agitation there over the fatal shooting of two Filipinos inside American military bases recently is expected to simmer down eventually. Heated reaction has been limited so far to some Manila newspapers and to some officials, none of influential rank. Anti-American statements appear sporadically in Philippines newspapers which are among the most free-wheeling in the world. But the Filipinos, as a general rule, prefer not to adopt the fashion popular elsewhere of riots and attack upon embassies.

CHARGE DISMISSED

A charge of issuing a worthless cheque against Ross Clayton of William Street North, Lindsay, was dismissed in Lindsay Police Court Thursday after the Crown failed to prove that Clayton had received any value for a $25 cheque or that he was the man who issued the cheque.

A local hotel manager, Stanley Koproski, the complainant told the court he cashed a cheque for one of the guests at his hotel on September 24 and later found it to be worthless. Mr. Koproski said he did not know Mr. Clayton and had never seen him before.

Highlights of 1964 reviewed in Mayor's New Year's message

COMPANIES MUST WELCOME CONSTANT CHANGES: DOMINION RUBBER PRESIDENT

"Everywhere Museums in the world exhibit fossils of thousands of species that no longer exist, when we ask scientists for the reason why, the usual reply is they could not adapt to their environment. To put it another way, they were not capable of changing when survival decreed that change was necessary", said M.F. Anderson, president of the Dominion Rubber Company Limited as he presented 25 and 40-year service awards to employees.

"Of all the living things on earth, man has proven himself most capable of changing his ways continuously to grapple with completely new problems. Strangely enough, man, although he can change rapidly, is usually frightened by the idea of change. Nothing is more safe and reassuring than constant and well worn pattern of living. And nothing is a greater barrier to human progress".

Mr. Anderson continued "The business world is always changing. In the future it will change even more quickly. Business must follow the tide of progress if they wish to survive. If they want to accomplish anything worthwhile, they have to expect and welcome constant change in their way of life. They must not only follow the changing trends, but themselves strike out in new directions and set new trends.

Once a person, or a company for that matter, decides to welcome constant change, fear of the unknown will disappear and satisfying achievements can be expected. A century ago an obscure French writer summed up the situation in the following observation: 'Behold the turtle! He never gets anywhere unless he sticks his neck out'."

"I do not think we should be rash. I do however believe that we should be bold rather than timid, and not be afraid of the dark".

Mr. Anderson said the Dominion Rubber Company had seen constant change in the 110 years of its existence. He said the company had grown from a tiny factory to an industrial giant because it welcomed the philosophy of change.

The president said it seemed as if there's been scarcely time to draw a breath between announcements of new plans for the investment of millions of dollars this year. He reviewed the ambitious expansion programme planned for a $10 million plant in Quebec, extensions at Kitchener and the $5 million tire cord plant at Lindsay and Lindsay high pile fabric factory. Further construction is underway at Clover Bar, Alberta and the company experienced other expansion aot Montreal. In addition three new Dominion Tire Stores opened at Dartmouth, Nova Scotia; Montreal and Edmonton, Alberta.

Mr. Anderson also commented on the adoption of the new "Univroyal" name for the company as a symbol for the products, company and sister companies of Dominion around the globe.

Agreeable to move

Mayor Joseph Holtom said the visit to Lindsay of key personnel from Kitchen plant has been a success. Mr. Holtom said since the trip plant manager Don Moir hal received several commitments from personnel willing to move to Lindsay to help open the new plant and train personnel. "Certainly the trip and reception afforded these people made them more willing to move to the town, said the mayor, "many had lived in Kitchener all their lives".

"Time Marches on . . . today we are undoubtedly in an era of change. Lindsay has felt the impact of change especially so over the past few years and I believe that we will see more of these changes for the betterment of Lindsay in the years to come", said Mayor Joseph Holtom today in a message to the people of Lindsay.

"There have been several highlights in the growth and progress of the town of Lindsay this year. To choose the outstanding event would be very difficult because some are more routine and would perhaps catch the public's fancy — while others are more routine, but at the same time, may have greater impact upon the town in years to come (something like a benign time bomb?), commented the mayor.

One of the more spectacular events and one that also will have a great impact on Lindsay and area, was the sod turning for the Dominion Rubber Company, and since that date the Dominion Rubber Company has announced a second stage in their development here — and has already embarked on the building of their second plant. Dominion Rubber and the town of Lindsay are going to have a great future together".

"At the same time, other industrial development has taken place. The new modern 50,000 sq. ft. plant of Brinton Carpet was opened. Turner-Seymour, a relatively new industrial has expanded into a new plant and in addition a major expansion took place in the Dominion Brakeshoe Company."

"Industrial expansion is one of the main highlights of the year, but what is more important I predict that this industrial expansion will continue in our town again next year", said the mayor.

"One of the nice things that happened this year was the formation of the Junior Hockey team in fighting their way to the finals of the Provincial championship. I know everyone was very proud of this effort and we all hope they will get the cup in '65".

"The opening of the Municipal Airport, an event not recognized too greatly, will be a very great factor in the future growth and progress of the town".

"The final passing by the Planning Board and Council of the New Official Plan will greatly affect the future orderly growth of Lindsay for many years to come. The benefits of the plan will not be obvious this year but will — I can guarantee that in the next 10, 20 or 30 years the people of Lindsay will be great benefactors of this plan — so carefully and painstakenly dealt with in the past three years by Planning Board, Council and Town staff".

"One of the most interesting and delightful events of the year was the renovation and official opening of the Academy Theatre, also I consider the new Chamber of Commerce building on Victoria Park a great improvement over the little, old "hot dog stand".

At this time of year", concluded Mayor Holtom, "I extend sincere wishes to all the good people of Lindsay for a happy and prosperous 1965."

PARKING WILL BE POLICED DESPITE LAWYER'S OPINIONS - MAYOR HOLTOM

Mayor Joseph Holtom commentated today on the statement published in Wednesday's "Post" by Lindsay lawyer Mel Cunningham that police must prove who was driving in parking tag cases. "We are bombarded from time to time with wierd and wonderful expoundings from some of the local lawyers and this statement is no exception", said the mayor. "Everyone knows that parking control is essential and there has to be proper enforcement".

Lindsay's bylaw in this regard is adequate and up-to-date, and is passed under section 476, paragraph 7B of the Municipal Act", said the mayor" and the town will continue to effectively control the parking situation despite the learned opinions of any particular local lawyer".

M.J. Cunningham told "The Post" today that an amendment had been made to the Municipal Act in 1961, following the case mentioned in Wednesday's paper which now makes it possible for owner's of automobiles to be responsible for parking violations unless certain circumstances, if an owner of a motor vehicle gives his consent to another person to make use of his car and a parking violation is committed the owner would then be liable.

CRACKING GOOD TIME

Chicago (UPI) — The Cook county grand jury had indicated 11 persons for allegedly breaking each other's arms and legs to collect insurance.

The operation was said to have netted the group $4,560 from insurance companies, and suits totalling $300,000 are pending in circuit court.

Struck By Car on William Street, Woman Hospitalized

A 63-year-old Lindsay woman, Irene Mitchell of 4 Colborne Street West was hospitalized with a broken leg and broken ribs after she was struck down by a car while crossing William Street Wednesday evening.

Lindsay Police said Mrs. Mitchell was crossing William St. North from west to east about 6:43 p.m. when she was hit by a northbound vehicle driven by Robert William Howe, 20, of 4 Dennison Street. She was rushed to Lindsay hospital by ambulance, where she was treated by Dr. Peter Gill, police said. Dr. Gill was also present on the scene shortly after the accident occurred.

Lindsay hospital authorities report Mrs. Mitchell is in satisfactory condition in hospital with a fractured leg and chest injuries.

Lindsay Police Sergeant Gordon Eberts investigated the accident.

The New Year

"And I said to the man who stood at the gate of the year: 'Give me a light that I might tread safely into the unknown!' And he replied: 'Go into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than light and safer than the known way.' So I went forth, and finding the Hand of God, trod gladly into the night. And He led me towards the hills and the breaking of day in the lone East."

These words by Minnie Louise Haskins were quoted by King George VI in a radio broadcast to the Commonwealth on December 25th, 1939.

Twenty-five years later as again we stand at the gate of the year the words ring true. Put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than light and safer than the known way.

Poisoner

The Haliburton dog poisoner, who has created such havoc of late with the pets of citizens of Haliburton, was again active and several dogs were reported dead as the result of poisoning. The total of dog poisonings in the community of late has reached seven and citizens are very angry over the deaths. No clue to the identity of the poisoner has been discovered.

Accidents in lumber camps

Two more accidents in lumber camps have occurred in the Haliburton area recently, it has been learned. Richard Burke, while working in a camp, suffered a broken leg and is resting at his home near the village. Ernest Voicey suffered three or four broken ribs when he fell from a load of logs yesterday. Mr. Voicey lives in the West Guilford district.

Narrow escape

A carload of Cresswell residents narrowly escaped death this morning when the car in which they were riding crashed into the side of a train at the crossing on Kent Street and Victoria Avenue. The car was driven by Ellsworth Davey of Cresswell and had as occupants, his wife, Mrs. Jessie Davey, a son, Lewis Davey and an uncle, Alpha Davey of Antler, Saskatchewan.

Soldiers to perform police duty

Owing to the fact that between 300 and 400 soldiers will be quartered in Lindsay for some time, the Military Department is taking steps to co-operate with the local police department in the preservation of order.

It has been decided to place, besides the regular guard, two soldiers on police duty. They will patrol the streets each day. While no serious disturbance or breach of the law is anticipated either by the civil or military authorities, the above action means simply the carrying out of regulations in force in other centres where troops are being mobilized and quartered.

New system of taxing autos

The Government of Ontario has adopted a horsepower system of taxing motor vehicles and it will be in force from January 31 to which date the current license year has been extended.

After that date, automobiles of 25-horse-power and less will pay $6; 25 to 35-horsepower, $10; 35 to 50 horsepower, $20 above 50 horsepower, $25 and all cars propelled by electricity except trucks, $5. All commercial trucks capacity of two tons or less are to pay $5 and those above two tons capacity, $3 for each additional ton.

Licenses issued after September 30 for the balance of the year will be half price. There are special rates for manufacturers and dealers.

Volunteers

Up to date 160 volunteers have enlisted for the 15th companies of the Third Contingent to be mobilized here. Sixty recruits reported at the armouries today for examination.

Occupational Hazard

"One of the hazards of an otherwise glamorous occupation in covering an event like a food fair is that you are expected to taste everything you are offered. As a novice I once remember seizing and eating up an entire plateful of Turkish shishkebab, only of find out that I was then expected to sample another 14 dishes on that stand." — Dibbs Mather reporting on the BBC.

Dismal Outlook

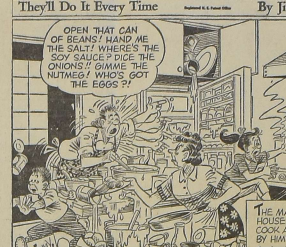

On a dark, wet winter's night the inadequacies of much of Lindsay's lighting system become most evident. We were at the corner of William Street North and Peel Streets last night at the scene of an accident where a woman had been knocked down. At the time of writing this, we do not know the circumstances of the accident, but it was obvious that the area was dimly and inadequately lit.

Later that evening we drove down many a street in Lindsay inspecting the lighting. A good example of a poorly-illuminated street is Wellington with the brightest light that supplied by an illuminated advertisement for Case Equipment.

Obviously all Lindsay streets cannot be improved immediately but William Street north is one that should be attended to right away. This badly lit street is Highway 35B, a connecting link for through traffic.

Lindsay's lighting programme, though improved in recent years is still too slow and the planning inadequate. We must have better lighting.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

A Visit to Siberia

The image of Siberia as a barren region of frozen exile is changing, as indeed this vast territory—half as large again as the entire United States — is changing under the impact of great development schemes. Visitors from the West are comparatively rare, but three men who have travelled there discussed their impressions in a recent broadcast in a BBC General Overseas Service series of programmes called 'Nations Observed'. They were: Kyril Tidmarsh of the London 'Times'; Laurens Van der Post, author of 'Journey into Russia'; and Peter Fleming, the writer and traveller who made his first journey to Siberia over 30 years ago.

The speakers suggested that expansion into Siberia, started 200 or 300 years ago for economic reasons, had been accelerated for strategic reasons in the nineteen-thirties when growing German power presented a possible threat to traditional industrial areas in the west of Russia. But reports from geologists on the economic potential of Siberia were probably the prime reason. "For instance," said Van der Post, "they discovered in the Kimerova basin enough coal to supply the whole world for the next thousand years if they still wanted to get on coal; they discovered enormous deposits of iron ore; of gold, and diamonds." Near Bratsk in the centre of Siberia, site of an enormous hydro-electric scheme, they had discovered what they called the 'Magnetic Mountain', because it was pure iron ore.

Discussing the highly organized government drive to attract people to Siberia—where the present population is a mere 23 million — the speakers commented on the youthfulness of the population and the appeal to the spirit of adventure which took young people East as once the youth of America had been drawn to the Far West of their country. But Siberia differed from the general conception of the 'out-back', Tidmarsh pointed out, in having centres of culture. One of the oldest universities in Russia existed in Tomsk. In Irkutsk he had been taken to an art gallery to see a show of recent paintings and in the same city had been astounded to find a library of two million volumes. He had been interested also to see that old wooden houses were being modernized and linked up with the heating systems of the up-to-date industrial centre, instead of being pulled down as had become in some western parts of the Soviet Union, with little benefit to the housing problem.

The immensity of the horizon and the sense of sheer space had made a great impact on all three speakers as they crossed the Siberian Plain. After travelling for hour after hour through an unchanging countryside, said Van der Post, "suddenly you hit a river with great steamers going up and down it, and an immense town." For example, Novosibirsk, sometimes called the "Chicago of Siberia", where at first sight the enormous grain elevators lining the river bank had looked like ancient Crusaders' fortresses.

Fleming recalled the Novosibirsk of thirty years ago as "an awful dump" with only one modern building, the hotel. Having come by the railway through Central Asia, he had had to have his clothes baked to kill the lice before checking into his room. Today, just outside was a big scientific centre for the development of Siberia, Academic City, with laboratories, flats, schools and so on for the scientists and their families. But with a predominantly young population the birthrate was five times as high as elsewhere in the Soviet Union, and this overloaded schools, and caused a considerable drain of population back to the west.

All agreed that the trans--Siberian railway itself, now completely electrified, was a yardstick of change. Fleming contrasted the crowded, littered and unhygenic condition of station waiting-rooms and railway carriages in 1931 and the constant delays, with the cleanliness, good order and regularity of schedule today.

Siberia's great rivers, the Ob, the Yenisei, the Lena and others—are used extensively for transporting the wealth of timber. Although frozen in the North for a large part of the year, great efforts are being made to keep coastal waters open for shipping with atomic ice-breakers. Van der Post described the great 'cigars' of timber, each displacing about 5,000 tons, being towed down the River Amur and out to sea on the way to Japan. In winter, the frozen river was used as a highway. The exploitation of forestry was highly developed; but in agriculture—one of the great problems in a region where there was a very short season and not much land—he had seen no evidence of new methods of speeding up the slow and painful process of de-foresting the land for agricultural use. He had been depressed by the "factory approach" to the major problem of the production of food. In all the collective farms he had visited, the chairman invariably knew little of the land, while the second-in-command looked and because he obviously knew about the land, but was invariably a 'politician'. And I never found a Ukrainian in a position of command."

The great distances and the solitude, yet the "cosiness" of these far-flung communities, where people seemed to find complete satisfaction in what they were doing, were impressions that remained with the speakers.

Hi Fido

How to make a hi-fi radio receiver small enough to be carried on a dog's back is one of the more odd technical problems under examination at the centre of British aeronautical research the Royal Aircraft Establishment at Farnborough. Reporting in the BBC General Overseas Service programme 'Science and industry', Denis Desoutter explained that dogs are used by the establishment to find fragments of crashed aircraft, one dog being more effective than a dozen men at finding scattered pieces. The idea is to control the dogs from a distance by speaking to them over the radio. Each dog carries a receiver on its back, but if it is to respond to instructions it must, of course, be able to recognize the voice of its own particular handler. This means means high quality reproduction, and so research continues.

Literary Bulldogs

"It might be suggested that Dr. Johnson and J. B. Priestley, both in the variety of the work they did, and to some extent in their personalities, can be regarded as embodying what is often called the English spirit. Both of them seem to have that bulldog quality of always being ready for a fight, but below quite companionable if you treat them right."—Gareth Lloyd Evans speaking in a BBC programme in honour of J. B. Priestley's seventieth birthday.

TIMELY TIPS

Add chopped cooked turkey to your favourite egg salad. Season with curry and you will have a delicious hearty sandwich filling. This filling is particularly good on hambu.g rolls for a lunch or supper dish.

Raspberry pink punch will delight your guests, both young and old, this holiday season. Just before serving place one pint of raspberry sherbet into punch bowl. Pour in one quart of gingerale and garnish with fresh holly leaves.

Your children will love Ontario apples if you spend just a few minutes preparing them for snacks or dessert. Choose a variety of Ontario apple suitable for eating raw. Delicious, McIntosh, Cortland or Northern Spy are all good choices. In the "centre side" of the apple, insert a sharp knife at a slight angle until the core is reached. Remove knife and repeat cuts all around the apple in a zigzag fashion until it is possible to separate the two halves. Cut out the core and fill centre with a few plump raisins or peanuts. Serve at once. Children will ask for these apple treats often and they are so much more nutritious than sweets.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. What can I do when I have inadvertently ironed nylon or some other such synthetic fabric at a too high temperature, and some of the fabric has melted onto my iron?

A. You can remove these deposits from the sole plate of the iron with a paste of glycerin and scouring powder. Apply the paste to the iron while it is operating at its highest temperature, then remove with a soft damp cloth—being careful, of course, not to burn yourself!

Q. How can I remove milk stains from fabrics?

A. Moisten the stains with warm water, apply powdered pepsin, and work this into the fabric with a glass rod. Let it remain for a half-hour or so, then sponge with water or wash.

Q. How can I cause my dumplings to stay light?

A. By pricking them with a fork when first removed from the kettle.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Stop That Rattle!

Often the rattling of a door or window is due to bowing or warping, in which the door or window no longer fits tightly against the stop at the top and bottom. If this is the case, apply several layers of tape at the top and the bottom of the stop. A piece of foam rubber works real well for a door.

Fruit Pies

If a soda cracker is rolled into fine pieces and sprinkled over the lower crust of a fruit pie, this will prevent the juices from running over into your oven-always a difficult cleaning job!

Overshoes

Dingy looking overshoes can be made more presentable by washing with water containing a few drops of ammania, and then giving them a thin coating of liquid shoe dressing.

DELINQUENTS PAINTED BLUE

Hong Kong (UPI) — Chinese language newspapers reported that police in the Portuguese China Coast territory of Macao punish minor incidents of juvenile delinquency by shaving the offender's head and painting it blue.

No comment from the Macao police could be obtained immediately.

The Hong Kong papers said the new approach was used on about 20 youths picked up Saturday night in a raid on an illegal dancing party.

at Fenelon, Cameron, Haliburton Police Investigate Break-ins

Lindsay OPP are continuing the investigation into break-ins at the Fenelon Township office and Clayton Hewie's General Store at Cameron early Wednesday morning.

Police said entry was gained into the Fenelon Township office by the use of a key and then the main door and inner doors of the vault were forced open. Police said $29 was taken from the money box in the vault.

It is suspected the same people were responsible for a break-in at Clayton Hewie's store in which $45 worth of sweaters and sport shirts were taken.

Lindsay OPP Constables Ian Milner, James Dodd and Lyle Welton are being assisted in the investigation by Corporal Roger Keene of the identification squad in Cobourg.

An additional break-in at Easton's Red and White Store at Haliburton Tuesday night is being investigated by Haliburton OPP. Police said someone entered the store by smashing the glass in the side door of the building and then left by a rear door. The owner of the store, Lance Easton, said nothing was disturbed in the store. He discovered the break-in about 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

An investigation is being conducted by Constable Earl Bush of the Minden OPP detachment.

Witnesses fail to appear bench-warrents issued

The Crown asked for a further adjournment in a case of illegally selling liquor against Lionel Tracey of 23 Kent St. East, when Lindsay Police Chief John Hunter was unable to produce any of the five Crown witnesses. The case was remanded Wednesday at the request of the defense.

After Chief Hunter requested Magistrate Ian Munro to issue warrants for the witnesses, Defense Counsel M. J. Cunningham asked if it were necessary for the Crown to arrest its own witnesses in order to have them appear. Mr. Cunningham asked to proceed or have the case dismissed.

Magistrate Munro said the Crown couldn't be blamed for the witnesses not appearing. He said there were two reasons for issuing the warrants. One was for disregarding the subpoenas, which he said was a serious offense and the other was to compel them to appear.

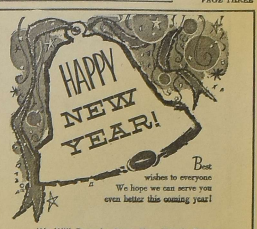

One of the witnesses, Harold McDonald of 24 Peel Street, who is also charged with illegally selling liquor and illegally purchasing liquor, has a second bench-warrant issued against him. The first one was issued two weeks ago when he failed to appear. Police said another of the witnesses was taken to hospital Wednesday evening.

The case was remanded to February 8 by consent.

Case adjourned

Donald Beatty and his wife Marjorie, both of Omemee were granted a one-week adjournment when they appeared in Lindsay Police Court Thursday after being arrested by Lindsay OPP Wednesday evening. Mrs. Beatty was taken into custody for having the care and control of an automobile while intoxicated and Mr. Beatty was picked up for being intoxicated in a public place. The couple were arrested on County Road 7 in Emily Township.

Bail for Mrs. Beatty was set at $300 cash or $1,000 property. Mr. Beatty was released on his own recognizance.

Ti-Cats favourites over Merchants in series next week?

Lindsay Merchants (hockey type) are quietly taking stock this week as they get their breath in readiness for the big series next week with Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats currently in first place in the league standings. .

Following the Ti-Cats 12 - 3 win over Woodville Maroons last night. The Cats now have 15 wins and one loss over 30 points. The Merchants have 14 wins and three losses for 28 points, so the battle is on for the Cliff Johnston Memorial Trophy awarded each year to the team finishing in first place in the standings at the end of the schedule.

While the Ti-Cats have a 28 game schedule, and the Merchants play 24, two four-point games on the scredule for Lindsay. Newmarket, and Aurora take up the slack pointwise.

Bobcaygeon's top scorer John Nichols picked up two more goals last night to give him 46 points and a share in the scoring leadership for the league. The Merchants' top scorer, Bob Taylor with 24 goals and 15 assists is followed closely by George Babcock with 23 goals and 14 assists for 37 points. The Merchants will have to be on their toes for this series next week if they hope to keep the Cliff Johnston Trophy on their shelf.

TAKE THEIR CHANCES

Basildon, England, (UPI) — The town council has threatened to tear down two cages in which Bill Foyle keeps his pet lions because they are "unauthorized buidings."

Foyle said, " I will let them, and they can take their chances with the Lions."

UNUSUAL HOBBY

Grange Park, England (UPI) — James Hutchings, 19, had an unusual hobby. He collected number plates from train locomotives. He already had 50 plates when police caught him trying to steal two more. He was fined $84 in court.

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International

Hollywood (UPI) — Comedian Jack Backus is inadvertently trying to knock himself out of a job.

He's the only performer in prime time television starring in two series—"Mr. Magoo" and "Gilligan's Island". And now there is talk the shows will be pitted opposite one another on NBC and CBS respectively.

Thus, if one show knocks the other out of the box in the ratings, Bacus will have accomplished the feat of losing himself a high paying show.

"Life has never been easy for me", Backus sighed with shoulders hunched up around his ears.

"During the 'I Married Joan' series I collected more than a hundred suits for my role, and when the show went off the air they gave 'em to me. But they weren't the kind of suits I'd wear, and I don't know what to do with them.

"One day the grocery boy came to the door and I didn't have any change for a tip. So I asked him, "How's you like a pin-stripe suit?"

"I've been using those suits for tips ever since. I even gave one to my Japanese gardener".

Backus refused to say which of his seria he'd prefer to survive in the event he had to choose. But Magoo is a sentimental favourite, surely. Backus has been the voice of Magoo since the first movie short of the myopic little man was made 16 years ago.

It was titled "Musical Bear" and Magoo was a minor character.

But the little man with the squinting eyes and matchstick legs caught on like Bikinis on a French beach. Backus has made 126 Magoo movie shorts and uncounted video shorts.

"This new half-hour television series is the most ambitious Magoo thing we've ever done", he said.

"Magoo's voice, though, was taken from the character I play in my nightclub act--the man in the club car. You know, the loud-mouthered traveling salesman who shows pictures of his family to everybody in the club car, belongs to all the clubs and tells dirty jokes.

"It was the same with Magoo in the beginning. He was a dirty old man. Half the time you couldn't understand what he was saying. He just used to mumble.

"Now Magoo's a clean little old man. But it still drives me out of my mind when people come up to me and demand: 'Do Magoo'. What can you do? It's impossible."

Backus recorded his Magoo series earlier in the year so there is no conflict with his "Gilligan's Island" work. It takes about three hours for him to record one shoy, after which cartoonists are set to drawing the figures.

"I'll say one thing for Magoo. He's saved a lot of marriages. In New York bars guys who missed the last train to Darien catch hell from their wives on the phone. Then they get me to say hello to the dames, using Magoo's voice. The wives die laughing, the marriage is saved and the kids go to college."

Special programme for WI meeting

Dunsford (PNS) — Christmas was the theme of the December meeting of the Kawartha Valley Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. Delmar Robertson, Scotch Line on Wednesday, December 16, with 16 members and visitors present. Mrs. Osborne Taylor and Mrs. Wm. Fultan had charge of the programme which consisted of Readings of "The Christmas Story" by Mrs. Osborne Taylor and a humorous one about Christmas shopping lists by Mrs. Wm. Fulton and a solo by Mrs. Bruce Robertson. Carols were also sung by the members and contests conducted by the programme convenors. At the conclusion of the meeting there was an exchange of gifts by the members..

During the business period with Mrs. Robt. Johnson first vice president in the chair arrangements for programmes and transportation were made to the Christmas party of the Lindsay Women's Institute on Thursday. The 4H club Achievement Day January 16, was announced and all members were urged to attend. The cheer report was given and names handed in of sick and shut-ins to be remembered at Christmas. Used greeting cards were brought in for the sheltered work shop at Peterborough. The roll call was a verse of Scripture and the meeting closed with the carol "Joy to the World". A lunch was served at the conclusion of the meeting and a vote of thanks tendered the hostess, programme and lunch committees.

Council briefs

The town clerk informed council that one more appointment was necessary to complete the Retarded Children's Authority. The authority recommended one councillor sit on the Authority but council decided to wait until after the Authority meets Wednesday before making any decision. At that time the Authority will probably formulate a programme.

Welfare Chairman John Eakins reported that some welfare recipients had to be placed on the LCBO prohibited list because they were spending welfare money on liquor. He said the police chief was informed.

Fire Committee Chairman Dr. Peter Gill suggested the fire budget should be increased by $3,000 to $4,000 next year. He said the fire department experienced a deficit of $1,107.25 this year. He reported 168 fire calls, which was about the same as last year, and 285 ambulance calls, which was about 30 more than last year.

Councillor Carl Brown, Police Committee Chairman, told council the police department was paid $260 overtime on Chrismas and statuory holidays. Councillor Brown suggested that perhaps the chief of police should get some overtime and read up on the municipal bylaws. Referring to a recent court case in which a Lindsay woman was dismissed because the summons contained an old bylaw number 2202 instead of the number of the revised bylaw 54-63, Councillor Brown said this is the chief's own responsibility. He has been doing this since 1963.

Only 2 members of the press took advantage of the new, larger press table provided in the council chambers this week. As a result of "complaints" from some members of the press that they were not allowed to smoke during the first part of the council meetings, Dr. Peter Gill presented members of the press with a plug of chewing-tobacco and a receptacle so they could "indulge in the tobacco habit" during this portion of the meeting. He also invited councillors who sit near the press table to join in if they wished.

1964 - Active Year for Canada

With the world passing the midway mark of the sixties, Canada's economy is booming, the nation's affairs expanding. In 1964 indicators show the gross national product rose nine per cent, exports increased 20 per cent, imports went up 16 per cent and internal trade reached a new high. Across the land new resources were marked for future wealth, including a rich iron deposit 400 miles inside the arctic circle on Baffin Island, a massive base-metal find near Timmins, Ontario, off-shore oil fields in British Columbia and Hudson Bay. For Canadians, it was also a year of overseas discovery—a mountaineering team in the Himalayas, a medical expedition on Easter Island, a survey ship to the Caribbean and several other scientific groups around the globe. Queen Elizabeth II visited Canada, Shakespearian actors went to England and the Beatles returned the compliment. Two oarsmen rowed their way to an Olympic gold medal, a penguin did the same in Italy and Canadian science made ready more space probes.

THIRD LINDSAY CUBS WIN HOCKEY TOURNEY

Lindsay came up from behind to edge out Bobcaygeon 2 to 1 in the championship game of the Victoria County Wolf Cub hockey tournament Wednesday at the Lindsay arena. A nesday at the Lindsay arena. A goal by Peter Richardson early in the first period gave Bobcaygeon a 1 to 0 lead which they maintained until the third period. The 3rd Lindsay team got off to a slow start and the Bobcaygeon team continued to break up 3rd Lindsay's offensive plays.

In the final frame, Dave Mackey picked up the equalizer for the 3rd Lindsay team and near the end of the game Doug Neil drove home the winning goal for 3rd Lindsay.

The game was hard-fought and even though the players' ages ranged from 8 to 11, the thrills were comparable to those in a junior game. Both teams have a number of promising hockey players, who displayed superb stick-handling, excellent checking ability and fine team work.

The championship game was the climax to a day of single elimination games between the various cub packs in the district. In the first game, 3rd Lindsay crushed 4th Lindsay by a score of 7 to 1. Gord James picked up a hat-trick and John Sergeant, Brian Hickson, Doug Mackey and Richard Peters picked up one goal each. Randy Coombs scored the only goal for the 4th Lindsay team.

Bobcaygeon defeated 5th Lindsay 5 to 3 in the second game of the schedule. In this game Peter Richardson of Bobcaygeon got a hat-trick and Gary Oliver and Doug Moran made on each. Bill Davis put in two of the 5th Lindsay goals and Jeff Simpson got the other.

The 6th Lindsay pack pulled off a 2 to 0 shut-out against 2nd Lindsay. Jim Langley of the 6th Lindsay putting in the second goal in the last minute of play. The winning goal was put in by Randy Robertson.

The Omemee pack got a "by" into the second round where they went scoreless against the 3rd Lindsay team, which shut-out Omemee 4 to 0. Gordon James made all four of the 3rd Lindsay goals.

In the semi-final action, Bobcaygeon downed the 6th Lindsay pack 6 to 1. Peter Richardson scored the first three Bobcaygeon goals, which gave him his second hat-trick of the day. The other three goals for Bobcaygeon were picked up by Gary Oliver, Paul Devitt and Jim Platton. Randy Robertson put in the only 6th Lindsay goal of the game.

The tournament, which was the first held in the district for cubs, was made possible by the Lindsay Recreation Commission and the Lindsay Minor Hockey Association. The Recreation Commission gave the cubs five hours ice time, at no cost to the packs and the LMHA donated the use of their sweaters and other equipment, including nets and goal-keepers equipment.

All the games were clean and hard-fought; in fact, not one penalty was registered during the whole tournament.

FINED $75 FOR DRIVING WHILE ABILITY IMPAIRED

John Cunday of 44 Queen Street was fined $75 and costs or 10 days and had his driving privileges suspended for six months after he pleaded guilty in Lindsay Police Court Wednesday to driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Lindsay Police Constable Ronald Graham told the court he observed a red dump-truck which had been reported taken from the site of the new Dominion Rubber plant, cross the centre line when travelling on Kent Street West on December 23 at 7:49 p.m. Constable Graham said he followed the truck up Kent St. past Angeline St., while en-route, he said, the truck met a car and after passing the car, went to the left side of the road. When it met another car, the truck swerved to the right side of the road. He said the accused showed signs of having been drinking.

He said the accused took the truck without permission and did not have a license to drive an automobile. He said the owner indicated he did not want to charge the man with taking the truck without consent.

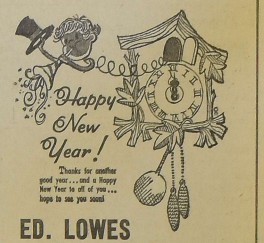

He said the accused told him he took the truck because he wanted to take his wife for a ride.

SINBAD APPEALED TO YOUNG AND OLD

Young and old alike were captured by the appeal of Sinbad when the Museum Children's Theatre presented the festive programme on the stage of the Academy Theatre yesterday.

The theatre was nearly filled for both performances and the tale unfolded to the delight of the excited children.

The costumes were beautifully coloured and the stage display was very simple. The children were cleverly drawn into the play and enjoyed the brief glimpse of life in another world of make-believe.

Scots Pine dominated tree market

The Ontario Department of Lands and Forests weekly report for the Lindsay District comments on the upsurge of popularity of the Scots pine tree, in fact its virtual dominance of the Christmas tree market, was never more evident than during the Christmas season just past.

Spruce and balsam fir, once the favourites were conspicuously difficult to obtain this year. Such fir as was offered was regrettably of poor quality.

Although Austrian pine, red pine, white pine, Norway spruce, black and white spruce and fir are annually offered, they will of course, be come increasingly difficult to market in competition with Scots pine unless the growers of these trees make some effort to culture them for the market.

Balsam fir particularly, the report continues, with its deep green colour, soft texture, pleasing aroma and needle retaining qualities, could make a strong comeback if farmers, woodlot owners and Christmas tree growers would carry out the necessary cultural treatments.

World news today

Windsor, Ont. (UPI) — The head of the Canadian United Auto Workers Union has urged the Canadian government to halt implementation of a Canada-American auto parts plan which is expected to go into effect within a few days.

George Burt, Canadian director of the UAW, sent telegrams to Industry Minister Paul Martin, asking the plan be delayed until protection can be guaranteed for workers dislocated by its implementation.

The plan calls for reduced, if not eliminated tariffs on autos and auto parts.

The UAW has been a leading booster of the plan which will result in lower prices for cars in Canada.

It will also mean more jobs in the Canadian automotive industry, but with some dislocation of workers.

In his telegram to Ottawa, Burt charged the industry minister with buying a "pig in a poke."

He said Drury has offered to meet with the union early in the New Year to discuss protections for workers dislocated by the plan.

"The UAW," said the Canadian Union Chief, "will never accept Cavalier treatment of dislocated workers in the name of an improved balance-of-payment ledger."

Washington — President Lyndon B. Johnson has sent his New Year's message to the Soviet leadership and urged them to help join the United States in working for world peace.

The message said 1964 "has produced significant accomplishments in some areas of endeavour."

Congo — Congolese government troops believe a number of white captives are being held under threat of death in the settlement of Mungbere.

White refugees arriving in Leopoldville from Wamba told of the massacre of 32 other captives by the rebels.

Formosa — Chiang Kai-Shek says his nationalist Chinese forces will never permit Red China to develop a nuclear delivery system.

The 77-year-old leader — making his New Year's address in Taipei today — said his forces should — "for the sake of mankind" — Destroy Red China's nuclear installations before they can be used.

Viet Nam — A costly four-day battle for a South Vietnamese village has ended — with a victory for Government forces.

U.S. military spokesman in Saigon said that Communist Guerrilla forces, possibly an entire regiment withdrew from the jungles around Binh Gia before dawn today.

Ottawa — Social Credit leader Robert Thompson has denied reports he is planning formation of another national party in Canada. He said this would "do nothing more than confuse things even more than at present."

Montreal — The Port of Montreal has in reality entered year round operations. Ships entered and left the port yesterday and at least 17 are scheduled to arrive before the middle of January.

Mother Nature closed season with freeze-up

December 15 was officially the last day of the open season for waterfowl and ruffled grouse in the Lindsay area according to the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. Biologist E. T. Cox reports that Mother Nature had effected an earlier closure of the season by advancing the date of freeze-up this year.

This fact notwithstanding the report continues, the 1964 season appears to have been the best in several years; a comparison of figures representing the 1963 and 1964 season reveals that hunters in the former year bagged an average of 1.08 ducks per man while their 1964 counter-parts bagged 1.27 ducks per man.

The 1963 figure was obtained from 654 hunters checked, whereas the 1964 figure was the result of checks on 861 hunters. . Although geese are not in the past been a feature of water fowl hunting in the Lindsay area, this year many duck hunters had the good fortune to bag one or more.

In response, the biologist continued, to our request for a complete wing from each duck bagged we have been the grateful recipients of several hundred donated by co-operative hunters. These will shortly be sorted, first by species and then by age and sex. The ratios of sex and age compiled from these specimens will provide some indication of the success or failure of recent duck reproduction. Such information, particularly as it applies to mallards, canvas backs, woodducks, etc., is especially valuable.
